EIGHTEEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN MINE AT AMSTERDAM, OHIO

Seven Men Are Rescued Alive ---Twelve Not Yet Found By Searchers.

Alabama Disaster Is Declared Worst in History of the State.

Cause of Accident That Killed Forty-Three Men Not Yet Ascertained.

Steubenville, Ohio, April 22.—Eighteen of a night force of twenty-five machine men employed in the mine of the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal company near Amsterdam, are thought to be dead as a result of an explosion in the mine late last night.

So far six bodies have been recovered. Seven were taken from the shaft alive, but unconscious. Twelve men are missing. They still are in the mine and there is a general belief that they have perished. Rescue parties began work a few minutes after the explosion.

About 200 men are employed in the mine during the day time. They quit work between 3 and 4 o'clock each evening. The machine men work nights, preparing the work for the day shift. It is thought that the explosion was caused by coal gas being ignited by the lights on the helmets of the miners.

Bodies Badly Mangled.

Birmingham, Ala., April 22.—The work of removing the bodies of the forty-three victims of the Muiga mine explosion was pushed with vigor today. Up to 8 o'clock twenty-six bodies had been recovered. They were so badly burned and mangled by the force of the explosion that identification was difficult.

Inspector Hillhouse declared today that never in the history of mining in Alabama has such damage been wrought by an explosion in a mine. He declared that as yet he was unable to state the exact cause of the explosion, but it is believed to be the result of a "windy shot."

It was expected all the bodies would be recovered during the day.

TWO MEN HOLD UP TWENTY IN UTAH

Tap Faro and Roulette Games and Get Off With Five Hundred Dollars.

Park City, Utah, April 22.—Two armed, but unmasked, highwaymen boldly entered the Oak saloon on Main street at 12:45 o'clock this morning and lined the twenty occupants of the saloon up in the back room, tapped the faro and roulette, from which they procured $500 in gold and silver, and made good their escape.

HYDE AIDED BY HIS WIFE

Woman Guides Lawyers in Quizzing Nurse in Murder Trial.

Theft of State Documents Is Hinted at By the Prosecutor.

Kansas City, Mo., April 22.—Cross-examination of Miss Pearl Keller, Col. Swope's nurse, was resumed in the criminal court today by Attorney Frank P. Walsh. Mr. Walsh indicated before the opening of court that his interrogation would be somewhat extended.

During the entire afternoon session yesterday Mr. Walsh questioned Miss Keller. She is recognized as the state's premier witness in the hearing. Mrs. Hyde will be used by the defense in an attempt to refute Miss Keller's testimony. Thus the whole fight centers down to a fight between two women.

Mrs. Hyde is well versed with every angle of her husband's case and is lending much aid to her lawyers, especially in the examination of Miss Keller.

Wrote Out Her Story.

Little headway was made by Mr. Walsh yesterday when he tried to entangle Miss Keller. The witness admitted on the stand that she had made a careful study of what her testimony in the case would be as soon as the investigation began. She retired to her room and wrote a history of the case for her own reference before she ever gave a word of testimony at any place, she said.

Rigorous investigation into the disappearance of the state's documentary evidence in the case, which fell into the hands of the defendant's counsel, has been ordered by Prosecutor Virgil Conkling. New developments in the case, the most important of which was

MARK TWAIN DIES OF GRIEF OVER LOSS OF CHILD AND FRIENDS

"AH, HEART SORE TRIED! THOU HAST THE BEST THAT HEAVEN ITSELF COULD GIVE THEE—REST."

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

SAMUEL LANGHORN CLEMENS. (MARK TWAIN).

Heart Becomes Affected and End Comes at His Home, "Stormfield."

Last Surviving Member of Family Is With Him as Life Closes.

Redding, Conn., April 22.—Samuel Langhorn Clemens (Mark Twain) died painlessly at his home "Stormfield" at 6:30 o'clock last night of angina pectoris. He lapsed into coma at 3 o'clock and never recovered consciousness. It was the end of a man outworn by grief and acute agony of body.

For long hours on Wednesday the gray, aquiline features lay moulded in the inertia of death, while the pulse sank lower and lower, but late at night Mark Twain passed from stupor into the first natural sleep he had known since he returned from Bermuda, and in the morning he woke refreshed, even faintly cheerful and in full possession of all his faculties. He recognized his daughter, Clara, Mrs. Gabrielovitch, spoke a rational word or two, and feeling himself unequal to conversation, wrote out in pencil "Give me my glasses."

Daughter at His Deathbed.

They were his last words. Laying them aside, he sank first into reverie and later into unconsciousness. There was no thought at the time, however, that the end was so near.

At the deathbed were only Mrs. Gabrielovitch (Clara Clemens), her husband, Dr. Robert Halsey, Dr. Quintard, Albert Bigelow Paine, who will write Mark Twain's biography, and the two trained nurses. Restoratives—digitalis, strychnine and camphor—were administered, but the patient failed to respond.

He did not die in anguish. Sedatives soothed his pain, but in his moments of consciousness the mental depression persisted

Services in New York.

A simple funeral service over the body of Mr. Clemens will be held in New York city tomorrow afternoon. The body will then be taken to Elmira, N. Y., where it will be buried besides those of his wife and children.

F. A. Duneka, who is making the arrangements for the funeral, said that it was the wish of the family that the services be as brief as possible. Later on a public memorial service will be held in some large hall in New York.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton university will preach the sermon at the service tomorrow, which will be held at the Brick Presbyterian church, Thirty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, at 3 o'clock. The funeral, Mr. Duneka said, will be of only a semi-public nature, and will be attended

A TALE OF THE COMET.

Omaha, Neb., April 22.—Mark C. Walker and Miss Mae Callahan sat up last night to see the comet, but during the wait they got to talking about their own affairs instead of Halley's. Finally they got a taxicab, routed out the license clerk and then a priest and were married. They didn't see the comet.

ORDERED TO QUIT STATE

Creamery Package Company Is Declared Violator of the Laws.

Minnesota Supreme Court Finds It Is Illegal Combination.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court in an opinion filed today held that the Creamery Package company, incorporated in Illinois and doing business in Owatonna, Minn., was a combination in restraint of trade, and ordered that its license to do business in Minnesota be forfeited.

The court found that an agreement between several corporations providing for a transfer to one of the corporations of all of the property of the others, in return for which the corporation taking the title agrees to issue to each stockholder an amount of capital in proportion to his interest, and containing agreements as to future selection of directors and distribution of dividends, is a pooling or combination of interests, and only a nominal purchase and sale of properties.

The court held that the corporation taking title having subsequently carried on the business in the name of the concern and placed travelers in the field, who pretended to compete for business, but who secretly agreed upon prices, is evidence of intention

D. A. R. AGAIN IN POLITICAL FLURRY

Honorary Vice President Yet to Be Chosen By the Organization.

Washington, April 22.—Delegates to the continental congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution were again intent upon their political affairs when the congress was called to order this morning.

Because the election of two days previous had failed in the selection of an honorary vice president general, and one of the ten vice presidents general, another day of balloting was in order. The delegates began voting early for seven nominees for vice president general who had failed to get a majority vote on Wednesday. From these seven, one more vice president will be chosen.

No Majority Received.

Those nominated for honorary vice president general before were Mrs. Charles H. Deere of Illinois; Mrs. Sarah T. Kinney of Connecticut and Mrs. Althea R. Dedie of New Jersey. None received a majority in the voting Wednesday. After the reception to the delegates last night by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the president general, many of the members busily engaged themselves in electioneering to insure an election today of the two necessary to complete the personnel of officers.

While the ballots were being counted, reports of committees and state regents were heard.

This afternoon in Continental hall an entertainment of the Children of the Revolution will be held.

FOREMOST WORKERS IN MISSION FIELDS ASSEMBLE IN DULUTH

IN CHARGE OF THE CONVENTION

DR. J. B. TRIMBLE, Field Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Plans Complete for Convention of Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Delegates Will March From Y. M. C. A. to Banquet at Armory.

Sessions of the Convention Will Continue Until Sunday Evening.

All is in readiness for the banquet that will open the great Laymen's Missionary movement convention this evening in the Armory at 6:30 o'clock.

Most of the leading speakers from outside points have reached the city, among them being: Dr. J. B. Trimble, field secretary of the movement; Bishop W. S. Lewis of China; Bishop J. E. Robinson of India; Rev. H. Percy Silver, recent chaplain U. S. A.; J. D. Jones of India, one of the foremost authorities on the India of today; Ola Hanson of Burmah; Willis D. Hotchkiss of British East Africa, where Col. Roosevelt has been hunting; A. T. Gantz of Kansas City; George Heber Jones of Korea; G. Clifford Cress of Africa; C. C. Rollett of Minneapolis, and Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland of Pekin. Mrs. Hotchkiss came to Duluth with her husband.

Dr. Headland is a celebrated authority on China and all things Chinese. Dr. Headland was the late dowager empress' physician, and it is said that he knows more about the Forbidden City of her day than does any other Occidental.

Bishop Robinson takes the place of Dr. Homer Stuntz of New York, who, at the last moment, sent word that he would be unable to attend the Duluth convention.

THREATEN FOREIGNERS

Chinese Mobs Have Burned Several Villages in Hunan Province.

Missionary Refugees Arrive Ragged and Footsore at the Yangtse.

Hankow, April 22.—The situation in Hunan province is reported as critical. Women and children are fleeing for their lives from Shangsha, the capital. A number of villages near that city have been reduced to ashes by native mobs. The country is placarded with threats to kill all foreigners.

This disquieting news was brought by missionary refugees who arrived here today from Chang Sha and nearby missionary stations. Many of them had traveled thirty miles on foot and reached the Yangtse river in rags. Their houses had been burned and they lost all of their personal effects.

The missionaries stated that gunboats in the river have their guns trained upon Chang-Sha and nearby points and have afforded a refuge for many foreigners. Three thousand Chinese imperial soldiers are occupying the strategic points of the capital and detachments are being hurried to the outlying districts where rioting is reported.

Many Chinese Killed.

Many Chinese have been killed. In one instance a technical school was set afire and thirty students were burned to death.

When vessels approached Chang-Sha to rescue the imperilled ones the Chinese mob saturated junks with kerosene oil from looted stations of the Standard Oil company, and setting them afire, allowed them to float down

BIG LICENSE NO BAR TO SALOONS

Thirteen Permits Granted on Terms of $3,500 Yearly Payment.

Bristol, Tenn., April 22.—Local saloon keepers are determined to operate despite a handicap of the highest liquor license charged in the United States, and Judge Kelly today granted thirteen licenses under the $3,500 schedule, with other applications yet to be passed on. This town will be the distributing point for prohibition states, which center here.

SUICIDE RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Bank Employe at Potaka, Ind., Yields to Hereditary Impulse.

Princeton, Ind., April 22.—The impulse to end suffering by suicide which seemed hereditary in one branch of his family, caused Byron Cunningham, assistant cashier of the Potaka Bank of Potaka, Ind., to shoot and kill himself today at his father's home. He had been ill for several months. Cunningham's mother committed suicide three years ago and her father had died by his own hand.

TWO CONVIC NOT YET

Reward of $20 Fugitive Off Leavenw

Leavenworth, Kan., April 22. — Frank G. Ridgware and Theodore Murdock, two of the six convicts who escaped from the federal prison yesterday, were still at large this morning.

Twenty-five armed guards and 200 farmers are searching for the fugitives and Warden McClaughry said he expected the men to be captured within a few hours. The warden said he had offered a reward of $200 for the capture of each of the two men.

Murdock and Grigware are believed to be hiding in a rough district eight miles north of here.

TOO SLOW TO PLEASE TAFT

Ballinger-Pinchot Inquiry Committee Is Asked to Hurry Along.

Efforts to Have Sessions More Than Twice a Week Are Made.

Washington, April 22.—An effort will be made by the administration to bring the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation speedily to a close. In this move the indication is that the friends of the secretary of the interior will meet with the ready acquiescence of all members of the congressional committee without regard to their views on the question of whether the charges against Mr. Ballinger have been sustained.

Secretary of State Knox visited the capitol yesterday and conferred with several members of the committee. He had no definite plan to present, but merely urged that the inquiry be materially expedited. He is said to have spoken for President Taft, and the inference was drawn that the manner in which the hearing was dragging had been the subject of cabinet discussion.

Wants to Hurry It.

When Chairman Nelson arrived at the capitol today he said he would try to induce the members of the committee to give an additional day each week to the hearings. Under the present rule the committee sits on Fridays and Saturdays. A brief executive meeting was held prior to the taking of testimony, but the attendance was too small to bring up the subject of extending the time that is to be given to the proceedings.

It has been the understanding that

OLD FRIENDS MOURN TWAIN

Men Who Worked With Him Tell of His Early Days and Ways.

Becky Thatcher and Huck Finn Talk of Their Old Mate---Other Tributes.

San Francisco, Cal., April 22.—San Francisco "old timers" are conjuring up reminiscences of the days fifty years ago, when Samuel L. Clemens was plain Sam Clemens and the name "Mark Twain" had little significance for anybody except steamboat men on the Mississippi river.

"Back in the old days," muses Joseph T. Goodman, the pioneer editor of the West who gave Clemens his first job as a writer, "Sam was the best company, the drollest entertainer and the most interesting fellow imaginable. His humor was always creeping out and stayed with him to the last. A few weeks ago I received a letter from him couched in terms so characteristic of him. He wrote: 'Come on and visit me once more before we get so old we can't hear each other swear.'

Read Works in Manuscript.

"It was my privilege to read many of his works in manuscript before they were sent to the publishers. I recollect his giving me the manuscript of 'Roughing It,' to read one afternoon when I was visiting him in the early '70s. He made a great hit with 'Inno-

STEAL SAFE AS NEIGHBORS LOOK

Bold Thieves Take Chest With $3,200 Worth of Silver and Jewelry.

Chicago, April 22.—During the momentary absence of William White Forester and Mrs. Forester last night, burglars entered their home at 4324 Drexel boulevard and in a matter-of-fact manner removed a 200-pound safe containing silverware and jewelry valued at $3,200. They took their booty away in a wagon without exciting the interest of neighbors who had not yet retired.

After an all-night search, the police today found the safe, with its contents intact, half buried in the sand near the lake shore. It is believed that the thieves, being unable to open the safe, were attempting to bury it when frightened a.y.

SCHOONER IS LOST ON THE MEXICAN COAST.

San Francisco, Cal., April 22.—The Merchant Exchange has received a message from Altata, Mexico, stating that the schooner Eva, which sailed from San Francisco on April 2, is ashore at Altata bar. It is reported the vessel and cargo will be a total loss. The crew was saved.

Mrs. Rockefeller at Home.

Tarrytown, N. Y., April 22.—Mrs. John D. Rockefeller today is at the Pocantico Hills estate for the first time since the attack of pneumonia which she suffered last year. She is still weak, but in good spirits.

A VOICE FROM THE TOMBS.

ONE BLINDED; OTHER DEAD

Dynamite Explosion Robbed Child of Sight and Killed Brother.

Blinded for life, with one side of his face torn off, one eye knocked out and the sight of the other destroyed, 6-year-old Frank Rupper was taken to his home at Ely, from St. Mary's hospital this morning.

The explosion which injured him killed his little 3-year-old brother, who was with him at the time. They were playing about their home when they found a stick of dynamite. Not knowing its death-dealing qualities, they threw it about and in a manner which was not ascertained at the hospital, exploded it. The father, also named Frank Rupper, is an Austrian miner, employed in one of the mines at Ely, and had brought the dynamite to his home, it is said. He could talk but little English and was unable to give a good account of the terrible accident which maimed and blinded one son for life and blew his baby brother to pieces. The mother did not come to the hospital.

FRIGHTENED, BUT UNHURT

Small Boy Rescued From Drowning By Park Point Woman.

Mrs. E. Hill, residing near Thirtieth street on Minnesota Point, made a thrilling rescue of a small boy whose name could not be learned, yesterday afternoon, saving him from almost certain death by drowning at the risk of her own life.

The youngster, who appeared to be about 5 years old, procured a boat, which was lying on the beach and had not been used since last summer. Armed with a broken paddle, he ventured out to explore the bay.

He got about 200 yards from shore when he took fright at the large amount of water in the boat. He had been too intent wielding the paddle to notice it before. It had rapidly filled with water and he was far beyond his depth. He tried to reach bottom with his paddle but failed.

Then he began to scream. Shrieking at the top of his voice he attracted the attention of several of the women who lived in the neighborhood. They ran frantically up and down the beach trying to tell the boy what to do. The lower the boat settled the more terrified became his high pitched yells, delivered with all the lustiness of a frightened boy.

Thinking that they might possibly reach him by wading, several of the women plunged into the icy water. They went out quite a distance on the gradually sloping sand bottom, but were still too far off to be of assistance when the water reached up to their necks. They made their way back to the beach. One of the spectators, Mrs. Hill, finally seized upon an old skiff that was lying near. Although it was taking long chances to use it, as it was in about as bad condition as the other, she took the risk and went to the rescue, and towed the boy back to shore.

The women on the beach rushed towards her with one accord and helped drag her and her burden to safety. No sooner did he find himself on terra firma than the youngster scampered away as fast as his legs would carry him.

HAD A GOOD VOCABULARY

Einar Halvorson's Sentiments on High Cost of Living Cause Arrest.

Realization of the high cost of living came like a solar plexus blow to Einar Halverson yesterday afternoon. The facts as he learned them caused him to lose his head, whereupon he landed in the police station charged with disorderly conduct.

Halverson went into a place at 517 West Superior street to buy a dime's worth of ham. He didn't know that pigs have been selling up as high as $50 apiece on the livestock markets of the country and was convinced the storekeeper was giving him much the worst of the bargain when he saw how little ham he got for the tenth part of a dollar of real American money.

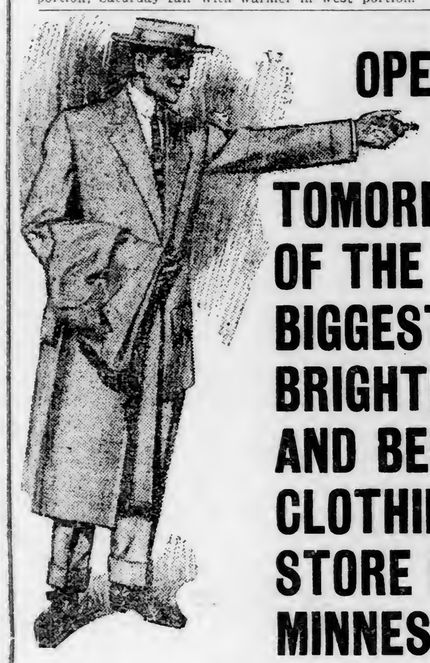
He hurled forth epithet after epithet, according to the authorities. Not satisfied with that it is alleged that he "sailed into" the man whom he accused of cheating him on his 10-cent ham purchase.

Some one passing called for the police and Patrolman Jerry Gleason responded. He placed Halverson under arrest for disorderly conduct. When arraigned in police court he entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ROOSEVELT VISITS NAPOLEON'S TOMB

Former President Gazes Silently at Resting Place of Conqueror.

Paris, April 122.—Mr. Roosevelt began his program for the day with a visit to the tomb of Napoleon in the Palais des Invalides.



Passing first into the chapel, the party viewed the tattered battle flag captured in the Napoleonic campaigns. When the rotunda beyond was reached, from which he looked down upon the tomb of the conqueror, the former president grew strangely silent. A few moments later the party descended to the crypt, through which they entered the tomb.

From the tomb the party visited the Napoleon museum. Later Mr. Roosevelt had luncheon with Baron Conbertin and then continued his sightseeing.

NO VERDICT REACHED IN PITTSBURG TRIAL.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 22.—After forty-two hours' deliberation, the jury in the bribery case of Former Councilman A. V. Simson was discharged today by Judge Frazer, after failing to agree upon a verdict. The district attorney announced that Simson would be tried again.

J. M. Gidding & Co.

"Correct Dress for Women"

The Gidding Suit Assortments at $29.50 to $35

are now at their best—not only because of the extensive ranges in styles and materials, but because the values are unquestionably the best we have ever been able to offer at these prices—and because they surpass suits usually found at the same, and higher prices.

The liberal range of styles represents all that is new and up-to-date, in practical, plain-tailored suits. The materials are fine French Serges, Diagonal-Serges, Tropical Worsteds, Shepherd Checks, English Homespuns and Smart Mannish Worsteds. The linings are of fine Peau de Cygne or silk-serge.

Comparison is all we solicit, for once seen they are safely sold against other suits of equal prices.

Smart Street Coats at $19.50 and $25.00.

Exceptional values in full length styles in the new Belted effects, with long rolled collars—also graceful Semi-fitting styles.

Three-Quarter-Length Coats, $15.00.

Black Serge and Tan Covert Coats—strictly tailored styles, with silk-serge linings.

Swagger Capes, $13.50.

Full length military styles, in fine imported broadcloths. Plain colors or trimmed with military braids. Also girls' sizes at $6.75 and $8.75.

Tailored Cloth Dresses at $21.50.

Trig Styles in fine Panama, Serges and Tropical Worsteds—strictly tailored with Gibson shoulder plait and side-opening effect, or Braided Styles, that open in the Back. ALSO A Fine Line of Black Tailored Dresses, in all sizes, from Misses to size 42—at $21.50 to $49.50.

Silk Dresses at $25.00.

Charming Styles in Figured Foulards or plain Shantung, Louisine and Taffeta Silks.

Remarkable Showings of Smart Wash Dresses at $8.50 to $16.50—Misses and women's sizes—Dainty Percales, Natural Linens, Ginghams and Madrases.

Smart and Individual Styles in Street and Semi-Dress

Hats at $8.50, $10 and $12.50

There probably are plenty of other Hats about town at these prices—but they're not Gidding Hats—not in style and character. And after all, the worth of a hat lies not alone in the amount of material it represents, but in the Quality of material, and the way it's put together. It takes an artist to make a snappy bow, and to put it on at a snappy angle. And it takes skill to "drape a crown artistically," or to give "an artistic roll to a brim," or a nifty angle to an aigrette. 'Tis in this and in Quality that Gidding Hats out-strip their neighbors. Seeing is believing, and you are invited to see for yourself the difference between a $10.00 Gidding Hat and a $10.00 hat of any other label.

Girls' Outfitting Is a Specialty With Us!

And girls are given as much attention here as the grown-ups. The little Strictly Tailored Coats are just as much hand finished as if a local tailor had made them. The Nobby Junior Suits are especially built to conform to the undeveloped figures of growing girls, and the little Play-Time Dresses are just as practical and as carefully made as though mother herself had stood over the making of them.

Strictly Hand-Finished Tailored Coats.

Cut and made so skillfully that many a girl dons her choice and walks straight out of the store without a stitch of alteration. Light coverts, mannish homespuns, navy serges, black-and-white checked worsteds, and other favorite weaves, beautifully lined throughout.

FIVE DEATHS AT POOR FARM

Men Nearing End Sent to County Institution to Die.

Thomas Rice, Shoestring Peddler, One of the Victims of Disease.

Five deaths occurred at the poor farm the last two days from various causes. None of the men had been at the institution more than four days, their ends being forecasted before they reached the place.

Probably the saddest case was that of Thomas Rice, 60 years old, a shoe string peddler, both of whose hands were cut off. For years he has been a familiar figure in certain portions of the downtown section, principally the Bowery and Lake avenue.

Rice has recently been in police court upon different occasions. The first in barrooms used to buy him drinks for the doubtful fun of seeing him swallow them. Without hands, he would pick up the glass between his teeth after the liquor had been poured and toss it down his throat with a backward jerk of his head.

He was a widower and the death certificate shows that he has one child living, but gives little more information about him.

He lost his hands several years ago after they had been frozen so badly that they had to be amputated. He was at the farm but half a day when he died. He was sent to the county jail from the police station. Death was caused by heart failure brought on by rheumatism.

William Burke died from blood-poisoning caused by ulcers on his legs. He was a boilermaker, 50 years old, of whom little seems to be known. He was at the poor farm two days when he died.

William Armstrong, a marine fireman, 35 years old; Charles Swanson, a laborer, 46 years old, and Thomas Hampton, 61 years old, who did railroad construction work, died of acute alcoholism, according to the death certificates, filed in the office of the health department yesterday afternoon. All were without funds to go to hospitals. Very little is known of their past histories.

All five of the men were buried in paupers' graves at Greenwood cemetery on the poor farm.

ZENITH CITY WAS A WELCOME SIGHT

Ralph Pineo Returns Home After Barnstorming the Entire West.

After an absence of nearly a year and a half, during which time he roamed over the entire West, Ralph Pineo, the 20-year-old son of H. I. Pineo of 520 Fourth avenue east, is home and glad to be here.

Young Pineo, like other boys of his age, wanted to see the country. He had lived in Duluth all his life and the same old scenes day after day had become tiresome. He was sure there were places on the map, although he did not know where, that would appeal more strongly to him.

But he says that the most welcome sight he saw on the entire journey was the approach to the union depot on the return trip.

He left Duluth with the intention of covering the entire West, and he did. He took in the entire coast from north to south, working a short time in each city. He took plenty of time to see everything and he says the barnstorming idea is not what it is cracked up to be.

The young man worked in the fruit valleys of the West and spent several weeks in Southern California. He says that with the exception of the first few weeks, there was not a town that he visited that looked so good to him as the Zenith City. He visited all the large cities of the Middle West and those of the coast.

The young man graduated from the Central high school in 1908.

MAY BECOME LEADER OF BRITISH LIBERALS

WINSTON L. S. CHURCHILL.

London, April 22.—Hon. Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, who on his mother's side is half American, is rapidly forging to the front as the future leader of the Liberal party. Mr. Churchill was born in 1874 and is the son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill and Mrs. George Lady Churchill, now Mrs. George Cornwallis West, a daughter of Leonard Jerome of New York. Mr. Churchill served in the Boer war as a lieutenant of South African Light Horse and also as correspondent for the Morning Post. He has published a number of works on the war in Africa. He also served with the Nile expeditionary force in 1898 and was present at the battle of Khartum.

SUSTAINED FALL; ASKS DAMAGES

Louis Backman Wants $1,550 From the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.

Louis Backman wants $1,550 from the Northern Pacific Railroad company for injuries alleged to have been sustained when he fell to the station platform at Fond du Lac last summer. The case is on today before Judge Dibell of the district court.

Backman says, in his complaint, that he was a passenger on the gasoline car run by the company to the old trading post, and that on arriving there the car was started before he had left the steps. In this respect he claims the company was negligent.

SENATOR BIRD DYING.

Marinette, Wis., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Harland Bird of Wausaukee, Wis., formerly a prominent Michigan lumberman, is reported to be dying today from apoplexy, complicated with heart trouble.

Capture Parole Violator.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—The Milwaukee police yesterday captured and turned over to the Chicago police James, alias "Letty" Johnston, said to be one of the cleverest and most daring negro outlaws in the United States. Johnston violated his parole from Joliet prison, being freed from the full service of a twenty-year sentence for murdering a Chicago woman.

LAWYER ACCUSED OF SHOOTING MAN

H. M. Higgins of Minneapolis Charged With Wounding Real Estate Dealer.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. M. Higgins, a prominent attorney with offices in the New York Life building in this city, is accused by the police of having shot J. E. Berkey, a real estate dealer, during a quarrel in the former's office last evening about 6 o'clock.

According to the police, Higgins and Berkey were engaged in a dispute over some papers. Berkey, it is said, demanded possession of the papers, which Higgins refused to give up.

During a struggle, the police say that Higgins was getting the worst of it, and in order to save himself and the papers he seized a revolver, which was lying on his desk, and fired at Berkey. The bullet just grazed Berkey's temple, inflicting a slight scalp wound.

NORTH DAKOTA ARBOR DAY BEING OBSERVED.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arbor day is being generally observed locally with special exercises. The schools, colleges, banks and public offices are closed. There will be two intercollegiate debates in Fargo tonight. St. Thomas meets Fargo college and the agricultural colleges of the two Dakotas will also argue here.

Silberstein & Bondy Company.

Jergens Soaps
Ten different scentr, regular 10c bar. Saturday 19c a box. (Three in box.)

Saturday is always exempt from school discipline, "tasks" and their attendant worries. Therefore it is a good day to outfit little girls and their big sisters for school, and the little affairs social and otherwise of girl life. The individualty of S. & B. Co. Junior Clothes is a "special feature" of this store. Whether the price be small or great, the same quality, the same perfection of cut and tailoring and the little "extra" art in trimmings, is apparent.

There are captivating JUNIOR SUITS for debutantes, that are as individual in their way, as women's garments—with a youthful air about them that causes every girl who tries one on, to want one.

THE ELSIE JANIS' SUIT—Appeals very strongly to young ladies around 16, and is a strong favorite with Miss Duluth, at $29.50.

For little ladies there are enough wash dresses to fill a good sized "summer house;" from the plain little chambray affairs at $1.00 up to $3.50 and more.

TABLEFUL OF WAISTS, $1.50, that are musst from handling. There are Midi Waists, with blue collars and cuffs, tailored models and a few striped percale waists and lingeries that were up to $2.50.

ANOTHER GROUP AT $2.00—Are worth in regular stocks up to $3.50. Mostly tailored and black and white striped percale waists.

True, they are a trifle ruffled, but the reduction in price more than offsets the trouble of laundering them.

Your New Suit

That will be a pleasure to wear for its inherent quality and well tailored lines—IS HERE. The buying advantages for Saturday patrons are out-of-the-ordinary. Weather has been against the Suit business down East (and Duluth women with their all-the-year-round suit weather are going to reap the benefit)—hence we bought liberally from our own garment people. Besides, we are readjusting our regular stocks after Easter and post Easter business. The resultant savings are being past along to you tomorrow.

Knowing the prestige of S. & B. Co. Suits—will you wear a Silberstein Suit this season? The values are absolutely the best we have ever been able to offer to Duluth women at this time of the year.

The Very Highest Type of Tailored Suits, at $25, $29.50, $35.00 and $42.50 and up—that are worth about one-third more than similarly priced suits elsewhere.

STOUT SUITS found here, are not the "out size" suits of regular lines, but a special suit service—Specialized by a leading maker, who turns out nothing else. Larger and fuller fronts, more hiproom, and short-waisted effects, are the leading points of difference that obseitic women will find here for their especial benefit.

Finely tailored lines, at $29.50, $35.00, $42.50 and up. Exclusive with this store for Duluth.

New we come to the REAL CUSTOM-MADE LINES that demonstrate more than anything else the superiority of this house as an outfitting institution for well-drest women.

New Belts

New Beaded, Elastic and Leather Belts came in yesterday. Stylish Belts of leather, with large double buckles, at $1.00—the new "shaped" style. With the renewed popularity of the separate skirt and tailored waist, shapely belts are desirable—in fact, indispensable to Spring and Summer outfits. Several recent shipments make the Leather Goods Section—just inside the door—a very interesting nook just now.

Distinctive Hats

DRESS HATS, $10.00 to $85.00. SEMI-DRESS, $10.00 to $35.00. STREET HATS, $5.00 to $25.00.

No costume can be pronounced a success if it isn't topt by the right hat. Hats that blend with or match your suit are an important factor in the Millinery department these days. The table-fuls "of a color" are kept constantly replenisht. Our clever artist milliners are as busy as bees—adapting the new shapes and new trimmings to individual needs—the rearrangement of a bow, of an ornament, a change of color—these are mere trifles, which we are only too happy to adjust. Every type of women can find HER hat here.

A shape perfectly adapted to her physiognomy. A shape suiting to her individual mode of hair dressing. A color becoming to herself—and as we said before—harmonious with her costume.

Piquant little continental affairs, torpedos, tricorns, the "wearable" mushroom turbans galore, wide brims, turnedup brims and round hats.

Auto Hats that fit "to stay on," and other kinds innumerable.

No question but the S. & B. Co. Millinery department sells more hats than any other store in town.

As a visitor said the other day: "I have bought my hats from Mrs. So-and-So for the past fifteen years. I came up here to look and couldn't resist the temptation to buy. I know she will be disappointed—but I have seen her hats and she didn't have any that I like half as well as this one.

Have you seen the new ones just out of the work room? On display for the first time today!

Hats for Girls

Are just as painstakingly made as any grownups. The charm of individuality is as markt, too. A wide range of models from $5.00 to $10.00.

If you desire above all else, to have an exclusive skirt in the more elaborate models, you take no chances at this store.

Exceptional Coats

Women have been telling us since early spring, that the "caste" of our Coat stocks was never more in evidence than the present season. The lure of the auto is responsible for the vogue of the fashionably tailored coat, and the style individuality of S. & B. Co. models makes this section of the garment floor a veritable hive of industry. Hardly a day, but the express man brings us new coats.

Fashionable Models of finest French serge, in navy and black—black and white checkt worsteds, and coatings, superbly tailored—some with frog of material fastening at waist line, others with self-covered buttons—some display tasty splashes of Persian, some more have button trimmings. Almost all have the long roll collars. Recent visitors have the new foulard collar—body lined with first quality silks—tailored beautifully. Prices $15.00 to $50.00.

Coats of Silk, of Rajah, Shantung, Pongee and Taffeta, in dozens of fashionable models, from $21.50 up.

Smart Tailor-made Linen Coats, that women will look in vain for outside of this store—$12.50 and up.

Other Models that you will find when you call tomorrow. Really the exclusiveness and tailored perfection of S. & B. Co. Coat stocks are the talk of the town. At any rate, it keeps the department head busy checking off the new arrivals that hardly ever fail to put in an appearance every day.

MINNESOTA IS BARRED

Gopher State Militia Cannot Participate in National Maneuvers.

Must Drill at Lake City to Hold Title to Grounds.

The announcement from the war department at Washington that the combined regular and militia infantry and cavalry maneuvers will be held at Indianapolis Sept. 21-30, has not been received with any demonstrations of delight in Duluth, for the Duluth militia men will be denied the benefits that go with the hard work that is afforded those military organizations that are fortunate enough to participate in these encampments.

The reason that Minnesota guardsmen are denied the privilege of joint maneuvers is that twenty-one years ago the state accepted as a donation from Lake City, the Camp Lakeview site where the annual encampments are held, on the condition that the state should use these grounds at least thirty days each year for a period of thirty years. While the state would save thousands of dollars if it could send the troops to the joint encampments financed in part by the federal government, advantage of the opportunity cannot be taken because of the stipulation accompanying the gift of the Lake City site.

The best results cannot be obtained there because of the restricted area of the camp grounds, and much complaint has been heard in militia circles because of the existing conditions. As things are now, the militiamen who go to Lake City, enjoy an ideal outing, but it is declared that they are eager to take part in the maneuvers with the regulars, even though they involve much harder work for every one, so that they may better themselves in the service and make the militia of Minnesota one of the highest grade in the nation.

In a communication published in the Third Regiment Bulletin, Maj. H. V. Eva discusses the difficulties that confront the guardsmen of the state. He says in part:

"It is pitiful to think that this great state is tied up to one community for a few paltry acres of land. If the citizens of Lake City are so small and narrow, (which I don't believe they are) has to require the state to encamp there every year without intermission in order to hold a few acres of land and by so doing injure their fighting force, to the detriment of the guard and the entire state, then I say, let them have their land and keep it, for as the government pays the expenses of those maneuvers, enough money could be saved to more than buy the amount of land used for camp purposes.

"Minnesota already owns vast acres which she could use for the purpose of state encampment without handicapping the effectiveness of the service for the sake of a small piece of ground. Lake City camping grounds from an artistic standpoint, is beautiful. I do not know of another more ideal spot for an outing than that, but the demands of the service today are so great and the confines of the present military reserve are so small that it is almost impossible to maneuver a regiment in extended order, to say nothing of field maneuvers.

"The citizens of Lake City have been generous in the past. Thrice to my knowledge have the troops or some portion of them been away from there. Once in 1898 again in 1901 and 1907. What has prompted them to take the stand at this time? It seems a shame and is at the same time exasperating that this great state, pushing to the foreground in so many things, should be so far behind in this. The willingness on the part of our Federal government to assist the state in this work should be taken advantage of, and by so doing we should show them we appreciate their interest.

"I believe the personel of the Minnesota National Guard is equally as good as that of any state in the Union, and taking into consideration the handicaps they have had, such as the old time worn city of lack of funds, they are to be congratulated in the advance they have made."

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"Fantana," by Broadway Amusement company.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT THE LYCEUM.

The Broadway Amusement company which is at the Lyceum for an engagement of a few days presented their first opera last evening, when "Fantana" a Japanese-American musical comedy, was given to the satisfaction of the audience at the Lyceum. A ripple of laughter was the pleasing accompaniment to which the performers did their work and the engagement promises to give much satisfaction. The company is not an especially large one but the chorus is young and attractive. The leading roles are in the hands of Teddy Webb and Eulalia Young, assisted by Francis Abbott, Jess Travers, A. Bert, A. Holloway, Edward Armstrong, Viva Ethella, Pearl Bergen, Amy Leicester and Etta Boyle.

PARK POINTERS WANT TRANSFERS

Object to Present System of the Street Car Company.

The citizens of Park Point are making strenuous efforts to get a 5-cent fare into effect. Last night at Mission hall there was a well-attended meeting of the Park Point Civic club and the matter of the cheaper fares to the up-town districts was discussed.

Under the present plan transfers going both ways are paid for at the rate of 2 cents each, in addition to the regular fare of 5 cents.

Last night the company was asked to put into effect the regular 5-cent fare with free transfers for a time, with the understanding that if it was not found to be profitable it could be changed back to the present system.

O. C. Hartman of the Interstate Traction company was present at the meeting and promised to take the matter up with the officials of the company, but he claimed that with the present population of the point, the reduction would cause the company to operate at a loss.

OPTION PLANK OR WILL BOLT

Anti-Saloon League Superintendent Sees Trouble for Republicans.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—P. J. Youngdahl, superintendent of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league, predicted yesterday that if the Republican state convention fails to indorse county option in its platform June 21, fully 30 per cent of the delegates will bolt.

"This is not a threat," said Mr. Youngdahl. "I am only judging by the expressions I have heard every day from men who will be delegates. We are going there to ask for a county option plank in the platform, and though we will not be able to control a majority of the delegates, we will have 25 to 40 per cent, and maybe more.

"I don't believe Governor Eberhart, if he is nominated, can afford to ignore and cross the wishes of so large a percentage of the Republican party, and I am sure that a majority of the Republican voters are actually for county option. From the talk that comes to us, I believe that at least 30 per cent of the delegates will feel so strongly on county option that if the convention does not declare for it they will get up and walk out.

"As far as we know at this time, we will not have a candidate for governor, but we are organizing the state by congressional districts and counties, to work for the county option indorsement. Wherever we can we will get instructions from the county conventions, and we will get men friendly to our cause on the delegations wherever we can. Our people feel that county option is the big issue, and about the only issue, that there is in the state. The Republican convention cannot afford to ignore it.

"If the convention is against county option it should say so. The party ought to declare itself one way or the other. We feel certain that a majority of the Republican voters are with us, and that at least 40 per cent are so strongly for county option that they would not hesitate to turn the party down because of it. They may have the strength to beat us in the state convention, but I don't believe they can afford to do it."

POTATO MARKET GLUTTED.

For First Time in Years Farmers Cannot Sell Profitably.

Foley, Minn., April 22.—For the first time in twelve years are the farmers of Minnesota experiencing difficulty in disposing of their potatoes, as the market appears glutted, with no immediate prospects for relief. Good white stock is only bringing 12 cents on the local market, and we fear that many who stored their potatoes will have trouble in finding a market. Those who are in close touch with the situation can see no prospects for relief from the present situation, and it is said that hundreds of thousands of bushels will be thrown away as a result.

ARBITRATION FOR NEW YORK CENTRAL

Clark and Morrissey Are Agreed to Settle the Wage Questions.

New York, April 22.—Arbitration of the wage demands of the trainmen and conductors of the New York Central lines west of Buffalo was agreed upon here today. The arbitration will be independent of that now in progress affecting the men on the Central's lines east of Buffalo, but the same arbitrators will serve.

The award of the arbitrators, E. E. Clark and P. H. Morrissey, is looked for by tomorrow, provided the new negotiations are not delayed in conclusion. The Lackawanna's trainmen and conductors and the officials of that road have agreed to accept the award of the Central's arbitrators as binding upon the Lackawanna.

El Paso Morning Times Sold.

El Paso, Tex., April 22.—The El Paso Morning Times, one of the oldest papers in the Southwest, was sold yesterday for $150,000 to a stock company, headed by Thomas O'Keefe. The Times was founded thirty years ago by Capt. Jaun S. Hart, who continued its owner until yesterday.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK.

Big Four Officials Deny Big Casualty List in Indiana.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22. — Only two men were killed in the wreck at Sandford, Ind., on the Big Four railway today, according to official reports received at the general offices of the system in Cincinnati. The reports made no mention of L. B. Donnelly as a victim of the wreck.

It was also denied that the wreck was caused by a defective switch. In explanation of the crash it is asserted that the switch had been opened by the crew of a freight train which took a siding to let passenger train No. 46 pass. The switch was not properly locked, it is said, and as a consequence the wrecked train, which was running as a second section of No. 46, ran through it and struck the construction cars.

A Mid-Spring Exhibit of Popular Priced
Millinery at $7.50 to $25

Tomorrow the Millinery Section offers a display of fashionable millinery that is actually marvelous in its beauty. A more summer-like tinge is coming over the hats and their tints "lighter weight, airier, softer trimmings."

Flower trimmed hats; aigrette trimmed hats; ostrich trimmed hats, in superb wide-branching shapes, Leghorn, Tagel, Milan and French Chip, restfully light in weight despite their rich profusion of trimmings.

All the Paris magic of color—the new purple tones; the all-black and black and white, to lend distinction to pale tinted gowns; the radiant under-facings of lovely cashmere tones; the whole story of foreign millinery, chic and charm as Paris artists have caught the spirit, and clever home-fingers have interpreted it. Specially priced at $7.50 to $25.00.

Our Children's and Misses' Section

So Many Pianos

Are selling during our Big Removal Sale because of low prices and great big values. Such fine ones were never before offered at such prices, and buyers recognize this fact. It would be foolish to try to fool the people with these old standard makes; every one knows what they sell for regularly, and they also know that we are offering them at figures never before given.

We must move and to get our big stock to moving size requires selling it down. It is going.

MINNESOTA IS BARRED

Gopher State Militia Cannot Participate in National Maneuvers.

Must Drill at Lake City to Hold Title to Grounds.

The announcement from the war department at Washington that the combined regular and militia infantry and cavalry maneuvers will be held at Indianapolis Sept. 21-30, has not been received with any demonstrations of delight in Duluth for the Duluth militia men will be denied the benefits that go with the hard work that is afforded by these military organizations that is fortunate enough to participate in the encampments.

None of the Minnesota guards are denied the privilege of joint maneuvers in that they are not a state accepted as a donation at Lake City, the Camp Lakeview of which the annual encampments are held on the condition that the Lake City grounds at least be kept in such shape for a period of years. While the state would spend thousands of dollars if it could send its troops to the joint encampments, in part by the federal government in accordance of the opportunities offered, it cannot be taken because of the condition attached to accepting the gift of the grounds.

[illegible] cannot be obtained for the required area [illegible] and other conditions [illegible] in fulfilling either of the conditions. As the militiamen who [illegible] an ideal outing [illegible] that they are quite [illegible] to maneuver with the [illegible] each year. Besides [illegible] service and make the militia [illegible] of the latter [illegible]

In a communication published in the Third Report of Duluth, May 11, 1909, [illegible] that conditions in the state [illegible] a comparison of the state [illegible] in part [illegible] it is [illegible] to think that this great [illegible] is due up to one community for [illegible] acres of land. If the citizens of Lake City are so small and [illegible] don't believe they [illegible] require the state to encamp [illegible] every year without interruption in order to hold a few acres [illegible] the encampment [illegible] doing more than [illegible] to the detriment of the guard and the entire state, then I say, for them, take their land and keep it, for as the government pays the expenses of these encampments, enough money could be saved to more than [illegible] the amount of land used for camp purposes.

"Minnesota already owns vast acres [illegible] it could use for the purposes of [illegible] encampment without handicapping [illegible] convenience of the service for [illegible] small piece of ground. Lake City camping grounds from an [illegible] standpoint, is beautiful. I do [illegible] know of another more ideal spot for [illegible] camp than that, but the [illegible] of the service today are so great and the centers of the present military reserve are so small that it is almost impossible to maneuver a regiment in extended order, to say nothing of field maneuvers.

"The citizens of Lake City have been generous in the past. Thrice to my knowledge have the troops or some portion of them been away from there, once in 1898 again in 1901 and 1907. What has prompted them to take the stand at this time? It seems a shame and is at the same time exasperating that this great state, pushing to the foreground in so many things, should be so far behind in this. The willingness on the part of our Federal government to assist the state in this work should be taken advantage of, and by so doing we should show them we appreciate their interest.

"I believe the personnel of the Minnesota National Guard is equally as good as that of any state in the Union, and taking into consideration the handicaps they have had, such as the old time worn out [illegible] of funds they are to be congratulated in the advance they have made."

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

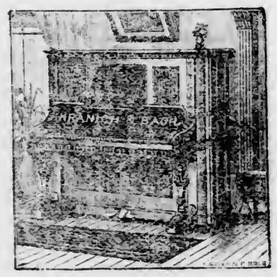
WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"Fantana," by Broadway Amusement company.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT THE LYCEUM.

The Broadway Amusement company which is at the Lyceum for an engagement of a few days presented their first opera last evening when "Fantana" a Japanese-American musical comedy, was given to the satisfaction of the audience at the Lyceum. A ripple of laughter was the pleasing accompaniment to which the performers did their work and the engagement promises to give much satisfaction. The opera is not an especially strong one but the [illegible] is very attractive. The leading roles are in the hands of Teddie Webb and Estelle Young assisted by Frank Webber, Jessie Glover, Jack Holloway, Edward Applegate, Vivi Ellerbe, Pearl Bergen, Ann Laurence and Bess Royle.

PARK POINTERS WANT TRANSFERS



Object to Present System of the Street Car Company.

The citizens of Park Point are making strenuous efforts to get a 7-cent fare into effect. Last night at Mission Hall there was a well-attended meeting of the Park Point Civic club and the matter of the cheaper fares to the up-town districts was discussed.

Under the present plan transfers costing both ways are paid for at the rate of 2 cents each in addition to the regular fare of 5 cents.

Last night the company was asked to put into effect the regular 7-cent fare with free transfers for a time, with the understanding that if it was not found to be profitable it could be changed back to the present system.

W. Hartman of the Interstate Traction company was present at the meeting and promised to take the matter up with the officials of the company, but he claimed that with the present population of the point, the reduction would cause the company to operate at a loss.

OPTION PLANK OR WILL BOLT

Anti-Saloon League Superintendent Sees Trouble for Republicans.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—P. J. Youngdahl, superintendent of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league predicted yesterday that if the Republican state convention fails to indorse county option in its platform June 21, fully 30 per cent of the delegates will bolt.

"Talk is not a threat," said Mr. Youngdahl. "I am only judging by the expressions I have heard every day from men who will be delegates. We are going there to ask for a county option plank in the platform, and though we will not be able to control a majority of the delegates, we will have 25 to 30 per cent and maybe more.

"I don't believe Governor Eberhart, if he is nominated, can afford to ignore and cross the wishes of so large a percentage of the Republican party, and I am sure that a majority of the Republican voters are favorable for county option. From the talk that comes to us, I believe that at least 30 per cent of the delegates will feel so strongly on county option that if the convention does not declare for it they will get up and walk out.

"As far as we know at this time, we will not have a candidate for governor, but we are organizing the state by congressional districts and counties, to work for the county option indorsement. Wherever we can we will get instructions from the county conventions, and we will get men friendly to our cause on the delegations wherever we can. Our people feel that county option is the big issue, and about the only issue, that there is in the state. The Republican convention cannot afford to ignore it.

"If the convention is against county option it should say so. The party ought to declare itself one way or the other. We feel certain that a majority of the Republican voters are with us, and that at least 40 per cent are so strongly for county option that they would not hesitate to turn the party down because of it. They may have the strength to beat us in the state convention, but I don't believe they can afford to do it."

POTATO MARKET GLUTTED.

For First Time in Years Farmers Cannot Sell Profitably.

Foley, Minn., April 22.—For the first time in twelve years are the farmers of Minnesota experiencing difficulty in disposing of their potatoes, as the market appears glutted, with no immediate prospects for relief. Good white stock is only bringing 12 cents on the local market, and we fear that many who stored their potatoes will have trouble in finding a market. Those who are in close touch with the situation can see no prospects for relief from the present situation, and it is said that hundreds of thousands of bushels will be thrown away as a result.

ARBITRATION FOR NEW YORK CENTRAL

Clark and Morrissey Are Agreed to Settle the Wage Questions.

New York, April 22.—Arbitration of the wage demands of the trainmen and conductors of the New York Central lines west of Buffalo was agreed upon here today. The arbitration will be independent of that now in progress affecting the men on the Central's lines east of Buffalo, but the same arbitrators will serve.

The award of the arbitrators, E. E. Clark and P. H. Morrissey, is looked for by tomorrow, provided the new negotiations are not delayed in conclusion. The Lackawanna's trainmen and conductors and the officials of that road have agreed to accept the award of the Central's arbitrators as binding upon the Lackawanna.

El Paso Morning Times Sold.

El Paso, Tex., April 22.—The El Paso Morning Times, one of the oldest papers in the Southwest, was sold yesterday for $150,000 to a stock company, headed by Thomas O'Keefe. The Times was founded thirty years ago by Capt. Jaun S. Hart, who continued its owner until yesterday.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK.

Big Four Officials Deny Big Casualty List in Indiana.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22. — Only two men were killed in the wreck at Sandford, Ind., on the Big Four railway today, according to official reports received at the general offices of the system in Cincinnati. The reports made no mention of L. B. Donnelly as a victim of the wreck.

It was also denied that the wreck was caused by a defective switch. In explanation of the crash it is asserted that the switch had been opened by the crew of a freight train which took a siding to let passenger train No. 46 pass. The switch was not properly locked, it is said, and as a consequence the wrecked train, which was running as a second section of No. 16, ran through it and struck the construction cars.

Fergus Falls Pioneer Dies.

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 22.—O. S. Sweet, a prominent citizen of this city, died at his home here after an illness of several weeks from heart disease. He came here from New York forty years ago. He was a veteran of the Civil war and was 66 years of age.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

USE CENSUS TO SWINDLE

Fake Enumerators Working Smooth Game in Other Cities.

Everything Going Smoothly at Duluth at End of First Week.

The first week of the taking of the census in Duluth is over and the enumerators have but one more week in which to complete their work. Supervisor Hollister and Assistant Supervisor Allen have no fears that the work will not be completed within the required time.

"All of the enumerators are doing fine work and some of the districts are already being closed up," said Mr. Allen this morning. "The people have shown a disposition to help the men and the co-operation of the public has greatly facilitated the work. By April 30, we expect to have every person in the city enumerated, unless there is some hitch that at present does not seem likely."

"If a census enumerator should call at a house, take the data, and then ask for money, call up a policeman," is the word the census bureau is sending out through the country.

In Chicago, fakers representing themselves as census enumerators, have made the rounds taking data just like a regular enumerator and then demanding 2½ cents a name. The government pays all bills in connection with the census and the alleged enumerator who asks for money is a swindler and should be treated as such.

Every census enumerator has a badge stamped "United States Census, 1910." If an enumerator should ask for money, he should be made to show his badge. If he is a regular enumerator, the government will quickly deal with him. If he is not a regular enumerator, he will be dealt with if he is caught.

No cases of the kind have come up in Duluth, but the general warning has been sent out, because if the scheme works in one city it may be tried in others.

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED.

1. Your name in full.....
2. Relationship to the head of the family with which you live.....
(Write head, lodger, or servant, or wife, son, daughter, or whatever word describes the relationship.)
3. Sex.....
4. Color or race.....
(Write white, or black (if you are a full-blood negro or mulatto (if you are not a full-blooded negro but have some proportion of the negro blood) or Chinese, or Japanese, or Indian, as the case may be.)
5. Age at last birthday.....
(For children, not yet 2 years old, age should be given in completed months, expressed as twelfths of a year. Thus, if a child is three months and some days old, the age entered should be given as 3-12; if 1 year and 2 months old, as 1-2-12. If not yet one month old, give age as 0-12.)
6. State whether you are "single," or "married," or "widowed," or "divorced" at the present time.....
If married:
7. Is this your first marriage?....
8. Number of years married to your present husband or wife.....
(Give completed years; for example, if married 5 years and 10 months, write 5 years.)
If a married, widowed, or divorced woman:
9. How many children have you had?.....
10. How many of these children were living April 15, 1910?.....
11. Where were you born?.....
11(a) If foreign born, what is your mother tongue or native language?.....
12. Where was your father born?.....
12(a) If father was foreign born, what was his mother tongue or native language?.....
13. Where was your mother born?.....
12(a) If mother was foreign born, what was her mother tongue or native language?.....
(In answering the above questions as to birthplace, give country of birth if born abroad, and state or territory of birth if born in the United States.)
If of foreign birth:
14. In what year did you immigrate to the United States?.....
15. Have you been naturalized?...
(If you have been naturalized, either by taking out second or final papers of naturalization or through the act of your father, write "Yes." If you have only declared your intention to become an American citizen and have taken out first papers, write first paper; if you have done neither, write "No.")
16. Can you speak English?.....
17. If not able to speak English, what is your native language or mother tongue?.....
18. What is your trade, profession, or usual occupation?.....
(Answer so as to indicate the kind of work you perform, as, for instance, splitter, salesman, laborer, clerk.)
19. In what industry or business are you engaged?.....
(Answer so as to indicate the general character of the industry or business in which you are employed or with which you are connected, as, in cotton mill, dry goods store, on farm, insurance, in a bank, or whatever may be appropriate.)
20. State whether you are an employer, or a worker for wages, or a salary (employe), or are working on your own account without employing others?.....
(Write employer if you employ any persons other than domestic servants in your own business; write worker if an employe working for wages or a salary; write own account if engaged in any business or occupation, without being either an employer or an employe.)
If you are an employe (worker), answer the two following questions (if an employer or working on your own account, omit these questions):
21. Were you out of work April 15, 1910?.....
22. How many weeks were you out of work during the year 1909?.....
(The expression "out of work" means not able to find work or employment. Persons who are on a strike, or are voluntarily idle, or on a vacation, or are incapacitated for work because of sickness or physical disability are not to be considered "out of work" in the sense in which the words are here used.)
23. Are you able to read (either English or some other language)?.....
24. Are you able to write (either English or some other language)?.....
25. Have you attended school or any educational institution any time since Sept. 1, 1909?.....
If you are the head of the family living in this home, state:
26. Whether the home is owned by you or rented.....
27. If owned by you, is it mortgaged?.....
28. Were you in either the Union or Confederate army or navy at the time of the Civil war?.....

Miss Mary Dodge Would Keep Out of Society Columns.

Cow Carried on Yacht for Little Duc de Chaulnes.

London, April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Dodge are the latest Americans who mean to desert the United States for London, which they intend to make their headquarters for the rest of their days. They are looking out for a country seat and a town residence, but from all accounts are in no hurry to get settled, as they intend to be fully satisfied with both before they take them definitely. They are, like most of their family, extremely rich and they have already a goodly circle of friends on this side. They are not, however, among those ambitious Americans who desire to shine socially; on the contrary they rather shirk society with a b'g S.

Miss Mary Dodge dislikes seeing her name in the newspapers and now and again if she could find the person who write it there would be trouble. She leaves nothing undone to keep the parties she gives at Warwick house quiet. There is a story on this subject tha. was much laughed over some time ago.

A certain woman who loves to see her name in print happened to be one of a party dining at Warwick house. Incidentally she asked her hostess as they awaited the men in the drawing room if the event was likely to be chronicled in any of the fashionable papers. To which Miss Dodge replied promptly, "Certainly not." The guest thought this foolish of Miss Dodge and resolved to do it herself. She got up very early next morning and told her secretary to typewrite a description of the party, giving a glowing account of her own gown and jewels. Ordering the carriage she drove with it to an advertising agent in the West end and handed it to the clerk, who, having counted the words, demanded $2 per line, this being the charge for the insertion of accounts of festivities not sent in by the society contributor, which are regarded as advertisements pure and simple. Then he desired her to sign the paragraph, which she did with Miss Dodge's name. When eventually it appeared that lady made a terrific rumpus. Solitors' letters were flying between her and the editor of the paper and all sorts of things were threatened. It is even said detectives were put on but so far the culprit has not been discovered.

Cow On a Yacht.

Mr. and Mrs. Shonts are going for a yachting cruise shortly in their floating palace the Margadora, and will be accompanied by their daughter, the duchess de Chauiness, and her little son, the duc. The cow which has supplied the Shont's grandson with milk since his birth will also be on board. When the duchess took her small son to America a little while ago this cow went with them. The little boy is not especially robust, and lest by any chance anything in the way of a charge in his staple food might upset him, his mother said "Polly," the cow, must accompany him. If his little grace were a future King there could not be greater precautions taken by his mother and the Shonts family to guard his health. Everything he eats is tested and he is weighed every day. Two hospital nurses and a footman in the blue and buff liveries of the De Chaulnes house, attend him. He is a bonny youngster and is now beginning to chatter French with an American accent

The young duchess, her son, and the duke and duchess of Manchester, who are great friends of the Shontses, have been some of a party which Mrs. Shonts has been entertaining at Daphne.

Mrs. Shonts has the time of her life when her grandson stays with her. She is his slave. She has dozens of photographs taken of him and when she is in Paris every artist she hears of who depicts children with charm is instantly commissioned to commit his features to canvas or ivory as the case may be, for she has nearly as many miniatures of him as photos. She is never seen without his miniature set in diamonds or some other precious stones as a brooch or pendant. Grandpa Shonts also proudly arrays himself with a picture of his aristocratic young relative either carrying it on his watch chain or in his waistcoat pocket.

Strong Personality.

Many persons who have lately been brought into contact with the Countess Szechenyi say that she is the type of woman that makes history. Had she been born in an ordinary position in life and not the daughter of a millionaire she would have done something very big in the world. Her personality is so strong that she dominates everyone with whom she comes into contact, though her "newness" and her daring originality are the cause of much gnashing of teeth among the staid, narrow, aristocratic relations of the Hungarian count who is her husband. To them this new-world woman is a revelation. She has been as great a shock to their nerves as if a volcano had suddenly burst forth in their peaceful green land. The first time she shocked them was when she showed an incompetent dairy maid how to milk a cow. Then she appalled them by driving an automobile with her own hands. Finally, they decided there was no hope for her when she started a great factory for the production of chairs, and got orders for it herself.

The story goes that her new castle on the highest hill at Felso-Remete will be of wondrous beauty, unique, fantastic and modern. Every detail in connection with it is being superintended by the countess herself. Countess Szechenyi is not without tact. Her little girl is often dressed like Hungarian peasant children, and her servants, too, are arrayed in the national dress.

Crazy for Scotch Castles.

"If only I could build a few old-world castles in Scotland I would soon be the richest woman in the world," said the Dowager Lady Seafield, who owns Balmacaan, the Bradley-Martin's place in Scotland. American millionaires are all crazy for Scotch seats, it seems, and the demand is far in excess of the supply. The house agents say never before have they had at so early a date such numerous requests for mansions across the border. They will assure you that no self-respecting American millionaire considers he is living up to his position unless he is installed in an historic abode, from which to shoot during the autumn. I made the suggestion that modern houses should be built on the moors, but was told that these were no good at all. There are dozens of fine, commodious residences with plenty of excellent shooting going begging, and not a soul will look at them simply because they have no history. What Americans want are feudal castles or old houses with moats. It matters not how uncomfortable they may be. In a few weeks the American magnate will have all the dilapidations put to rights, giving carte blanche to some skilled architect in such things, and a decorator who realizes what's what to do precisely what they like, the only stipulation being that it must be quite finished before it is required for him and his party. Alfred Vanderbilt, the Duchess of Marlborough's brother, is the North for the shooting season this year.

THE CONGO QUESTION

Archbishop of Canterbury Is Not Satisfied With the Conditions.

British Diplomacy Is Criticised as Being Dilatory and Weak.

London, April 22.—The archbishop of Canterbury, replying to a letter from E. D. Morel, who said it had been reported to him "as a rumor current in well informed circles that your grace is satisfied with the state in which the Congo question is now left, and that an attitude of benevolent expectancy, coupled with the refusal to recognize an accomplished fact, represents in your grace's eyes full measure of the country's resources in fulfilling those solemn obligations toward the Congo referred to by the prime minister at the Guild hall last November," writes as follows:

Dear Mr. Morel—You are certainly right in bringing to my notice a rumor so strange as that which you tell me of. I had heard nothing of any such supposition being current, and I am glad to have the opportunity of dissipating promptly and emphatically the notion that I and those who feel with me are 'satisfied with the state in which the Congo question is now left.' It would be difficult to put into words a statement more contray to the fact.

"Though I have not communicated with them on the point, I am certain that I can speak for those who took part in the great Albert hall demonstration of November last, when I say that we are not merely disappointed, but are rendered profoundly uneasy by Sir Edward Grey's speech in the house of commons. I find it difficult to reconcile what he has now said with the explanations and assurances he felt himself entitled to give us two years ago, when we made numerous inquiries as to what would be the result of the treaty of annexation. The quiescence of our own people at the present juncture is explicable, I imagine, by the supposition that they are actuated by a chivalrous feeling of consideration for a new sovereign, who has succeeded to a terrible inheritance of confusion and wrong.

Rumor Is Baseless.

"I am writing without consultation with others, but I should be surprised to learn that any of those who have co-operated with me in the continuous protests of the last few years can feel satisfied by the vague assurances and the shadowy hopes which are now held out to us. Pray make it clear how baseless is such a rumor as that to which your letter refers."

In commenting on the archbishop's letter, the Morning Post says:

"The well-known judgment, moderation and sagacity of the archbishop lend exceptional authority to his opinions, and his clear and strong statements must have a great effect on those who may have been feeling doubtful as to the attitude the nation should adopt in the future in regard to the Congo question. This question has reached a somewhat critical stage. At the present time public attention is naturally concentrated on issues of internal politics, but if all the efforts made in the past are not to be wasted, it is necessary that close attention should be paid to the policy adopted by the foreign office with a view to securing a final and satisfactory settlement of this important and protracted controversy.

"This system, which was established in the late Congo Free State, and which is still in existence, has been described by the foreign secretary as 'indistinguishable from slavery.' The land and its produce were declared to be the property of the state. The natives were not allowed to use the rubber for their own benefit, and freedom of trade was absolutely prohibited.

Work for Alien Masters.

"As the reports of the British consuls have shown, the natives were obliged to labor practically all the year round for the benefit of their allen masters, and it was the difficulty of enforcing this heavy burden that led to all the acts of oppression and brutality which horrified the civilized world. The part played by Great Britain in the founding of the Congo Free State laid upon her an especial and heavy responsibility for the welfare of the people of this region.

"Unfortunately British diplomacy has been dilatory, vacillating and weak, with the result that the powerful influences interested in the preservation of the existing system of exploitation and pillage of nauives have so far been able to prevent any real changes taking place.

"Two years ago the existence of the Congo Free State came to an end. The territory became a Belgian colony. It was hoped that once the Congo was under the control of a government responsible to a free parliament, the old abuses would be swept away. So far, unfortunately, the situation shows little improvement.

"The archbishop of Canterbury realizes the danger of relaxing the pressure for the immediate introduction of genuine and far-reaching reform in the Congo. No half measures can suffice. What is essential is a thorough change of system."

TREATMENT OF CANCER CASES

Plans for Barnato Memorial Bequest of $1,000,000 Approved.

London, April 22.—The trustees of the Barnato memorial bequest of $1,000,000 approved plans for the erection of a hospital for the treatment of cancer patients and for cancer research in connection with the cancer charity of the Middlesex hospital. In his will Harry Barnato left $1,000,000 for the purpose of founding some hospital charity in memory of his brother, Barney Barnato, and his nephew, Woolf Joel, both of whom predeceased him. The trustees invited the co-operation as a committee of Prince Francis of Teck, Lord Cheylesmore, Sir John Purcell and Felix Davis. Their decision was that the wishes of the testator best could be realized by the cancer charity of the Middlesex hospital.

The trustees purchased an ample site adjacent to the Middlesex hospital, having its main frontage on Nassau street. They appointed as their architect Edwin T. Hall of Bedford square, who has had exceptional experience in the erection of hospitals. The new buildings will contain on the ground floor cancer out-patients' departments, with consulting rooms attached and the most modern sanitary conveniences; a waiting room, a spacious hall, staircase, and lifts for patients.

There will be a large electrical department, including X-ray rooms and rooms for therapeutic treatment, electric baths, surgical therapeutics, photographic and dark rooms, and accommodation for the director, the sis-

IMMENSE LOG DRIVE

Passing Thief River Falls From the Red Lakes.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A log drive of 10,000,000 feet of timber is passing this city, having been driven from the Red lakes within the past ten days. Part of this is for the Crookston Lumber company and the remainder belongs to the Thief River Lumber company of this city.

The season's cutting of lumber in all the mills in the northern part of the state has been going on for three weeks and it is expected that a greater amount of lumber will be sawed this season than ever before.

TERRORIZED SUCCESSOR.

Irish Residence Attacked at Midnight—Tails Cut Off Cattle.

Dublin, April 22.—Two men were returned for trial to the assizes for County Louth last week on a charge of having assembled with others outside the dwelling house of Joseph Walsh, the Baltrasma, Oldcastle, at midnight and inspired the inmates with terror.

The evidence showed that a road ganger had been dismissed, and a man named Carton was put in his place. Carton lodged with Walsh, and at midnight a number of men attacked the house. In the morning Walsh found a notice nailed to the door telling Carton to take the first train to Drogheda and requesting Walsh to let his lodger go in the morning. Four other men who had been charged with the accused were discharged from custody.

The police at Athenry, County Galway, have been informed by a farmer named Michael Flynn that the tails have been cut off two of his cattle on the lands of Rocklodge, near Athenry. A claim for compensation will be made.

TO TEMPT JADED APPETITES.

Vegetarian Restaurant Shortly Will Be Opened in London.

London, April 22.—Society's latest fad is vegetarianism. A new vegetarian restaurant to be opened shortly will be under the patronage of many smart women. The duchess of Westminster, the duchess of Portland and Dean Wilberforce have promised to attend the inauguration, while others are planning lunches and dinners at the new restaurant, which is to be run in an extravagant, luxurious manner. The daintiest meatless dishes will tempt jaded appetites. The finest wines will be provided, and everything will be served by beautiful girls, tastefully dressed.

cents Abroad,' and he was afraid he would not sustain his newly acquired reputation. When I began to read, Sam sat down at his desk and wrote nervously.

"For an hour I read intently, hardly noticing that Sam was beginning to fret and shift about uneasily. At last he could not stand it any longer, and jumping up, he exclaimed: 'D—— you, you have been reading that stuff an hour and you haven't cracked a smile yet! I don't believe I'm keeping up my jick.'

"Clemens came to San Francisco from Virginia City, Nev., in 1865 or 1866. He went to work as a reporter for the Call, but he did not get along well on that paper. I guess they thought he did not get around quick enough. That was after he left the Territorial Enterprise, and had made his nom de plume well known in Nevada.

Best Writings Are Lost.

"While he was here he wrote a daily dispatch to our paper (the Territorial Enterprise) in Virginia City, and those dispatches were among the best things he ever did. All that part of his early writings are lost to posterity, I believe. The fire that destroyed Virginia City years ago consumed the files of the enterprise, and a file that was compiled at a cost of $40,000 by Flood & O'Brien and which was used to prove title to scores of mining claims was donated to the San Francisco public library, and it, too, was destroyed in the great fire of four years ago.

"Clemens left San Francisco in 1869, after he had written 'Innocents Abroad,' as a serial for the Alta, which was the great paper here in those days. He had received only $25 for each installment and when the Alta was going to republish these letters in book form, I intervened in his behalf and persuaded the Alta's publishers to release the copyright to Sam.'

"In 1863 Clemens was sent by Goodman to report the session of the Nevada legislature at Carson City. It was while upon this assignment that he wrote the first story to which the nom-de-plume Mark Twain was signed.

"In the early '70's Clemens was a frequent visitor at the Bohemian club here. William Greer Harrison recalls that Clemens was not a convivial man at that time.

When He Was a Reporter.

"He was a man of very temperate habits," said Mr. Harrison, "and was rather quiet and unobtrusive."

It was said of Clemens that, as a reporter here, he had not the slightest conception of the value of news. He would go to a coroner's inquest and report proceedings after the manner of a society wedding, and he would write up a wedding in the style of a prizefight. Only the ridiculous appealed to him, and he warped all his reportorial writings to strike that key.

Theodore Roosevelt.

Paris, April 22.—Former President Roosevelt was greatly pained to hear of the death of Mark Twain. He said:

"It is with sincere grief that I learned of the death of this great American author. His position, like that of Joel Chandler Harris, was unique, not only in American letters, but in the literature of the world.

"He was not only a great humorist, but a great philosopher, and his writings form one of the assets of American contributions to the world of achievement of which we have a right as a nation to be genuinely proud."

In the pigskin library which Mr. Roosevelt carried through the jungles of Africa were two of the late author's books, "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer," and Mr. Roosevelt says that he read both of them several times and always with the greatest interest.

Becky Thatcher.

Hannibal, Mo., April 22.—Mrs. Laura Frazer, the original Becky Thatcher, and known as Twain's first sweetheart, said:

"I can see him in my mind's eye now as we started to our first school together more than sixty years ago, he barefooted and fingers stained with mulberries as he divided the berries with me, a little girl in calico dress, sun bonnet and pig-tails.

Huckleberry Finn.

Paris, Mo., April 22.—B. C. M. (Barney) Farthing, the original of "Huckleberry Finn," wept when he heard of Mark Twain's death.

"The old days are passing," he said. "Even the long sweep of the majestic Mississippi river seems to have dwindled. The noise of its traffic and the music of its deep-throated whistles are practically no more. The man who put into words for the delight of the world the pictures of the great river, is dead."

Meredith Nicholson.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—"Mark Twain's place is in the front rank of American writers," said Meredith Nicholson, the novelist, in commenting upon the work of the dead humorist.

"He was primarily and essentially a humorist, but his superiority to the mere 'funny man' lay in the fact that he was a supremely alert and shrewd student of men and manners. After Hawthorne, I should call him our foremost writer of fiction."

Major and Tarkington.

Charles Major, the writer of fiction said:

"Mark Twain created a new school of humor, the purpose of which was not only to be funny, but to be true.

"He wrote the best American story —'Huckleberry Finn'," said Booth Tarkington. "He seemed to me the greatest prose writer we have had."

Hamilton Garland.

Chicago, April 22.—Hamlin Garland, the novelist, who knew Mark Twain for many years, said:

"Mark Twain's death marks the exit of a literary man who was as distinctly American as was Walt Whitman. The work of most writers could be produced in any country, but, I think we as well as everybody in foreign lands, will look upon Twain's work as being as closely related to this country as the Mississippi river itself."

William Howard Taft.

Washington, April 22.—President Taft, when informed of the death of Mr. Clemens, wrote this statement:

"Mark Twain gave pleasure—real, intellectual enjoyment—to millions, and his works will continue to give such pleasure to millions yet to come. He never wrote a line that a father could not read to a daughter. His humor was American, but he was nearly as much appreciated by Englishmen and people of other countries as by his own countrymen. He has made an enduring part of American literature."

Judge C. G. Goodwin.

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 22.—"Mark Twain lacked but six months and nine days of four-score years of age," said Judge C. G. Goodwin, the veteran editor, in commenting on the death of the humorist. Judge Goodwin was one of the late recruits of the brilliant company whose genius has given the Comstocks a more enduring lustre than all its silver.

"I know he claimed he was only 75," continued the judge, "but when we were in Virginia City, Nev., Mark was older than I was, and I am 78. Here is the record of it," and he opened a book of biographies by Amelia J. Carver, published in 1889. There it was: 'Samuel I. Clemens, born Nov. 30, 1830.'

"I did not go on the Enterprise until Clemens left it," said Judge Goodwin, but I never ceased to hear from him. He wrote a burlesque Fourth of July oration which was published in an Aurora, Nev., paper. As I remember it, it began, 'I was sired by the great American eagle and born by a continental dam.'

His Entrance Into Literature.

"This pleased Joseph T. Goodman, the editor of the Virginia City Enterprise. He wrote to Clemens, telling him that if he were not making more than the Enterprise was paying, he would be welcomed to the staff of the paper. One day a man come into the editorial sanctum. He wore a dilapidated hat, jeans, a hickory shirt and carried a roll of dirty blankets. That was Mark Twain's entrance into literature. Except for his experience on the Enterprise, it is doubtful if he would ever have been known as a genius.

"With him on that paper were the owner and gifted editor, J. T. Goodman, the inimitable 'Rolly M. Dagett,' William Wright (Dan De Quill), and others. There was a close comradeship between them and nothing of envy or jealousy to keep them from giving full praise for every flash of genius.

"He was a marvelous humorist and his books never became stale, because through them there is woven in a woof of royal good sense; underneath his humor was held in leash many of the attributes of a statesman. Except for his overpowering sense of humor, he might in another channel have won fame as a leader of men."

FOREIGN PRESS PRAISES AUTHOR

London, Berlin and Rome Papers Tell of Mark Twain's Work.

London, April 22.—"The American Chaucer" is the Evening Standard's estimate of Mark Twain's position in literature. Today the paper says:

"Like Chaucer he kept a hospitable heart for what was good and healthy. Since the death of Charles Dickens no writer of English has been so universally read, and at the moment of his death Mark Twain was known as only one other living writer was known. Mark Twain and Count Tolstoi are inheritors of world-wide fame."

Roman Papers Make Comments.

Rome, April 22.—The whole press of Rome gives much space today to the death of Mark Twain, recalling the months that he spent in Italy, the death of his wife at Florence, and the recent visit to Rome of his daughter Clara and her husband, Ossip Gabrilowitch, on their honeymoon.

The Giornale Italia publishes abstracts from the author's autobiography, with his likeness.

"Whole World Grieves."

Berlin, April 22.—Extended appreciations of Mark Twain appear in today's journals. The Lokal Anzieger says: "Not only English-speaking peoples but the whole world of culture grieves that he has gone."

The Berliner Zeitung am Mittag, in a two-column estimate of Mr. Clemens' work, expresses the opinion that the American author was loved in Germany more than is the whole body of French and Enlish humorists because his humor turned fundamentally upon serious and earnest conceptions of life. The paper says that the American works mostly read in Germany are probably those of Emerson and Mark Twain.

to form a combination in restraint of trade.

Patent No Defense.

The court also held that the fact that the Federal government, in granting a patent on articles of commerce, gave the patentee a monopoly, does not, if the combination includes the merchandising of articles not patented, prevent the enforcement of a law by the state.

The title of the case is the state of Minnesota against the Creamery Package company.

stream in an attempt to fire the oncoming steamers.

The viceroy of Hunan province and the governor of Chang-Sha assert that they have the situation in hand and that order is practically restored, but the missionaries say that they fear further outrages.

The telegraph wires to the westward of the disturbed districts have been cut. Many missionaries, American, French and Norwegian, remain at outlying posts.

British Consulate Burned.

The British consul at Chang Sha, who has arrived here, said today:

"If one foreigner had been killed a massacre probably would have followed. The British consulate was burned because it employed laborers from another province in the construction of new buildings."

The monetary loss to foreign interests is believed not to have been great. The Standard Oil company has lost a few thousand cans of oil.

FOREMOST WORKERS IN MISION FIELDS ASSEMBLE IN DULUTH

banquet will be expected to meet at the Y. M. C. A., from which place they will march to the Armory, where the banquet will be held. The out-of-town delegations which will attend the banquet did not begin to arrive in numbers until late in the afternoon, but all day long the men in charge at headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building were busy attending to details, such as adjusting ticket troubles, sessions admissions and all the multitude of affairs rising in connection with the banquet and the meetings that are to follow.

Women Invited.

Special emphasis is laid on the fact that women are especially invited to attend all of the Sunday sessions of the convention, and there will be two meetings on that day arranged especially for them. The first will be at the First Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock and the second in the evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First M. E. church.

A. Y. Snell, executive secretary of the Duluth convention, who has been an extremely busy man for many days, turned the heaviest of his burdens over to Dr. Trimble today with a sigh of relief. He has done a great deal of work in preparation for the convention, which is an event that must be carefully planned in all its details in advance and cannot be jeopardized by leaving any important detail at the mercy of the whim of circumstance.

Officers of Convention.

The officers of the Duluth convention whose duty it has been to back the executive secretary in his efforts are: President, W. S. Moore; vice presidents, J. H. Hearding; Z. D. Scott, N. M. Young, F. E. House and George H. Crosby; secretary, W. I. Prince; treasurer, W. G. Hegardt.

Committees delegated to attend to different features of the preparations for the convention are headed by these chairmen: Deputation, Albert Baldwin; statistics, W. L. Smithles; entertainment, L. A. Barnes; finance, W. C. Agnew; educational, W. E. Magner; publicity, R. R. Briggs.

The executive committee is composed of some of the best known men in the city as follows: W. C. Agnew, Albert Baldwin, L. A. Barnes, Dr. R. W. Bowden, R. R. Briggs, E. T. Buxton, William A. Cant, C. C. Cokefair, E. E. Churchill, George H. Claypool, George H. Crosby, Dr. J. J. Eklund, R. R. Forward, Hartwick Hanson, J. H. Hearding, W. G. Hegardt, F. E. House, A. C. Le Duc, W. E. Magner, Alfred Merritt, W. J. McCabe, John J. Moe, I. S. Moore, Carl Person, W. I. Prince, Anton Ringsred, E. A. Risdon, John Ross, C. C. Salter, Z. D. Scott, J. A. Scott, W. L. Smithles, Joseph Sund, C. E. Summers, William Wells, B. N. Wheeler, N. M. Young.

It is due largely to the efforts of the men named and to the pastors of the Duluth churches which are participating in the movement, that conditions are so promising at the outset, and all those identified with the work that has been done look forward confidently to the successful carrying out of all the plans that have been made.

The program for the three days of the convention which has been published is warrant for the assertion made on all sides that the talks and addresses that will be heard in Duluth tonight, tomorrow and Sunday will be worth while for every man who attends the banquet and sessions.

the "defense," as the Ballinger side of the controversy has been commonly termed, would put on the stand a dozen or more witnesses in addition to Secretary Ballinger himself. Should each witness be examined at the length that has characterized the examination hitherto, it is admitted the inquiry would run not only beyond the probable period of the present session of congress, but well into the summer.

Want Root's Help.

Senator Root is to sail for Europe, May 21, and his colleagues are exceedingly anxious that the inquiry be closed so that he may give his assistance in the framing of a report.

It is also apparent that additional time must be given by the committee to the taking of testimony. While the committee has no intention of making any rules which would in any manner curtail the bringing out of facts, the attorneys on both sides will be asked to assist in conserving the time.

The slow progress made by the committee has become irritating to some of the members, but up to this time every attempt to hold more than two sessions a week has met with failure. The hearing has been in progress now since January. The record has been about one witness a week.

SENATOR McCUMBER IS NOT SO WELL

North Dakotan Suffers Some Relapse Following an Operation.

Washington, April 22.—The condition of Senator McCumber of North Dakota, who underwent an operation about a week ago, is not nearly so favorable toady as has been for several days. He had a chill yesterday and during the night his temperature was 103. There is indication of some inflammation of the kidneys. All visitors have been excluded from seeing him until there is a change for the better. While his condition is serious, it is not regarded as critical.

OLD CROOKSTON RESIDENT.

Andre Prudhomme Suddenly Summoned in Polk County Capital.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andre Prudhomme, 59 years of age, and for thirty-two years a resident of Polk county, yesterday dropped dead from heart trouble after suffering for but a few hours with gastric trouble. He was apparently in the best of health in the morning and was at work on some lots across the street from his Front street residence. He became ill about 8:30 and summoned a physician, who thought the trouble of no serious nature. He leaves a widow and nine children, five of whom reside at home. He was a devout Catholic and for years had been the leader of St. Anne's church choir.

Takes Duluth Position.

Houghton, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Russell Dawson has resigned his position in the office of James Robertson, assistant general freight agent of the South Shore & Mineral Range, to take one in the office of the Standard Oil company at Duluth.

CROOKSTON BAND CONCERT.

Two Bands Combine and Give Patrons Musical Treat.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last indoor band concert of the season was given last evening in the Auditorium by the combined Citizens of Crookston and the Juvenile band, a total of fifty-five pieces. The program was about the best of the kind ever rendered in the city with record breaking attendance. Director Vasshausen rendered "Stabat Mater" (Inflamatus) with band accompaniment without a leader, something very seldom attempted, and the applause was wonderful. Mr. Ross Chesterman was the vocal soloist. The concert was given to raise $500 for the new uniforms for the band and the record breaking crowd yielded more than sufficient.

AN OPEN LETTER OF THANKS

Gratitude Yet Lives. What a Grateful Woman Says.

"My home is like a heaven on earth since that awful curse—strong drink—has been removed. My husband says the appetite for strong drink is all gone. When I think of the years I have lived with a drunkard when so little would have stopped it, I cannot thank you for what you have done for me."

LITTLE SUFFERER FROM ECZEMA

Grew Worse in Spite of Six Months of Ablest Treatment—Sleep Terribly Broken—Face, Head and Hands Masses of Dreadful Humor.

A SINGLE SET OF CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I feel it my duty to let you know with what success I have used the Cuticura Remedies. When our baby was seven weeks old he broke out with what we thought was heat but which gradually grew worse. We called in a doctor. He said it was eczema and from that time we doctored six months with three of the best doctors in Atchison but he only got worse. His face, head and hands were a solid sore. There was no end to the suffering for him. We had to tie his little hands to keep him from scratching. He never knew what it was to sleep well from the time he took the disease until he was cured. He kept us awake all hours in the night and his health wasn't what you would call good. We tried everything but the right thing. Finally I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies and am pleased to say we did not use all of them until he was cured. We have waited a year and a half to see if it would return but it never has and to-day his skin is clear and fair as it possibly could be. I hope Cuticura may save some one else's little one's suffering and also their pocket-books. John Leason, 1403 Atchison St., Atchison, Kan., Oct. 19, 1909."

Cuticura comfort for all who suffer from facial eruptions such as acne (pimples and blackheads), acne rosacea, facial eczema, ringworm, tetter, redness, roughness and oily perspiration is found in gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment followed by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. Give Your Stomach A Chance

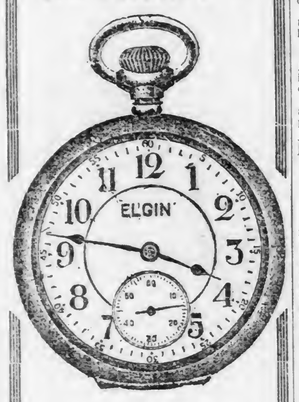
To Furnish the System the Necessary Fluids to Drive Dyspepsia From the Stomach.

A Trial Package Free.



You should give to your stomach the chemicals it needs to restore tone vigor and health to the gastric fluids.

Food contains all these ingredients so necessary, and when the stomach is in a normal condition it separates these ingredients as it should and manufactures its own digestive agents, but when it is sick and sore, filled with acids and alkalies that irritate everything they come in contact with, it does not get at the food as it should and cannot make its own juices correctly.

Science has proven just what is most necessary to the stomach to produce the correct gastric fluids and to make of digestion a naturally pleasant duty.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so made as to give the stomach the highest chemical properties to aid digestion. These tablets are made up from pure fruit and vegetable essences, and this is the formula: Hydrastis, Golden Seal, Lactose, Nux, Aseptic Pepsin (the highest digestive known), and Jamaica Ginger. Its preparation peculiarly preserves the full strength of these ingredients so that they go into the stomach strong and capable of digesting food of any character. Forty thousand physicians use and prescribe them. Ask your doctor his opinion of the formula above. Every druggist sells them, price 50 cents per box, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

BOY 4 YEARS OLD SAVES BLIND MAN

Rushes Into Burning Building and Leads Aged Musician Out of Danger.

Chicago, April 22.—Knowing that James O'Connor, 70 years old, a blind musician, was lost in a burning house, Ralph Gembel, 4 years old, last night entered the house, and, fighting his way through the flames, led the man to safety. The boy found the blind man groping about in a smoke-filled room, almost overcome.

The Gembel boy himself had just been rescued from the building by his father.

"Oh, daddy," he exclaimed, "the blind violin man is in there, and if we don't get him out he'll burn up sure."

The boy tore loose from his father's grasp, and dashed into the building. After the father gave the boy up for lost, the little fellow emerged triumphantly with the musician.

the statement of R. B. Garrett, the man who lost the papers, that he did not drop them at the point where they are said to have been found, moved the prosecutors to renewed action.

"I am far from satisfied that these papers were lost," said Mr. Conkling. "Neither do I want to say that they were stolen. But I have several men assisting me in investigating the matter and some sensational developments are likely to result."

Questioned About Tonic.

Miss Keller, on the stand this morning, when asked if Col. Swopo took a strychnine tonic three times a day, said she never testified that he did.

Mr. Walsh then read from the deposition of the nurse:

"I administered the tonic three times a day."

"I may have said that," said Miss Keller, "but my chart will show the tonic was not administered three times a day. I gave Col. Swope his medicine as often as he would take it."

Mr. Walsh completed his examination of Miss Keller in less than an hour.

Attorney Reed took the witness.

"Was Mrs. Hyde present when Dr. Hyde asked you to use your influence in having him appointed administrator of the estate?" was asked.

"She came into our presence twice," answered the witness. "When she appeared Dr. Hyde ceased speaking."

by only relatives and close friends of the dead author. There will be no pall bearers, and although final arrangements have not been made, the service probably will consist of merely a short address by Dr. Van Dyke. There probably will be no music, Mr. Duneka said. The body will be taken to New York from Redding tomorrow, on a special car.

Taken to Elmira.

After the funeral the body will be taken to Elmira, where another service, as simple as the one here, will be held. This service probably will be at the home of Gen. Langdon, a relative by marriage of Mr. Clemens, and so far as now known, will consist simply of a short address by Joseph Twitchell of Hartford, Conn., who is one of Mr. Clemens' oldest friends. From the Langdon home the body will be removed to the cemetery to be laid to rest.

No arrangements have been made for the public memorial service. Mr. Duneka said it probably would be held in a week or ten days, in some large hall in New York city, and that it would be open to the public. On account of the almost private nature of the funeral services, it is felt by Mr. Clemens' relatives that some such services should be held at which the public may gather in expression of its affection for the dead writer.

It is certain to be recalled that Mark Twain was for more than fifty years an inveterate smoker and the first conjecture of the layman would be that he had weakened his heart by over-indulgence in tobacco. Dr. Halsey said that he was unable to predicate that the angina pectoris from which Mark Twain died was in any way a sequel to nicotine poisoning. Some constitutions, he said, seem immune from the effects of tobacco, and this was one of them. Yet, it is true that since his illness began the doctors had cut down Mark Twain's daily allowance of twenty cigars and countless pipes to four cigars a day.

Too Weak to Smoke.

No deprivation was a greater sorrow to him. He decided to smoke on the steamer from Bermuda and gave it up only because he was too feeble to draw on his pipe. Even on his deathbed, when he had passed the point of speech, and it was no longer certain that his ideas were lucid, he would make the motion of waving a cigar and, smiling, expel air from under his moustache, still stained with smoke.

Where Mark Twain chose to spend his declining years was the first outpost of Methodism in New England and it was among the hills of Redding that Gen. Israel Putnam of Revolutionary fame mustered his sparse ranks. Mark Twain reared the white walls of the Italian villa he first named "Innocents at Home," but an experience of New England storms in winter caused him to christen it anew "Stormfield."

Through the grounds the "Innocent at Home" loved to wander in his white flannels for homely gossip with the neighbors. They remember him best as one who above all things loved a good listener, for Mark Twain was a mighty talker, stored with fairy tales for the little maids he adored, and racier, ruder tales for masculine ears. It is a legend that he was vastly proud of his famous mop of white hair, and used to take the pains of a court lady in getting it to just the proper stage of artistic dis-array.

Shocked by Friend's Death.

Last summer the walks began to falter; last fall they ceased for good. The death of H. H. Rogers, a close friend, was a severe blow. The death of his daugater, Jean, who was seized with an attack of epilepsy last fall while in her bath, was an added shock from which he never recovered. It was then that the stabbing pains in the heart began. Mark Twain died as truly as it can be said of any man, of a broken heart.

The last bit of literary work he did was a chapter of his unfinished autobiography describing his daughter Jean's death. He sought diversion in Bermuda, where he was the guest of the American Vice Consul William H. Allen, whose young daughter, Helen, acted as amanuensis for what letter he cared to dictate.

His winter was gay but not happy. When he heard of the successive deaths of his two friends, William M. Laffan of the Sun, and R. W. Glider, editor of the Century, he said sadly:

"How fortunate they are; no good fortune of that kind ever comes to me."

Lost Interest in Life.

Life had no further allurements for him.

Mr. Paine says that the book Mark Twain took up from the coverlet beside him when he asked for his glasses was Carlyle's History of the French revolution, his inseparable companion and greatest favorite.

The burial probably will be in the family lot at Elmira, N. Y., where lie already his wife, his two daughters, Susan and Jean, and his infant son, Langhorn.

It is probable that Stormfield will be kept as a summer place by Mrs. Gabrielovich, who is very fond of the house, although her husband's musical engagements make it necessary that she spend a part of each year abroad.

Mark Twain had put his affairs in perfect order, and he died well off, though by no means a rich man.

Mrs. Gabrielovitch will aid Mr. Paine in the final decision as to what use shall be made of the unfinished manuscripts.

State May Buy Old Home.

Hannibal, Mo., April 22.—The news of the death of Samuel Clemens was received here with profound sorrow among the hundreds of persons who knew him during his earlier years, spent in Hannibal, his boyhood home.

A lengthy telegram of condolence was sent to Mrs. Ossip Gabrielovitch, Mr. Clemen's daughter, the message also urging that the body be buried here, in the same lot with his father, mother and brothers.

A movement already has been started to have Clemens' boyhood home purchased by the state and State Senator McAllister, representing this district, said that a bill to this effect will be introduced in the next legislature.

Born In 1835.

New York, April 22.—The mere chronology of Mark Twain's life is soon told. Like most dwellers in the imagination, his significance to posterity lies not, as with men of action, in how he wrought upon events, but rather in how events wrought upon him; for from such reactions resulted his imaginative output—one of the most considerable of his time, and, as it now seems, one of the securest.

Briefly, then, Mark Twain was born Samuel Langhorn Clemens in Florida, Mo., on Nov. 30, 1835.

"My parents," he writes in his burlesque autobiography, "were neither very poor nor conspicuously honest. The earliest ancestors the Twains have any record of was a friend of the family by the name of Higgins."

The county chronicles have it that the elder Clemens failed in business and died, leaving his son the ample world to make his fortunes in.

Began as a Printer.

Accordingly, Mark Twain's acquaintance with literature began in putting words into type, not ideas into words. He attended only in the public schools, he was apprenticed to a printer at 13 and worked at his trade in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New York, until at 18 he could gratify a boyish ambition to become cub to a Mississippi river pilot. Both these happenings reacted profoundly on his later life. His knowledge of river life acquired when he was a pilot, took form in "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn" and "Life on the Mississippi," regarded abroad as his surest title to fame. It even suggested his pseudonym, for, "Mark Twain" is a lineman's cry to the pilot in shallow water. And his familiarity with printing turned him naturally first into newspaper work, then into creative printing, and finally into the publishing business, wherein, like Sir Walter Scott, he suffered a bankruptcy disastrous to everything but his honor, and like Sir Walter again paid off by his pen, debts not of his own making.

Was Mississippi Pilot.

In due time, Mark Twain became a full-fledged pilot. He tells the rest himself, in a chapter of life on the Mississippi:

"By-and-by the war came, commerce was suspended, my occupation was gone.

"I had to seek another livelihood. So I became a silver miner in Nevada; next, a gold miner in California; next, a reporter in San Francisco; next a special correspondent in the Sandwich islands; next, a roving correspondent in Europe and the East; next, an instructional torch bearer on the lecture platform; and, finally, I became a scribbler of books and an immovable fixture among the other rocks of New England."

This was in 1872, two years after he had married Miss Olivia L. Langdon of Elmira, N. Y., who brought him an independent fortune. At that time his writings were in growing demand, he had an assured income, his own home, and seemed, indeed, a fixture. But in 1885 his popularity as an author and his acquaintance with the mechanics of the publishing trade—besides being a practical printer, he had been part owner of the Buffalo Express before his marriage—drew him into the firm of C. L. Webster & Co., publishers.

Paid Off Firm's Debts.

The firm brought out the memoirs of General Grant, and paid his widow $250,000, but its prosperity was shortlived, and it failed with liabilities of $96,000. The failure had already sucked in $65,000 of Mark Twain's cash, but he determined also to shoulder the debts, and, to pay them off, undertook, in 1895-96, a lecture trip around the world.

Mark Twain was an inveterate smoker and one of the most leisurely men in the world. An old pressman, who was once printers' devil in an office where Mark was editorial writer, tells this anecdote of his habits of work:

"One of my duties was to sweep the room where the editors worked. Every day Mark would give me a nickel to get away from him. He would rather die in the dust than uncross his legs. One day he gave me a nickel to clot an 'i' in his copy for him. He certainly did enjoy life, that man did."

Yet this easy-going dawdler acquitted himself of a prodigious deal of work in his life, and bound himself voluntarily to pay off debts that he could have discharged without hurt to his good name by passing through bankruptcy. He did not practice as he preached.

Huck and His Conscience.

"It don't make no difference," he had Huckleberry Finn say "whether you do right or wrong; a person's conscience ain't got no sense, and just goes for him anyway. If I had a yaller dog that didn't know no more than a person's conscience did, I'd pizen him. It takes up more room than all the rest of a person's insides and yet ain't no good nohow."

With Mark Twain's lecture trip around the world began his international celebrity and his gradual rise into a figure taken in some sense to typify the American spirit. From humorist he became the kindly but mocking moralist and philosopher of Pudd'nhead Wilson. His literary output became more occasional, and, though written with more finesse, more critical and less creative. His public appearance grew more frequent, his whimsical utterances gained greater currency, and a whole literature of anecdotes about him grew up.

More Than a Jokesmith.

Yale gave him the degree of M. A. and later of LL.D in 1901; the University of Missouri, his native state, followed with LL.D in 1902, and in 1907, the University of Oxford, with great ceremony, made him Litt. D. Indeed, serious appreciation of Mark Twain as an artist and not a mere jokesmith began abroad, but his true worth has long been recognized in this country.

"Mark Twain's humor," said William Dean Howells, "will live forever. He portrays and interprets real types, not only with exquisite appreciation and sympathy, but with a force and truth of drawing that makes them permanent. He had the true humorist's tender heart and deep seriousness. Like Bret Harte, with whom he worked, like the Great West that bred him, his most audacious sallies were terse and sternly grave. As a moralist, love of humanity, hatred of sham, and the sense of duty formed his most ironic and debonair preachments."

One Child Survives Him.

Four children were born to Mark Twain, of whom two, a son and a daughter, died early. One other daughter, Jean, who had been an invalid for life, was found dead in her bathtub last fall in her home at Redding, Conn. Her tragic death greatly saddened her father, who declined in health from that moment. A third daughter, Clara, is Mrs. Ossip Gabrielovitch, wife of the pianist, whom she married last year.

Mark Twain's first book was the "Jumping Frog." His best known in this country was possibly "Innocents Abroad." His surest title fame is generally believed to be "Tom Sawyer" and its companion volume, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." In all, his books had a sale of more than 500,000 copies, and were translated into six languages. Others among the better known are: "A Tramp Abroad," "The Prince and Pauper," "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," "Pudd'nhead Wilson," "Joan of Arc," "A Double-Barreled Detective Story," and "Eve's Diary."

He left an unfinished biography, portions of which had appeared serially.

HOME FAT REDUCER

Works Rapidly and Safely—Requires No Exercising and Allows You to Eat What You Like—Cut This Out.

For the benefit of those who wish to reduce their flesh quickly and safely, we will give the receipt and directions in full for a simple household remedy that can be obtained at trifling cost from any good drug store; ½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water. All three are cheap and wholesome, but you should take care to get an unbroken package so that you get Marmola and not a substitute. When you get home mix the three together by shaking them together in a large bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Follow these directions and you will have the best fat reducer that money can buy. It will take off the flesh at the rate of at least two pounds a week without disarranging the stomach or causing wrinkles, while, best of all, no exercising or dieting is required to help it out. You can get results and at the same time take things easy and eat what you like—as much as you like—and whenever you like.

HARRY MITCHELL

The biggest snap I ever landed was while I was in New York last week. Cullen & Cullen, the swell Wall street, New York, tailors, were forced by their creditors, and I bought the entire stock—$25,000 worth of fine imported woolen goods at 30c on the dollar.

Cullen & Cullen was a new concern. Just started in business this spring. All their fabrics were new. They were the swellest tailors in New York, making clothes for the Wall street men, the money kings.

Cullen & Cullen never made a suit under $45.00. They were the highest price tailors in New York—$45, $55, $65, $75 and $100 for business suits were their prices.

I had the goods shipped by express, and now they are on sale at my store, 123 West Superior St. I divided the entire stock into two lots, and

SYSTEM IN PARK WORK

Minneapolis Superintendent Advises Comprehensive Plan for Growing City.

Concentrate Small Amounts and Get Results, He Says.

"Lay out a comprehensive system of parks for the entire city, get a sufficient bond issue to purchase the land for the entire system and improve the land as soon as possible," is the advice of Theodore Wirth, superintendent of the Minneapolis park system, would give to a growing city like Duluth.

Mr. Wirth is in the city today, and tonight he will deliver the last of the series of winter lectures on agricultural subjects at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Wirth will speak tonight on "Beautifying the City and Home," and he will join the subjects of parks, playgrounds, tree-planting and laying out and maintaining grounds. This afternoon Mr. Wirth was a guest of the park board, officers of the playground association, the Commercial club and the Y. M. C. A. at a luncheon, which was followed by a drive around the city.

"The laying out of a comprehensive system to be followed out in all work, even if it would take a thousand years to work out, is a most necessary start for a park system," said Mr. Wirth in discussing parks generally. "Get the land, for it can be secured at less expense early in a city's history than it can be later. Then work out the system as rapidly as possible.

"When there is a little money to spend, spend it where it will make the best showing. Don't scatter a few thousands of dollars all over a city, but spend it where the best results can be obtained. Do everything in the best way possible. When a road is built, let it be a good road, and the cost of maintenance will be less. Let the same be done by every other piece of work. If there is only a little money, spend it in one place, and get results with it. People seeing those results will want more of the same and will provide the means."

The lecture tonight will be the last of the series given jointly by the Commercial club and the Y. M. C. A. It will be illustrated with slides and will contain some valuable suggestions for beautifying cities and private grounds.

HAD KEYS TO FIT DOORS

Alleged desires for tobacco, sweets and beer caused the issuance of complaints in police headquarters today for the arrest of five boys, two of them living at Rice Lake outside the city limits, and three of them residing with their parents on Garfield avenue.

J. E. Carlson, proprietor of a general store at Rice Lake, this morning swore out a warrant for the arrest of Hugo and Harry Grandel, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grandel. He asserted that they have been systematically robbing his store of gum, candy and tobacco. Last night about 9 o'clock he stated that he caught them red-handed. It appears that they had keys to fit the two locks on his front door and used them to gain access. He says that he has missed merchandise before and believes that the two brothers are the responsible parties. The warrant will likely be served by a deputy sheriff.

Last night M. R. Manheim and C. P. Walsh, special detectives of the Great Northern Railroad company, claim that they caught three Garfield avenue boys in the act of breaking into a box car loaded with beer. They told the police that another beer car was entered Wednesday night and part of the contents taken. They are satisfied, according to the police, that the same boys did the job.

The boys alleged to be guilty of the beer theft are Archie Trudel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trudel of 940 Garfield avenue; Jack Branscombe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Branscombe of 725 Garfield avenue, and Lawrence Moren, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moren of 949 Garfield avenue. They are too young to be arraigned in police court and will probably be brought before the juvenile court next Saturday morning.

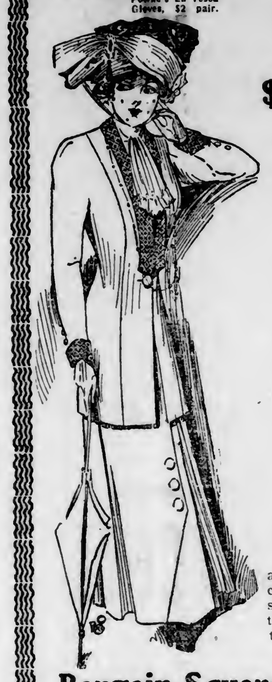
WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

Candidate for Executive Chair of Wisconsin Visits Duluth.

State Senator H. W. Barker of Sparta, Wis., who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is in Duluth today, coming to the city from the range, where he has been on a business trip.

Senator Barker announced his candidacy for the governorship in March, and since that time he has received a very encouraging volume of commendatory communications from all parts of the state, besides being heartily indorsed by a large section of the state press.

While the possible future governor of Wisconsin is a native of that commonwealth and was brought up in the same town that is now his home, he was for a time a resident of Minnesota. Elbow Lake was his home in this state. He moved back to Wisconsin nine years ago.



One of Senator Barker's first principles in politics has to do with his desire to see stamped out the evil that grows out of the corrupt use of money in campaigns. He is emphatic in denunciation of practices that have prevailed, but believes conditions are greatly improved now. Very little money will be spent in the Wisconsin campaign, he believed, except possibly by one of the five candidates for the Republican nomination.

The candidates who have entered the field are: John Strange of Oshkosh; Mitchell Lewis of Racine; F. E. McGovern of Milwaukee; A. T. Fairchild of Milwaukee; and Senator Barker. The latter has been in the senate four years and has successfully avoided the pitfalls of factionalism by which the feet of the unwary are beset in Wisconsin. Mr. Fairchild is a member of the state senate and the other Milwaukee candidate, Mr. McGovern, is the former district attorney who has been closely allied with the La Follette factions. Mr. Strange was a defeated candidate of the stalwart faction in the primaires two years ago, and Mr. Lewis is something new under the Wisconsin political sun. He has never been heard of before in politics. He is a wealthy manufacturer.

SAYS COST IS "AWFUL"

Anthony J. Drexel, Worth $60,000,000, Discusses Cost of Living.

Declares Prices in the New York Hotels Are Outrageous.

New York, April 22.—Anthony J. Drexel, master of $60,000,000, head of the great banking firm of Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia and London, and father of the young man who married Miss Marjorie Gould, sailed away from New York, in a suit of mauve pajamas and a huff, on the big Cunarder Lusitania. He wore the pajamas because he went aboard at night and the Lusitania steamed earlier than usual, and he was accompanied by the huff because he had to pay $1.75 for two eggs and a cup of English breakfast tea, and is altogether very much excited over the high cost of living in this city.

A reporter found Mr. Drexel in Suite No. 7 on the upper boat deck. He sat with a quilted satin dressing robe thrown about his shoulders and was deep in a breakfast of grape fruit, eggs, chops, tea and toast. He and Mrs. Drexel and their daughter, Miss Margaretta Drexel, and her fiance, the Viscount Maidstone, are all returning to London after a visit of five days in New York for the Drexel-Gould nuptials.

Cost of Living Awful.

"Sit right down, sit right down," said Mr. Drexel. "Have some breakfast? No? Well, I'm enjoying this, and I won't stop, if you don't mind. It is such a relief to be on this boat, where one can get a substantial meal without paying out one's life for it.

"Do you know what impressed me most during my stay in New York? The high cost of living," he went on. "I don't know what you people over here are going to do about it. Why, my dear sir, yesterday morning I paid $1.75 for two boiled eggs and a cup of tea. Extraordinary!"

"Is it possible that is all you had?" asked the reporter.

"No; come to think of it, I had some bread," answered Mr. Drexel. "But, even at that, it is too much."

"Where did you have to pay so much?" the reporter asked.

"At the Waldorf," he replied, "and I understand at the St. Regis and the Plaza one has to pay much more. Fancy! Why, $1.75 is a man's wages. Well, now, not exactly my wages, but the average man's, you understand. Things can't possibly continue here at that rate.

Wedding Was "Ripping."

"Did I enjoy the wedding. Well, rather. It was ripping—a smashing affair. We're having rather a surfeit of weddings just now. As soon as we reach London we will be thick in the plans for my daughter's marriage with Maidstone—fine chap, Maidstone—on June 8.

Tony's and Marjorie's plans? Damfino. I had a telegram from the boy from some place called Way—Weehawken, is it? I say, where's Weehawken?"

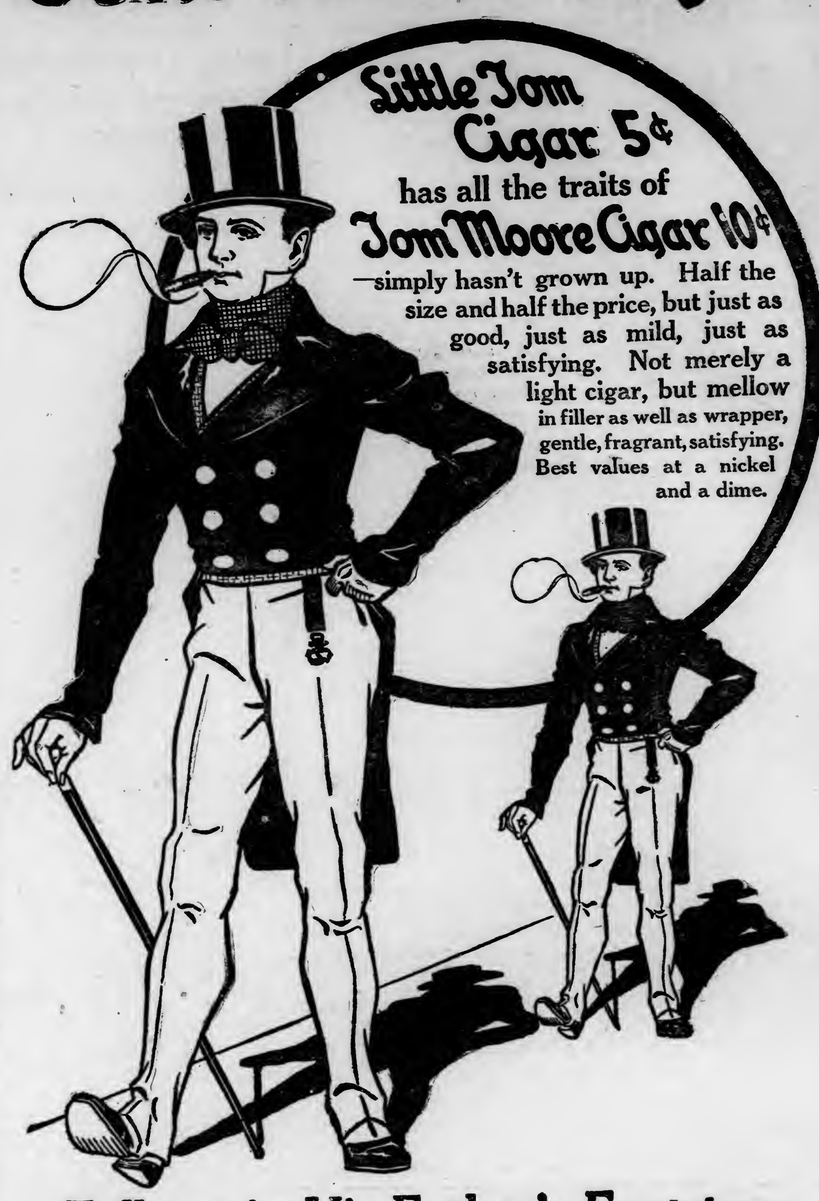
"It's a town in New Jersey just a little beyond Hoboken," he was told.

"What on earth would a chap be doing there on his wedding trip?"

"Well, a lot of trains run out of there."

"Then, by Jove, I know exactly what they're up to. They're going to one of George Gould's hunting lodges for their honeymoon. Cagey boy, Tony, and he never said a word about it."

NO MOVING ON MOVING DAY.



Moving day has been moved. Consequently, there will be no moving day in Duluth this year.

May 1 falls on Sunday.

Transfer men do not believe in working on Sunday. Therefore, he who must hie forth to take up a new abode, will have to mark the day of the transfer as April 30 or May 2. 'Tis a strange moving day that has no moving, but Father Time must have his little joke.

BUCKET SHOP MEN WAIVE EXAMINATION.

New York, April 22.—Attorneys representing Richard E. Preusser, Leo Mayer, Edward S. Boggs, Robert A. Guy and Oliver J. Robnison, alleged bucket shop operators in Washington, D. C., have waived further examination of the men. It was claimed by their counsel that the running of bucket shops in Washington is not prohibited by the laws of the district.

TWO SUIT CASES WERE SWITCHED

Satchels of Minister and Woman Are Exchanged By Mistake.

Springfield, Ohio, April 22.—Rev. B. L. Neff, of Big Darby, who came here yesterday to visit Rev. A. J. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church, was caused considerable embarrassment and anxiety as a result of a street car conductor innocently exchanging the divine's suit case for another one, belonging to Clara Smith.

Rev. Dr. Neff boarded a South Limestone street car at the transfer station and placed his suit case on the rear platform. There was no other suit case on the platform at the time. A moment later the woman boarded the with a suit case and she placed it on the rear platform.

The woman was the first to alight and the conductor handed her the wrong case. A few minutes later Rev. Dr. Neff alighted and he picked up the suit case on the platform, not dreaming that the conductor had switched on him.

The preacher had brought with him in his suit case a dressed chicken, and, shortly after arriving at his destination, opened the case to present the bird to the hostess. He was surprised to find the case contained women's apparel and finery. He at once notified the Springfield Railway company. Clara Smith discovered the mistake in her home at about the same time. She also was greatly surprised. Besides the dressed chicken she found a minister's outfit, including a Bible, Sunday school papers and a man's suit. She also notified the street car company.

Rev. Dr. Neff called upon the police to return the suit case and get his own. The officers knew nothing about the chicken and made a second trip to the house for it. Clara had been most thoughtful and placed the bird on ice.

The Demon of the Air

is the germ of La Grippe, that, breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. HEMORRHAGES PREVENTED

By the New Method of Surgery for the Kidneys.

Baltimore, Md., April 22.—Dr. E. H. Richardson of the gynecological department at Johns Hopkins hospital, is meeting with much success in a new method of surgery for the kidneys. He uses a fine, threadlike silver wire, which is drawn back and forth through the affected organ.

In the old methods of kidney surgery the knife is used, and it often produces hemorrhages to an uncontrollable extent. The silver wire method, instead of cutting through the flesh, works its way through the vessels instead of severing them. Besides being a valuable adjunct to surgery it is said to be invaluable for exploring the kidneys.

The method was suggested by Max Bredel, an artist, who makes a specialty of drawings of the human organs. It consists of threading a blunt needle with the wire, making an incision about the infected part and drawing the wire through the kidney, see-saw fashion, to the extent desired.

KING MAY DECLINE.

Edward Likely to Refuse Offer of an Aeroplane.

London, April 22.—As a result of the proof he gave the other day of his interest in the science of aviation, King Edward has been asked by a certain well-known and extremely wealthy Englishman whether he will consent to accept an aeroplane as a gift. Presumably it is thought that his majesty would like occasionally to see private experiments carried out with a flying machine belonging to himself, but, in that case, it would be necessary to have an experienced aeronaut at his disposal. The proposed gift is hardly likely to be accepted, more particularly as the king does not appreciate offers of this kind from persons who, for various reasons, as in the present instance, are open to the suspicion of being anxious to curry favor in high places. The man of money may therefore prepare himself for a polite but definite refusal.

MAYOR LOVELL AT HELM.

Fargo's New Executive Assumes Office and Makes Appointments.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The administration of Mayor Verner R. Lovell was launched upon the municipal seas Tuesday evening, when the new mayor took up the gavel and eight new aldermen took their seats. Alderman Cole was chosen president. The unanimous vote of the council was cast for Alderman Shure for vice president.

In reading his appointments, Mayor Lovell stated that he had been forced to disregard personal friends and appoint men who he believed would make the best officers for the city as a whole. The appointments were unanimously approved by the council as follows:

Auditor, E. R. Orchard; attorney, Aubrey Lawrence; engineer, Frank L. Anders; street commissioner, August Johnson; chief of police, George E. Bowers; captain, Louis Dahlgren; meat and provision inspector, Jesse W. Dunham; superintendent of water works, A. J. Craig; assistant, Swan P. Lee; clerk, auditor's office, N. C. Morgan; weighmaster and poendmaster, left open; patrolmen, Gilbert Martinson, Max Richards, W. F. Mullen, Pat Bowler, N. P. Nelson, Ferdinand Tietgens, James McLean, Ole T. Korsmo and Oscar Johnson.

S.S.S. THE REAL CURE FOR SCROFULA

Scrofula is a blood disease manifested usually by an ulceration of the glands. It is almost entirely hereditary in its origin, being the seeds or dregs of some specific blood poison which has been transmitted, in modified form, to the offspring of diseased parentage. Where the blood is specially vitiated Scrofula attacks other portions of the system beside the glands, and we see its effects frequently in weak eyes, poorly developd bodies, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases like scaldhead, catarrhal troubles etc. While the young are the usual sufferers from scrofulous troubles, it is true that it is sometimes held in check until middle life is reached, or passed, and then, as the physical system begins to decline, older persons are attacked by the disease. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure for Scrofula. It is a blood purifier without an equal and it cures this destructive blood poison by removing the germs from the blood and so enriching and building up the circulation that the disease can not remain. S. S. S. searches out every taint and impurity from the blood; it gives to the blood the richness and power necessary to the healthy growth of children, and it strengthens and invigorates the constitutions of older persons, by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine, perfectly safe for young or old. Scrofula being a blood disease can only be cured by a blood purifier like S. S. S. Book on the blood free to all who write and request it.

FALLS ON CIRCULAR SAW.

Cannon Falls Man May Lose Both of His Arms.

Red Wing, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—With both his arms cut and slashed to the bone as the result of falling against a circular saw, Fred Miller of Cannon Falls is at St. John's hospital in a very weakened condition and it is probable that he will lose one or both arms.

Mr. Miller was operating a circular saw and he slipped and fell onto it. The left arm is cut both above and below the elbow to such an extent that the saws penetrated the bone. The right arm was also badly slashed. The unfortunate man was placed on a cot on the train for Red Wing and taken to the hospital in this city.

Mr. Miller was greatly weakened from loss of blood and the attending physicians state that his recovery is doubtful. Mr. Miller has resided near Cannon Falls for a number of years. He has a wife and several children.

SAYS AUSTRALIAN BEEF IS TO BE IMPORTED.

Washington, April 22.—Senator Johnston of Alabama yesterday informed the senate that a movement for the importation of Australian beef had been inaugurated in New York as a means of meeting trust prices on fresh meats. He said it had been found that the foreign meat could be sold at a rate of 6 cents a pound less than the domestic product.

Huff Will Retire.

Washington, April 22.—Representative George F. Huff of the Twenty-second Pennsylvania district will not be a candidate for re-election upon the expiration of his present term. This announcement was made here last night by Col. Huff. Col. Huff has served twelve years and seeks a rest. He is chairman of the committee on mines and mining.

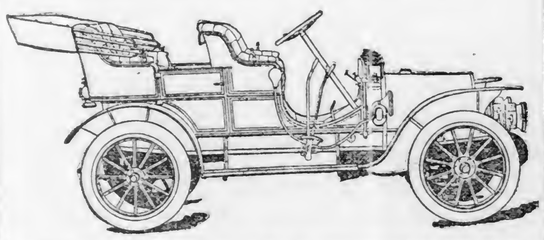
The automobile that made and holds the world's economy record.

Franklin Model G

is good for all kinds of work that you want to put it to. It is swift, strong and wonderfully able, and like all Franklins it is always ready.

For business or pleasure it is the handiest vehicle imaginable and has the comfort peculiar only to the Franklin.

Model G is as refined and modish as the larger Franklin models. It has an elegance of design and perfection of detail found only in automobiles of much higher price.



It is of the same mechanical design and of the same material as all other Franklin models, only smaller—a size and price within moderate means.

You can tour in Model G and put it to service which will enthuse you with its wonderful ability.

It has the only cooling system which requires absolutely no attention and will not overheat or freeze.

Model G is equipped with the Bosch high-tension magneto, selective transmission, large wheels and large tires. The tires are larger and stronger than used on other makes of automobiles selling at a much higher price. So all the way through Model G has the best and is not at all in the class of the cheap automobile.

There is no other medium size automobile of this high-grade type.

Franklin Model G is built in three different styles—touring car, runabout and with surrey-type body.

MEATS HAVE BIG SLUMP

Decline in Hog Prices Makes Pork Lower---Beef Also Cheaper.

Eggs Lower and Butter Unchanged---No Market for Potatoes.

Meat and lard prices took a big slump this week. The potato market is easier and prices are lower than for many months. The butter market is firm and unchanged. Eggs are slightly cheaper. The cheese market is steady to firmer. The trade in green stuffs and fruits has been excellent at favorable prices.

Because of the sharp declines in prices the meat situation is easily the predominant feature of the markets this week. The sensational drop in the price of hogs was the primary cause of the reaction in the pork and lard markets. Pork loins declined from 16 to 14 cents a pound and lard dropped from 15¼ to 15½ cents. Three weeks ago lard was selling around 17 cents. Beef is steady at a reduction of 1 cent under price of a week ago, prevailing quotations being 9½@12½ cents. Mutton is unchanged at 16 cents and veal is ½ cent off, selling at 11@12 cents. Lambs are ½ cent cheaper, selling at 17 cents.

Poultry is firmer. Springs gained ½ cent selling now at 19 cents. Hens are bringing 18½@20 cents a pound instead of 18½@19½ cents. Turkeys are unchanged at 25 cents. The poultry market is narrow and receipts have been small in volume, but the high prices have greatly contracted the outlet for this class of food. The small arrivals have been sufficient to meet all requirements.

The price of eggs declined from 22 to 21 cents during the week. Speculators in eggs are beginning to tire under the load which they have been carrying, and they have shown less eagerness in placing their bids. The failure of receipts to decrease has been disappointing to them. With the speculative support waning it was natural that egg prices in all markets should seek lower and a more natural level.

Purchasers for immediate consumption have been opposed to the speculators' plans to keep prices at a high level since the opening of the season. They restricted purchases to immediate requirements. Less activity on the part of speculators in the country is the cause of increased receipts at market points. It is assumed that farmers are shipping stock to markets because they could not get the same prices in the country from the speculators.

The demand for butter holds firm and values are steady and unchanged. Retailers are directing operations toward cheaper grades. The supply is good. A controversy between the Elgin manufacturers and the Chicago members of the Elgin butter board, has incited considerable interest along commission row. The Chicago men claim they have been used to protect the Elgin manufacturers from a declining market at the beginning of the spring season for many years and that they have been heavy losers financially, as a result.

The cheese trade has been rather quiet. Dealers are timid about buying more stock than is necessary for their immediate needs. Primost advanced from 8 to 9 cents and limburger from 17 to 18 cents. Other classes of cheese held firm and prices are unchanged. The easy state of the market has not been sufficiently acute to warrant a reduction in values. Americans and brick cheese show the greatest weakness. Swiss is rigidly sustained and there is a steady market for limburger. The quality of new cheese received is desirable.

Potatoes slumped from 30@32 cents to 30 cents. Receivers have become accustomed to lower their asking prices on potatoes and only the best classes are handled. There is no demand for the poorer descriptions. Potatoes are so cheap that the public will have only the best. The consumptive demand is not as good as it should be considering the unusual low prices at which potatoes are selling. Supplies are still pressing on the market.

• • •

A brisk business was transacted in green vegetables. Receipts of the principal kinds of early vegetables increased sufficiently to allow receivers to place prices on some classes at a more attractive level and consumers responded by more generous purchases. Trading was especially heavy in asparagus, spinach, green onions, string beans and head lettuce. A few crates of imported cauliflower have been received from France and are being held at fancy prices. Cabbage is plentiful and the demand is good. The retailing inquiry is excellent for beets, carrots, cucumbers, radishes, tomatoes and turnips. Strawberries have met with an urgent demand.

BITTER ATTACK MADE ON PINCHOT

Henry Doherty Says He Has Prevented Water Power Progress.

St. Louis Mo., April 22.—In an address before the League of Electrical Interests last night, Henry L. Doherty of New York, president of nineteen of the greatest public service corporations in the United States, in New York, Denver and other cities, bitterly attacked Gifford Pinchot as the man who has done more to prevent development of water power than any other, and a man who has been guilty of frequent and disastrous mistakes.

"If Pinchot did not directly inaugurate many statements which were untrue, he at least, by repeating these statements, managed to stir up almost universal anger on the part of the American people and resentment toward the various interests accused by him," he said.

BALLINGER MAKES BIG WITHDRAWAL.

Washington, April 22.—Secretary Ballinger of the department of the interior has withdrawn from entry approximately 13,500,000 acres of coal lands in Southeastern Montana, believed to contain valuable deposits, pending examination and classification as to their values.

The secretary also has ordered 400,000 acres of land in Montana into the enlarged homesteads, as not being susceptible of irrigation from any known source of water supply and has applied a like order to 28,000 acres in New Mexico. This brings the area designated for homesteads in Montana close to 30,000,000 acres and in New Mexico to more than 15,000,000 acres.

The withdrawal of the coal lands in Montana is the largest single withdrawal of coal lands since Secretary Hitchcock made the original withdrawals in 1906. The lands involved are in Valley, Dawson, Rosebud and Custer counties.

Rogers' Estate Only $36,000,000.

New York, April 22.—Instead of the fortune of $100,000,000 popularly accredited to H. H. Rogers, the former vice president of the Standard Oil company left an estate valued by his executors at less than $36,000,000, on which a preliminary inheritance tax has been paid, according to the New York World. By making this payment the executors are entitled to a discount of 5 per cent.

REMARRIAGE A FAILURE.

Crookston Couple, Twice Married, Are Again Divorced.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Watts has granted a decree of divorce to Mrs. Amanda Snyder from Eugene Snyder. She filed her complaint three days ago, and the answer was made Wednesday, denying the allegation of cruel and inhuman treatment alleged in the complaint, but agreeing to a decree being issued, providing: that no suit money or alimony be granted; that the grandmother of the children, Mrs. Bertha Bischoff of Illinois, mother of the plaintiff, be made the custodian of the two children, a girl aged 15 and a boy aged 12, and neither parent can be permitted to interfere with them in any way without an order from the court.

The decree was granted on this basis.

The couple were first married in 1894, and were divorced in 1902, but were remarried a few months later. However, domestic troubles soon cropped up, and on one occasion Mrs. Snyder entertained her husband at the business end of a pistol, causing a sensation in the city.

Dead Gopher Like "Good" Indian.

North Branch, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners of Chisago county believe that a gopher, like a good Indian, is a good gopher only after he is dead. Consequently at their meeting the commissioners authorized the payment of a bounty of 5 cents for each pocket gopher killed within the county, and 3 cents for each common gopher or ground squirrel. This should help somewhat in ridding the county of these little pests.

Test New Drydock.

Vallejo, Cal., April 22.—The new stone drydock at Mare Island will be officially tested this afternoon under orders received from Washington. The dock was built at a cost of $1,550,000, and is claimed to be capable of accommodating the largest vessels of the navy.

THE ROADS OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY.

A discussion of vast importance, certain to develop great good to Duluth, to the iron ranges and to St. Louis county, is developing from the report on county roads made at the recent Biwabik meeting of the St. Louis County club by A. P. Silliman of Hibbing. That report contained much useful information, and offered valuable suggestions. It gave rise to a debate in which many more facts and suggestions were brought forth, starting a movement for increased attention to the road problem that will bear rich fruit.

Aside from the problem of getting the state to bear the share due from it for the development of its own lands, which The Herald already has discussed, serious attention should be given to the local problem of how St. Louis county is to do its duty in this matter of road-making.

After many years and the expenditure of vast amounts of money, this country's system of roads does not begin to meet its present needs, to say nothing of encouraging development and meeting the needs of the future. In all, there are about 2,000 miles of road in St. Louis county, and at the lowest calculation there should be four times that much.

If the county board levies the full amount allowed by law, it will take a generation to provide the roads that are needed this very minute. If the annual levy is doubled by an amendment to the law governing road levies, it will take fifteen to twenty years, because a large amount of each year's appropriations is needed for maintenance of roads already built.

What is the answer to that problem? St. Louis county has room and soil for 300,000 more farmers, giving them eighty acres apiece. That means a population increase of 1,500,000. It is worth having, and to give Duluth and the iron range communities the stability and permanence and growth they should have, it must be had. How is it to be secured?

At the Biwabik meeting it was suggested that bonds be issued, and at first blush the proposal was attractive. A tax levy of 1 mill would pay interest and provide a sinking fund on $3,000,000 of 4 per cent 25-year bonds, and every penny of that sum is needed and could be made to yield rich dividends in development.

But St. Louis county had a road bond issue a few years ago in the case of the Miller trunk road, and three-quarters of the money thus secured was wasted. That isn't very encouraging to the bond issue plan.

As The Herald has suggested, before any far-reaching plan is adopted, there should be a complete plan of county road-building that will form a basis on which all work shall be done, and an objective toward which all work shall be directed. That must come first.

In the meantime, ways and means can and should be discussed. Shall bonds be issued, and the future generation which will benefit be made to pay its share? Or shall the present method of levying taxes for road work be continued?

If a broad plan is adopted, and a bond issue deemed desirable, shall the carrying out of that plan and the expenditure of that money be left with the county board, or shall there be a county road commission, working through an expert road-builder? It is no fault of the individual members of the county board that the district system of distributing road money, like the ward system of distributing favors in a city government, does not make for the best results. The present board has done and is doing most excellent work. The district system is not their fault, nor can they help being bound by it since each is there to do the best he can for his district. Better results would be secured if the needs of the country as a whole were given first consideration, and therefore this is a matter that should be discussed, especially if it is decided that bonds should be issued and a large amount expended at once.

The problem is very important and has many sides. The Herald will be glad indeed to open its columns to all who may wish to discuss it.

SENSE FROM A CORPORATION MANAGER.

George W. Perkins, a partner of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and a leading influence in the United States Steel corporation, said some things the other day at Harvard university that must sound like rank heresy to corporation managers of the old school. Indeed, if the average "reformer" had said the same things he would have been hooted by the old time corporation manager as a Populist, a Socialist or something else that he thinks horrible and deadly and unrespectable. Indeed, reformers have said such things and have been so condemned many times.

He was talking about the relationship between the corporations and the people. He said, in beginning, that "the people have witnessed abuses, glaring abuses, in business methods. They have suffered under many of these for years, and have found no remedy. They have been told that these abuses came about largely because of the SIZE to which certain business enterprises had grown. For want of a better reason many have accepted that one. How un-American it is to be afraid of a thing because it is large!"

Bigness isn't the trouble. This is the day of big things. Business could no more be conducted by small concerns nowadays than this issue of The Herald could be run off on an old-fashioned hand press. Methods, not size, make the trouble. Regulation, not destruction, should be the remedy. Mr. Perkins didn't say that, in quite the same words; but The Herald says it, and not for the first time, either.

Speaking of the corporation officers, he said: "The officers of great corporations should realize that such concerns are more nearly public institutions than private property. While the agitation of the last few years has been unfair and harmful in many instances, on the other hand it has set business men thinking; it has awakened the business conscience." While the "agitation" may have been unfair in its objectives at times, it grew out of recognized and undeniable abuses, protest against which was not only fair but a patriotic duty. If, for lack of proper knowledge of the real causes of these abuses, the wrong people or the wrong things have been the subjects of public indignation, that is something that proper knowledge will correct.

Here, however, is some plain, common sense advice which Mr. Perkins gave to corporation managers, and it should be heeded: "Let those of us who are in business be fair with the people and the people will be fair with us; let us see and accent the tendency of the times; let us realize our responsibilities, and our problems will be far easier of solution. If we believe that in our republic the people's word is law, let us believe it in all things, and if the people have decided that the time has come to take a hand in how business shall be conducted, is it not plain business sense to meet the question at least half way rather than fight it all the way?"

Mr. Perkins's argument comes to this: that the fight against the big corporation ought to be changed into a fight to control the big corporation and make it a faithful servant to the people. Publicity of corporation affairs and public regulation of corporations, in his view, will go further to solve the people's problems than any amount of prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law.

And he is right. Perhaps his idea of the extent of that public regulation and your idea of it or ours would vary; but sooner or later such regulation is coming, and its extent will be great enough to insure the people decent treatment from the great corporations. They will then be servants, not masters.

LOCKING THE STABLE DOOR.

A few years ago a schoolhouse burned down, destroying many young lives. Immediately there was a terrific hubbub about safeguarding school children against fire. It prevailed all over the country, and its fevered activity was hardly less remarkable than the neglect that had preceded it.

A short time ago an elevator accident in Duluth resulted fatally, and promptly there was great excitement about making passenger elevators safe and putting their operation in the hands of careful persons.

Quickly upon the heels of yesterday's distressing automobile accident comes the news that the police are going to be very strict about enforcing the automobile regulations.

If this zeal in the interest of public safety could only be spread out over more time and given stability and permanence, it would be a great deal better. Nearly always, however, nobody pays any attention to such matters until a terrible accident leads to widespread and precipitous precautions, which are very like locking stable doors after the horses have been stolen.

Duluth has automobile regulations enough to protect the public thoroughly. If they are not sufficient, it is easy to provide more. But what is needed is more enforcement; not immediately after a fatal accident, but all the time.

ALDRICH GOES OUT—WHO GOES IN?

That Nelson W. Aldrich, United States senator from Rhode Island and Boss of the Republic, will retire from both places at the end of his present senatorial term is no longer open to question. He admits it himself.

The news is heard with varying degrees of pleasure. Big interests whose plans have been jeopardized by the popular outcry against "Aldrichism" will join in glad rejoicing with those who believe Aldrich to be alone at fault for the sins of Aldrichism.

So hated are Cannonism and Cannon, Aldrichism and Aldrich, that the danger is that too many people will believe that the problem is solved and liberty restored to her throne when Aldrich and Cannon are retired, as both soon will be.

Aldrich will retire, but the system that gave Aldrich his power and that kept him in power will remain if the battle of people against privilege slackens when Aldrich steps down. Senator Crane of Massachusetts, for instance, is said to be quite as capable as Aldrich and much more crafty and subtle. Indeed, of late years he has been the silent power behind the Aldrichian throne. He does not propose to retire, nor does any one of several others who can be depended upon to step into Aldrich's shoes and do Aldrich's service for the great interests when Aldrich is gone.

Presently Cannon will quit, be kicked out or lie. Will Cannonism be dead then? Not by a jugful. Tawney, or some other as serviceable to the powers of privilege, will slip into his place unless the people remain on guard.

When a king dies those who hate monarchy and love democracy do not rejoice. They do not hate the monarch so much as they do the monarchy, and the passing of the monarch gives them no satisfaction. The king dies, but the prince succeeds. The king is dead; long live the king!

Indeed, if the dead king made himself and the monarchy hated, his passing may do harm to the cause of liberty. The new king may be a fairly decent sort whose benevolence will lessen the force of the fight against monarchy. He may do the same evil things that the old king did, but he may do them in a more crafty manner, disguised under a pretense of kindliness. Thus he makes it easier for the next tyrant, and fastens the chains tighter on a people who ought to govern themselves.

The people need have a care that it is not the same way when Aldrich and Cannon retire. Learning a lesson from the implacable and stupid arrogance of these two puppets of privilege, the powers that prey by prostituting democracy will pick men of finer methods to succeed them.

The fight is against the system, and not against individuals who are transients, and whose lives are but incidents in the history of human progress. The fight is against the system which permits one man to rule the senate and one man to rule the house, both of whom direct their respective branches of congress to the service of those who prey upon the people's necessities.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHY NOT CONFISCATE THE LOCOMOTIVE?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I, as a law abiding sportsman, ask that some one rout out a game warden from his primeval retreat and whisper in his ear words to the effect that the Duluth & Iron Range railroad is killing game out of season.

Yesterday, about five miles west of Two Harbors, one of its trains killed one of the finest deer ever seen in the Northwest.

Is there any reason why the company should not be fined for decreasing the number of the denizens of the forest?

I suggest that the train be confiscated—it being the weapon used in the unlawful attempt to emulate Roosevelt in Africa.

If the law lets this matter rest, it will be another special privilege granted to railroad corporations.

A QUERY ANSWERED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

For Mr. B. F. Higgins' benefit, I would like to state through your open court column that there will be several paths through the courthouse grounds, when the improvements are completed. This is the work for which bids will be opened by the county board at their meeting on May 5. Mr. Higgins evidently did not notice particularly the plans as printed in The Herald, or the article which explained the nature of the improvement of the grounds at Fourth avenue west. Through the open court column Mr. Higgins called attention to the fact that paths were needed, last night. This letter to the open court is merely in explanation. Thanking you for space.

The Funny Side.

Life is full of funny things—
Jokes not of our making;
To each act some humor clings
To set the sides a-shaking.
Never mind how dark the day
There's some pleasure in it;
Each sad hour that comes our way
Has its funny minute.

If hard luck has swept your path
Surging like a river,
Don't give vent to tears or wrath—
Smile—and save your liver.
Somewhere in the direct need—
Want of friends or money—
You'll be sure to strike a lead
Toward the point that's funny.

If, perforce, each sense you own
Suffers malnutrition,
Always keep your funny bone
Right in prime condition.
If some power you must invoke
In life's perturbation,
Let it be—to see the joke
In each situation.

A Storm of Straws.

Puck: Straws show the way of the wind. Little elections forecast the outcome of big elections. The man who watches the straw can tell in which direction the wind is blowing. He who diagnoses with understanding the returns of a little election can make a shrewd guess at the outcome of a big one. For six months President Taft has missed no chance to tell the country what an excellent law the Payne-Aldrich tariff is. Never was any measure more zealously boomed. Newspapers the country over have printed every speech, every defense, for people to read. And what is the result? Preliminary elections are being won sensationally by men who claim that the Payne-Aldrich tariff is a fraud; that it is just the opposite of what Taft says it is. If the president will but glance out the White House window he will learn something not necessarily to his advantage from every straw in sight.

Why Winter Clothes Are Lighter.

San Francisco Star: "I repeat," said President Taft in his Lincoln day speech, since made official by Senator Hale's publication of it in the Congressional Record—"I repeat, therefore, that this was a downward revision. It was not downward with reference to silks or liquors or hight priced cottons in the nature of luxuries."

Nor was the Payne-Aldrich revision a downward one as regarding woolens, either the class of woolens used by the rich or poor. Woolen goods bear a compensatory duty of from 33 to 44 cents a pound, depending upon value—which is supposed merely to compensate the manufacturer for the duty on raw wool, but which actually does much more—plus 50 or 55 per cent ad valorem. On last year's imports the duty averaged 91 per cent; but, as usual throughout our tariff, the duties bear heaviest on the cheapest goods. On those costing over 70 cents a pound it was 140 per cent; on those costing over 70 cents a pound it was 79 per cent.

"The woolen schedule has," says Editor Dale of the Textile World-Record, a protectionist, "deprived the people of an adequate supply of clothing, blankets and other articles of wool. It has compelled the use of inferior substitutes for wool and forced manufacturers to reduce the weight of all-wool clothes, so those goods fail to give proper protection against dampness and cold to the wearer."

"The result of the Dingley wool schedule—absolutely unchanged in the new law except for the worse," declares a protest presented to congress by an association comprising 97 per cent of the leading manufacturers of clothing in the United States, "has been to reduce the quality and diminish the weight per yard, especially in the cloths out of which popular priced clothing is made, thereby making that clothing less durable."

"Better Things to Think About Than Clothes."

Life: Telling in the Evening Post about her search of suffragists in Vienna, an eminent and gifted advocate of votes for women narrates:

"Finally, the door opened, and the representative of the strong-minded women of Vienna appeared. She is a distinguished-looking elderly woman, with soft, brilliant, black eyes, hair simply arranged, a winning smile, and the clothes of a woman who has better things to think about than clothes."

We beg respectfully to remonstrate against this description of a lady too far away to make her own defense. It is such a damning description, and possibly undeserved. "The clothes of a woman who has better things to think about than clothes!" Awful! Whatever had that lady done that she should be published to the world as a dowdy?

There is hardly anything better or more important for a woman to think about duly and seasonably than clothes. Personal cleanliness, neatness, the management of hair may be a grain more important, but they are all details of the same subject. The neglect of that subject, bad enough in men, is an awful thing in women. The trick is to give it the thought it deserves and no more. There are better things to think of than brushing one's teeth, but there are few worse things to forget.

A Big Contract.

Success Magazine: Winston Churchill, the novelist, described at a dinner in New York the difference between romanticism and realism in fiction:

"To make my meaning clearer," he ended, "I will take the case of a young man and girl—sweethearts. The young man, a romanticist, said passionately to the girl:

"'Darling, it will be my life's one purpose to surround you with every comfort, and to anticipate and grant your every wish.'

"The girl, a realist, smiled faintly as she answered:

"'Oh, Jack, how good of you; and all on $9 a week, too.'"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Can He Smile and Smile.

Hibbing Tribune: Can President Taft keep his famous smile? If he can, he will prove himself very much of a man, for surely men have seldom been placed in a more trying position. Under the urgent necessity of making good, he is betwixt the devil of the regulars and the deep sea of the insurgents. Loyal to his friends, he must witness the spectacle of that friend more in the thoughts of the people of his country than he, the first man of the land. It is time to try men's souls and Taft's smile. If that smile doesn't come off we shall just have to grant that William Howard Taft is one of the best ever.

The Party's Only Salvation.

Buffalo Journal: Mr. Taft had planned to visit Indianapolis on his western trip, but since the Republican state convention failed to endorse the new tariff bill he decided not to visit Indiana. He feels he could not speak there without compilmenting the administration on the best tariff bill ever passed, and to do so would not be courteous to the state convention, therefore, it is better to stay away. It would appear that the only salvation for the Republican party is now being entertained at the capitals of Europe.

It's a Sinking Ship.

Austin Transcript: President Taft is pressing congress to pass a resolution declaring for opening negotiations for a reciprocity treaty with Canada at once. That best ever tariff seems to be fatally defective.

He Has His Work Cut Out.

St. Cloud Times: Congressmen Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, is a standpatter, a Taft follower and a Cannon supporter. He is classed as the only man who doesn't care what father-in-law says. It is reported that he is coming to Minnesota to convert the heathenish insurgents.

Sorry for the President.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: When it becomes a question of endorsing Aldrich and Cannon—or Minnesota senators and congressmen who voted against the fake tariff revision, the Journal-Press is with the Minnesotans. If this displeases President Taft, we are sorry—for the president.

Also To a Large Gentleman.

Winona Independent: Roosevelt's scheduled speech before the national conservation congress this summer will be a matter of considerable anxiety to a large group of gentlemen who live at Washington part of the time.

That's the Universal Rule.

Anoka Union: The greater the income the state of Minnesota, the more lavish are its expenditures.

So Is Patriotism.

Austin Transcript: The Mississippi legislature has a bribery investigation on its hands. Grafting is entirely nonpartisan.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The joy of living is chiefly the joy of not dying.

The fun about traveling to most people is how much money it costs.

There's nothing a man can be more ashamed of than having a reputation for being steady.

A woman can forgive her husband's neglect to provide food for her, but not failure to notice how becoming her gown is.

The value of a good reputation is not what it does for you if you have it, but what it doesn't do for you if you haven't it.

Ambassador of Peace.

T. Roosevelt is a harbinger
Of universal peace.
A white-winged, soothing messenger
Who makes all strife to cease;
He's always had most gentle ways,
No matter where he went.
(You may recall the peaceful days
When he was president.)

He found a congress badly split,
And said: "Now, boys, don't fight;
Let's all shake hands and settle it,"
And things were soon all right.
When persons criticised his acts
He claimed them with finesse,
And never contradicted facts
As stated in the press.

He left the White House in content,
War's banners tightly furled,
And on a peaceful tour he went
Around the troubled world.
Through Africa's jungles first he tore,
The wild beast's growls he stilled,
His wand of peace a .44.
Which mercifully killed.

In Cairo with a single word
He scattered peace around;
Egyptian throngs his message heard
And there was calm profound.
And then he turned his steps toward home,
This man of soothing air;
He stopped a little while in Rome
And peace alighted there.

Where next the snow-white dove shall light
The good lord only knows;
But let us watch him in his flight
And bless him as he goes!
And happy be each stopping place,
For there all war shall cease,
And there shall follow it apace
A Universal Peace!

An Experienced Wife's Idea.

New York Evening Sun: "After marriage love sinks to the stomach. There is no doubt of it, my friend. The old adage is right." Here is a suffragist, a good suffragist, from Denmark, who has seen life and who knows.

"Three husbands have I had," says she; "and of what I speak I am certain. My first was an Englishman—a race reputed difficult; my second was a Dutchman—out of Holland, a good man, though Dutch; my third is a German, an 'echt Deutscher.' Yet from all these three have I never received anything but respect. Each has been an excellent husband; and for why? I have known my business as a wife. That is it in a fistful, yes. After marriage love sinks to the stomach."

Mme. Volkman, the president of the Independent Woman's Suffrage club in Harlem, speaks with the conviction and authority of experience.

"Let us come back to that duty of a wife. Evening comes. The good wife prepares for her husband an excellent repast, adorns herself within keeping of his means, and from 6 to 10 o'clock of an evening is she her husband's company.

"Pinochle she must learn, also dominoes. If she has no taste for these things that does not signify. It is her duty. A man will stay in his home quite content evening after evening, so that he can put between his teeth a good pipe and sit down at ease to pinochle.

"I know what I say. Three husbands have I had, and with each one it was the same. Now once a week there comes to my home a small club of my husband's. Three friends, a little beer and pinochle; that makes for him his pleasure. That is my husband's one outside diversion. Ten cents or so changes hands for a pastime, and for one evening I am relieved.

Perhaps you ask: Is it not hard for an active woman of brains night after night to sit opposite her man and to play at pinochle? That is neither here nor there, my friend. Some sacrifice is necessary to all success. Only from a contented man will a wife get all what for she asks. Only from many contented men will many wives receive that woman's suffrage."

What Grover Would Have Done.

Life: Now if it had been Grover instead of Pius, can't you imagine it!

"Dan!"

"Yes, sire!"

"Who sent that message to Roosevelt?"

Cardinal Merry del Val, sire!"

"Fay him up to the end of the month, Dan, and let him go. I appoint you to that job. Make out the commission."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

Charles Hebard & Son's large sawmill at Pequaming was burned to the ground a few days ago. The 100 workmen saved the 11,000,000 feet of lumber piled in the yard but the main mill was destroyed. The loss, counting delay of business, will probably amount to $75,000. There was no insurance. The firm has shipped a large amount of lumber and shingles to Duluth.

Governor Merriam has issued a commission to C. C. Tear of this city, who recently resigned as first lieutenant of Company K. He is now made assistant judge advocate general with a commission dating from April 14, 1890.

The institution of Bay View lodge, Knights of Pythias, took place at the rooms of the Diamond lodge at the West end. Thirty-four is the number of charter members, and the following officers were elected: P. C., P. R. Haley; C. C., G. G. Davis; V. C., George Warnock; P., Dr. A. Forin; K. R. S., D. Johnson; M. F., J. K. Edson; M. E., J. S. Herrell; M. A. R., S. Nell; trustees, Messrs. Curs, Wakeman and Frazer.

Col. C. H. Graves has returned from a three months' stay in the East, mostly in Washington, where he has done yeoman service for legislative measures of vital interest to Duluth. He says that the talk of himself as a candidate for governor is merely "summer talk," and he expects Governor Merriam will seek a renomination.

Clan Stewart held a social for the benefit of Clan Piper McLennon Thursday evening. Clansman Rev. Mr. Mitchell occupied the chair. The Misses McKenzie and Mr. Johnson sang, a flute solo was given by George F. McKenzie, and there were selections by the Banjo club. Master Thomas Chalmers was heartily applauded for his recitation of "Baby's Toothies," and as an encore gave "Coffee Is Not Strong." The guitar solo by Miss Patterson, a gold medalist of Denver, was very fine. Mrs. Stone's original poem was the event of the evening, being brim full of "hits" on prominent members of Clan Stewart.

INSURGENCY.

Indianapolis News: On all sides it is beginning to be felt, we believe, that the insurgent cause is something more than a revolt against Cannonism. It is part of the general uprising against bossism. The demand for direct primaries is one sign of the effort of the people to get control of their government. The Boston Herald gives expression to this view and says:

"The party system in the political life of the United States is being threatened today, not so much because political views are shifting to such an extent that there is no longer a unity of belief and policy forming a reasonable basis for co-operative and harmonious action, but more because the people are losing confidence in party organizations and do not find them to be representative of the party sentiment and obedient to the party will. The people are becoming insurgent because they refuse longer to be used as tools. They are fighting machines, not because they prefer the disorder of the mob to the effectiveness of the organized army, but because their chances even as a mob are superior to those offered under traitorous leadership."

There is then the citation of testimony of E. R. Kennedy, a New York fire insurance broker, to a legislative committee that he paid $5,000 to Republican state leaders, and the confession of George W. Aldridge that he took $1,000 and spent it for the good of the party with no thought of the impropriety of his action. Things of this sort, the Herald holds, are at the bottom of the rapidly spreading insurrection. The people are tired of corruption and they are tired of machine rule, through which generally corruption gets its opportunity. To quote the Herald again:

"Aldridge is only a type. The battle against Cannonism in the house was only a type of the battle which is starting all over the Union. Governor Hughes' battle against the state machine in New York is a similar type. And here in Massachusetts there is being begun a similar battle, not for the destruction of the party, but for the recognition of the party and the overthrow of the alliance which has been formed between the party organization and the "interests" which seek special privileges in legislation and pay the price in donations to campaign funds."

There is confirmation of this general aspect in the news from Washington that "insurgency" will spread in the senate. It looks, in short, as if there were to be a thorough housecleaning. The Chicago News thinks it better that it should go on now; that it is far better for the party organization that it be kept up and completed than that it be carried into the campaign and left for the people to do it at the polls next November. The people have not the confidence in party organization that they once had. They have begun to think that they have been used as tools, and they are in revolt. They may believe as much as ever in party. But they believe in it in a different way—namely, that it should reflect the popular will, and not the will of the machine.

The Fable of the Grasping Millionaire.

Lippincott's: There was once a Man who had a Mean, Grasping Disposition and One Hundred Million Dollars. Notwithstanding his Great Wealth, he was not satisfied, but used to lie awake nights, depriving himself of much needed rest, in order to think up New and Original Ways of getting the Better of the People. One day he found it necessary to fill a Certain Position in his Office, but the Man he selected was something of a Grasper himself, so when the Question of Salary arose a Difference of Opinion arose also. And the Man thought that his services were worth More than they really were, while the Millionaire thought they were worth less than they really were. Finally the Prospective Employe offered a Suggestion. Said he: "I will work for you for One Year, on Contract, and for Remuneration you shall pay me One Cent for the First Week, Two Cents for the Second Week, Four for the Third, Eight for the Fourth, and so on, Doubling the Amount for each of Fifty-two Weeks. Of course, towards the End of the Year, the Amount will be much Larger, but in the meantime you will be having the Use of the Money. How does this Proposition strike you?"

The Millionaire thought a Moment, and the Idea sounded Good to Him. "Walt," he said; and Hurriedly he took pencil and paper and did some figuring. He found that at the end of Ten Weeks the Man would have drawn altogether only $10.23, so the Millionaire hesitated no longer, but drew up and signed the necessary Documents.

This is all of the Story, except that at the End of the Year the Employe had all of his Employer's Hundred Million Dollars, and the ex-Millionaire owed him $45,035,796,273,704.95, besides.

The moral of this Fable is that it doesn't always pay to be a Pig.

Boston Transcript: She—The educated woman ashamed to admit her age—absurd!

Lippincott's: Newlywed—What, $30 for a hat! Why, it's simply ridiculous, my dear!

Mrs. Newlywed — That's what I thought, Harold; but you said it was all we could afford.

New York Sun: Solomon was being transported on a magic carpet. "The Wright brothers can't claim any infringement," he chuckled. Herewith he flew over a cloud.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Goodness, what a frump! Who is she?

"That's Mrs. Penhollow, the author of 'Margaret Westwood's Courtship' and 'The House Divided.'

"You don't mean it! Why, I read in one of the advertisements about her books that she had a beautiful style."

Chicago Tribune: "Do you have to go through all these novels?"

"I do," sighed the literary editor.

"Doesn't it overwork your mind?"

"My mind? Great Scott, no! It overworks my conscience."

"How?"

"I praise so many of them."

Harper's Weekly: "I felt so sorry when I heard your house was burned down, Mrs. Jones," said Mrs. Hawkins.

"It was too bad," said Mrs. Jones, "but it had its bright side. John and I were both afraid to discharge our cook, but now that the house is gone, of course we don't have to."

New York Evening Telegram: "I saw you dancing with Jones just now. Is he good?"

"A wonderful dancer! He never touched the floor."

"How d'you mean?"

"He danced on my feet!"

Washington Herald: "I ask that a recess be taken at this point," stated counsel in the prominent divorce case.

"On what grounds?" inquired the judge.

"My client wishes to change her gown. She hasn't displayed half her costumes as yet."

One on the Doctor.

American Druggist: A man died and went to heaven. When he arrived at the pearly gates he said to St. Peter:

"Well, I'm here."

St. Peter asked his name.

"John Evans," was the reply.

St. Peter looked through the book and shook his head.

"You don't belong here," he said.

"But I am sure I belong here," said the man.

"Wait a minute," said Peter. He looked again, and in the back part of the book found the name.

"Sure," said the guardian of the gate, "you belong here, but you weren't expected for twenty years. Who's your doctor?"

THE ROADS OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY.

A discussion of vast importance, certain to develop much good to Duluth, to the iron ranges and to St. Louis county, is developing from the report on county roads made at the recent Biwabik meeting of the St. Louis County club by A. P. Silliman of Hibbing. That report contained much useful information, and offered valuable suggestions. It gave rise to a debate in which many more facts and suggestions were brought forth, starting a movement for increased attention to the road problem that will bear rich fruit.

Aside from the problem of getting the state to bear its share due from it for the development of its own lands, which The Herald already has discussed, serious attention should be given to the local problem of how St. Louis county is to do its duty in this matter of road building.

After many years and the expenditure of vast amounts of money, the county's system of roads does not begin to meet its present needs, to say nothing of encouraging development and meeting the needs of the future. In all there are about 2,000 miles of road in St. Louis county, and at the lowest calculation there should be four times that much.

If the county board levies the full amount allowed by law, it will take a generation to provide the roads that are needed this very minute. If the annual levy is doubled by an amendment to the law governing road levies, it will take fifteen to twenty years, because a large amount of each year's appropriations is needed for maintenance of roads already built.

What is the answer to that problem? St. Louis county has room and soil for 300,000 more farmers, giving them sixty acres apiece. That means a population increase of 1,500,000. It is worth having, and to give Duluth and the rest of the communities the stability and permanence of growth they should have, it must be had. How is it to be brought?

At the Biwabik meeting it was suggested that bonds be issued, and at first blush the proposal was attractive. A tax levy of 1 mill would pay interest and provide a sinking fund on $3,000,000 of 4 per cent 25-year bonds, and every penny of that sum is needed and could be made to yield rich dividends in development.

But St. Louis county had a road bond issue a few years ago in the case of the Miller trunk road, and three-quarters of the money thus secured was wasted. That isn't very encouraging to the bond issue plan.

As The Herald has suggested, before any far-reaching plan is adopted, there should be a complete plan of county road building that will form a basis on which all work shall be done, and an objective toward which all work shall be directed. That must come first.

In the meantime, ways and means can and should be discussed. Shall bonds be issued, and the future generation which will benefit be made to pay its share? Or shall the present method of levying taxes for road work be continued?

If a bond plan is adopted, and a bond issue deemed desirable, shall the carrying out of that plan and the expenditure of that money be left with the county board, or shall there be a county road commission, working through an expert road builder? It is no fault of the individual members of the county board that the district system of distributing road money, like the ward system of distributing favors in a city government, does not make for the best results. The present board has gone and is doing most excellent work. The district system is not their fault, nor can they help being bound by it since each is there to do the best he can for his district. Better results would be secured if the needs of the county as a whole were given first consideration and therefore this is a matter that should be discussed, especially if it is decided that bonds should be issued and a large amount expended at once.

The problem is very important and has many sides. The Herald will be glad indeed to open its columns to all who may wish to discuss it.

SENSE FROM A CORPORATION MANAGER.

George W. Perkins, a partner of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and a leading influence in the United States Steel corporation, said some things the other day at Harvard university that must sound like rank heresy to corporation managers of the old school. Indeed, if the average "reformer" had said the same things he would have been hooted by the old time corporation manager as a Populist, a Socialist or something else that he thinks horrible and deadly and unrespectable. Indeed, reformers have said such things and have been so condemned many times.

He was talking about the relationship between the corporations and the people. He said, in beginning, that "the people have witnessed abuses, glaring abuses, in business methods. They have suffered under many of these for years, and have found no remedy. They have been told that these abuses came about largely because of the SIZE to which certain business enterprises had grown. For want of a better reason many have accepted that one. How un-American it is to be afraid of a thing because it is large!"

Bigness isn't the trouble. This is the day of big things. Business could no more be conducted by small concerns nowadays than this issue of The Herald could be run off on an old-fashioned hand press. Methods, not size, make the trouble. Regulation, not destruction, should be the remedy. Mr. Perkins didn't say that, in quite the same words; but The Herald says it, and not for the first time, either.

Speaking of the corporation officers, he said: "The officers of great corporations should realize that such concerns are more nearly public institutions than private property. While the agitation of the last few years has been unfair and harmful in many instances, on the other hand it has set business men thinking; it has awakened the business conscience." While the "agitation" may have been unfair in its objectives at times, it grew out of recognized and undeniable abuses, protest against which was not only fair but a patriotic duty. If, for lack of proper knowledge of the real causes of these abuses, the wrong people or the wrong things have been the subjects of public indignation, that is something that proper knowledge will correct.

Here, however, is some plain, common sense advice which Mr. Perkins gave to corporation managers, and it should be heeded: "Let those of us who are in business be fair with the people and the people will be fair with us; let us see and accept the tendency of the times; let us realize our responsibilities, and our problems will be far easier of solution. If we believe that in our republic the people's word is law, let us believe it in all things, and if the people have decided that the time has come to take a hand in how business shall be conducted, is it not plain business sense to meet the question at least half way rather than fight it all the way?"

Mr. Perkins's argument comes to this: that the fight against the big corporation ought to be changed into a fight to control the big corporation and make it a faithful servant to the people. Publicity of corporation affairs and public regulation of corporations, in his view, will go further to solve the people's problems than any amount of prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law.

And he is right. Perhaps his idea of the extent of that public regulation and your idea of it or ours would vary; but sooner or later such regulation is coming, and its extent will be great enough to insure the people decent treatment from the great corporations. They will then be servants, not masters.

LOCKING THE STABLE DOOR.

A few years ago a schoolhouse burned down, destroying many young lives. Immediately there was a terrific hubbub about safeguarding school children against fire. It prevailed all over the country and its fever of activity was hardly less remarkable than the neglect that had preceded it.

A short time ago an elevator accident in Duluth resulted fatally, and promptly there was great excitement about making passenger elevators safe and putting their operation in the hands of careful persons.

Quickly upon the heels of yesterday's distressing automobile accident comes the news that the police are going to be very strict about enforcing the automobile regulations.

If this zeal in the interest of public safety could only be spread out over more time and given stability and permanence, it would be a great deal better. Nearly always, however, nobody pays any attention to such matters until a terrible accident leads to widespread and precipitous precautions, which are very like locking stable doors after the horses have been stolen.

Duluth has automobile regulations enough to protect the public thoroughly. If they are not sufficient, it is easy to provide more. But what is needed is more enforcement; not immediately after a fatal accident, but all the time.

ALDRICH GOES OUT---WHO GOES IN?

That Nelson W. Aldrich, United States senator from Rhode Island and Boss of the Republic, will retire from both places at the end of his present senatorial term is no longer open to question. He admits it himself.

The news is heard with varying degrees of pleasure. Big interests whose plans have been jeopardized by the popular outcry against "Aldrichism" will join in glad rejoicing with those who believe Aldrich to be alone at fault for the sins of Aldrichism.

So hated are Cannonism and Cannon, Aldrichism and Aldrich, that the danger is that too many people will believe that the problem is solved and liberty restored to her throne when Aldrich and Cannon are retired, as both soon will be.

Aldrich will retire, but the system that gave Aldrich his power and that kept him in power will remain if the battle of people against privilege slackens when Aldrich steps down. Senator Crane of Massachusetts, for instance, is said to be quite as capable as Aldrich and much more crafty and subtle. Indeed, of late years he has been the silent power behind the Aldrichian throne. He does not propose to retire, nor does any one of several others who can be depended upon to step into Aldrich's shoes and do Aldrich's service for the great interests when Aldrich is gone.

Presently Cannon will quit, be kicked out or die. Will Cannonism be dead then? Not by a jugful. Twomey, or some other as serviceable to the powers of privilege, will slip into his place unless the people remain on guard.

When a king dies those who hate monarchy and love democracy do not rejoice. They do not hate the monarch so much as they do the monarchy, and the passing of the monarch gives them no satisfaction. The king dies, but the prince succeeds. The king is dead; long live the king!

Indeed, if the dead king made himself and the monarchy hated, his passing may do harm to the cause of liberty. The new king may be a fairly decent sort whose benevolence will lessen the force of the fight against monarchy. He may do the same evil things that the old king did, but he may do them in a more crafty manner, disguised under a pretense of kindliness. Thus he makes it easier for the next tyrant, and fastens the chains tighter on a people who ought to govern themselves.

The people need have a care that it is not the same way when Aldrich and Cannon retire. Learning a lesson from the implacable and stupid arrogance of these two puppets of privilege, the powers that prey by prostituting democracy will pick men of finer methods to succeed them.

The fight is against the system, and not against individuals who are transients, and whose lives are but incidents in the history of human progress. The fight is against the system which permits one man to rule the senate and one man to rule the house, both of whom direct their respective branches of congress to the service of those who prey upon the people's necessities.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHY NOT CONFISCATE THE LOCOMOTIVE?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I, as a law abiding sportsman, ask that some one rout out a game warden from his primeval retreat and whisper in his ear words to the effect that the Duluth & Iron Range railroad is killing game out of season.

Yesterday, about five miles west of Two Harbors, one of its trains killed one of the finest deer ever seen in the Northwest.

Is there any reason why the company should not be fined for decreasing the number of the denizens of the forest?

I suggest that the train be confiscated—it being the weapon used in the unlawful attempt to emulate Roosevelt in Africa.

If the law lets this matter rest, it will be another special privilege granted to railroad corporations.

A QUERY ANSWERED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

For Mr. R. F. Higgins' benefit, I would like to state through your open court column that there will be several paths through the courthouse grounds, when the improvements are completed. This is the work for which bids will be opened by the county board at their meeting on May 5. Mr. Higgins evidently did not notice particularly the plans as printed in The Herald, or the article which explained the nature of the improvement of the grounds at Fourth avenue west. Through the open court column Mr. Higgins called attention to the fact that paths were needed last night. This letter to the open court is merely in explanation. Thanking you for space,

A COUNTY OFFICER.

The Funny Side.

Life is full of funny things—
Jokes a-out of our making.
To each act some humor clings
To set the sides a-shaking.
Never mind how dark the day
There's some pleasure in it;
Each sad hour that comes our way
Has its funny minute.

If hard luck has swept your path
Surging like a river,
Don't give vent to tears or wrath—
Smile—and save your liver.
Somewhere in the direct need—
Want of friends or money—
You'll be sure to strike a leal
Toward the point that's runny.

If, perforce, each sense you own
Suffers malnutrition,
Always keep your funny bone
Right in prime condition.
If some power you must invoke
In life's perturbation,
Let it be—to see the joke
In each situation.

A Storm of Straws.

Puck: Straws show the way of the wind. Little elections forecast the outcome of big elections. The man who watches the straw can tell in which direction the wind is blowing. He who diagnoses with understanding the returns of a little election can make a shrewd guess at the outcome of a big one. For six months President Taft has missed no chance to tell the country what an excellent law the Payne-Aldrich tariff is. Never was any measure more zealously boomed. Newspapers the country over have printed every speech, every defense, for people to read. And what is the result? Preliminary elections are being won sensationally by men who think that the Payne-Aldrich tariff is a fraud; that it is just the opposite of what Taft says it is. If the president will but glance out the White House window he will learn something not necessarily to his advantage from every straw in sight.

Why Winter Clothes Are Lighter.

Sam Fraukon Scott: "I repeat," said President Taft in his Lincoln day speech, then made official by Senator Hale's publication of it in the Congressional Record—I repeat, therefore, that this was a downward revision. It was not downward with reference to silks or liquors or high priced cottons in the nature of luxuries.

Nor was the Payne-Aldrich revision a downward one as regarding woolens, either the class of woolens used by the rich or poor. Woolen goods bear a compensatory duty of from 32 to 44 cents a pound, depending upon value—which is supposed merely to compensate the manufacturer for the duty on raw wool, but which actually does much more—plus 50 or 55 per cent ad valorem. On last year's imports the duty averaged 91 per cent; but, as usual throughout our tariff, the duties bear heaviest on the cheapest goods. On those costing over 70 cents a pound it was 140 per cent; on those costing over 70 cents a pound it was 79 per cent.

"The woolen schedule has," says Editor Dale of the Textile World-Record, a protectionist, "deprived the people of an adequate supply of clothing, blankets and other articles of wool. It has compelled the use of inferior substitutes for wool and forced manufacturers to reduce the weight of all-wool clothes, so those goods fail to give proper protection against dampness and cold to the wearer."

"The result of the Dingley wool schedule—absolutely unchanged in the new law except for the worse," declares a protest presented to congress by an association comprising 97 per cent of the leading manufacturers of clothing in the United States, "has been to reduce the quality and diminish the weight per yard, especially in the cloths out of which popular priced clothing is made, thereby making that clothing less durable."

"Better Things to Think About Than Clothes."

Life: Telling in the Evening Post about her search of suffragists in Vienna, an eminent and gifted advocate of votes for women narrates:

"Finally, the door opened, and the representative of the strong-minded women of Vienna appeared. She is a distinguished-looking elderly woman, with soft, brilliant, black eyes, hair simply arranged, a winning smile, and the clothes of a woman who has better things to think about than clothes."

We beg respectfully to remonstrate against this description of a lady too far away to make her own defense. It is such a damning description, and possibly undeserved. "The clothes of a woman who has better things to think about than clothes!" Awful! Whatever had that lady done that she should be published to the world as a dowdy?

There is hardly anything better or more important for a woman to think about duly and seasonably than clothes. Personal cleanliness, neatness, the management of hair may be a grain more important, but they are all details of the same subject. The neglect of that subject, bad enough in men, is an awful thing in women. The trick is to give it the thought it deserves and no more. There are better things to think of than brushing one's teeth, but there are few worse things to forget.

A Big Contract.

Success Magazine: Winston Churchill, the novelist, described at a dinner in New York the difference between romanticism and realism in fiction:

"To make my meaning clearer," he ended, "I will take the case of a young man and girl—sweethearts. The young man, a romanticist, said passionately to the girl:

"'Darling, it will be my life's one purpose to surround you with every comfort, and to anticipate and grant your every wish.'

"The girl, a realist, smiled faintly as she answered:

"'Oh, Jack, how good of you; and all on $9 a week, too.'"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Can He Smile and Smile.

Hibbing Tribune: Can President Taft keep his famous smile? If he can't, he will prove himself very much of a man, for surely men have seldom been placed in a more trying position. Under the urgent necessity of making good, he is betwixt the devil of the regulars and the deep sea of the insurgents. Loyal to his friends, he must witness the spectacle of that friend more in the thoughts of the people of his country than he, the first man of the land. It is time to try men's souls and Taft's smile. If that smile doesn't come off we shall just have to grant that William Howard Taft is one of the best ever.

The Party's Only Salvation.

Buffalo Journal: Mr. Taft had planned to visit Indianapolis on his western trip, but since the Republican state convention failed to endorse the new tariff bill he decided not to visit Indiana. He feels he could not speak there without complimenting the administration on the best tariff bill ever passed, and to do so would not be courteous to the state convention, therefore, it is better to stay away. It would appear that the only salvation for the Republican party is now being entertained at the capitals of Europe.

It's a Sinking Ship.

Austin Transcript: President Taft is pressing congress to pass a resolution declaring for opening negotiations for a reciprocity treaty with Canada at once. That best ever tariff seems to be fatally defective.

He Has His Work Cut Out.

St. Cloud Times: Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, is a standpatter, a Taft follower and a Cannon supporter. He is classed as the only man who doesn't care what father-in-law says. It is reported that he is coming to Minnesota to convert the heathenish insurgents.

Sorry for the President.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: When it becomes a question of endorsing Aldrich and Cannon—or Minnesota senators and congressmen who voted against the fake tariff revision, the Journal-Press is with the Minnesotans. If this displeases President Taft, we are sorry—for the president.

Also To a Large Gentleman.

Winona Independent: Roosevelt's scheduled speech before the national conservation congress this summer will be a matter of considerable anxiety to a large group of gentlemen who live at Washington part of the time.

That's the Universal Rule.

Anoka Union: The greater the income the state of Minnesota, the more lavish are its expenditures.

So Is Patriotism.

Austin Transcript: The Mississippi legislature has a bribery investigation on its hands. Grafting is entirely nonpartisan.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The joy of living is chiefly the joy of not dying.

The fun about traveling to most people is how much money it costs.

There's nothing a man can be more ashamed of than having a reputation for being steady.

A woman can forgive her husband's neglect to provide food for her, but not failure to notice how becoming her gown is.

The value of a good reputation is not what it does for you if you have it, but what it doesn't do for you if you haven't it.

Ambassador of Peace.

T. Roosevelt is a harbinger
Of universal peace.
A white-winged, soothing messenger
Who makes all strife to cease.
He's always had most gentle ways,
No matter where he went.
(You may recall the peaceful days
When he was president.)

He found a congress badly split,
And said: "Now, boys, don't fight;
Let's all shake hands and settle it,"
And things were soon all right.
When persons quibbled his acts
He clubbed them with finesse,
And never contradicted facts
As stated in the press.

He left the White House in content,
War's banners tightly furled,
And on a peaceful tour he went
Around the troubled world.
Through Africa's jungles first he tore,
The wild beast's growls he stilled,
His wand of peace it 44,
Which mercifully killed.

In Cairo with a single word
He scattered peace around;
Egyptian throngs his message heard
And there was calm profound.
And then he turned his steps toward Rome,
Thus man of soothing air;
He stopped a little while in Rome
And peace alighted there.

Where next the snow-white dove shall light
The good lord only knows;
But let us watch him in his flight
And bless him as he goes!
And happy be each stopping place,
For there all war shall cease.
And there shall follow it apace
A Universal Peace!

An Experienced Wife's Idea.

New York Evening Sun: "After marriage love sinks to the stomach. There is no doubt of it, my friend. The old adage is right." Here is a suffragist, a good suffragist, from Denmark, who has seen life and who knows.

"Three husbands have I had," says she, "and of what I speak I am certain. My first was an Englishman—a race reputed difficult; my second was a Dutchman out of Holland, a good man, though Dutch; my third is a German, an 'echt Deutscher.' Yet from all these three have I never received anything but respect. Each has been an excellent husband; and for why? I have known my business as a wife. That is it in a fistful, yes. After marriage love sinks to the stomach."

Mme. Volkman, the president of the Independent Woman's Suffrage club in Harlem, speaks with the conviction and authority of experience.

"Let us come back to that duty of a wife," Evening comes. The good wife prepares for her husband an excellent repast, adorns herself within keeping of his means, and from 6 to 10 o'clock of an evening is she her husband's company.

"Pinochle she must learn, also dominoes. If she has no taste for these things that does not signify. It is her duty. A man will stay in his home quite content evening after evening, so that he can put between his teeth a good pipe and sit down at ease to pinochle.

"I know what I say. Three husbands have I had, and with each one it was the same. Now once a week there comes to my home a small club of my husband's. Three friends, a little beer and pinochle; that makes for him his pleasure. That is my husband's one outside diversion. Ten cents or so changes hands for a pastime, and for one evening I am relieved.

Perhaps you ask: Is it not hard for an active woman of brains night after night to sit opposite her man and to play at pinochle? That is neither here nor there, my friend. Some sacrifice is necessary to all success. Only from a contented man will a wife get all what for she asks. Only from many contented men will many wives receive that woman's suffrage."

What Grover Would Have Done.

Life: Now if it had been Grover instead of Pius, can't you imagine it!

"Dan!"

"Yes, sire!"

"Who sent that message to Roosevelt?"

Cardinal Merry del Val, sire!"

"Pay him up to the end of the month, Dan, and let him go. I appoint you to that job. Make out the commission."

Atchison Globe: Occasionally you meet a man who dislikes to attract attention. But such men are extremely rare.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

Charles Hebard & Son's large sawmill at Pequaming was burned to the ground a few days ago. The 100 workmen saved the 11,000,000 feet of lumber piled in the yard but the main mill was destroyed. The loss, counting delay of business, will probably amount to $75,000. There was no insurance. The firm has shipped a large amount of lumber and shingles to Duluth.

Governor Merriam has issued a commission to C. C. Tear of this city, who recently resigned as first lieutenant of Company K. He is now made assistant judge advocate general with a commission dating from April 14, 1890.

The institution of Bay View lodge, Knights of Pythias, took place at the rooms of the Diamond lodge at the West end. Thirty-four is the number of charter members, and the following officers were elected: P. C., P. R. Hadley; C. C., G. G. Davis; V. C., George Warnock; P., Dr. A. Forin; K. R. S., D. Johnson; M. F., J. K. Edson; M. E., J. S. Herrell; M. A. R., S. Neil; trustees, Messrs. Curs, Wakeman and Frazer.

Col. C. H. Graves has returned from a three months' stay in the East, mostly in Washington, where he has done yeoman service for legislative measures of vital interest to Duluth. He says that the talk of himself as a candidate for governor is merely "summer talk," and he expects Governor Merriam will seek a renomination.

Clan Stewart held a social for the benefit of Clan Piper McLennan Thursday evening. Chisholm Rae, Mr. Mitchell occupied the chair. The Misses McKenzie and Mr. Johnson sang, a flute solo was given by George F. McKenzie, and there were selections by the Banjo club. Master Thomas Chalmers was heartily applauded for his recitation of "Baby's Toothies," and as an encore gave "Coffee Was Not Strong." The guitar solo by Miss Patterson, a gold medalist of Denver, was very fine. Mrs. Stone's original poem was the event of the evening, being brim full of "hits" on prominent members of Clan Stewart.

INSURGENCY.

Indianapolis News: On all sides it is beginning to be felt, we believe, that the insurgent cause is something more than a revolt against Cannonism. It is part of the general uprising against bossism. The demand for direct primaries is one sign of the effort of the people to get control of their government. The Boston Herald gives expression to this view and says:

"The party system in the political life of the United States is being threatened today, not so much because political views are shifting to such an extent that there is no longer a unity of belief and policy forming a reasonable basis for co-operative and harmonious action, but more because the people are losing confidence in party organizations and do not find them to be representative of the party sentiment and obedient to the party will. The people are becoming insurgent because they refuse longer to be used as tools. They are fighting machines, not because they prefer the disorder of the mob to the effectiveness of the organized army, but because their chances even as a mob are superior to those offered under traitorous leaderships."

There is then the citation of testimony of E. R. Kennedy, a New York fire insurance broker, to a legislative committee that he paid $5,000 to Republican state leaders, and the confession of George W. Aldridge that he took $1,000 and spent it for the good of the party with no thought of the impropriety of his action. Things of this sort, the Herald holds, are at the bottom of the rapidly spreading insurrection. The people are tired of corruption and they are tired of machine rule, through which generally corruption gets its opportunity. To quote the Herald again:

"Aldridge is only a type. The battle against Cannonism in the house was only a type of the battle which is starting all over the Union. Governor Hughes' battle against the state machine in New York is a similar type. And here in Massachusetts there is being begun a similar battle, not for the destruction of the party, but for the recognition of the party and the overthrow of the alliance which has been formed between the party organization and the "interests" which seek special privileges in legislation and pay the price in donations to campaign funds."

There is confirmation of this general aspect in the news from Washington that "insurgency" will spread in the senate. It looks, in short, as if there were to be a thorough housecleaning. The Chicago News thinks it better that it should go on now; that it is far better for the party organization that it be kept up and completed than that it be carried into the campaign and left for the people to do it at the polls next November. The people have not the confidence in party organization that they once had. They have begun to think that they have been used as tools, and they are in revolt. They may believe in it in a different way—namely, that it should reflect the popular will, and not the will of the machine.

The Fable of the Grasping Millionaire.

Lippincott's: There was once a Man who had a Mean, Grasping Disposition and One Hundred Million Dollars. Notwithstanding his Great Wealth, he was not satisfied, but used to lie awake nights, depriving himself of much needed rest, in order to think up New and Original Ways of getting the Better of the People. One day he found it necessary to fill a Certain Position in his office, but the Man he selected was something of a Grasper himself, so when the Question of Salary arose a Difference of Opinion arose also. And the Man thought that his services were worth More than they really were, while the Millionaire thought they were worth less than they really were. Finally the Prospective Employee offered a Suggestion. Said he: "I will work for you for One Year, on Contract, and for Remuneration you shall pay me One Cent for the First Week, Two Cents for the Second Week, Four for the Third, Eight for the Fourth, and so on, Doubling the Amount for each of Fifty-two Weeks. Of course, towards the End of the Year, the Amount will be much Larger, but in the meantime you will be having the Use of the Money. How does this Proposition strike you?"

The Millionaire thought a Moment, and the Idea sounded Good to him. "Wait," he said; and Hurriedly he took pencil and paper and did some figuring. He found that at the end of Ten Weeks the Man would have drawn altogether only $10.23, so the Millionaire hesitated no longer, but drew up and signed the necessary Documents. This is all of the Story, except that at the End of the Year the Employe had all of his Employer's Hundred Million Dollars, and the ex-Millionaire owed him $45,035,796,273,704.95, besides.

The moral of this Fable is that it doesn't always pay to be a Pig.

New York Sun: Solomon was being transported on a magic carpet. The Wright brothers can't claim any infringement," he chuckled. Herewith he flew over a cloud.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Goodness what a fuss! Who is she?"

"That's Mrs. Penhollow, the author of 'Margaret Westwood's Courtship' and 'The House Divided.'"

"You don't mean it? Why, I read in one of the advertisements about her books that she had a beautiful style."

Chicago Tribune: "Do you have to go through all those novels?"

"I do," sighed the literary editor.

"Doesn't it overwork your mind?"

"My mind? Great Scott, no! It overworks my conscience."

"How?"

"I praise so many of them."

Harper's Weekly: "I felt so sorry when I heard your house was burned down, Mrs. Jones," said Mrs. Hawkins.

"It was too bad," said Mrs. Jones, "but it had its bright side. John and I were both afraid to discharge our cook, but now that the house is gone, of course we don't have to."

New York Evening Telegram: "I saw you dancing with Jones just now. Is he good?"

"A wonderful dancer! He never touched the floor."

"How d'you mean?"

"He danced on my feet!"

Washington Herald: "I ask that a recess be taken at this point," stated counsel in the prominent divorce case.

"On what grounds?" inquired the judge.

"My client wishes to change her gown. He hasn't displayed half her costumes as yet."

St. Peter asked his name.

"John Evans," was the reply.

St. Peter looked through the book and shook his head.

"You don't belong here," he said.

"But I am sure I belong here," said the man.

"Wait a minute," said Peter. He looked again, and in the back part of the book found the name.

"Sure," said the guardian of the gate, "you belong here, but you weren't expected for twenty years. Who's your doctor?"

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

"The Advisory Council of the Republican Clubs of Duluth" is the official designation of the central organization composed of delegates elected by the ward and other clubs. The advisory council met last evening at the county house and perfected its organization by adopting, as submitted, the constitution and by-laws drafted by the committee appointed at the last meeting.

Practically no information beyond the above has leaked out concerning last night's meeting, but it is known that the executive committee has been empowered to select permanent headquarters for the council. The quarters probably will be located in a downtown building that has not been selected.

There are forty-five accredited delegates to the council, which will meet on the first and third Thursdays of each month. There are only three standing committees, executive, finance and organization.

In Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, there will be a meeting this evening of the City Democratic club, at which the policies of Mayor Cullum's administration will be discussed. President C. E. Dice recently said that this meeting would be one of the liveliest the organization has held for some time, the expectation being that differences of opinion in regard to patronage questions will be aired by the members.

In the interesting article on "Insurgency in the Northwest," reprinted in part in another column, Samuel G. Blythe makes the error of linking the names of Lindbergh and Volstead as those of two Minnesota representatives who have been consistently insurgent. Mr. Blythe means Davis and Lindbergh. Volstead's insurgency has been denounced as practically nil, and his consistency positively nil.

Vigorously resenting a statement of a Twin City political writer, to the effect that there will be practically no opposition to Tawney in the primaries and that the fight against Cannon's protege will be made at the polls, the Dodge Center Star declares that the Winona congressman's defeat will be handed to him by the members of his own party at the primaries.

"There was a time when it was hard to find a man to test Tawney's strength at the polls," says the Star, "but since he has so shamefully misrepresented this district in congress there has been a change, and we have in mind, at the present time, the names of three or four who have signified their willingness to contest the nomination with that gentleman. And, by the way, they are all good men who can be depended upon to carry out the wishes of their constituents."

The real fight continues the Dodge Center paper, will be between the man who is selected by the insurgents and Judge Buck, who will be the Democratic nominee.

The situation in the First is such that this view of the probable outcome of the primary campaign seems entirely plausible. In any event, the Democrats will be in the strategic position. Whether Tawney or the dark horse—who is probably Dr. Milo Price of Owatonna—gets the Republican nomination, Judge Buck will come into the field backed by the solid Democratic strength of the district, and his standing in the district is so high, his admitted ability of such exceptional excellence and his powers as an orator and campaigner so well established, that he would make an effective campaign.

"Farmer Ben," the homely philosopher of the Austin Transcript, doesn't need any "specs" to enable him to see what the standpatters are up against. He says:

"Tawney came home last week to hustle around and see what is the matter with the tremendous dissatisfaction with him in this deestrick. He can easy find out. He's seen his last election to congress, and will be thrun into the dump by an indignant constituency at the very first chance. Wickersham don't know the real conditions out here, but Tawney is catchin' on.

"Insurgency isn't on the wane, but loomin' right up as the big scare for the whole standpat crowd. The people will give the whole bunch their unanimous resignation, and clean up congress."

According to the New York Sun, the Republican congressional committee has arranged to send into insurgent territory a flying detachment of tried and trusted reactionary orators, and it is said that James T. McCleary will be among the twenty-five. The decision to make this early start in the congressional campaign was reached by the leaders at Washington after Representative Duncan McKinley of California had investigated the situation in Minnesota and neighboring states, besides states in other sections. He reported to the elder statesmen that if the next congress is to be conserved to the G. O. P., that prematurely venerable organization must H-U-M-P.

It seems that the orators who have been detailed for this scouting duty will be charged with the duty of "explaining" the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, but if no more than twenty-five are being sent out into the territory of insurgency they are pretty sure to find that their task is too much for them.

Also these preliminary campaigners will be expected to show the people of the country wherein the Taft administration has been a power for good and a doer of deeds, not a doer of the ultimate consumer. President Taft himself will have a part in this work when he makes his Western trip next month.

A striking evidence of the spirit of fairness toward Northern Minnesota that is finding expression in all sections of the state, and especially in the southern counties, is offered in a paragraph published in the Albert Lea Standard. It reads:

"It is only the politicians who fear they are likely to be left out in the cold if there is a just legislative reapportionment who are opposed to and have thus far prevented its being made. All impartial people of the state have all the time and are yet in favor of a new and fair apportionment, and it is only their neglect and the selfishness of their representatives in the legislature that has prevented and postponed it."

Here's a chance for Frank A. Day to treat with the enemy.

The chairman of the Democratic state central committee is being tempted, that's what.

In the Fairmont Independent, published right in Mr. Day's home town by Col. A. L. Ward the proposition is set forth in all the cold, bare frankness of type.

The proposition is in the form of an offer on the part of the Independent to join in a movement to make Mr. Day a member of the state senate. Now, that's really a neighborly thing to do—to offer to make your fellow townsman and esteemed contemporary a senator. Indeed it is.

However, that isn't all of the proposition. It is stipulated that, should Mr. Day decide to take advantage of the offer he shall pledge himself to vote for the re-election of Moses E. Clapp to the United States senate.

"That's all.

The Virginia Enterprise views the congressional situation in the Eighth district this way: "It is given out with more or less authenticity that our Mr. Miller is to have a Democratic opponent in the person of a prominent Duluthian. In which case the odds will be placed on the Democrat."

"Sam Gordon and P. E. Dowling seem to be the only men in the state who really want to be lieutenant governor," remarks the Mesaba Ore.

When Frank M. Eddy visited Ada, Norman county, last week, he said that the expected nomination of Eberhart by the Republicans, if followed by the nomination of Lind by the Democrats, will merely be a prelude to the swan song of the choice of the G. O. P. in November.

Mr. Eddy has visited every county in the Ninth district with the exceptions of Clearwater and Mahnomen and in discussing political conditions as he found them reiterated his previously published statement that party lines practically are obliterated in the district this year. He said:

"At the present time party lines are not considered here. In fact, there is practically no party. The people of this district have always been of an independent nature and at the present time they are asserting this feeling in a very strong and convincing manner. This condition may not be true within thirty days, but I think the November election will bring some surprises."

MINNESOTA INSURGENCY AS VIEWED BY SAM BLYTHE

Samuel G. Blythe, in the closing paragraph of the concluding article of the series he has been writing for the Saturday Evening Post on "Insurgency in the Northwest," makes this statement:

"Sentiment in one of the insurgent states is the same as sentiment in each of the other insurgent states. The people think the same way, talk the same way and are preparing to vote the same way. There will be more politics in the Middle West this year in Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and the Dakotas, than there has been for many years—and somebody is going to be hurt."

In this article Mr. Blythe devotes his attention to conditions in the Republican party in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota. Following are excerpts from that part bearing directly on Minnesota conditions:

Republicans Cheated.

"The position of the bulk of the Republicans in Minnesota is that they were promised downward revision and were cheated out of it. They hold that Cannon and Aldrich and their followers did the cheating, and that is the reason they are so bitterly opposed to Cannonism and Aldrichism, combined, of course, with the firm belief that Cannon and Aldrich represent in congress those special interests that are held to have been fostered by the Dingley tariff and not injured any by the Payne-Aldrich tariff. So far as President Taft is concerned they think he lacked the political sagacity to cope with Aldrich and Cannon in the closing days of the tariff making, and hasn't shown any political sagacity since. They do not berate him for this. There is no aspersion and no complaint. They are all sorry they have been so disappointed in the man selected by Col. Roosevelt to follow him in office, and though holding Taft to be a man of the highest honesty and integrity, they regret he allowed himself to be deceived and manipulated, and that he has seen fit to continue in alliance with Cannon and Aldrich, instead of forcing those statesmen to do what he wants. In other words, instead of making them work for him, he is working with them.

"That is the general feeling. It prevails among more than a majority of the Republicans of the state. There are, however, many old-line Republican regulars who decry the insurgent sentiment, say it is not so strong as pictured by the newspapers, and are standpatters in every place you find them.

"These men, the regulars, hold that the Minnesota representatives, or some of them, who voted against the tariff bill were not entirely sincere in their final opposition, but wanted to vote No, for home-consumption purposes. It is claimed that several of the Minnesota representatives had given pledges to vote for the bill, on final passage, if it was found their votes were necessary to pass the bill.

The Big Fight.

"The one regular, the one standpatter of all the Minnesota Republicans in congress who voted for the tariff bill and who is running for renomination is James A. Tawney of the First district, chairman of the great appropriations committee, right-hand man of Speaker Cannon, and by all odds the biggest Minnesotan in the house, if not in the congress.

"Tawney's fight will be the big fight in Minnesota. Indeed, it will be national in its character, for Tawney, having voted for the tariff bill, and being chairman of the appropriations committee, is a peculiarly shining mark for insurgent opposition. Moreover, Taft is strongly for Tawney, for it was in Tawney's home town, Winona, that Taft made his speech defending the tariff and, incidentally, defending and approving Tawney's course. There is no doubt that great efforts will be made to return Tawney. The regulars all over the state, and outside for that matter, will be for him.

The Others' Chances.

"Of the other Republican candidates for re-election, Davis, Stephens, Nye, Volstead and Miller seem reasonably reassured of their nominations ,and Lindbergh and Steenerson may or may not win their fights, with the chances about even in Lindbergh's case and favoring Steenerson. These men are all insurgents in the tariff sense. Some of them are not so avowedly anti-Cannon now as they will be before the primaries are over. There are people in Minnesota, among the farmers and business men, who think one or two of these men may fall of re-election, after they are nominated, because of switches by regular Republicans to the Democratic candidates. So far as I could discover there is no movement on foot to defeat these men in this way. Of course, if the dissatisfaction grows, the regular Republicans may, in some instances, support the Democrats, but, on the other hand, there may be a Democratic shift to the insurgent candidates, on the ground that it will be pretty hard to defeat the Republicans, and the Democrats can get more out of it by supporting the insurgents and helping discredit the Taft administration and Cannon and Aldrich in this way than by wasting votes on Democrats.

"A state ticket is to be elected. The present governor, Adolph O. Eberhart, will be a candidate for the nomination, and it is not likely he will have opposition. The Democrats may name against him either Representative Winfield S. Hammond of the Second district, or John Lind, the old Democratic warhorse, who has won Democratic victories in Republican Minnesota before now, mainly because of his strength with the Scandinavian vote. There is a likelihood, also, that the campaign will be complicated by the liquor question.

What Will Teddy Say?

"In Minnesota, as elsewhere throughout the insurgent Middle West, there is vast anxiety as to what Col. Roosevelt will say when he makes his comment on the present administration, the tariff law, the removal of Pinchot, and the other acts of Taft that may come under his review.

"An O. K. for Taft and the rest will weaken the insurgent cause. A criticism of Taft et al. will help it immeasurably.

"And here and there you hear the question asked, in speaking of Taft: 'Is it not possible that Col. Roosevelt, knowing Taft better than any one else, knew exactly what would happen and, for that reason, chose Taft for his successor, having in mind another term for himself as president?' In other words, did Col. Roosevelt feel that Taft would not make good and would thus leave the way open for Roosevelt in 1912? Each man answers this question according to his own ideas, but many men ask it. Meantime, it is remembered that Theodore Roosevelt is the smartest politician the country has developed in the past fifty years."

DISAPPEARS SUDDENLY

Poslam Makes Quick Work of Skin Disfigurement.

By taking a small part of the skin which is affected with some blemish, such as pimples, rash, blotches,, etc., or which is unduly inflamed, itching or chafing, and applying thereto a small quantity of poslam sufficient only to cover the selected surface, an immediate demonstration may be had of the remarkable properties of this new discovery and enough poslam for the purpose will be mailed free of charge to any one, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York. The spot so treated will be cleared and healed in twenty-four hours.

Poslam puts a stop to itching as soon as applied, and its readiness in healing these small surfaces and minor troubles is but an indication of its rapid action in curing eczema, tetter, scabies, etc., on hands, limbs, scalp or any part of the body. As the quantity necessary to use varies with the nature of the trouble, poslam is put up in two sizes, one for 50 cents (for minor uses) and the regular jar at $2. Both are always on sale at the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth, Holmberg's in Superior, and other drug stores.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FORM MUTUAL HELP LEAGUE

Copper Country Italians in Organization Urging Members to Become Citizens.

Is a Fraternal Affair But Will Also Exercise Political Influence.

Houghton, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Italian Citizens' League for Mutual Help has been organized by the South Range, Hancock and Laurium Italian Citizens' leagues, and a grand lodge organization, with the state of Michigan as its territory, has been perfected.

The society will be an insurance organization, but its main object will be to induce its members, all of whom must be of Italian birth, to become citizens of the United States. It will also exercise some political influence, as the Italians in Northern Michigan number about 10,000, while there are more than 50,000 in the whole state.

Lodges are already located at Calumet, Laurium, Hancock, South Range and Quincy mine, while others will be organized at once at Ishpeming, Negaunee, Ironwood and Marquette, in Northern Michigan, and at Saginaw, Detroit, Owosso and Marconiville, in lower Michigan.

FIXING DAMAGES FROM THE PROJECT

Commissioners Look Over Gull Lake Scheme and Hear Property Owners.

Brainerd, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The commissioners appointed by the United States to assess the damages to property needed for overflow purposes for the construction of the Gull lake dam project completed their work here late yesterday. The commission consists of Judge W. D. Edson of Duluth, Michael Toole of Cass Lake and Ezra R. Smith of Brainerd. They met and organized on Monday and spent three days in viewing the lands. Thursday was devoted to hearing parties who wished to appear before them in the matter. Those heard were Parker Waite, who lives at the foot of the lake; I. U. White and A. D. Polk of Brainerd and a non-resident property owner named A. R. Zinck.

The data upon which the report will be based was turned over to Mr. Dickey of the United States district attorney's office, who was present, and the report will be made public as soon as it can be drawn by the attorney and signed by the board of commissioners.

FIRE ON LOG DRIVERS.

Settlers Living Near Floodwood Object to Have Booms Cut.

Floodwood, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The friction between the settlers along the river in this locality and the log drivers on the river came to a climax early in the week, when Jacob Louma took a shot with a rifle at Joe Grandmire and some log drivers, about twenty in all, who were cutting the boom Louma had built, thus letting the logs through. John Louma, father of Jacob, is alleged to have urged his son to the act and both were arrested. The son was held to the grand jury while the elder Louma was put under bonds to keep the peace.

The Finnish settlers along the river object to the drivers for the Coolidge-Schussler company bringing logs down the river and among others the Loumas built a boom across the river to stop the logs. When the drivers started cutting the boom the trouble commenced.

Some years ago the company was given a right by the settlers to drive logs through their land for a number of years. The company figures that this agreement is still in effect but the settlers look at it otherwise and seem determined to prevent any logs being driven through their land without river rights being paid for.

The trouble along the river is by no means ovecome and the settlers still declare that if the log drivers attempt to open the booms, which are guarded night and day, there will be trouble.

SCHOOL BOARD PRESIDENT IS BEST AITKIN SPELLER.

Aitkin, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A spelling contest was held last night between twenty-five of the high school students and an equal number of the townspeople. Irvine Inness, president of the school board, carried off the honors, Attorney J. C. Hessian winning second place.

STRANGER'S HARD LUCK.

Becomes Sick With Frozen Feet During North Dakota Storm.

St. Thomas, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—After seeking shelter from rain and snow in a deserted building near St. Thomas, and becoming ill, John Mueller, aged 45 years, was unable to seek help until the storm abated. He was then brought to St. Thomas, both feet badly frozen, and in bad physical condition as a result of having gone three days without food and water. Mueller is a stranger in this district, and is being cared for by the county until he recovers.

CATHOLIC BISHOP SPEAKS

At Memorial Services for Episcopal Bishop William Hobart Hare.

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 22.—Elaborate services in commemoration of the life and labors of the late William Hobart Hare, Episcopal bishop of South Dakota, were held in this city. The principal address was made by Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle of Missouri, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church of the United States.

Memorial services began with the communion service at Calvary cathedral, at which Rt Rev. Morrison, bishop of Iowa, addressed the large congregation.

Following the communion service, the choir led the way from the cathedral into the church yard and to the grave of Bishop Hare, where Bishop Tuttle conducted a short service, which included prayers and the singing of the favorite hymns of Bishop Hare. Other services were held later at the new theater, and during the hour which they lasted, the business houses of Sioux Falls closed as a mark of respect for the dead churchman.

Addresses were delivered by Governor Vessey, Rt. Rev. Thomas O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, Catholic bishop of Eastern South Dakota; Rev. W. P. Thrall of Huron, and E. A. Sherman of Sioux Falls.

WOMAN JUMPS FROM RIG AND BREAKS LEG.

Isanti, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Andrew Anderson, a young woman residing in the town of Stanford, broke both bones in her right leg, near the ankle, while going home from this village Monday evening. Mrs. Anderson had become frightened and jumped from the carriage. The accident occurred near the home of John Hoberg, south of Isanti, and Mrs. Anderson was taken to the house, where the injury was attended to by Dr. Johnson.

SUPERIOR MAN MARRIES PERHAM YOUNG WOMAN.

Perham, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Meier of Superior, Wis., and Miss Theresa Bachleitner were married at St. Henry's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Schaut officiating. A reception was held in the opera house during the evening, and the newly wedded couple were the recipients of many useful and handsome gifts. They will make their home in Superior, where the bridegroom has a good position.

FARMER FALLS CUTTING HIS THROAT AND DYING.

New Ulm, Minn., April 22.—Frank Freisinger, a Nicollet county farmer, aged 71 years, met death in a peculiar manner early Wednesday. After spending part of the night sleeping in the Northwestern depot, he sauntered along Minnesota street, the principal business thoroughfare, and ascended the stairs of the Reinhart block, where he fell asleep, and shortly thereafter tumbled down stairs, his head striking a large plate glass in the door at the foot of the stairs.

He was literally impaled on the ragged edges of the broken pane, which cut his throat and jugular vein, causing instant death.

GIRLS BEST SPELLERS.

Bismarck, N. D., April 22.—The winners of the state spelling contest are as follows: First, Helen Swanson, Underwood, McLean county; second, Laura Hutchinson, Eddy county; third, Cecilia Minne, Devils Lake, Ransom county. It was impossible to select the winner at the end of the regular list of words, as there were twelve with a perfect score and an additional list of fifty words that had not been studied was used.

KENMARE, N. D., MAN IS KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Kenmare, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—While driving near Lostwood, this county, the horse John Sorine of this city was driving suddenly became fractious and ran away. Sorine, who was 70 years of age, was thrown from the rig. On being taken to Stanley he failed to show any improvement, dying within twelve hours of the accident.

FORMER GRAND FORKS MAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has just been received here of the death, at San Jose, Cal., of W. S. Little, a former resident of this county. Mr. Little's death was very sudden, as he had been engaged in working up to within a few hours of his demise. He was a resident of Grand Forks up to twenty years ago, taking a prominent part in the early development of this section of the Red river valley. He was 69 years of age, leaves a widow and four children and was born in Ontario.

DESERTED BY HUSBAND BRINGS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Grafton, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because she was deserted by her husband years ago and has no means of livelihood, Judge Kneeshaw gave Mrs. Victor Dumontet a suspended sentence, when she pleaded guilty to a charge of maintaining a common nuisance. Her case was to have come up for consideration last January, but she was sick and unable to appear until this week.

Big Fargo Plant Sold.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—The Union Light, Heat & Power company, valued at $500,000 and owned by Paul Doty, J. J. Hill and other St. Paul capitalists, was sold yesterday to Byllesby & Co. of Chicago, who are proprietors of a large number of similar plants in the West. The local company furnishes gas and electric light and power.

Well-Driller Killed.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 22.—While working on his well-drilling rig near Veblen, Wesley Millard was struck by a falling piece of machinery and received hurts which caused his death a short time afterward.

Cupid Ensnares Senator.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—State Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay and Miss Frances Sheehan of Milwaukee were quietly wedded at Fair Oaks, a suburb of Madison, Tuesday, by Rev. J. M. Bach of St. Bernard's church. Every effort was made to keep the event a secret, but it leaked out yesterday. Senator Burke was assisted in making a quiet entrance into the order of benedicts by Elmore T. Elver of Madison, former Democratic assemblyman.

To Inspect Michigan Drug Stores.

Houghton, Mich., April 22.—In accordance with an act passed at the last session of the legislature, the state dairy and food department will assume complete charge of the inspection of Michigan drug stores after the first day of July. Registered pharmacists will be appointed as drug inspectors and a competent analyst will be named by the dairy and food commissioner to take charge of the work. State Dairy and Food Commissioner A. C. Bird will soon make the appointments.

Minot Automobile Show.

Minot, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minot will be the second city in North Dakota to hold an automobile show, plans to that end having been perfected. The show will take place on May 5, 6 and 7, and as there has been an abundance of space secured for the display of cars, it is anticipated that there will be a great many of them shown.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Orr Schurtz, superintendent of the Negaunee public schools, has been advised by Prof. A. S. Whitney, the Michigan representative of the board of directors of the North Central Colleges and Secondary Schools association, that the Negaunee high school has been placed on the accredited list for the ensuing year.

Ishpeming — A number of steam shovels are now working at the mines on this range. Among properties where shovels have been recently put into commission are the Moro in this city, Briletung Hematite in Negaunee and Stephenson and Austin on the Swanzey range.

Marquette—Mr. and Mrs. George D. Sherman returned Wednesday from a ten days' trip to New Orleans, where they attended the Shriners' annual meeting. Mr. Sherman has been in Texas since Dec. 13, but he will at once take up his contracting business for this season.

Houghton—Nicholas Morgan, an unfortunate who was fished out of Portage lake Monday night and has since been confined in the county jail because of an attempt at suicide, is making a desperate effort to starve himself to death, and the jail officials believe him to be insane.

Houghton—The Lake Superior Fish company had on exhibition Tuesday a lake trout which weighed thirty-five pounds dressed. It was one of the largest specimens seen here in recent years.

Hancock—Children in the St. Patrick's school will be busily engaged during the coming eight weeks in preparation for the closing exercises on June 17, prior to the summer vacation. They will make one of the big events of the year to the student body.

Calumet—Major Thomas H. Rees of the regular army corps of engineers and Adjt. Gen. James N. Cox of the Michigan National Guard, were in Calumet Tuesday evening and inspected Company A engineers. The company made an exceptionally fine showing and will undoubtedly rank high among the state troops.

Houghton—At St. Ignatius church Wednesday morning occurred the wedding of Francis A. Corrigi and Miss Winifred Alice Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kelly of Montezuma street. The bride was attended by Miss Florence Forgette of Calumet, and the groom by Timothy J. Dorne of Hancock.

Calumet—The board of review for Calumet township will be in session shortly for the purpose of assessing property in the township and spreading the same on the tax rolls. Later announcement will be made of a meeting of the board of review when the roll will be open for public inspection, and complaints may then be made if deemed necessary.

Houghton—Wednesday evening, May 4, the Portage Lake Motor Boat club will open activities for 1910. The meeting will be held in the Douglass house parlors, Houghton. Officers will be elected, and an effort put forth to draw all motor boat owners in Hancock, Houghton and Dollar Bay into the organization.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Janesville—Congress has passed a special act giving Col. W. H. Britton of this city, who was colonel of the Eighth, or Eagle, regiment, a $50 pension, the same amount voted to Gen. E. S. Bragg of Fond du Lac a few years ago. Col. Britton has been an invalid several years, confined to his room most of the time.

Milwaukee — Charles Trautner, charged with attempting to kill Mrs. S. T. Pulliam in the Sentinel building March 22, was adjudged insane in municipal court, and sent by Judge Alvin C. Brazee to the Northern Hospital for the Insane, Oshkosh, until his condition warrants his return to the court for further action.

Sheboygan Falls—Seventeen students of the Sheboygan Falls High school who were suspended following their action in leaving school without permission of the teachers Friday afternoon, during the absence of Principal Kingsford, were reinstated by the board of education after a session with the delinquents.

Appleton—The funeral services of the late John McNaughton were held at the family residence Wednesday afternoon. Services were for the family and intimate friends only.

Janesville—The Rev. William P. Christy has accepted the call extended him by the La Crosse English Lutheran church, and will take charge of the pulpit on June 15. Mr. Christy has been pastor of St. Peter's English Lutheran church in Janesville for seven years.

Wausaukee—Senator Bird continues to improve and has almost fully recovered from his severe illness which prostrated him on Sunday. It is believed that the collapse was due to overwork and that the senator will be obliged to cease much of his activity.

Ashland—The Ashland County Fair association held a meeting last Tuesday evening. The retiring officers made their report and reported the financial condition to be healthy. After careful discussion with reference to the fair to be held this year, the dates having already been set for August, which will be one week earlier than at West Superior and one week earlier than the fair here last year, the meeting adjourned.

Eau Claire—Neck broken and with blood streaming from mouth and nostrils, the lifeless form of Oluf Wagner, aged 39, residing in the place known as the Chippewa Bottoms, a short way from Eau Claire, was picked up less than ten minutes after he had fallen to the ground from the roof of a barn, a structure on which he was engaged, on the farm of Max Bandoll, in the town of Union. Life was extinct when help came.

Milwaukee—George Des Forges, the pioneer book dealer who died Monday, in his will leaves practically aboue $65,000 of his estate of $75,000 to the public library. He provides, however, for his widow and his children during their lives, and at the end of the trust which amply cares for his family, the remainder of the property goes intact to the public library.

Manitowoc—Fred Wagner of Reedsville was sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment at Waupun after pleading guilty to a statutory charge in which his 13-year-old niece was the principal witness. Wagner is 23 years old and a farmer.

Madison—Lillian Jesmore, daughter of a well-to-do resident at Lodi, was arrested here on a charge of shoplifting. She confessed, it is said, to taking articles in four leading stores.

Milwaukee—Gustav Esche, a pioneer, died at his residence, 517 Newhall street, Wednesday, aged 81. Mr. Esche came to Milwaukee from Germany in 1855. He built a home in a virgin forest, through which Newhall street now runs, and had lived there up to the time of his death.

Glenwood—The Soo road has asked the city of Glenwood to change its name. There are now on the line a Glenwood, Minn., a Glenwood, Wis., and a Greenwood, Wis., and mis-shipments of freight occur almost daily. Many letters are also miscarried.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Ada—Norman County is to have a week's institute at Ada beginning Sept. 5. Special methods will be offered at that time. Agriculture and sewing will be taught.

Red Wing—The steamer Rutledge, owned by the Forest Products company of Red Wing which will be used for both towing and pleasure purposes, will hereafter be known as the John H. Rich, port of St. Paul. The Rutledge was first named after E. Rutledge, the pioneer lumberman who was associated with the Weyerhaeuser boat syndicate.

Isanti—The condition of Peter Grift, county auditor, has been very serious for several days. Mr. Grift has been confined to his home for three months and has been gradually failing. A brother, Andrew Grift has been summoned from Rivulet, Mont.

Cambridge—W. H. Pemberton, a pioneer resident of Spencer Brook, died last Friday of old age. He was born in Ohio, July 27, 1829 and came to Minnesota about fifty years ago. He lived in St. Paul and Rush City up to thirty years ago when he moved to Spencer Brook where he has since made it his home.

North Branch—John Ryan, one of the laborers in the steam shovel crew working about a mile north of town, had a most remarkable escape from serious injury last Thursday morning. In some way the heavy machinery failed to work properly and the monster scoop fell upon Ryan burying his legs and feet in the loose sand. He was badly bruised.

Crookston—Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Burkhardt have leased the W. G. Smith hotel at Maple Lake and Mrs. Burkhardt and sons Earl and Roy and daughter Vella will leave for that place about May 1, and operate the hotel for the summer season.

Brainerd—Nels Eckberg, a foreman of the Hoy Construction company, has arrived from St. Paul with a large crew of men and will commence the foundation work for the new shop buildings by driving piles for five buildings.

Little Falls—Harry Stillwell, bookkeeper at the Hennepin paper mill, has gone to the northern part of the state, where ehe will examine some pulp wood for the company. Mr. Stillwell went to Hibbing and then will go down the St. Louis river about twenty-five miles and will be absent from the city three or four days.

Perham—Bishop Morrison of Duluth held an evening service, assistel by Rev. E. U. Brun, in the Episcopal church, Thursday, April 21, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Moorhead—When the Fargo Lumber company purchased the local yard of the Wilcox Lumber company the local yard became known as the Fargo Lumber company also. But that was only temporary, and Vice President George Sweetland of the Fargo Lumber company announces that the local yard has been reincorperated and will hereafter be known as the Moorhead Lumber company.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Thomas Campbell, manager of the Grand Forks Street Railway company, has returned from Los Angeles, Cal., where he has been visiting for some time. Mrs. Campbell did not return with her husband, who says that she now seems to be in the best of health, and will return some time in the future.

Bismarck, N. D.—W. E. Coates, in the mortgage, loan and bond department of the state land department, left Tuesday for Standing Rock and Cheyenne Indian reservations, where he will look over the land with the idea of getting a good chunk of Uncle Sam's domain.

Grand Forks, N. D.—W. J. Lowe, after an absence of two years, again holds forth at the city hall as chief of police, assuming the duties of the position Wednesday morning by virtue of his appointment at the hands of Mayor Murphy. He succeeds Odin Overby.

Fargo, N. D.—The school election held Tuesday resulted as follows: For three years, N. C. Young, 121; Frances S. Bolley, 125; George A. Carpenter, 130. For two years, W. J. Lane, 123; M. E. Moen, 108. For one year, C. R. Adams, 138.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Leopold Vanbylen, chief petty officer of the United States battleship Philadelphia, had both feet cut off just below the ankles under the wheels of Train No. 2 of the Great Northern in this city. He is now a patient of the general hospital, where he will be laid up for some time to come.

Napoleon, N. D.—Ludwig Folk, who was accidentally shot with a 22-caliber rifle last week, died of tetanus as a result of the accident. The deceased came from Russia four years ago.

Fargo, N. D.—It is posible that one feature of the present police department may be dispensed with. Mayor Lovell announced Tuesday evening that he had not determined as yet, whether to continue the plainclothes men on the force or not. This will probably come up at the next meeting of the council.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Word was received Tuesday morning of the death of Mrs. T. E. Lewis, who, for many years was a resident of Aberdeen, removing from here some years ago to live with her son, W. W. Lewis, who now resides at 2712 Harriet avenue, Minneapolis. The deceased was quite aged.

Keeping the Tea-Kettle Free From Scale

Every housewife who lives where water is hard, knows how the lime and other salts form a coating on the inside of the kettle. This may be largely prevented, and the outside of the tea-kettle kept free from soot and grease, by washing thoroughly inside and outside every day or so, with hot water and Gold Dust.

The hard lime and other salts are dissolved by the Gold Dust and the inside of the kettle will be kept smooth much longer, if thus cared for. Be sure to rinse thoroughly with clear warm water, then refill with cold water for heating.

WHITE WAY IS LIGHTED

The Great White Way on East Superior street between First and Fourth avenues was lighted for the first time last night. About 1,500 powerful lamps, each in a separate globe and aranged in clusters of five on each ornamental post, were in service. The light was a pretty one and gave a clear idea of what the city's appearance would be, were all the principal streets and avenues in the downtown section furnished with similar lights. Plans are being worked out with this object in view. The property owners pay all the expenses of instalation and maintenance. All the lights burn until midnight, after which time one globe on the top of each post burns until daylight.

Saved From the Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix of Clarksville, Tenn. "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. It's the best medicine made for the throat and lungs." Obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, la grippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis and hemorrhages, hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

NO LAW AGAINST LOOTING TREASURY

Assistant Secretary Norton Startles House Committee By Statements.

Washington, April 22.—The astonishing statement was made by Charles D. Norton, assistant secretary of the treasury, before the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department last night, that there was at present no law on the statute books by which a subordinate in any of the various sub-treasuries of the United States could be punished for making away with public funds. A man might loot the treasury of as much as he liked, or could get away with, and no law exists by which he could be punished, declared Mr. Norton. If two or more employes engaged in an embezzlement, they might be punished for conspiracy, but that was all.

Bond System Out of Date.

The further information was elicited that the bonding system of treasurers and assistants and their various subordinates was obsolete and inadequate. Subordinates in the treasury department, handling millions in money daily, were required to furnish no bond, excepting in some cases where assistant treasurers furnish bond regardless of the law.

This and much other similar information was elicited from Mr. Norton during a hearing on the question of whether the committee on expenditures in the treasury department should undertake an investigation of the $600,000 shortage at St. Louis and other places and inquire into the accounting system of the United States treasury.

FACE SLAPPED ONCE EACH DAY

Martin Lavell Says Workingmen Were Afraid of His Wife.

In his answer to his wife's petition for a divorce, Martin Lavell, a wealthy farmer and lumberman of Lavell, Minn., states that from day to day she called him vile names and on one occasion threatened him with a butcher knife. The answer to the action begun by his wife was filed yesterday with the clerk of the district court.

They were married at Mora, Minn., during September of 1907. There are two children, Nellie, 2 years old, and Mildred, aged 10 months.

From May 10, 1908, to June 1 of the same year, Lavell states in his answer that his wife daily struck him in the face. He says that men who worked for him left because they feared his wife.

Lavell asks that the divorce be granted to him. He also asks the custody of the children.

CASE IS BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Schreiber's Attorneys Are Presenting Arguments for a New Trial.

William Schreiber, convicted of the murder of Frank Massapust in the local district court, is having his last chance today.

His attorneys, Ross and McKnight, are asking the supreme court for a new trial. Warren E. Green represents the state in the arguments that are taking place at St. Paul.

Schreiber has been confined in the county jail for a period of more than two years. Some time ago the motion made by the convicted man's attorneys for a new trial was overruled by Judge Dibell. Recently he was sentenced to life imprisonment at the state prison at Stillwater. Schreiber has been allowed to remain at the county jail while his attorneys present their case to the supreme court.

MUST WORK EIGHT HOURS.

All Milwaukee City Employes Must Follow Union Schedule.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—An eight-hour workday for all city employes was the subject of general order No. 1 issued from the mayor's office. It did not increase his popularity among the city hall employes, but it is not thought likely that there will be any public demonstration of disapproval.

For years busines hours at the city hall have been from 9 o'clock in the morning until noon and from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 5, six hours a day.

Hereafter all departments will open at 8 and the employes will work until noon. They will be allowed one hour for luncheon and then will work until 5 o'clock.

Of course, there will be a few exceptions, such as in the case of employes who work unusual hours on special tasks, as, for instance, milk inspectors, who start early in the morning, but the general schedule of working hours will be as stated.

Mayor Seidel is a union man, and he believes the city has eight hours a day coming from its employes. He promised a full day's work for a day's pay, and this is the starter in making good.

CHILLING HAS NO WISH TO BE A CONGRESSMAN.

Washington, April 22.—"I'd prefer to be in hell with my back broken rather than be a congressman," declared President W. F. Chilling of the Minnesota Dairymen's association before the house committee on agriculture yesterday.

The committee was hearing the experts of the butter interests opposed to the proposed oleomargarine legislation. Chilling said the farmers did not know "what all this is about," and that after listening to the statements he had heard during this hearing, he had come to believe that if congressmen never earned their salaries before, they do after they come to Washington.

George T. Flander of Albany, N. Y., president of the Association of National and State Dairy and Food Departments, and Luther Tucker, editor of the Country Gentleman of New York, also spoke against letting down the bars on oleomargarine.

STRIKE IS OVER.

Philadelphia Street Car Men Go Back to Work.

Philapelphia, April 22.—The strike of the motormen and conductors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company has become merely an unpleasant memory. With all misunderstandings regarding the terms of settlement removed, the strikers have returned to work in obedience to an order issued by the executive committee of the carmen's local union. Reports from the various barns of the company show that more than 2,000 men had reported for work.

NO NEW ENGLISH ELECTION TILL JULY.

London April 22.—The country will be given a respite from a general election for at least three months. Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons that the spring recess of parliament, which will begin on April 28, would continue until May 26, when the house of lords, reassembling, will occupy the greatest part of the week in the debate on Lord Roseberry's reform resolution. Accordingly it will be impossible for the house of commons to take up the veto resolution until June and the crucial period will not arrive until the month is well advanced.

An appeal to the country before the middle of July is out of the question.

SPECIAL PENSION FOR FEVER VICTIM.

Washington, April 22.—Ill, helplessly paralyzed and supported by the faithful wife who earns a pittance at the washtub, John R. Kissinger, the soldier who gave up his health and his future that the cause of yellow fever might be known, will receive a special pension of $125 a month, if a bill favorably reported by the senate committee on pensions becomes a law.

When the ravages of the dread plague swept the men from the ranks and trenches faster than the machine guns of the enemy at Siboney and Santiago could do, Kissinger offered himself as a volunteer subject for experiment in an army hospital. The surgeons proved by his sacrifice that the mosquito spread the plague, and their experiments upon him are believed to have been responsible for his helpless condition now.

FIELD ESTATE SAID TO BE $79,262,658.

Chicago, April 22.—The net value of the estate of the late Marshall Field of Chicago is $79,262,658, according to an estimate made public when Judge Rinaker in the county court entered a decree regarding the inheritance tax. Litigation over the tax has been appealed to the supreme court of Illinois.

Wine Growers Win Victory.

Washington, April 22.—California wine growers have won a victory before the government pure food board in the matter of the labeling of port and sherry wines. The board, which was presided over by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, voted to reverse a former ruling, and not insist upon the objectionable word "type" on the wine labels.

Missing Tug Arrives.

Galveston, Tex., April 22.—The tug Della, reported as overdue from Galveston with a tow of two barges, has arrived at Sabine Pass.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Arbor day will be generally observed by the school children of Duluth for the apple trees and shrubs which have been ordered by the school children through the Twentieth Century club of the city will arrive next week in time for planting on Arbor day.

In many of the schools there will be simple exercises in observation of the day and it will be more generally observed by the children at home by the planting of the trees and snrubs.

Apple trees and honey suckle bushes to the number of 1,416 were ordered by the Duluth school children and these will all be set out probably Friday and Saturday of next week.

CONVENTION ENDS.

Miss Evans Is Again Chosen President.

The thirty-third annual meeting of the Minnesota branch of the Women's Board of Missions of the Interior closed this morning at the Pilgrim Congregational church. The officers were chosen at this meeting and the business for the year disposed of, beside the addresses as scheduled.

Miss Margaret J. Evans of Norfield was chosen president. She has served in the office continuously since 1879. The other general officers are: First vice president, Mrs. Lowell E. Jepson, Minneapolis; recording secretary, Mrs. H. A. Schriver of Minneapolis; assisting recording secretary, Mrs. W. N. Babcock of Minneapolis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. W. Dickinson of St. Paul; assisting recording secretary, Mrs. J. H. Mills of Minneapolis; treasurer, Mrs. Edwin R. Williams of Minneapolis, and auditor, Mrs. W. R. Morse of Minneapolis.

The missionary addresses during the conference were given by Miss C. May Welpton, a returned missionary from Turkey, who spoke at last evening's session, and Miss Agnes Fenenga, who delivered an interesting account this morning of the needs of the missionary field at Mardin, Turkey, where she has served. The convention closed at 1 o'clock this afternoon with the closing words of the president, Miss Evans, who urged the members to keep in mind the greatest appeal of Christianity, in sympathy with Christ's great plan that every human being shall know His gospel. She bespoke an active work for Christianity, not a mere content with His symbols and sentiments, but a great impulse that will have a result in action.

Nearly eighty out of town delegates were in attendance at the convention this week and most of them left this afternoon for their homes.

ST. CLOUD WEDDING.

Miss Mitchell Becomes the Bride of Otto Poirier.

The following notice from the St. Cloud Journal-Press will be of interest to many Duluthians:

"A wedding of more than usual interest to St. Cloud people took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, when their daughter Leslie was married to Otto A. Poirier of Virginia, Minn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. V. Campbell and was witnessed only by the relatives and intimate friends of the bride, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Eleanor Mitchell. Herbert Poirier acted as best man. The marriage ceremony took place in the library which was very beautifully decorated with boughs of apple blossoms, ferns, and from the doorway to the stairs white ribbons were stretched by Margaret Hoyt and Lois Whitney. The bride wore a princess dress of lace maline over ivory satin, trimmed with pearl ornaments. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a pale pink satin Royale trimmed with marabout and tiny rosettes of roses and forget-me-nots. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of forget-me-nots, roses and narcissus. H. C. Ervin, Jr., presided at the piano, playing the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party and the Mendelssohn march at the close of the ceremony. A reception followed the ceremony and supper was served in the dining room in which the scheme of decorations was carried out in pink. The bride, who is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, was born in St. Cloud and has always made it her home. She is a graduate of Smith college. Mr. Poirier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of Duluth, and is practicing law in Virginia, Minn., where he and his bride will make their home after a Southern trip and visit to New Orleans, for which they left immediately after the ceremony last evening."

A GAMBLER THREATENS LIFE OF THE "EAST SIDE PORTIA."

FRIEDA THOMAS.

Miss Frieda Thomas, the East side Portia, with law offices on Stanton street, New York, is only 21 years old. At present she is afraid her twenty-second birthday will find her underground, as a youth named William Lasky, occupation gambler, has threatened her with death if she refuses to desert her client, the mother of Lasky's 14-year-old bride, who wants the marriage annulled. Miss Thomas has met with great success in her profession on the East side.

Women's Mass Meeting.

There will be no devotional meeting Sunday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association as the members will join in the mass meeting for women which is being arranged as one feature of the Laymen's Missionary convention.

SATURDAY CLUB

To Hold Its Twentieth Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Saturday club will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the clubroom of the library. The reports of the officers for the last year will be presented and the officers chosen for the next year. The Saturday club was organized in 1889 and tomorrow's will be the twentieth annual meeting to be held.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Dickerman of 1819 East Second street have returned from a several weeks' visit in the South, at Pinehurst, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hale have gone to Deerwood, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Naughtin and Miss Mary Naughton of St. Paul are expected tomorrow to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Naughton, Jr., of 827 East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Poirier, Miss Jean Poirier and Herbert and Stuart Poirier will return tomorrow from St. Cloud, where they attended the wedding of Miss Leslie Mitchell to Otto Poirier.

Mrs. Harriet L. Carey of 5131 London road will return tomorrow from California, where she spent the winter.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Magie are in St. Paul attending grand opera.

Miss Harriett Lewis is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Stewart Collins of 1106 East Third street.

Miss Jessie Todd is visiting her sister, Miss Myrna Todd, who is teaching school at Kinney, Minn.

TRY THIS DINNER

Black Bean Soup.

Soak one quart of black beans for twelve hours. Boil them in three pints of water for two and a half hours, or until they are tender; then strain them through a wire sieve. Replace on the stove and boil for ten minutes more, adding salt and pepper to the taste. Now pour into a warm tureen, and add two hard boiled eggs, cut into dice, and one lemon thinly sliced. Serve at once.

Meat—Creole Chicken Gumbo.

One small chicken, one-half pound ham, one quart fresh okra, three large tomatoes, two onions, one small red pepper, two tablespoonfuls flour, three quarts boiling water, one bay leaf and salt.

In Louisiana, especially, chicken gumbo is a much-prized dish. When making it, remember that the ham should be rather fat. The okra should be sliced thin, and if you have none that is fresh use a can; if you have no fresh tomatoes use a small can; every seed must be removed from the red pepper; the salt should be a matter of taste, although you will require about three tablespoonfuls.

After frying the ham take it out and brown the chicken slightly in the fat. When this has been done take the chicken up, and into the fat remaining in the pan put the onions, minced, the okra and flour. Cook for about twenty-five minutes, stirring frequently, taking care that the mixture does not burn. If there is not fat enough, add a tablespoonful of butter. Pour the mixture into a soup pot; then rinse the frying pan with a little water and pour the water on the vegetables. Cut the pepper into small pieces, and wash well in order to make sure that no seeds are left. Now add the ham, chicken, tomatoes, water, bay leaf and salt. Boil up once then set back where the dish will simmer slowly for two hours. Stir every little while to prevent burning. Serve with plain boiled rice.

Vegetables—Stuffed Tomatoes.

Select firm, smooth tomatoes. Cut a slice from the stem ends, and with a spoon dig out the insides, leaving just enough of the tomato in the skins to make them keep their shape firmly. Place the tomato pulp into a sieve, press out most of the juice, then turn into a mixing bowl; to it add one cupful of well-toasted bread crumbs, one-half cupful of ground nut meats, a little fresh chopped parsley, sage or thyme, and a little salt. One teaspoonful of chopped onion may be added if desired. Fill the tomatoes with the mixture, heaping it up above the opening, and bake slowly. Serve plain or with a cream or brown sauce.

Dessert—Grape Fruit Sherbet.

Scoop the pulp carefully from the fruit, and separate it with fruit, and separate it into small pieces; boil two cupfuls of sugar with one of water; to it add two teaspoonfuls of gelatine and two pints of water, and, lastly, two dozen chopped candied cherries; when cold, mix in one pint of fruit with juice. Freeze and serve in glasses decorated with whole cherries.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY

Washing Knitted Goods.

To wash knitted garments so that they will not shrink, make some warm soapsuds, using water just as hot as the hands can bear it, and pure soap only. Do not rub the soap on the garments but let the suds and the wringer do the work. Put the garments through the wringer and back into the suds two or three times, rub them very little and do not use a washing board. Rinse the garments thoroughly in clear water, then stretch them lenghtwise and dry them in the open air.

Some Inexpensive Repairs.

Dustpans and coal scuttles are cheap, but that is no reason why they should not be repaired. When they show wear paste a piece of brown paper inside and outside. When dry, blackleed and polish. This repair can be renewed repeatedly.

Banish Ants with Pepper.

When mice are very troublesome try this plan. Make a paste of cement and a good sprinkling of cayenne pepper and stop all their holes thoroughly with it. Mice have the greatest objection to the odor of cayenne pepper, so it is a good preventive.

Giving a Polish to Linen.

To give a fine polish to linen, use lukewarm water instead of cold to break down the starch. When it has been reduced to the required consistency by boiling water add a pinch of fine salt and stir several times with a wax candle. This will make the iron run smoothly and give a polish to the linen that nothing else can impart.

To Remove Tea Stains.

Tea stains may be removed from dress goods by moistening with olive oil, letting stand thirty minutes, then washing with a tepid lather. Do not wring out but let the water drip out as it hangs up. It is more difficult to remove stains from white flannel than anything else. For any kind mix glycerine with the yolk of eggs in equal quantities, apply to the stain, let it remain on an hour, then wash the garment.

Mending an Umbrella Cover.

Obtain a piece of black ribbon or tape, stick well over with gum, and place on the under side of the umbrella. Make both sides of the rent meet together and press them on the ribbon. This is much better than sewing. If carefully done no mend is visible, and it will not split again.

Cleaning Japanned Trays.

First wipe with a cloth wrung out of lukewarm water to remove all dirt. Then sprinkle dry flour over, and polish with soft dusters. This treatment will not injure them at all.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Removal of Warts.

There is continual inquiry for the remedies for warts. Several are here given, but in every case experiments should be tried on a wart that is not exposed—such as one on the arm or leg. A simple remedy is just to touch the wart with ascetic acid applied with a camelhair brush, taking care that the acid does not touch the skin elsewhere. To avoid this place a corn plaster around the wart and the skin will be protected.

Another way of getting rid of these rather tiresome blemishes is to tie a thread of medicated silk tightly round the wart and then paint it daily with nitrate of silver till it drops off. In this case it is also necessary to protect the skin around the wart.

An even simpler plan is to rub the warts with a piece of raw potato two or three times daily, cutting off a slice of potato after each application. Castor oil has also been known to be very effective if applied constantly.

Treatment for Cold, Dry Skin.

"My skin is dry and cold and I never perspire, so would be thankful for some suggestion for remedying the trouble," a correspondent writes. Warm baths are the best thing to resort to for the purpose of inducing perspiration, as they open the pores of the skin allowing the perspiration to flow, bringing with it all the impurities that have become secreted in the pores. Take at least three warm baths every week and rub yourself down with a course towel, so that the blood will freely circulate. If there is no improvement in your condition it would be advisable to undergo a course of Turkish baths.

Preparation of Beef Essence.

Beef essence for use in the sick room can be prepared from one pound of beef steak in the following way: Remove all skin and fat from the meat, and shred or scrape it with a sharp knife—never chop it. Put the meat into a jar or mold, cover it with a tight fitting lid and put it into a sauce pan, having sufficient boiling water to cover half way up the jar. Cook from seven to eight hours, then strain through a course piece of muslin. Remove any fat that remains and serve. It is usually given in teaspoonfuls at a time.

the EVENING STORY

"DEAR OLD DICK"

By John L. Swanson.

Of all the marriageable young men who were in love with Miss Daley, everybody agreed that the man who had the least chance was Dick Hurst, for, besides being a rather retiring sort of chap who didn't say much and was always ready to stay in the background, he had the further drawback of possessing two brothers who were continually to the fore, and were, to say the least of it, extremely dashing.

It was all Miss Daley's fault that neither of the brothers were engaged; that is, it was half her fault for being so pretty, and half their own because they kept hoping against hope that she would consent to marry one or the other of them. If it hadn't been for Dick's intervention there would have been the most tremendous rows, but he had a knack of settling the troubled waters and showing them both what idiots they were.

"Dear old Dick!" they used to say, "You have got common sense!"

And Dick, being two years older than Gerald, and three years older than Archie, used to smile indulgently on them like a wise parent, though he was only 26.

Since his father's death he had been the head of the family, and had managed the small estate for his widowed mother, who, being an invalid, was entirely dependent on her eldest son.

One fine summer morning the three young men were smoking their cigarettes on the lawn after breakfast. It was one of those perfect days in the country which made one glad to be alive, yet, in spite of it all, the hearts of the three young men were set on going to the city. There was to be a large dinner party, followed by a ball, at the house of a rich relative, and among other attractions, the pretty Miss Daley was to be there too.

"Confound Uncle Thomas!" Archie was saying. "Why does he want to come on this day of all others? I suppose some of us must be here to receive him or he'll fly into a tantrum, and the poor Mater will be upset."

"We'll wire him not to come," Gerald said, "only it would give him mortal offense, and then, as like as not, he'd cut us out of his will."

"That's the worst of being beholden to a rich old uncle," Archie grumbled. "If only I could marry a rich girl, I'd snap my fingers at him."

"Yes, I hear that Miss Daley has twenty thousand a year," Gerald said, sneeringly.

"I don't care if she hasn't a cent!" Archie retorted.

"Now then, you two!" Dick said "there's no need to lose your tempers!"

"Well, I shall wire to Uncle Thomas, anyhow!" Archie said.

"No, Archie, that's impossible," Dick replied. "It is important business he wants to see us about, and I expect it concerns you more than it does me."

This, as they knew, was highly probable, because they were practically their uncle's heirs, while Dick had inherited their father's property. It was a big blow to their anticipations about the ball and the chance of dancing with the pretty Miss Daley.

"Why can't mother explain to uncle?" Gerald asked. "She can tell him we had a most important engagement."

"No," Dick said firmly. "She's not strong enough to talk business to uncle alone, in her weak state of health."

"Oh, well, I suppose one of us will have to stay, then!" Archie said sourly.

"There is no need to make a fuss about it," Dick said quietly. "I am going to stay."

Muttering that it was awful rough on him, and that he was a perfect brick to stay, the young men strolled off to the stables, rather ashamed of themselves.

That afternoon at 4 o'clock, as Gerald and Archie were driving to the station, an automobile, coming the opposite way, flashed past. There were two occupants beside the chauffeur.

"Looked awfully like Uncle Thomas!" Archie said. "Wonder who he's got with him. Just missed him. What a joke!"

A few minutes after 4 the car turned in at the gates of Hurst Park, and Dick, who happened to be at the front door, helped his uncle and his companion to alight.

When he saw who the latter was, he was utterly astonished.

It was none other than the pretty Miss Daley.

He had met her several times before, and each time he found himself admiring her more than the last, though he never allowed his brothers to suspect the real state of his feelings.

"I thought you wouldn't object to my bringing Laura along with me," old Mr. Beston said to his sister, Mrs. Hurst. "You see, I called on her people unexpectedly, and she was mad to ride in my new car."

Laura Daley laughed.

"Mr. Beston and I are such very old friends," she said to Mrs. Hurst.

"Being her godfather, I really can't help it," the old gentleman said testily, trying hard to smile, as he looked at Laura.

"Now, Dick," his uncle said, "you just take Miss Daley round the grounds while I talk business to your mother."

"I think you'd better talk it over with me instead," Dick said. "Mother's not very well today."

"Tut, tut!" the old gentleman said, "I won't bother her. She's only got to listen and agree."

Mrs. Hurst smiled. She knew quite well that whatever her brother decided on he would do in spite of everything.

"I shall be all right, Dick," she said. "I know your uncle too well to argue with him."

When the two young people had gone out and were passing the window, old Mr. Beston said suddenly:

"That's what I've come about, Laura. I want Laura to marry one of the boys, and I knew one of 'em would be sure to stop at home to meet me, for I heard all about the dance, bless you; and I hoped it would be Dick!"

Outside in the garden, Dick began to find his tongue.

"How very odd we should never have known that our uncle was your godfather!" he said.

"Oh, that's just one of his whims! Laura said, laughing. "For some reason or other, he wouldn't let me tell you."

She suddenly realized that of all the young men she knew, the one she was with seemed more manly than any of the others.

"I've heard a great deal about you from my brothers," Dick said. "I seem to know you quite well."

She laughed, almost nervously, he thought, and blushed.

"One sees very little of you," she replied. "You seem to despise society."

"Oh, not despise it!" Dick said. "I'm not fitted to shine in it. That's all."

There was a deep ring in his voice that captivated Laura. And so, chatting gaily, they wondered on amidst the sweet-scented garden, Dick becoming every moment more infatuated with this charming girl.

"Weren't you to have been at this dance this evening at the Moston's?" he asked. "My brothers have gone."

"I was to have gone, but Mr. Beston said I wasn't to, and I've been dancing so much lately that I was rather glad of the excuse to stay away. And, as things have turned out, I'm glad I didn't.

It was Dick's turn to redden. Did she really mean it? It seemed too good to be true. He felt the blood rushing in his veins.

"And then he did the only really impulsive and disgraceful action of his whole quiet and self-restrained life. He suddenly caught Laura's hand, and kissed it. "Oh' forgive me!" he said, "but I—I can't help it. I love you! I think I must have loved you the very first moment I saw you, and wouldn't let myself realize it!"

Then, as Laura only blushed and looked away, he flung all self-restraint to the winds, and took her in his arms and kissed her.

Two days afterwards, when his brothers returned, they were so stunned by the news of Dick's engagement that they could only keep asking each other if anyone would have believed it of "dear old Dick?"

LOSING INTEREST IN SOCIAL WHIRL

DUTCHESS OF ROXBURGHE.

The Duchess of Roxburghe, formerly Miss May Goelet of New York, seems to have lost all interest in society of late. The duke would like to see her a great social power, but she makes no effort to fulfill his ambitions in that direction. King Edward and Queen Alexandra esteem her highly as has been abundantly shown only recently, when she was the only American invited to meet them at a dinner given by Lord Farquhar in celebration of the forty-seventh anniversary of their majesty's wedding. The duchess has just returned from Cannes, where she found her sister-in-law, Lady Innes-Ker, the leading belle of the season.

STRENUOUS PLAY FOR WOMEN

Huntington Golf Championship Contests Will Consist of 72 Holes.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—It is a pretty stiff proposition of seventy-two holes medal play which the executive committee of the Women's Eastern Golf association has planned for the championship at the Huntington Valley Country club, Noble, Pa., June 8 to 11. In previous years thirty-six holes have been considered a sufficient test, although on two occasions the play has been so close that 18 additional holes were necessary to decide a tie.

This year the committee believes that by playing eighteen holes each day for four days, there will be no tie and that the champion will truly earn the title. The announcement of the meeting was made here today by Miss Harriet S. Curtis, secretary pro tem of the association.

SAYS LAW IS VIOLATED

Mayor States Orders Regarding Auto Speeding Were Not Enforced.

Exceed Speed Limit Under Very Noses of the Police.

Mayor M. B. Cullum this morning criticised the police department for laxity in enforcing the orders which have been issued to them to compel automobiles to observe the speed regulations. He stated that he would probably take the matter up with Chief Troyer this afternoon.

"The law has been flagrantly violated under the noses of the police department," said Mayor Cullum.

"Day in and day out some of them scorch past the very doors of the police department headquarters at Second avenue east and Superior street, next to the city hall. The police have been slow in enforcing the law. I gave them strict orders some time ago to stop speeding of automobiles, particularly in the downtown section, and they have not done so.

"Why, all I have to do to see violations of the law in this respect is to swing around the chair in front of my desk and glance down to Superior street. I do not have to wait long to see a machine that is going faster than the law allows. The way they have been running past here there is great danger of accidents.

"It seems that the only way to stop autoists from breaking the speed laws is to arrest a few of them. That seems to teach them a lesson which is good for the rest of the season, but it has to be repeated annually or many of them forget that there is such a thing as speed regulations. Although many drivers have been traveling too fast no one, as far as I am aware, has been arrested thus far this season."

CROOKSTON ELKS' HOME.

Lodge Decides to Spend $40,000 on Fine Building.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crookston Lodge of Elks No. 342 last evening unanimously decided to erect an Elks home this year. Exalted Ruler W. T. Carlisle will announce the committees on general supervision and solicitation within a few days. The Elks several years ago purchased lots with seventy-five foot frontage on Main street in the heart of the city for $10,000 and have a good nucleus for a building fund and the balance necessarily will be readily raised. The building will cost about $40,000.

CHAUFFEUR KEENLY FEELS DEATH OF MRS. MONROE

Herbert Helmer, the chauffeur of I. Freimuth's automobile, which struck and fatally injured Mrs. Hannah Monroe of 217 East Second street yesterday afternoon, was so badly broken up over the sad affair that he stated he was unable to make any long statement when seen at his home, 622 East Second street, this morning.

"I did all that I could," was one of the few statements which he made. "It's bad enough without saying anything more about it."

Helmer states that just before he reached the corner he looked at the speedometer, which showed that the automobile was traveling at the rate of eleven miles an hour. The pedestrians who claim to have noticed the car at that time said that it was going twenty-five or thirty miles an hour.

Helmer also added that he has both a state and city license to operate an automobile. He denies that he was hired by Mr. Black. He asserted that it was a misstatement that Mr. Black did not know him, explaining that Mr. Black was instrumental in helping him secure his position with Mr. Freimuth. He saw him in front of the Baltimore lunchroom, and as Mr. Black was in a hurry to make the train, told him that he would haul him as a favor to him. He declared that he has not been in the habit of renting the car in the afternoons or at other times when it has not been used by Mr. Freimuth. He said this morning that he had taken the car to the garage to be repaired.

The young man realizes the seriousness of the affair and shows the signs of much worry.

An inquest will be held at Crawford's undertaking rooms this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

TAG DAY DATE IS CHANGED

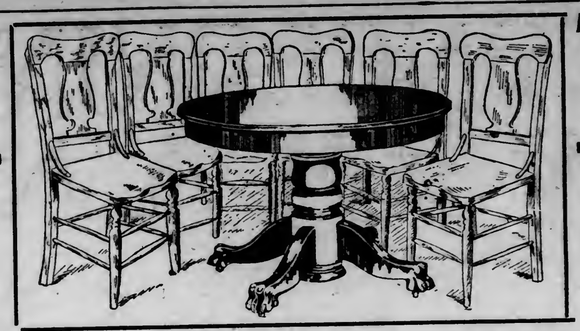
Public Benefit for St. Mary's Hospital Will Be Held April 30.

The date of the tag day to be held for the benefit of St. Mary's hospital has been changed from Tuesday, May 3, to Saturday, April 30.

So many people, who will be glad to work for the success of the tag day, will find it more convenient to give their services on Saturday than they would on any other day of the week, the sisters decided to change the date of the big benefit.

It is expected that the change in the date will result in the tag day being more successful than it would be on the day originally set. People who could not get out on other days of the week will gladly enlist in the work, the forces will be larger and a more systematic canvass of the city will be possible.

Conspicuous red tags are being prepared and people once tagged will not be subject to a second approach. The tags will be a badge showing participation in a benefit for a worthy cause and it is expected that everybody will wear one April 30.



FORGED COTTON BILLS ARE FOUND

London, April 22.—A severe shock has been experienced in the Liverpool cotton market, according to today's Shipping Gazette, in the discovery of forged bills of lading for cotton purportin gto have been shipped from the United States. The quantity involved is said to be between 15,000 and 20,000 bales.

According to the Gazette it is at present difficult to ascertain which bills of lading are bona fide and which are fraudulent, and this point will be determined only upon the arrival of the vessels and the discharge of their cargoes. The paper adds that some eighteen local cotton firms may be involved.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

JEFFRIES IS CONFIDENT

Says He Will Be Faster Than in Any Other Fight.

Joe Choynski at Camp and Ready to Put on Gloves.

Ben Lomond, Cal., April 22.—Jim Jeffries has come out with a prediction regarding his forthcoming battle with Jack Johnson.

"I am going to be faster in this fight," he declared, "than in any fight I have had in the ring."

He seems as confident of his ability to whip Johnson that his trainers are trying to disabuse him of any low estimate he may entertain of the black man's pugilistic prowess.

Farmer Burns is more than pleased with the way the big fellow has come along in his training. Burns foretells that Jeffries will be "dried out" in about two weeks. The program then will be, he says, to have Jeffries spar a good deal and work up speed and cleverness. Then, it is figured, Jeffries will be in tiptop condition and all that will be necessary will be to keep him in trim until the day of the fight.

Joe Choynski arrived at the Jeffries' training camp yesterday in the wake of Manager Sam Berger, who happens to be Joe's brother-in-law. Choynski announced that he was ready to don the gloves at any time and stand up before Jeffries. Whether he will be be more willing than Bob Armstrong to take a little punishment remains to be seen. Jeffries needs some one he can hit hard and rough it with.

There was no boxing of any sort yesterday, however. After his rather lax days, Jeffries went back to his old routine. The early morning found him jogging along the road in the usual company, and in the afternoon the same line of indoor exercise followed a row on the river.

Billy Papke, who is training here, opposed Jeffries in the handball court, but Papke was defeated easily, even with one of Jeffries' nephews as partner.

Jeffries' handball has improved noticeably and at present he could make it interetsing for any handball expert. His bag-punching also has picked up remarkably. Although he devoted only ten minutes to the swinging ball yesterday, he had it beating a quick tattoo against the platform and seldom missed as he did during the first few days of practice. The ex-champion had to take to the cold bath and rubbing slab three times during the day.

DULUTH WINS FROM MARION

Ohio State League Team Defeated By Close Score of 3 to 2.

Marion, Ohio, April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth defeated Marion by the score of 3 to 2 yesterday. The passes of the local pitchers, fifteen in all, resulted in the victory for the visitors. Duluth only garnered four hits off the local's delivery.

The weather hoodoo is still following the Duluth team, as the weather here yesterday was anything but the baseball kind. The field was muddy and slow and made fast playing difficult.

Duluth left today for Fort Wayne, Ind., where A. W. Kuehnow will join the team. O'Brien stated that he would put in his strongest lineup against the Fort Wayne team. It is expected that some of the present players of the Duluth team will be let go at Fort Wayne.

The score of yesterday's game:

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Marion .....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0—2	11	1
Duluth .....0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 1—3	4	1

Batteries—Goullatt, Elliott, Thomas and Reilley; Rich, Howard and Businsky.

OUT OF RACING CIRCUIT.

Three North Dakota Towns Leave Central Racing Circuit.

Cooperstown, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Central Racing Circuit in North Dakota will operate under different conditions this year than previously, several of the cities that have heretofore been connected with it being out of the game this season. Carrington, New Rockford and Harvey, which have been on the circuit for several seasons, dropped out this year because local conditions were not satisfactory.

The racing season in this circuit opens on June 21 to 23, in Cooperstown, with a total of $2,550 in purses. The next meet is at Jamestown on June 30, July 1 and 2, where $2,700 is hung up. This meet will be followed by one at Valley City on July 4, 5 and 6, with $2,700 offered in prizes. Grand Forks then comes in on July 19 to 22 with $4,500 in purses, the season closing in Fargo on July 26 to 30 with $9,500 for the winners.

AS SEEN FROM THE SIDE LINES

(BY BRUCE.)

Let Us Have Peace.

Fighting is good for one at times—it stirs the system and is good for the blood. The Minnesota-Wisconsin league has had a little fling of the tempestuous thing the present week. The Minny promises to be too good an organization to become embittered in a quarrel over a mere player.

The league is young and many unpleasant things can happen in infancy. Under the able guidance of John A. Elliott the league has made progress. Under the second year of his rule the league promises to make even greater progress. Fans in this section of the country have long waited for first class baseball. At times last season we had some very good baseball and the fans were encouraged.

Now we have come to the time when we are promised better baseball than we have had here for a long number of years. The newspapers around the circuit can do much for baseball—therefore the desire for peace at the present time, when the league seems to be entering upon such a promise of success.

The attack upon Mr. Elliott has been ill advised. Joe Killian deserved all he got and all he gets. He has made trouble before, as Duluth has good cause to know. If the recent attack had been confined to Killian, there would not have been a protest from practically every town in the league, but Superior.

There is a great outlook for the league; peace would seem the best policy.

Some Used to Walking.

A dispatch states that Jim Jeffries has made a donation to the actors' fair fund. It is in the shape of an admission to the fight and a round trip ticket. It might be suggested that some actors are so used to walking that the round trip ticket is almost a superfluous offer.

Looking Mighty Prosperous.

With the reporting of players progressed as far as it has, there is some means of getting a line on the teams of the league. It may not be putting it too strongly to say that all of the teams that were in the league last season should be fully as strong the present season.

Little can be judged of the two new towns, from the simple fact that the ability of many of the players is unknown here. Indications point to strong teams at both Red Wing and Rochester.

Superior will have a decidedly stronger team than the aggregation that misrepresented that city last season. So far on the road the O'Dea aggregation has shown class. The Duke has some fast players and he is the kind of a fellow who can get the work out of a man who has even the near-instincts of a baseball player.

It would have been very hard for Lew Drill to get any effective execution out of some of the men who were on the Superior payroll last season, on the Superior team after the players. The Duke has gone after the players, and from the playing of the team it would seem that he has secured them.

Wausau gives promise of being stronger. Superior and Wausau were the weak little sisters of the baseball hold during the exciting session of 1909. If both of these teams are strengthened and the other four teams—the ones that had good teams last season—strengthened, the fans can be sure of a somewhat sultry race the present year of grace.

It would seem that the league is on a new footing. Thorough organization has become the byword of the men behind the different clubs. The days of the rather haphazard old Northern league have passed from baseball in this section of the country.

Business is the present rule in baseball. The Minnesota-Wisconsin league directors showed they were on the right track last year, which was the infancy of the league. With a year of experience behind them, it would seem as if the league is going to enjoy a season of great prosperity.

A Scale of Prices.

Have you ever stopped to think that prize fighting in many instances has come to a man demanding his price for being licked?

Now there is Tommy Burns. He is probably the best demander in the business. He demanded and received $30,000 for being man-handled by Mistah Jack Johnson. Now he has demanded $25,000 for being treated to a course of ring massage by another black, Sam Langford.

Looking at the matter in its cool business light, there are few men in the mad path of business who would not go out and take a good licking for less than $30,000. A lot of people have expressed the opinion to the writer, stating they would take a licking for considerably less than Tommy Burns took the fisting from Johnson.

There are not very many business men, who are fortunate enough to make $30,000 per year. Burns made that amount in less than a month, counting his trining and the some forty odd minutes of the fight. It was a very good business proposition for him.

There are not very many men who could have stood the pounding that Burns assimilated. Still he was out after the fight. He has been able to grow fat and prosperous on the money he received for being beaten.

He will fight Sam Langford, should he be given enough for losing.

In his second fight with Jeffries, it was a case with Jim Corbett of getting so much for fighting. He needed the advertisement in the show business, and he really knew he had little chance to win the fight.

Young Corbett's last fights were examples of this business among fighters. The little fellow was all through with the fight game, and when he entered the ring he knew he was going to be beaten. He invariably tried to get the largest purse for the loser's end.

Tommy Burns is one of the best business heads among the fighters. He is laughed at by some fighters; yet, just the same, Tommy has the money—you see, his scale for being beaten was very high.

Making Mique Miserable.

Mister Mique Malloy, that debonair member of last year's La Crosse team, has suddenly been given the responsibility of managing a baseball team. In his usual airy way Mique has rushed in where more languid leaders would hesitate. He has been mixed up with the Outlaws, and until Mique can justify his course, he may be somewhat scalded in the misery kettle.

Mique has not been a manager very long. He so thoroughly enjoys the job that it is to be hoped that he will be dealt leniently with. Mique has been so proud that it would be real mean to take him down the penalty path hard.

Please, Mr. Farrell, have a little pity.

FLAG IS RAISED AND PIRATES WIN.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 22.—The world's champions won the opening game of the home season from St. Louis yesterday, 9 to 4, but not until the visitors had worried local enthusiasts by a succession of torpe hits and three runs off Adams in the third inning, holding the lead until the sixth. A local rally, including a two-bagger by Gibson and five singles, then gave the locals a lead and the game was clinched by Phillippe's two-bagger in the seventh. The latter had succeeded Adams on the mound in the seventh, and thereafter held the visitors to no hits.

Wilson is making a sensational one-hand catch in right field, went over on his back and was so severely injured internally that he was taken to a hospital.

The day was cold and the field was wet, following a three-days' rain, but several thousand enthusiasts were out to see the pennant raising opener. The flag when it was first hoisted up the staff was found to be upside down. Mayor William A. McGee pitched the first ball. Score: R. H. E.

MARQUARD PITCHES WELL FOR GIANTS.

New York, April 22.—The New Yorks defeated Boston yesterday 3 to 2 in a game featured by Marquard's pitching and Doyle's hitting. The New York twirler twisted his ankle in sliding in to second base in the sixth inning and had to leave the field.

MOREN IS WHOLE SHOW TO BROOKLYN'S SORROW.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 22.—Moren shut out the Brooklyns with only two hits yesterday and scored the only run of the game for Philadelphia with a three-bagger. A slow throw to the plate by Daubert, assisted Moren, otherwise the battle would have gone to extra innings. Philadelphia played errorless ball for the second day in succession here. Score: R. H. E.

HIGHLANDERS WIN FROM ATHLETICS.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22.—In a pitchers' battle between Ford and Morgan here yesterday, New York defeated Philadelphia by 1 to 0. Ford secured nine strikeouts, including Davis four times, and he did not give a base on balls. New York's run was scored in the first inning on Wolter's double and steal of third base and Chase's bunt.

EIGHTH INNING RALLY GIVES GAME TO BROWNS.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—An eighth-inning rally, which netted four runs, gave the locals a victory over Chicago yesterday afternoon in the opening game of the home season. Manager O'Connor, who made his first appearance at home as manager of the St. Louis team, was presented with a loving cup and enormous quantities of flowers. Mayor Kreismann pitched the first ball. NAPS DROP FIRST GAME IN NEW PARK.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 22.—Cleveland's new baseball park was dedicated yesterday in the presence of an enormous crowd. Prior to the start of the game, the Cleveland and Detroit players, the owners of the Cleveland club, August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, and Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league, paraded to center field, where the club flag was raised. Johnson then pitched the first ball, it being muffed by Herrmann. Presidents of the Detroit, Philadelphia and Washington clubs were present.

The dedication was not auspicious for Cleveland from a baseball standpoint, as Detroit won, 5 to 0. Cleveland could do but little with Willett, while Detroit bunched hits off Young in the third and seventh innings. Score:

BREWERS' ERRORS GIVE GAME TO BLUES.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—Costly errors behind Cutting gave the Kansas City club a victory over Milwaukee in the opening game of the season here yesterday afternoon 3 to 1. It was a pitchers' battle all the way between Cutting and Swann, the Milwaukee pitcher having a shade the better of the deal. The visitors scored one on Cook's error in the second and two when Dougherty dropped an easy fly in the eighth. McGann was injured in a collision at first with Shannon and was forced to leave the game.

MILLERS BLANKED BY CHECH'S PITCHING.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—St. Paul shut out Minneapolis in the first game of the Twin City series by a score of 5 to 0. The visitors could do nothing with Chech, who held them to four scattered hits. St. Paul bunched their hits off Flene with bases on balls and errors. Murray made his third home run of the season. Score: R. H. E.

COLUMBUS WINS IN PITCHERS' BATTLE.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22.—In a close struggle between Sitton and Owens, Columbus got a ninth-inning victory off Toledo, 2 to 1, yesterday afternoon. Toledo's run was due to loose work on a double steal, Callahan scoring. Rossman's single, a sacrifice and O'Rourke's double made the first one for Columbus. Downs singled in the ninth, ran to third on Rossman's sacrifice and kept on to the plate when Freeman's throw got by McCarthy. Harry Hinchman's fielding featured.

LOUISVILLE BEATEN IN OPENING AT HOME.

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—The season of 1910 was opened here yesterday with Louisville at the loser's end of the game with Indianapolis. While the sky was clear, the atmosphere was a little chilly for ideal baseball weather. An immense crowd attended. Halla lost his own game in the seventh inning by making a wild throw to third, which allowed the visitors to put two runs over the plate to tie the score. Up to this time Louisville had the game well in hand. Indianapolis won out in the ninth inning on Carr's double, Spencer's sacrifice and Murch's single. Score: R. H. E.

ASSOCIATION TEAM WINS

High School Boys Put Up a Good Fight at Indoor Track Meet.

Y. M. C. A. Men Outclass Them in the Dashes and Win.

Last night at the association gymnasium the indoor track team of the Y. M. C. A. defeated the track team of the Central high school, the association men scoring 47½ points to 29½ by the high school boys.

The high school men claim that their team was weakened by the absence of Asher Taylor, Helmer and Capt. Merritt. Considering their age, the high school boys did extremely well, and give promise of having a very strong team.

The feature of the contest was the running of Peters and the work of Starkey and Hutchinson. Peters was the most consistent point-winner for the association, and both Starkey and Hutchinson did good work for the school.

"Cy" Forgette and Tate, a former University of Minnesota man, divided the honors in the high jump. Mat Brown of the Central made a splendid race in the half mile as well as the mile, proving himself an athlete who has a future ahead of him.

The summary:

25-yard dash—First heat, Peters, Y. M. C. A., first; Bondy, D. C. H. S., second; time, 4 seconds. Second heat, Starkey, D. C. H. S., first; Bailey, Y. M. C. A., second; time 3 seconds. Final heat, Starkey, D. C. H. S., first; Peters, Y. M. C. A., second; Bondy, D. C. H. S., third; time, 3 1-5 seconds.

100-yard dash—Peters, Y. M. C. A., first; Capron and Dunning, Y. M. C. A., tied for second; time, 12 seconds.

Half mile run—Brown, D. C. H. S., first; Mapp, Y. M. C. A., second; Moore, Y. M. C. A., third; time, 2:16 4-5.

One mile run—Brown, D. C. H. S., first; Mapp, Y. M. C. A., second; Stevens, D. C. H. S., third; time, 5:04.

High jump—Forgette and Tate, Y. M. C. A., tied for first; Lundberg, D. C. H. S., third; height, 5 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—Hutchinson, D. C. H. S., first; Bethune, Y. M. C. A., second; Roberts, D. C. H. S., and Wheeler, Y. M. C. A., tied for third; height, 8 feet.

Shot-put—Ver Welde, Y. M. C. A., first; Starkey, D. C. H. S., second; Leggett, Y. M. C. A., third; 38 feet 3 inches.

Relay race—Won by Y. M. C. A., Peters, Dunning, Bailey and Capron.

KAUFMAN HAS O'BRIEN GROGGY

Western Fighter Wins Popular Decision in Six Round Bout.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 22.—Al Kaufman of San Francisco and Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia, heavyweights, fought a six-round bout at DuQuesne gardens last night, with the popular decision apparently in the Westerner's favor.

The first round was tame but in the midst of it O'Brien announced that it was no frame-up and in the second he proceeded to land several lefts to the jaw and mouth. It was O'Brien's round. The third round was even, but in the fourth Kaufman landed hard rights to stomach, forcing O'Brien into clinches and holds.

O'Brien seemed wearied in the sixth and once tripped and fell getting away from a hard left. When he regained his feet he received a hard right on the jaw. Kaufman landed hard right to the stomach forcing his opponent to clinch again in the last round and O'Brien was groggy and wobbly at the finish.

Zbyszko Beats Rogers.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 22.—Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, last night defeated "Yankee" Rogers, champion middleweight wrestler of the New England states, in straight falls, the first in 35 minutes and the second in 17 minutes.

JOHNSON OFF FOR COAST

Negro Assures Friends He Will "Bring Back the Bacon."

Many Friends at Station at Chicago to See Pugilist Depart.

Chicago, April 22.—"Good bye."

"Bring back the bacon, Jack."

"You bet I will."

Standing beneath the circle of light on the observation platform of the Northwestern road's overland limited here last night, Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, waved farewell to a crowd of 500 shouting admirers as he departed for California to begin training for his fight with James J. Jeffries, July 4.

Johnson diveded attention with his wife, who was at his side, and whose hair, hands and clothing were fairly a-glitter with diamonds. Her blonde head contrasted oddly with the face of the big fighter as he smiled broadly in response to cheers. Banked behind Johnson and his wife were George Little and wife, Sig Hart and wife, George Cotton, Martin Cutler, Tom Little and Barney Furey, all of whom are making the trip with Johnson and who will be at his training quarters at Ocean Beach.

After spending $721 for tickets, compartments and berths for the ten members of his party, Johnson snapped a rubber band around a roll of bills containing more than $1,000, and carelessly jammed the large roll into a trouser's pocket.

Tells Mother to Cheer Up.

In addition to a throng of fifty friends, Johnson was accompanied from his home to the Wells street station by his mother, who kissed him at parting and patted his shoulder. The mother was crying as she turned from her son.

"Now, don't you cry, mother," exclaimed Johnson, "you are the only person alive that ever licked me, and I am not going to begin this late and let anybody else do it. I'll be back the sure winner of this fight."

On the way to San Francisco, the Johnson party will stop at Omaha, Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. Some of Johnson's friends demurred when they discovered that the fighter and his wife had been assigned a compartment aboard the sleeping car Canyon.

"They're putting you in a hole to start with," said one.

"Don't you mind that," replied the fighter. "I can get out of any hole that I'm put into and besides, I'm not afraid of hoodoos. I wouldn't sleep any better in this car if it was named Victory."

Johnson's automobile was expressed yesterday and will be waiting for him when he reaches San Francisco. He expects to use the machine as a pacemaker for road work during his course of training.

"IKE" ZIEGLER MAKES FINE TROUT CATCH.

The finest catch of the early fishing season has been brought in by "Ike" Ziegler of the sporting goods department of the Kelley Hardware company. He got in from Silver creek last evening with a batch of twenty-four fine trout.

Mr. Ziegler says the fishing is great and promises to be better in the near future. The fish are biting fine, according to his statement. A friend with "Ike" gave him a hard run for first honors.

RAMBLERS HAVE ORGANIZED FOR BASEBALL SEASON.

The former members of the Longfellow juniors have organized for the present season. The team will be called the Ramblers. A challenge has been issued to any team of the average age of 16 years. Games can be arranged by calling up new 'phone 3207-D.

MINNY LEAGUE NOTES

Red Wing will inaugurate a tag day to help the treasury of the team. The tag day exercises may be extended throughout the opening week, and during that time the general admission to the ball park will be placed at 50 cents, so that the team may have the necessary money to secure several improvements needed at the opening of the season.

Joe Fautch, an outfielder and pitcher, will report to the team Monday. Fautch is a big fellow, and comes to the Red Wing management well recommended.

Mique Malloy has returned to Red Wing. He has informed the fans that it is very likely that he will not be fined by the national commission. Malloy admits that he made a mistake in playing the outlaw Logan Squares, but says that ignorance, and not wilful intent, led him into the mistake.

Malloy has already started to kid the newspapers. He has written that the victory of the Red Wing team over the Logan Squares was such a surprise to throbbing Chicago, that in the future Red Wing will be made much of in the sporting columns of all the Chicago papers.

Malloy is good with that stuff.

Wednesday the Superior team was badly beaten by Burlington, the score being 10 to 2 in favor of the Iowa team. Baertschi and Irwin proved easy for the hitters of Ned Egan's team. Bateman, Gler and Green, all former big league players, are with the Burlington team, and found the slants of the two Superior heavers particularly to their liking.

Like the White Sox, Superior has run into a lot of bad weather. The team will be at Keokuk for a few days, where the Duke hopes to find the same brand of weather that Darby O'Brien has been looking vainly for. Despite the bombardment the Superior pitchers received the team played a good game, some of the fielding stunts being on the circus order. Bancroft, McGraw and Gray have been playing good baseball. It looks as if McGraw will be a fixture on the team.

Louis Stradler, a new pitching recruit, has reported at Winona, and will be tried out with the rest of the bunch. Yesterday afternoon seventeen players reported to Killian, and were out at the park for the first real tryout of the season. Byers has reported, and Baillies is expected today. The first regular game of the season will come on Sunday, when Winona meets the Dubuque Olympics.

Nothing has been said about "Red" Moore. It is not believed the professor of an unpublished language will be with the Killian clan the present season. Joe had some trouble with the red-topped player, and it looks as if Moore would play in Winona no more.

Today there comes a hot roast from Winona on "the cub reporter who writes baseball for Superior." This is, indeed, the last straw that will break the provincial pride. The Superior writer of wrath is panned to a luscious brown and told that he is a trouble maker with a small and perverted disposition. After all this, mayhap there will be the lull after the storm.

John A. Elliott, president of the league, has at last spoken. He has given out a few brief words on the case of Auntie Koepping, the misused soubrette. John A has come to the rather murky surface with the statement that there was at no time anything he could have done in the case. He also states that Uncle Joe Killian would have had a perfect right to tell him to do something rash, had he attempted to tell Mons. Killian what course he should pursue.

There have been seven towns in the league that believed Elliott could take no action in the matter; perhaps his statement will convince the eighth of the real facts in the case.

Superior has come into the fold and claimed the pennant. After the somewhat disastrous ending of the Burlington game, the declaration was untimely and penned at a very undramatic moment.

COHASSET IS NOW VERY BUSY PLACE

Various Mills and Other Industries Are in Full Operation.

Cohasset Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Commercial club held this week it was decided to advertise Cohasset by showing the world what its people can do in the way of entertaining, and plans were laid for the first annual ball of the Commercial club. The ball will be an elaborate affair and will be held on Tuesday evening, May 3. A general invitation is extended and particularly to the people of Grand Rapids and other towns in this vicinity.

At the state meeting a letter signed by all of the boat owners of the upper river was drafted and directed to Maj. Shunk of the war department, asking that the channel into Jay Gould lake, and the thoroughfare between the Pokegama lake and the Mississippi river be cleared of floating logs, logs and certain rocks, to make them navigable for large as well as small boats, and suggesting improvements of the Mississippi through Blackwater, either by buoys or digging a shorter channel than the natural channel of the river.

The Commercial club's project to secure night depot service and other favors from the railroad company was also furthered by appointing a committee to go to Superior to interview the officials of the Great Northern railroad.

Among the new buildings started and and in prospect here are the following: O. H. Patten, new photo studio; J. H. Grady & Co., are doubling the capacity of their store building. The new addition will be used for the present as a warehouse. Owen Skelly has commenced work on his new residence. W. W. Fletcher is soon to commence the erection of a millinery store building, 22 by 56, for Mrs. Fletcher's store. The new bank building is nearing completion.

Tie Shipping Commences.

Tie shipping commenced this week. The Erskine-Stackhouse company is loading, having already received several rafts of ties. The tie crop this spring, beside being large is of an unusually good quality, all the stock being large and of a fine grade. Erskine-Stackhouse company will ship from fifteen to twenty cars a day, and other concerns will also load a considerable quantity. It is estimated that some 500 or 600 cars of ties alone will be shipped this season. The logs and other material are already beginning to come down, and the sawmills are opening up. The John Mains sawmill commenced sawing this week, and the Minnesota Hardwood company mill is also sawing. The Mains mill has been equipped with planer and other machinery so that any kind of lumber products can be gotten out. The Dunn & Marcia mill is also in operation.

The steel for the new Jay Gould thoroughfare bridge has arrived and work on the new bridge was commenced. Capt. Ward is hauling the steel to the site of the new structure with his teamer, the Undine. Capt. Ward is also making regular trips up river with his boat. The Wyoming, the Erskine-Stackhouse steamer was put into commission during the past week.

COURT DISMISSES THE MURDER CASE

Absence of Witnesses Prevents Trial of Two Deer River Men.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because some of the state's material witnesses had left the country and he believed he could not secure a conviction County Attorney Dwire in the district court here moved the dismissal of the case against Emil Danielson and William Brown, indicted for causing the death of a Deer River man named Johnson in a Deer River saloon on Christmas eve, 1905. The court granted the motion.

The jury that heard the evidence against Norman Carr, alleged to have had carnal knowledge of a girl under 15 acquitted the accused, as the evidence went to show there was conspiracy to make Carr the guilty party when a pair of Northome men were implicated.

At the trial of the case the girl stated that her story told at the preliminary hearing was trumped up with a man named Walker and another man named Victor Fish of Northome, to instruct the guilt on Carr and make him suffer for the crime which had been committed and make him pay her damages.

After having been out but a short time the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Barney Dewan, policeman at Northome, who was indicted on the same charge, was released, the indictment against him being nolled on motion of the county attorney, as the evidence was practically the same as in the Carr case.

In the case of the state vs. Joe Boucher, in which Boucher was charged with robbing Carlos Buschini of $40, a verdict of not guilty was returned.

30 Years of Success

E. M. Tredway Offers a Remedy for Catarrh. The Medicine Costs Nothing If It Fails.

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membraneous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membranous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucous cells, aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Duluth only at our store.—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

EVELETH PLANS GOOD BALL TEAM

Will Be Non-Salaried, But Made Up of Strong Players.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are being formulated by the baseball loving fans for a strong, clever city team, composed largely of home talent. The Lyceum Stars, who signed last season, will open the local baseball season soon. It is expected with the addition of Jack Burns, a strong old Hibbing star, now engaged as superintendent of the Adams mine stripping operations; G. E. McClaughlin, an 1908 city team infielder, now in charge of diamond drill operations in this vicinity; Edward Boyle, 1909 city team infielder, employed in a local law office; Capt. Patrick Boyle of the 1909 city team and infielder, that the Lyceum Stars will be able to represent Eveleth in a capable manner.

The city team this year will be composed largely of non-salaried players, as now arranged, in direct contrast to the precedent set in recent years in which all the range towns paid their players exorbitant salaries and consequently at the end of each season were much in debt. Jobs will be secured for the players showing much talent and it is believed in this manner that the team can be made self supporting and also much more interested in bringing victories to Eveleth.

ROUNDHOUSE PLANS

For Grand Rapids Are Considered By Superintendent Philbin.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. D. M. Philbin of the Great Northern railway company was here from Superior this week looking over the site for a roundhouse and other improvements to be made here. Mr. Philbin stated that a roundhouse will be built here in the near future in the west end of town. He was accompanied by engineers who looked over the ground with him.

The roundhouse will be a five or six-stall structure of brick, and will be used to house the engines which tie up here, there being three at this time.

Besides the roundhouse, it is stated that trackage for storage of rolling stock, such as trains which lay over here and idle cars, will be put in. The track at the end of the "Y" will be lengthened some 300 feet, as it is now, the "Y" is too short to turn the passenger train which has to be turned every night at Gunn Junction, not only making the train quite late every night, but also making it an inconvenient way of handling the train.

The opening of work on the improvements may be looked for at any time.

DULUTH LIKES VEGETABLES

Shipped Here By the Grand Rapids Growers' Association.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another carload of vegetables, mostly potatoes, have been shipped by the Grand Rapids Growers' association. The car contained about 1,000 bushels. Among the lot was about 1,600 pounds of carrots which were supplied by Roy Cook. Mr. Cook receives about $1.35 per hundred weight for his carrots.

This is the second car shipped by the local association, and the last car shipped from here received the highest commendation from the Duluth wholesalers who bought them.

BLOW TO BLIND PIGS.

Bovey Saloon Keepers Will Sell Liquor Only By Glass.

Bovey, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only over the bar and by the glass will liquor hereafter be sold by local saloon men, if they live up to the agreement they have made to sell no more liquor in jugs or bottles. They took this action after being warned by Mayor Probinski that if he learned of any more cases of saloon men giving liquor to blindpigsers in the Deer River district he would revoke their licenses.

This drastic order had the desired effect and the saloon men decided to take no more chances and will furnish patrons only by the glass and over the bar. This action is expected to prove disastrous for the blind pigs generally.

TOWER WOMAN BEREAVED.

Mother of Mrs. W. B. Chinn Dies in Butte, Mont.

Butte, Mont., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Jane Slaggett, aged 81, who died Monday of the infirmities of old age was held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Wesely chapel, Rev. Mr. Spencer officiating. Mrs Slaggett had been a resident of Butte for fourteen years and is survived by two sons, James and Thomas Slaggett of Butte, and three daughters, Mrs. Martha Buckthought and Mrs. Ann Jones of Butte and Mrs. W. B. Chinn of Tower, Minn. Another son, Moses Slaggett, is a resident of Oklahoma.

RAILROAD TIES BURN.

Martin Bros. of Duluth Sustain Loss at Keller's Siding.

Twig, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large amount of ties belonging to Martin Bros. of Duluth, landed at Keller's Siding on the Duluth & Northeastern railway were destroyed by fire recently. It is not known how the fire originated but it is supposed to have started from a spark from a locomotive.

LARGE STATE REVENUE EXPECTED FROM MINES.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Funk, in charge of the mineral department of the auditor's office, reports that from present indications the ore output this season from the state mines will be nearly 50 per cent greater than it was last year. The direct revenue from the mines in operation last year was about $200,000. There were eight mines worked in 1909. This year there will be at least twelve, and the revenue will doubtless reach close to $350,000.

EVELETH SENIORS PREPARE PROGRAM

Novel Feature Proposed for the Annual Class Day Celebration.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new high school library has been opened, and the sewing rooms in the high school building are being utilized for the library purposes. Much interest is being taken by the boys in the innovation, and Gilbert Finnegan has been appointed corresponding secretary.

The second in the series of essays by the senior students was rendered yesterday afternoon by Dale Cerveny on "Aerial Navigation."

The school board is arranging with a well-known Minneapolis art concern for an exhibit in the high school building, at which time many various beautiful works will be shown. The exhibit will be shown in all the range towns.

Class Day Program.

The senior class of the high school have completed plans for the class day program, which they will present in the high school auditorium.

The plans as now arranged, will depict a campfire and forests, with the entire class arrayed in fancy costumes, in which dress the various features will be rendered. The opening number of the program will be the class song by the entire class, which is being composed by the seniors.

The other numbers on the program will be: Presentation of class memorial, Elmer Hill; class oration, William Saari; class history, Harry Anderson and George Peterson; class prophecy, Anna Mulligan; presentation of Crescent Literary society gavel, President Harry Rabinowitz; acceptance of gavel, President-elect Curtis Bent; "The Burglar," one-act comedy sketch, by five senior girls.

POSTUM FOR MOTHERS.

The Drink That Nourishes and Supplies Food for Mother and Child.

"My husband has been unable to drink coffee for several years, so we were very glad to give Postum a trial and when we understood that long boiling would bring out the delicious flavor, we have been highly pleased with it.

"It is one of the finest things for nursing mothers that I have ever seen. It keeps up the mother's strength and increases the supply of nourishment for the child if partaken of freely. I drank it between meals instead of water and found it most beneficial. "Our 5-year-old boy has been very delicate since birth and has developed slowly. He was white and bloodless. I began to give him Postum freely and you would be surprised at the change. When any person remarks about the great improvement, we never fail to tell them that we attribute his gain in strength and general health to free use of Postum and this has led many friends to use it for themselves and children.

"I have always cautioned friends to whom I have spoken about Postum, to follow directions in making it, unless it is boiled fifteen or twenty minutes. It is quite tasteless. On the other hand, when properly made, it is very delicious. I want to thank you for the benefits we have derived from the use of your Postum."

CHISHOLM PLANNING GREAT WHITE WAY

Growing Range Village Proposes to Get Into Metropolitan Class.

Chisholm, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A great white way is the latest improvement proposed for this growing village.

The council has just awarded a contract to the South Park Foundry company of St. Paul to furnish thirty-four posts at $50 per post on Lake street.

A contract was closed with Winslow & Cummings for $16,814.50 for laying cement walks.

The council voted an advance of 25 cents per day in pay for all men working on the streets of the village. The salary of the village recorder was raised from $25 to $50 per month. The recorder's clerk was voted a salary of $65 per month; city engineer, $125 per month; village attorney, $75 per month; street commissioner $100 per month. Ben Gallagher was made assistant city engineer with a salary of $75 per month. Morris Simonson having served on the Chisholm police force four years with credit, was made night sergeant with a salary of $95 per month.

The council voted to pay into the county treasury 10 per cent of all monies received from liquor licenses, this money to be used for road purposes. Village Attorney Knapp was instructed to prepare an ordinance amending the maximum charge in vaudeville theaters from 15 to 20 cents.

The contract and bond of Henry Fugere to build the Monroe jail for $1,100 was approved. The purchase by the street committee of a sprinkler for $253.50 was approved. All matters regarding street labor were given to the charge of the street committee. Rev. C. P. Keast, pastor of the Methodist church, offered to sell the old church to the village to be used for storage purposes. The liquor license of Lawrence Paskovan was approved. It was voted to build a dog pound at once, and William Vagts was made poundmaster and dog catcher.

IS HELD FOR STABBING.

Two Harbors Finn Who Attacked Another Bound Over.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with stabbing Charles Johnson, a Finn, John Hussa, a fellow countryman, has been held to the grand jury. The stabbing occurred in Mike & Hill's saloon. Hussa was considerably the worse for liquor when he is said to have attacked the other with a knife because Johnson would not buy him a drink. As Hussa is said to be only 18 it is expected that an effort will be made to learn the saloon that violated the law in giving him liquor.

BIG ELKS DOINGS.

Eveleth Lodge Planning on Fine Time Saturday Evening.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elks are making elaborate plans for the big jollification gathering to be held tomorrow evening in the Elks hall. The Hibbing Elks will attend in a body.

The hall will be handsomely decorated and the floor will be put into good condition for the dancing. A class of ten will be initiated and the regular business transacted. Following the initiation ceremonies a banquet will be held, at which time many addresses pertaining to Elkdom will be delivered.

GRAND RAPIDS FIREMEN PREPARING FOR MEETING.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The volunteer fire department is planning for the seventeenth annual firemen's tournament of the Northern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament association here on June 21, 22, 23 and 24.

The object of these tournaments is to promote efficiency in volunteer fire departments and encourage a justifiable pride in the respective departments.

VICIOUS HORSE KICKS TWO MEN FROM RIG.

Chisholm, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—As M. Baich and B. Bessetti of Hibbing were driving a gig across the Great Northern tracks here yesterday the horse began kicking and both were injured, Baich being knocked unconscious by a fractured jaw and other injuries while Bessetti was more or less hurt. The gig was demolished.

VIRGINIA CLUB WILL HAVE SPACIOUS HOME.

Virginia, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The finishing touches are being done to the interior of the new brick structure which the Virginia Electric Power & Water company is erecting on West Chestnut street, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks. The building is a two-story structure, 25 by 120 feet, the facade being of white enamel brick. The owners of the building will occupy the ground floor, where they will have the nicest offices on the range. The second floor will be occupied by the Virginia club, one of the best known social organizations in the city. The club is preparing to move into the new quarters and the rooms will be fitted up in a very elaborate manner. Supt. Mark Elliott of the Interstate Iron Mining company is president of the club, and Edward Wenzel, head office man for the Virginia Electric Power & Water company, is secretary. The club has a membership of 100.

VIRGINIA MINES NOW SHIPPING

First Ore Train of Season From Lincoln Mine of Interstate Co.

Virginia, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first solid train of ore to be shipped from the Virginia district this season was made from the Lincoln mine of the Interstate Iron Mining company, Wednesday.

The train was run over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad and consisted of seventy-eight cars. The Lincoln is one of the big shippers of this district and last season shipped nearly 2,000,000 tons. It is expected that shipments from this property for 1910 will exceed that of last season. The Lincoln is an underground proposition and shipments are being made from the stockpile. A train load per day is now being run out, but later on when the shipping season on the lakes becomes more active, several trains will be necessary to carry the ore to the Head of the Lakes. "Mark Elliott is the superintendent of the mine.

Other mines in this district have been shipping for some time, but have not as yet put on full trains.

The Lily Iron Mining company, which recently took over the old Alberta mine, is getting things in readiness for a busy season and expects to begin shipping some time during the coming month. The company expects to ship about 50,000 tons this season. Capt. Samuel Hoar is in charge of the Lily property.

Stripping operations are being carried on quite extensively by Butler Brothers at the Silver mine of the Virginia Ore Mining company. Several steam shovels and an average of 150 men are at work removing the overburden. It is expected that the Silver will get into the shipping class about May 1. E. C. Hendrick is the superintendent at this mine.

UNKNOWN MAN IS KILLED BY CARS

Struck By Logging Train at Mile Post 58 Wednesday Night.

Virginia, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unknown man was struck and instantly killed by a logging train on the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad at Mile Post 59, near Kinmount, Wednesday night. The body was terribly mangled.

The man is described as being about five feet, seven inches in height, with brown eyes and wearing long, brown hair. He was dressed in a striped pair of pants and a dark check coat. Nothing was found on his person to lead to identification.

The body was brought here by Undertaker A. W. Hubbard and will remain at the morgue while an effort will be made to identify the man.

IRON RANGE TIME CARD.

New One to Be Put in Effect May 1 With One Change.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth & Iron Range will issue a new time card Sunday, May 1, the only change over the present card being the putting on a schedule the through freight leaving Endion at 1:30 p. m. daily. The train will arrive here at 12:30 a. m. and the connections leaving here at 12:45 a. m. will reach Tower Junction at 5 a. m. and Eveleth at 5:50 a. m. The number of the train out of Duluth will be No. 61 and from Allen Junction to Eveleth No. 71.

Owing to the ore shipping season starting and change in business, the freight running between Eveleth and Allen Junction has been taken off. A train will be run direct from here to Eveleth, connecting with the 1:30 p. m. freight out of Duluth. A train also is run from here to Tower Junction, making the same connection from here.

Conductor J. E. Cotten has been very ill the past week.

Ore business has been good the past week but the boats are not yet coming fast enough to keep the docks clear. About twenty trains of ore are being brought in each day.

Operator J. Crocker has returned to his duties as assistant agent at McKinley.

Two Fishermen Buried.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bodies of John Olson and Nels Mattson, fishermen of this city, who were drowned in the bay at Grand Marais, Monday night, when they attempted to go ashore in a steel rowboat from their launch the Flyer, were buried here today.

Virginia to Expand.

Virginia, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The agitation to increase the boundaries of Virginia has gone to such an extent that it is expected that some action will be taken soon towards the accomplishment of this end, and it is probable that the Commercial club will be asked to take up the matter at its next meeting.

JUDGE DIBELL DENIES WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS.

Attorney D. M. Morgan argued for a writ of habeas corpus for John Williams yesterday afternoon.

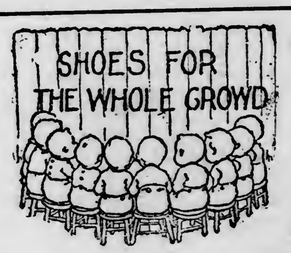
Mr. Morgan claimed that because the March grand jury had failed to indict Williams while he was in custody, he is now entitled to freedom under the statutory provisions, the indictment being too late. Judge Dibell refused to grant the discharge of the prisoner. Williams is accused of grand larceny in the second degree. He is said to have stolen $20 in money, and a watch.

BISHOP WANTS JEFF TO LOSE TO NEGRO.

Durham, N. C., April 22.—Before the state convention of colored Presbyterians last night, Bishop Dillard of Columbia, S. C., who advocated liberal education for the negro, declared:

"I want to see the negro brought to a high standard along every line. When Jack Johnson and Jeffries meet in California, I hope Jack stops Jeffries in short order."

The convention broke into uproarious applause.



BROOKSTON HOME BURNS.

Brookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A house occupied by Dan Kegwitch was burned to the ground at 7:30 Tuesday morning. An overheated stove pipe is supposed to be the cause of the conflagration. Dan had built the fire and gone back to bed, and when he got up the house was filled with smoke and fire. He was compelled to make his escape through a window. The building was covered with tar paper and quickly consumed. The loss was total, including wearing apparel and about $50 in money.

The promised rain came last night with welcome vigor and helped the budding trees and shooting grass. This morning, a cold wind was decidedly uncomfortable, and the weather man says it will be colder tonight, with the temperature down to 20 deg. Bright, chilly weather is the prospect held out.

There was a light snow a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:07 and will set at 7:06, giving thirteen hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm is central this morning over the eastern portions of Iowa and Missouri. It is attended by light rains in the Lake Superior region, Wisconsin, Eastern Minnesota and Iowa, and high northwest winds in the lower Missouri valley and on Western Lake Superior. Rains also resulted over Kansas and Colorado, but clear weather prevails in those states this morning. The western high pressure has advanced to Saskatchewan and has caused decidedly colder weather throughout that province. Manitoba, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Northern Texas and Minnesota, with freezing temperatures over the greater part of those districts. Temperatures varying from 14 to 20 deg. occurred in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and North Dakota this morning.

"A hard freeze may be expected at the Head of the Lakes, tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 22.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours, ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin—Rain and colder tonight; frost tonight, except in southeast portion; Saturday partly cloudy and continued cool.

Upper Michigan—Rain or snow and colder tonight; Saturday partly cloudy with colder in east portion.

Minnesota—Fair tonight with freezing temperature; colder in east portion; Saturday fair with warmer in west portion.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; colder tonight with heavy frost; warmer in northwest portion Saturday.

North Dakota——Fair tonight with freezing temperature; Saturday fair and warmer.

South Dakota—Fair and colder tonight with heavy frost; Saturday fair and warmer.

Montana—Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight and in east portion Saturday.

the horn, and the woman apparently heeded it, stepping back out of the way. Seeing that she was out of the way, we again started forward.

"But the woman then stepped right in front of the car. I don't think it was the driver's fault. He could not have stopped the car. The story that we went on without pausing is untruthful. The car proceeded for a few feet, and allowed my wife and I to alight. I rushed to a telephone to call for an ambulance, but before I could get one I was informed that an ambulance was already on the scene."

Other Witnesses.

Henry Call of 325 East Fourth street, who states that he saw the accident, said yesterday afternoon that the machine was going at a pretty good rate of speed, but made no estimate of the rate in miles.

Simon Miller of 620½ East Fifth street was standing on the lower side of East First street, near the scene of the accident, and says that he noticed the machine. He is of the opinion that it was going twenty-five or thirty miles an hour. He did not see the auto hit Mrs. Monroe. He heard her cry, but heard no warning signal such as the sounding of a horn.

John Gustafson of 220 West Fourth street was also near the corner of Lake avenue above First street when the woman was killed. He heard no horn sound and estimates the speed of the car at thirty miles an hour.

Herbert Helmer, the chauffeur, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Helmer. His father is president of the Jennings Mines company, and is well known in the city. Herbert is about 20 years of age and has a wide circle of acquaintances in the city. He played several seasons on the high school football team.

He ran the automobile to a garage after the accident and went to his home at 622 East Second street, where he was found about an hour later by Chief Troyer, who brought him to police headquarters. He was charged with manslaughter in the second degree. His father was out of the city, having left for the range in the morning. His mother came to St. Luke's hospital shortly after the body of Mrs. Monroe was taken inside. She was considerably broken up over the unfortunate accident and was very anxious to learn the identity of the victim. Herbert had evidently told her about the accident as soon as he reached his home.

The boy was greatly wrought up over the affair. He was so excited at the police station that for some time it was impossible to get any statement other than one of regret over the fatal occurrence in which he played so leading a part. "It's awful, it's awful," he moaned, as he sat in a chair at the station. He said that he had no intention of running away from the authorities, but was so excited that he did the only thing he thought of, and that was to go to his home. After the bonds had been fixed at $5,000 by Judge Homer B. Dibell of the district court late yesterday he was released from custody. He went at once to his home.

Mrs. Monroe was hurled many feet by the machine. She was picked up at one side of the street. Blood was pouring from her nose, her hair was dishevyeled, one arm was crossed over her breast and the other extended in the air and her face was bruised and lacerated by the rough pavement. Examination showed a contusion under her chin and her breast was crushed in. The post-mortem performed last night at the morgue by Dr. F. F. Clark established the fact that death was almost instantaneous. Several ribs had been snapped in two and one of them pierced a lung.

The accident was the general subject of discusston in the city last night after The Herald's extra was issued giving the details of the affair. It was impossible to give the woman's name as she wos not identified until several hours later.

During the campaign about two years ago last fall an Italian workingman was killed by an automobile containing J. F. Jacobson, at that time candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. He was hurrying to attend a meeting in the West end when the man was killed. As far as known, these are the only two deaths resulting from automobile accidents in Duluth, although several people have been seriously injured. In most of the latter substantial sums have been recovered in damages. It is stated that A. W. Hepworth paid $2,000 to Dr. Mary McCoy, who was hurt by his car at Lake avenue and Superior street a year ago last summer. Severn A. Rhodes recently recovered about $700 from Arthur Grover Fitzgerald from a jury in district court, for lesser injuries sustained at Eighth avenue west and Superior street.

DRIVER OF CAR THAT KILLED WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Herbert Helmer Is Arrested and Later Released on Bonds.

F. M. Monroe Identifies Body of His Wife at the Morgue.

Witnesses Differ as to Rate at Which Auto Was Going.

MR. AND MRS. F. M. MUNROE.

Mrs. Hannah Monroe, 77 years of age, was almost instantly killed about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Lake avenue and First street by an automobile driven by Herbert Helmer, who was arrested an hour later and charged with manslaughter. He was released last night on $5,000 bonds furnished by Alfred and Thomas Merritt.

The automobile which struck Mrs. Monroe is owned by I. Freimuth, proprietor of the large department store at Lake avenue and Superior street. Helmer has been hired by him as chauffeur. The machine was supposed to be in the garage for repairs yesterday afternoon.

The identity of the dead woman was not established until three hours after the fatal accident, when her husband, F. M. Munroe, 73 years old, recognized the body of his aged life companion in the undertaking rooms of J. L. Crawford, where it was removed from St. Luke's hospital. She was hurried to the institution in Ford's ambulance, but was dead before she reached there.

Helmer was hurrying Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Black to the depot to catch the afternoon train for St. Paul at the time of the accident. Being late and fearing that they might miss the train, Mr. Black hired Helmer to take them to the station in the automobile which was standing in front of the Baltimore lunch room. He had to return to their home to get Mrs. Black. It is stated that Superior street was too crowded by traffic to enable them to make the desired speed, whereupon they sought First street, which was freer from travel.

Auto Was Speeding.

The statements as to the speed of the automobile differ. Some believe that it was traveling twenty miles an hour, while others allege that it must have been going thirty miles.

Mrs. Monroe was crossing First street, proceeding north on Lake avenue, when she was struck and fatally injured by the car. The chauffeur claims he sounded a warning toot on his horn when about fifty feet away. It is said that she appeared to heed it, as she stopped and stepped a bit to one side. Then becoming confused, it is asserted that she stepped almost directly into the path of the onrushing automobile, being caught by the fender.

Her husband says that she was short-sighted and rather inclined to be hard of hearing, which would partially account for the accident.

Some who were in the vicinity say that the automobile proceeded. It appears that it went down the street a short distance, when Mr. Black left the automobile to telephone for an ambulance but was informed that one was already on the scene. The employes of the Ford livery stable were immediately informed of the accident and hurried their ambulance to the scene, less than half a block distant. They drove at top speed to the hospital, but their efforts were in vain. The woman was dead when they reached St. Luke's. The belief is that she lived only a few minutes after being struck by the car.

The body was taken inside. Coroner J. A. McCuen made every effort to establish the identity of the woman. Numerous reports came in as to her name, but all of the suppositions were wrong. As soon as a name was mentioned the telephone was used, but in each instance the person it was thought to be was found to be alive and well.

No one knew who she was until Mr. Monroe visited the morgue. He heard several men talking of the unknown aged woman who had met such a tragic end early in the afternoon. When he reached his residence at 217 East Second street to find his wife absent he hurried to the undertaking rooms. Raising the cover from the face he recognized his wife. This was shortly after 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe celebrated their fifty-third wedding anniversary only last March. Both were well and happy and anticipated several more years of life together. Broken with sorrow and grief the aged husband states that he bears no malice to the people in the automobile which killed the woman who has been his constant companion for over half a century.

Besides her husband Mrs. Monroe is survived by four children, none of whom is living in Duluth. They are Mrs. J. H. O'Mara of Marquette, Mich.; Mrs. William H. Oakley of Ishpeming, Mich.; Fred Monroe of Marquette, Mich., and Charles F. Monroe of Delta, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Black have abandoned their trip to the Twin Cities. They are greatly wrought up over the affair which so sadly interrupted their journey.

Mr. Black's Statement.

Mr. Black has probably a more intimate knowledge of the facts of the case than any one on the ground at the time. He made the following statement regarding the accident:

"My wife was going on the 4 o'clock Omaha train to St. Paul for a few days. She was late getting to her train. I went down on Superior street, where I engaged a car in front of the Baltimore Lunch. I did not know then who the chauffeur was. We hurried out to the house, and were coming back when the accident happened. We were not speeding—simply going at a moderate rate.

"Both my wife and myself saw the woman in front of us. The man running the machine gave a warning from

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

Principal Jewish Festival of the Year Will Be Observed.

Commemorates Deliverance of the Israelites From Slavery in Egypt.

"Because we were slaves unto Pharoah in Egypt and the Eternal, our God, brought us forth thence with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; and if the Most Holy had not brought forth our ancestors from Egypt, we and our children, and our children's children, would still continue to be slaves to the Pharoahs in Egypt."

The Passover, the principal Jewish annual festival, commemorating the sparing of the Israelites' first born and the escape out of Egypt, will be celebrated for eight days, beginning tomorrow evening at sun down. The Seder will be eaten in the homes and in the temples on the first two days. All during the eight days special services and ceremonies will be held, families will gather together around the boarad and unleavened bread will be eaten.

The Passover falls on the first full moon of the spring, from the 14th to the 21st of the month Nizan. It is sometimes called the "Feast of the Unleavened Bread," because during the festival only unleavened bread is eaten, because in their departure from Egypt, the Israelites were forced to take their dough with them unleavened.

During the times when the Israelites still had possession of Palestine, all Jews assembled in the tabernacle, and from Solomon's time in the temple, to observe the feast of the Passover. It is recorded that at one time, 3,000,000 people were gathered together in Jerusalem for the feast. The observance of the feast at the present time does not conform to all the rites and forms of ancient times, for that would be impossible under present conditions, but it does conform as far as present conditions will allow. The pilgrimage to Palestine is not made, nor are the offerings made as they were, but the period is rigidly observed.

Tomorrow evening and Sunday evening the Seder will be eaten in the homes. All members of the family and guests will gather around the board, with the head of the family at the head of the table. Each dish has its special significance. The Exodus is followed while the meal is being eaten with great ceremony. At times families combine for the feast. In Temple Emanuel, Second street and Seventh avenue east, the Seder will be held Sunday evening for bachelors, people who have not the Seder in their homes, people who have never seen the ceremony, and children.

The Passover is a time for family reunions. Ortho-lox and Reform Jews are anxious in the spring to get to their homes that they may eat the Seder at the family board.

The first two days of the festival are holy days and the last two days are holy days. The intervening four days are semi-holy days.

At Temple Emanuel Sunday morning at 10:45, a special Passover service will be held and Rabbi Lefkowitz will preach on "The Cheerful Outlook of the Passover." Tonight at Temple Emanuel regular Sabbath services will be held and Rabbi Lefkowits will deliver an address on "The Great White Plague."

DIES NEARING HER HOME.

North Dakota Woman Expires While Returning With Husband.

Langdon, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—While driving home with her husband from a visit with neighbors, Mrs. John Wihletz of Easby township, died very suddenly. She was seated in the buggy talking to her husband, less than a half mile from home, when she toppled forward dead. She was 60 years old and heart failure was the cause of her sudden demise.

Peter Krohn, although thrown from a wagon heavily loaded with machinery and run over by two wheels, escaped without any broken bones. He was very severely bruised up and will not be able to be around for some little time.

WEST END

'DRY' PARADE ON JULY 4

Temperance Organizations of City May Join in Demonstration.

Plans Now Being Completed By West End Good Templars.

Temperance organizations of Duluth will have a big demonstration on the Fourth of July, if the plans of the North Star lodge, No. 11, Independent Order of Good Templars, West end, are carried out. It is planned to have a monster parade in which every "dry" organization in the city will be asked to participate.

The parade will march through the principal business district along Superior street and also at the West end. Banners and emblems, representing temperance societies and lodges, will be floated and every effort will be made to make the demonstration as nearly complete as possible.

A band will be engaged to take part in the parade. If the Good Templars carry out their plans, as now arranged, between 500 and 1,000 will participate in the "cold water" march. The affair will be left in the hands of a committee which will be appointed at the next meeting.

The idea of the parade was suggested last evening at the regular meeting of the Good Templar order at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The plans were adopted by the lodge and was decided to send out invitations to other Good Templar lodges of the city and to the W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations.

Besides making plans for the parade on Independence day, the members transacted no other business. It was decided to postpone the election of delegates to the Grand lodge meeting at Crookston in June until the next meeting. Following the business meeting a program was carried out which included several musical numbers. About 100 members were present.

IMPATIENTLY WAITING FOR POSTAL STATION.

It is probable that a resolution will be passed this evening at the meeting of the West End Commercial club asking that the postal authorities at Washington, D. C., hurry up the establishment of a branch station at the West end.

The matter has been hanging fire for the past year and there seems to be little inclination on the part of the post office authorities to take any definite action on the proposition. It was understood that an inspector was to have visited the West end in the interest of the branch station last January, but as yet nothing has been done about it.

Besides taking up this matter, the club will also discuss the lighting question. A report will be presented by the "white way" committee.

FUNERAL OF WEST END WOMAN MONDAY.

The funeral of Mrs. Johanna Hanson, 66 years old, who died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital from cancer, will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Olson & Crawford, 2010 West Superior street, with interment at the Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Hanson lived with a family at 312 Garfield avenue and made her living by working out for a number of years. She leaves a husband, but his whereabouts are unknown. For the past year she was able to do little for herself and friends assisted her.

About two months ago she was taken to the hospital. She was under the care of a West end physician.

MICHIGAN PASTOR TO PREACH AT WEST END.

Rev. A. J. Peterson of Laurium, Mich., a delegate to the Laymen's Missionary convention this week, will preach Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Rev. C. O. Nelson, former pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit at the evening service. Rev. Nelson and a party of West end people will leave next week for New York, where they will sail on April 30 for Sweden to spend the summer.

Larka-Nygren Wedding.

Miss Johanna Larka was married to Carl Nygren at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. J. Daniels of 2012½ West Third street, who is pastor of the Swedish Mission church. The young people will make their home on a farm near the city.

West End Shortrails.

The April Calendar Circle of the Second Presbyterian church will be entertained next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. A. Cox of 1713 West First street. A social for the members will be held at her home in the evening.

The Adams Athletic association gave its initial dancing party of the season last evening at Lincoln park. A large crowd was present. The hall was decorated with the club colors and pennants in blue and white.

Andrew Barr entertained the Young People's Society of the St. Stephan's Evangelical Lutheran church, West Duluth, at his home, 2113 West Fourth street, last evening. An informal program was carried out and refreshments were served.

The City Democratic club has called a meeting for this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The evening will be given over to the discussion of the policies of Mayor M. B. Cullum.

"Politics and Christianity" was the subject under discussion last evening at the regular weekly meeting of the Men's Club of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. There was a good attendance.

Many attended the strawberry social given last evening at the St. Luke's Episcopal church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, under the auspices of the Young People's guild. A good program was given during the evening.

ANOTHER CUSTOMS CLERK ARRESTED

Head of Weighing Department at New York Accused of Frauds.

New York, April 22.—George E. Bedell, who was chief clerk for James F. Vail, formerly deputy surveyor of the port, and who had charge of the weighing department, was arrested today on an indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the government out of customs duties on sugar, macaroni, figs, cheese and other merchandise.

SAYS CARY MUST GO TO WORKHOUSE

Supreme Court Affirms Contempt Sentence of Mill City Lawyer.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sentence of E. S. Cary, a prominent Minneapolis lawyer who was given thirty days in the workhouse for contempt of court by the Hennepin county district court, was confirmed by the state supreme court today, and Mr. Cary will be forced to serve his month in the workhouse.

Disbarment proceedings are now pending against him, and will be heard on June 2. Both actions arose out of Cary's conduct of the defense in the case of the State against Baker. The attorney called opposing counsel "a stiff" and used profane language.

Uneasy in Ecuador.

Washington, April 22.—United States Minister Fox has telegraphed the state department from Quito, Ecuador, that great uneasiness is felt throughout that country on account of the growing danger of a war with Peru.

INJURY TO PRODUCERS

A. D. Thomson Scores Dixon Amendment to Interstate Commerce Bill.

Declares Its Adoption Would Injure Wheat Growers of Northwest.

Washington, April 22.—"If the long and short haul amendment to the interstate commerce bill as proposed by Senator Dixon of Montana, or even that provision which is now in the house bill, is included in the measure when it reaches the president, it will be sufficient justification for the president to veto the entire bill, when he is informed of what its effect will be."

This was the declaration made yesterday by a prominent member of congress who has made a study of railroad legislation. He said that there was danger of the long and short haul clause going into the bill, simply because the members of the senate and house were not fully informed of what it means to their respective localities. During the present week representatives of the commercial interests of the Middle West and of the railroads have been in Washington submitting arguments for and against the Dixon proposition.

Opposes the Principle.

The commercial interests of the intermountain states are urging its adoption, while other business men are opposed to it. Among the latter was A. D. Thomson of Duluth, representing the grain dealers of the Northwest. In his argument to members of the house and senate, he pointed out that the adoption of the long and short haul principle in the making of rates would result in serious loss to the wheat growers of the Northwest, as well as to the producers of other commodities.

The railroads, he pointed out, would be obliged to increase rates for the transportation of grain from the wheat fields to Duluth and Minneapolis and to the East, and there would be a serious limitation put on the trade zone of Duluth and the Twin Cities.

The railroads, according to Mr. Thomson, could not be forced by any legislative enactment to lose money on their traffic, and so they would compensate themselves by increasing rates. As has been shown in the past, this increase in rates would revert back to the producers, and the price of their commodities would be lowered in proportion to the increase in rates. These senators and members of the house to whom the railroad men have talked declared that the latter are indifferent in the matter except as to the trouble they would be put to in reconstructing rates.

Must Reconstruct Rates.

If the long and short haul clause is put into the bill, the many thousands of rates will have to be reconstructed, new basing points will have to be established, and, in fact, each great commercial center will be a point for basing rates, as the trade zones will be so circumscribed that only the necessary articles, carrying a higher rate than at present, will be carried long distances.

Senator Dixon of Montana yesterday expressed confidence that his amendment will be adopted, although he admits that the vote will be close. In view of the activity of those opposed to his proposition. The Dixon amendment will not be reached until next week, in all probability, as the senate is proceeding with the amendments proposed by Senator Elkins with the approval of the committee on interstate commerce.

In the house the matter may be decided sooner, as it is proposed to consider the bill under the five-minute rule within a few days.

MARINE NEWS

BLOCKADE AID TO BOATS HERE

Little East-Bound Package Freight Being Held for Shipment.

Vesselmen here today state that the blockade at the Soo is, in a way, a good happening for the boats at this end of the lakes. They say that if it were not for the blockade there would be so many boats here that they would simply have to be held up awaiting business. Under the present circumstances the coal movement is the only movement that has started out heavily.

It is pointed out that there is very little package freight here yet, and that had all the package freight boats arrived there would be little business in sight for them.

An official of one of the prominent Duluth lines stated yesterday that the package freight companies hesitated in sending too many package freighters here at the present time, when there was so little freight here to take on the return trip down the lakes.

There is a tremendous westbound business in sight. Some of the boats that have left the Erie ports with package freight are being delayed at the present time at the Soo. By the time these boats arrive here there may be more package freight in sight here.

FAST SERVICE FROM BUFFALO

Mutual Line to Inaugurate Through Service When Blockade Is Lifted.

Just as soon as conditions at the Soo will warrant it, the Mutual Transit company will place some of its boats on through scheduled service between Buffalo and this port.

The innovation on the part of the Mutual people will mean much to shippers of freight. It will result in the saving of a great deal of time between the two ports.

Until conditions at the Soo are improved, the service will not be started. At the present time a vessel has no assurance of getting through the Soo without delay.

Local shippers will appreciate the inauguration of the new service, as it will mean a very great convenience upon certain lines of freight.

BIG FLEET HELD AT AMERICAN LOCKS.

The following list of ships is reported to be blockaded at the Soo, because of the repairs that are being made on the American locks: Adriatic, Moll, Ishpeming, Dinkey, Mathews, Morgan, Jr., Stadacona, Wilpen, Kensington, Peter White, Egan, William Brown, Ellwood, Northern King, Whitney, Malletoa, Pierpont Morgan, Earling, Corey, Centurion, Dalton, Schiller, Kay Morse, Conestoga, Stevenson, Snyder, Maytham, Portland, Gates, Crescent City, Frank Gilchrist, Algonquin, Sullivan, Ionic, Crete, Buffalo, Granaage, Fitzgerald, Empire City, Walter Vail.

PRICKED BY NEEDLE.

Princeton Doctor Gets Blood Poisoning While Operating.

Princeton, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Cooney has been brought here from Elk River to receive treatment for blood poisoning resulting from a needle prick sustained April 15, while performing an operation for appendicitis. He used a disinfectant on the scratch, but pus formed and blood poisoning developed Wednesday, his face became swollen from the septic condition of his blood, and his condition so alarmed his relatives and friends that he was bundled into an automobile and hurried here, where Dr. Walsh is treating him. His condition today is more hopeful.

Trouble Ahead for Moorhead.

Moorhead, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Carry Nation, the saloon smasher, left Fargo Wednesday for the West. Before going she announced that arrangements had been made for three days' meeting in Moorhead to be held during the coming week.

SENSATIONAL BARGAINS IN SEASONABLE MILLINERY

What a reception our new millinery section has had, how eagerly every visitor has bought, all of which proves that women believed what we said about exceptional values, and when they discovered that we didn't really say enough—didn't tell half the story of the rare values offered, of the variety to choose from—and the low prices which prevail, their enthusiasm was unbounded. All ready for another busy week! New shipments have arrived, and if possible, better values are offered.

Our Hats at Five Dollars!

Street and Dress Hats worth at the lowest estimation from $7 to $9, all are of the accepted styles of this season, made of the popular rough straws, trimmed with the fashion-favored flowers in the most desired shades; such values as these are rare, indeed, and $7.00 would be a small price for them; however, we specialize these at, each..... $5.00

OTHER HATS—the season's best—London, Parisian and New York models, ranging in price gradually upwards from $4.50 to $35.

SPECIAL NOTICE

In our alteration rooms we retrim hats to suit our customers, and make over last season's hats into this season's shapes. We also make hats to order, and, as our force of milliners is under the direction of an expert, all work is of the highest order.

Flowers and Trimmings

For those ladies who intend to trim their own or their children's hats we offer choice from a singularly complete stock of Flowers, Feathers, Quills, Aigrettes and other fashion favored trimmings.

DOCTOR USES FIRE HORSES

Physician Makes Record-Breaking Trip to Side of Patient.

Inhaled Gas Nearly Proves Fatal to Miss Hulda Newman.

Miss Hulda Neuman, 25 years old, cashier for Kastriner & Neuman, clothing merchants at 210 Central avenue, had a narrow escape from death by asphyxiation this morning at her home, 818 Central avenue. At noon today her condition was reported as favorable and it is probable that she will recover.

An alarm clock, set for 5:30 o'clock, and a sensational ride made by the attending physician, who was summoned, played an important part in saving the life of the young woman. The family awoke when the alarm went off. Leaking gas was detected and they traced the leak to the room of the sleeping woman.

She was carried out to fresh air, and while efforts were made to revive her a telephone call was sent in for a doctor. Dr. David Graham of the Duluth hospital was summoned. Firemen from No. 8 fire hall were exercising their horses, as a part of the daily routine, when the physician hailed them.

He was then taken aboard the sulky used by the fireman and Driver Clarence Harvey, one of the extra men at No. 8, drove him to the residence of M. Kastriner, 818 Central avenue, where the young woman made her home. The trip was made just in time, according to the physician.

Restoratives were given by the doctor and the patient was revived with much difficulty. This afternoon she is resting well and her recovery is looked for. The room in which she had been sleeping was filled with gas which had slowly accumulated during the night.

At the Kastriner home, which is piped for gas, electric lights are used most of the time. When Miss Neuman retired last evening she read a book until she became sleepy. In turning off the electric light it is thought that she accidentally turned on the gas, for this morning the jet was found partly open.

Miss Neuman is well known in West Duluth.

MARKET HAS A NERVOUS TONE

Coppers Slump and Then Rally---Later Outlook Is Better.

The tone of the stock market today was nervous. The market opened weak and declined until about midday when values rallied. The upturn carried some stocks about to a level with the opening. One or two slid across, but the majority were still short of opening values when the market closed.

Trading was lighter than for several days. The public, apparently, is holding aloof and the professional element's interest is sporadic and uncertain. The feeling in professional circles is more optimistic than for some time as factors hanging over the market are now those that usually are present at this time of year. This is the season when the stock market begins to ascend and brokers are hopeful of a betterment in conditions. Shipments of gold have been less than were expected and this has caused a feeling of confidence in the financial situation. Business is good in the West and although there has been a reaction in the East it is said that industrial conditions there are improving.

The local market was stagnant. Butte Alex Scott sold at $3.25; Denn at $2.50; Butte & Superior at $1.87½; Calumet & Montana at $1.06¼ and $1; Sierra at $3.25.

Amalgamated sold at $74.37½ to $75.62½ to $74.62½ and off ⅛ point. Butte Coalition sold at $22; Calumet & Arizona at $64; Giroux at $8; Greene at $9.25 to $9.12½; North Butte at $36 to $36.75 to $34.50; Superior & Pittsburg at $13; Steel common at $83.62½ to $82.50, $83.87½ and $82.75; North Butte sold from $36 to $36.75 and up to $34.50.

DR. B. C. HYDE IS ACCUSED BY TWO

Nurse Houlihan and Banker Ott Are Called as Witnesses.

Kansas City, Mo., April 22.—Describing with striking detail, and supplementing her story with vivid illustration of the action of her patient, Miss Anna Houlihan, a nurse, today began at the Hyde murder trial, the story of the death of Chrisman Swope. Dr. Hyde is indicted on the charge of murdering him.

It was Miss Houlihan who led the strike of the nurses against Dr. Hyde at the Swope house last Dec. 18. She is a little black haired woman, of positive manner of speech. "People are being murdered in this house!" she is said to have declared to Dr. Twyman, in speaking of her suspicions of Dr. Hyde. And after she had stated her position firmly, she put on her coat and hat and said she or Hyde must leave the house. Dr. Hyde left and Mrs. Hyde went with him.

Told of Convulsions.

The description of the convulsion suffered by Chrisman Swope, following the administering of a capsule by Dr. Hyde, was similar to that which Miss Keller gave yesterday of the attack of Col. Swope under similar circumstances.

Albert M. Ott, an attorney and banker of Independence, succeeded Miss Keller on the stand. His testimony corroborated Miss Keller's story of the bleeding of James Moss Hunton by Dr. Hyde.

"Dr. Twyman asked Dr. Hyde three times to stop the flow, and then Mrs. Hyde implored him to close the incision," said the witness.

Cross-examination of Mr. Ott by Attorney Walsh developed the fact that Mrs. Hyde held Hurton's head in her arms throughout the operation.

The recital of the death scene moved Mrs. Hyde to tears. This is the first time that she has given way to her emotions since the trial opened.

Contractor Arrested.

On a charge of obstructing the street, A. E. Skinner, a contractor, was arrested today and arraigned this afternoon in municipal court. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to April 29, at 2 p. m.

Last week, a horse from headquarters fire station ran into an engine standing on First street between Fifth and Sixth avenues and used by the contractor. The horse was injured and had to be shot.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

SEASON WILL OPEN SOON

First Games Will Be Played in Interscholastic League April 26.

Meeting Held and Rules Adopted for the Coming Year.

The Interscholastic Baseball league will begin its sixth season, Tuesday, April 26.

At a meeting held at the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, H. Azinzky of the Washington team was elected president of the league for the season of 1910 and Chauncey Larsen of the Bryant school, secretary.

In other years the league has been very successful. The league is composed of teams representing the several grade schools of the city and rivalry for the pennant each year grows more intense. This year the present prospects point to the best season yet.

The league is supervised by the officials of the boys' department under whom it was formed several years ago. The department will award a silk banner in the colors of the school to the winning team.

At the meeting yesterday the following rules were adopted:

Rules of League.

1—No boy shall be allowed to play in the league who is not a member in good standing of one of the grade schools.

2—All members of the league must be registered.

5—Members of the league shall not play Sunday ball.

4—Profanity or smoking by any member of the league while playing or attending games will be sufficient cause for suspension.

5—All games will be played according to schedule. Teams failing to appear will forfeit game.

6—The boys' department will furnish umpires for all games.

7—The home team will show every courtesy to the visiting team, and will, so far as possible, see that the conduct of rooters is in keeping with the principles of the league, clean sport, clean speech.

The following is the schedule:
April 26, Nettleton vs. Jefferson.
April 28, Washington vs. Jackson.
April 30, morning, Franklin vs. Bryant.
April 30, afternoon, Nettleton vs. Washington.
May 3, Jefferson vs. Franklin.
May 5, Jackson vs. Bryant.
May 7, morning, Nettleton vs. Bryant.
May 7, afternoon, Jefferson vs. Washington.
May 9, Jackson vs. Franklin.
May 10, Jefferson vs. Jackson.
May 12, Franklin vs. Nettleton.
May 14, morning, Bryant vs. Washington.
May 14, afternoon, Jackson vs. Nettleton.
May 17, Jefferson vs. Bryant.
May 19, Washington vs. Franklin.

A meeting of all the teams has been called for Saturday evening of the present week at 7:30 p. m.

The two teams that have won the greatest number of games will play a series for the championship of the league at the close of the season.

WESTERN LEAGUE BEGINS PLAY

Parades and Ceremonies at Parks Mark Opening Games.

Denver, Colo. April 22.—A parade of enthusiasts headed by the Denver and Lincoln teams, Governor Shafroth, Mayor Speer and practically every city, county and state official, marked the opening of the Western league season in Denver today. Perfect weather prevailed.

Governor Shafroth was scheduled to open the season by throwing the first ball, while Mayor Speer was to catch it. Then Schrieber of Denver and Fox of Lincoln, were to occupy the pitchers' box.

Isbell Plays First Game.

Wichita, Kan., April 22.—Frank Isbell, who has played with the Chicago White Sox ever since the American team was organized, played his first game of minor league baseball here today at the opening of the Western league season.

Wichita and Omaha were the opposing teams.

Isbell, who is the manager of the local club, played at first base.

The parade that preceded the game was given in overcoats owing to cold, but fair weather. Mayor Davidson pitched the first ball. Many business houses observed a half holiday.

Governor Throws First Ball.

Topeka, Kan., April 22.—Governor W. R. Stubbs opened the Western league season here today when he pitched the first ball in the game between Topeka and Sioux City. Mayor Billard donned the catcher's mitt and caught the ball.

The city observed a half holiday, the state house, railroad offices and stores were closed.

Both teams were in excellent condition. Kaufman for Topeka and Alderman for Sioux City, were the pitchers.

DARBY VERY CONFIDENT

Duluth Manager Writes That Team Will Be as Strong as Last Season.

A letter from Darby O'Brien, written from Mansfield, Ohio, states that Sweeney has made an excellent showing in the few opportunities he has had to date. The manager believes he has a find in the man trying for third base.

"Reddersdorf and Kenney have shown up well," says Darby, "and I have every reason to believe Rich and Howard will make good. Businsky is a good catcher, but has had very little chance to show what he can do in a game.

"We will all be glad when we get back to Duluth, as we have not had a good day since we left Cleveland. You can tell the fans that we epect to have a fast team and that we will be out for the flag from the first game.

"The bad weather has prevented me from getting a good line on all of the men in the squad. I think Duluth will have just as fast a team as the one that finished the season last year. I expect to have a heavier hitting outfield. Taylor has been batting well so far, and Pete Neelon should do better with the bat the present season.

"If the weather is better on the rest of the trip, I will be able to get a better line on the players. So far we have been unable to do very much."

GRADE SCHOOLS PREPARING FOR BASEBALL SEASON.

The grade school baseball league was organized yesterday. The Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Jackson, Bryant and Nettleton schools will be members of the league. The schedule has not been completed as yet, though it will call for Saturday games between the schools.

Henry Azinsky has been elected president of the league and Louis Larson, secretary.

HARVARD OARSMEN DEFEAT NAVY CREW.

Annapolis, Ind., April 22.—In a chilling rain storm, but over calm water, Harvard's varsity eight yesterday afternoon bested Navy's crew by two and a half lengths over the outer two-mile course of the Severn. The winning time was 11 minutes, 17 seconds. Navy's time was 11 minutes, 26 seconds.

The race was a hotly contested one from the start to the three-quarter-mile mark, Navy leading by possibly half a length to this point. There was greater power in the pull of the Crimson oarsmen however and they gradually drew away until at the mile buoy the two were even. From here Harvard gradually forged ahead, making steady gains until a length and a half of open water was showing between the two.

GREEK JOHNNY HUDSON CHALLENGES SAILOR JACK.

Johnny Hudson, the little Greek welterweight who engaged in two matches in this city, being defeated in his first match here by Sailor Jack, has sent a challenge from Grand Forks, N. D., where he is at the present time, to the husky marine.

The Greek is confident that he can defeat the Sailor, if given another chance. However, it looks as if the wrestling season were about over here. Efforts have been made to get Dr. Roller here, but until after his match with Zbyszko, April 29, at Chicago, no definite answer can be secured from the manager of the physician.

The Sailor meets Alho tomorrow at Ironwood.

HERMANN THREATENS: KLING WILL REPORT.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 22.—August Herrmann of the national baseball commission wired John Kling at St. Louis yesterday that if he did not report to the Chicago National league ball team Monday, his recent reinstatement would be suspended for one year.

Kansas City, Mo., April 22.—John Kling, the catcher, said yesterday to the Associated Press, when told of President Herrmann's threat of suspension, "I will leave for Chicago Saturday night and report for duty with the Chicago Nationals as soon as I arrive there."

JOHNSON ISSUES OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Chicago, April 22.—President Johnson of the American Baseball league yesterday announced the following contracts and releases:

Contracts—With Detroit, T. Cobb, G. Moriarity; with Philadelphia, H. Martin, W. Heitmuller; with Boston, T. Speaker; with Washington, Walter Johnson, Clyde Milan, Robert Groom, William E. Conroy, F. C. Reissing, Wade Killifer, Joe Hovlik, Jack Hardy, George Brown, John Lelivelt, Norman Elberfeld, William D. Gray, Ward Walker, George F. McBride, F. L. Witherup, F. Oberlin, Charles E. Street and William N. Rapp.

Releases—St. Louis to Omaha, B. E. Shotton, M. B. Corridon; by St. Louis to Portland, Gus Hetling; by Detroit to Adrian, Ball; by Philadelphia to Holyoke, Kummer; by Philadelphia to Reading, Hanke; by Philadelphia to Scranton, Kellogg, Stanley; by Philadelphia to Baltimore, Egan, Good, Walsh, and by Philadelphia to New Orleans, Butcher.

Three Pitchers Sold.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—The sale of three pitchers was announced by Manager Donovan of the Boston team of the American league last night. Elmer Steele goes to Providence, Fred Ehmen to Denver, Colo., and Cecil Thompson to St. Paul, Minn.

ALBERT WOLTER TELLS HIS STORY

Claims He Was Not in House When Wheeler Girl Was Murdered.

New York, April 22.—Albert Wolter, taking the witness tand today in his own defense, told to the jury his story of that fateful day on which Ruth Wheeler came to his apartment on a quest for work and found death by strangulation and burning.

Wolter betrayed no emotion as he coolly declared that he had never written Ruth Wheeler in his life; had not even seen her and had only written her name in his memorandum book at the request of a Coney Island waiter, Fred Abner, who, he said, wanted to start a German stenographic school.

Wolter had met Katie Mueller and they had lived together since December.

Spent Day in Central Park.

Early on the morning of March 24, Wolter said, he left his room, bought paint and a brush, and after loafing all day in Central park, returned home in the evening and painted the fireplace.

Sometime during the hours Wolter said he spent in the park, Ruth Wheeler met her death in his room. That evening Pearl Wheeler came in search of her sister, but the witness said he did not insult her.

"That night I was awakened by the falling fire place," glibly testified the witness. "Twice it fell, and each time I arose and fixed it."

A bright faced German girl, Kate Gills, went to the witness stand today. She said that Saturday morning she took possession of the Wolter room and cleaned it.

"About 10:30 in the morning I looked out on the fire escape and there was nothing on it."

On Thursday, the sack which later held Ruth Wheeler's body was in the public hall. "It was there on Friday full of wood," she declared in answer to a question from the court.

Saw Sack on Friday.

She said the last time she saw the sack was at noon on Friday, and she declared that if there had been anything on the fire escape Saturday morning she would have seen it. Katie Gille's room adjoined that of the Wolter apartment.

Wolter's council declared that, if the bag in which Ruth Wheeler's body was found was not on the fire escape on Friday or Saturday, Wolter could not have committed the murder because he was then in the hands of the police.

PLEADS GUILTY TO MINOR CHARGE.

The charge of assault, which was placed against Edward Edwards, who, while in a drunken frenzy, ran amuck in the private car of the San Francisco Opera company between Hibbing and Duluth early yesterday morning, was changed to drunkenness today. He pleaded guilty and was fined $40 and costs. Friends in the company of which he was a member, are endeavoring to raise the fine.

If a few more table guests would make it profitable for you to keep boarders, then you have business for a Herald want ad.

THE MIRROR TOLD TALES

When Louis Paulson hauled William E. Murphy back of a screen in the Nicollet saloon on the Bowery to relieve him of $86, his entire winter's earnings, he didn't take into consideration the mirror.

Joe L. Hlatky was leaning against the bar gazing at the array of bottles when his eye caught sight of Paulson going through Murphy's clothes. He took in the whole performance and then notified the police. When Patrolmen H. Mason and Dave Butchard arrested Paulson they also took Charles McCarthy and Ray Vendevere into custody as parties to the transaction. It is believed by the police that they were mixed up with Paulson in a conspiracy to get Murphy's money. When arrested he had given McCarthy $5 and Vandevere $1 of the stolen money. It is claimed that all four of the men worked together in the woods and knowing of Murphy's "roll," planned to get it. They were bound over to the grand jury, after a hearing in police court this morning. Bail was fixed at $500 each.

Duluth As An Example.
St. Joseph, Mo., is trying to raise about $100,000 for a new Y. M. C. A. building. The Gazette, a morning newspaper of that city, recently published a photograph of the Y. M. C. A. building in Duluth as an example of what a live town can do in the way of raising money for a worthy purpose.

Knew Missing Men.
William B. Ardouin told City Treasurer Voss this morning that he used to know two men in the city about seven or eight years ago named Louis and Eusebe Bussiere. He thought that Louis had died several years ago at Ironwood, Mich., and that Eusebe had taken up a claim, where he believed he might now be living. An inquiry was recently sent to Mr. Voss by a notary in Canada who has charge of the settlement of an estate in which they are interested. A rich brother recently died leaving a considerable fortune.

Gets Small Verdict.
Samuel H. Irvine will receive $25 for a beating he took from a Northern Pacific auditor while on the company's passenger train making the trip from Carlton to Duluth some months ago. A jury in district court allowed him this amount in a verdict returned this morning. Irvine sued the railroad company for $1,999.

Knights Off to Two Harbors.
This afternoon about 100 members of the Al Sirat temple, No. 135, Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan, a branch of the Knights of Pythias, left on the afternoon Iron Range train for Two Harbors, where tonight a special ceremonial will be held at which time about forty new members will be initiated.

Injured In a Fall.
Mrs. T. H. Tresise fell down stairs at her home, 418 East First street, yesterday afternoon, sustaining painful, though not serious injuries. She broke the instep of the left foot and her right ankle.

Meeting of Owners.
There will be a meeting of the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks on Monday, April 25, at 8:30 o'clock in the council chamber in the city hall, to consider the question of the improvement of Fourth street from Fourteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, principally as to the width of such improvement.

Oak Hall Has Moved.
The Oak Hall Clothing company will be at home tomorrow in their beautiful new store, at the corner of Second avenue west and Superior street. The old store has been taken by the Pittsburg Coal company and Boyce's drug store.

Discretion in Diamond Buying

Safety and satisfaction in diamond buying is largely a matter of discretion in choosing the house where one can safely place implicit confidence, for it is only the man who has made a long and careful study of diamonds who is qualified to determine their values, and the buyer must rely on his integrity.

The recognized reliability of the Henricksen Jewelry company, coupled with the fact that only absolutely perfect extra white and blue white diamonds find place in our selections is of utmost importance to every diamond buyer.

The advantages which come from extensive and direct purchasing enable us to offer the very best values the diamond markets of Europe and America afford.

Our display of distinguished gem pieces is most unusual.

Prices range from $25 to $1,000, with exceptional values at $25, $50 and $75. We would like to show you our diamond at $25.

DOCTOR TRIMBLE MUCH PLEASED

Predicts That Duluth Will Have Most Successful Convention.

Dr. J. B. Trimble, field secretary of the Laymen's Missionary movement, who is here to conduct the Duluth convention, which is one of the eighty similar gatherings that make up the national campaign that will terminate in the great union convention at Chicago, next month, is greatly pleased with the results that have been attained so far. The campaign is drawing to a close and not a failure has been recorded yet.

When the plan to conduct the campaign was first launched it was planned to have about fifty meetings. Then, when the requests began to pour in from many cities that they be included in the list of convention places, the number was increased to sixty. Other demands came in and so, gradually, the number climbed to eighty.

The audiences attending the sessions of the conventions have ranged from 500 men in the smaller towns to 2,800, which was the record and is held by Indianapolis.

BIG FLEET OF BOATS AT SOO

Fifty-Six Vessels Are Waiting to Be Locked Through.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are fifty-six boats anchored below the locks. The blockade is the largest in the history of lake navigation. A greater number of vessels arrived during the night than any other preceding twelve hours. The process of locking the boats is very slow. The Canadian lock is in commission, but the American lock will not open for several days.

Many vessels are delayed below Sailor's Encampment, being unable to proceed on account of the low water. The water is this year lower than at any corresponding period in years.

It is expected that on the return of the boats from the Head of the Lakes the same sort of a blockade will be experienced.

SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR PIONEER DIES.

John Seitz Passes Away at Home at the South End.

John Seitz, 63 years old, for twenty years a resident of Superior and one of the pioneers of the state, died last night at 10:30 o'clock at his home, 6210 John avenue, South Superior. His death was not unexpected at this time, as he had been failing for several months.

Mr. Seitz came to Superior from Menasha, Wis., in 1890 with A. J. Webster, who started a chair factory at the Head of the Lakes. Mr. Seitz was connected with this firm for several years and then retired. A year ago he underwent an operation and has never been well since.

He is survived by a wife, four sons, Henry, Oscar and John of Superior and Albert of Duluth and three daughters Lillian, Hettie and Ida, all of Superior.

BUSINESS RENTALS TO ADVANCE NEXT MONTH.

Rentals on property facing Tower avenue will advance from 25 to 75 per cent on May 1, according to statements given out by agents who control the various properties and who claim that because of the rise in values during the past year it is necessary to raise the rents so that the income may be a fair rate of interest to the owners. The increase will be general among business properties, but it is understood that it will not be extended to the residence districts.

OWNER OF GAMBLING PLACE IS FINED.

George Lake, captured by the police in a raid on a gambling joint at 621 Tower avenue last evening, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was fined $50 and costs.

Five other men who were taken by the police forfeited $10 bail each. The men gave their names to the police as John Blackwood, Ed Larsen, George Johnson, Henry Wilson and Charles Comiskey.

Lake was charged by the police with being the proprietor of the place.

Open Bids on May 5.

On May 5 the board of public works will open the bids on the first of the underground conduits to carry the wires of the city fire alarm system. It is planned to rush the construction at once especially on Hughitt avenue, between Belknap and Twenty-first streets, which is to be paved. The system now planned will cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

Laborer Is Injured.

Alfred Anderson, a laborer employed by the Hyle-Patterson company at the Philadelphia & Reading coal dock, was struck by a falling piece of metal, which inflicted a bad flesh wound in his leg. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital where, it is expected, he will be confined for the next ten days. Anderson lives at 980 Bay street.

To Complete Organization.

The stockholders of the Open Market association, organized among the farmers of Douglas county and business men of Superior, will meet Tuesday, April 28, at the Commercial club rooms. The final steps in the organization of the association will be taken at this time and a board of directors, consisting of nine members will be elected.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Jane L. Fagg, widow of Lieut. Col. John L. Fagg of Mexican war fame, was found dead at the home of her two daugters in Washington, April 22. She had accidentally left a gas jet open.

John M. Levy, aged 90, the oldest citizen of La Crosse, Wis., both in point of years and residence, died Wednesday night after an illness of four months.

Mr. Levy went to La Crosse in 1845, and was a candidate for mayor at the first city election, in 1854, when he was defeated by one vote, his own ballot being cast for his opponent.

Subsequently he served as mayor several times, and played a large part in the early political life in La Crosse, and in its real estate developments. He was a Democrat in politics.

Reuben Smith, aged 70 years, for many years a prominent newspaper editor in the West and an author, died at Mobile, Ala., April 22. His delineation of negro characters attracted much attention. He was native of New York state.

HOUSE INVENTORIES.

Of the simpler schemes of the insurance agents who are always feverishly trying to hold old business and to attract new, one of the most successful is the issuing of a blank book for use as a residence inventory.

This is usually a neatly prepared booklet of a dozen pages, says System. On the inside of the front cover is a notice of what to do in case of fire, instructions for making an inventory and appraisal and on the opposite page are lines for the dates of the original inventory and three revisions.

On the inside of the back cover are printed general instructions for placing insurance, how to give a notice for additional insurance and what to do in case of removal of property. The twelve pages of the book are each devoted to a room and are ruled to show the number of articles inventoried, and a memorandum of each article itself, date of purchase, cost and description.

These inventories cost from 6 to 7 cents apiece if they are got up in attractive style, and therefore they should not be carelessly mailed. With each inventory it is wise to enclose a personal letter, short and briefly describing the use and purpose of the booklet. Most men have little idea of the value of their house furnishings, but with an inventory such as this they are enabled to list their property in convenient form.

The check on the value of this advertising is readily afforded the agent by the personal follow up, which is necessary in all advertisig of this kind. Agents who have used these inventories year after year find them most effective for reaching, interesting and keeping in touch with new prospects.

Bring in Your Boys Tomorrow!

It's not a surprise to anyone who has compared boys' and children's clothing stores in Duluth that the Columbia is doing the big bulk of this business in our city.

Our Sampeck Suits are without doubt the best tailored ready-to-wear Boys' Suits in the country, and their price is but a trifle higher than that of the rotten sweat-shop stuff sold in so many local stores, $5 to $18.

Hats for Boys and Children—Jaunty soft felt and cloth Hats for the little fellows. Nobby shapes with brims that can be turned down to suit the taste.

For the larger boys a nice line of Felt Hats in plain and fancy colors. Some with fancy bands and some with turn-down brims. Hats with the classy look that boys from 8 to 18 years appreciate just as much, or even more than their older brother.

First Showing of Straw Hats—They are ready for them almost as early as their mothers and sisters, so it's none too soon to call attention to them, even if the prevailing winds still have that keen edge that makes Lake Superior's shores famous as a summer resort. No finer hats ever struck Duluth than the new ones we show.

Soft roll, turn-down brims for the little tots, just like the cloth and felt hats we mentioned above; also the larger shaped Sailors in plain straws and Milan braids, trimmed with long ribbons.

Fishing Hats for Ladies and Men are also kept in our Boys' department, on the second floor.

Jersey Sweaters
For children and boys — a fine and practical garment for late spring and early summer.
$1 to $2.50.

Underwear
In two-piece and union garments. Some with short sleeves and ankle-length drawers, in all sizes.

Indian Suits at 89c
A favorite with boys 4 to 10 years of age.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 22.—May wheat gained 1c and July advanced ⅞c today. The former option was the stronger relatively. There was more July wheat for sale than May. The buying was from people who added to long lines in the deferred futures and there was covering by eleventh hour shorts. Crop news was bullish. The general tone of the market was nervous.

May wheat opened at $1.80a sold at $1.07¾, $1.08½, $1.07⅞, $1.07¾ and then up to $1.09, closing with bids at that figure. July was offered at $1.09, sold at $1.08¾, $1.09⅛, $1.08¾, $1.08½ and then up to $1.09⅞ and closed with offers at $1.09⅞. September was bid at $1.01 after being offered at $1.00.

Flax was dull. May opened at $2.37 and sold up to $2.39½ and closed with bids at $2.39. July was $2.32 bid and sold at $2.34 and closed with bids at that price. September was $1.80 bid and sold at $1.82, $1.80 and then at $1.81½ and closed with bids at $1.81½. The October option opened at $1.70, sold at $1.72 and then at $1.70½, $1.71½ and at the close at $1.70½ bid.

Trading in coarse grains was moderate. There was little news to influence the market. Oats, rye and barley closed unchanged and durrum was ⅛c off. Cash wheat was on a parity with May.

The reaction following the severe decline extending over nearly three weeks continued today moderately. The opening was fairly firm, although cables were disappointing. Trading was fairly active at the opening. There was moderate selling, but it soon subsided. The day's activity was dull until toward noon, when the market livened up slightly. The trend was without much significance, although the upturn surprised many traders who did not believe the market had sufficient rallying power to continue the upturn which started three days ago. They thought it was top heavy and would decline.

A factor which aided in values being sustained was the absence of a pronounced short interest. Shorts who covered early have been waiting for a further bulge to put out their wheat again. Some traders, who thought the market had reached the top of its present course, sold short early in the day. These eleventh-hour bears quickly bought their stuff again later in the session.

The high winds in Kansas, reports of chinch bugs along the central branch of the Union Pacific west from Atchison, messages telling of reductions in crop estimates from the leading producing counties of Kansas and Nebraska, all caused the few traders bullishly inclined to remark that the crop is not yet made and that this fact should be considered by those professionals inclined to sell the market short. A few conservative bears said that while they believed values will eventually go to an export basis that they counselled conservatism until more definite news is obtained concerning the growing plant. They do not think the decline will reach export levels until the condition in the Southwestern wheat is fairly established. The short interest at the close today was smaller than for some time. Predictions of frost for Kansas and Nebraska caused a few shorts to take in their wheat. Freezing weather is predicted for the West and Southwest tonight and tomorrow.

Foreign crop conditions are excellent. Russia and Canada are offering wheat freely abroad. Indian cables indicate that the exportable surplus will be smaller than was earlier estimated.

There is no improvement in the cash situation, which is the leading bear factor.

MARKET GOSSIP

Bradstreet's weekly clearances: Wheat and flour, 1,289,000 bu; corn, 461,000.

"The Minneapolis flour output last week increased 49,810 bbl," says the Northwestern Miller. "This made the output for the week ending April 16, 223,180 bbl, against 253,925 bbl in 1909 and 231,347 bbl in 1908. One more mill is in operation this week, and the output should be approximately 230,000 bbl. In the corresponding week in 1909 it was 259,676 bbl. There is no life to the flour market, almost without exception the millers say that business for the last few weeks has been the dullest in years. The most of them describe it in more forceful words. A little flour was sold Monday by most mills on the break in wheat, but it was hardly worth mentioning. The orders came principally from small buyers. The small quantity of wheat in interior elevators of the Northwest is being reflected in the reduced arrivals at the two large terminal markets. These receipts are likely to continue in smaller volume until farmers begin to make deliveries in the country."

"Snowfall over Minnesota and the two Dakotas Saturday was three inches to a foot," say Van Dusen-Harrington. "Fruit trees were in bloom and there is little hope for these crops. Field crops have undoubtedly received great benefit. There was some fear that wheat, which had already germinated, might have been damaged by the cold. We took this question up with the agricultural experts and were told that the wheat plant will stand much more rigorous weather. The storm will delay finishing seeding in the Red river valley and in other parts of North Dakota. Small grain is practically all in the ground in Southern Minnesota and South Dakota. Acreage in all grains is increasing. In South Dakota there will be a large increase in flax and corn. In North Dakota it will be wheat and flax, and in Minnesota the largest increase will be in wheat."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Argentina shipments: Wheat—1,688,000 bu; last week, 2,152,000 bu; last year, 2,944,000 bu. Corn—97,000 bu; last week, 114,000 bu; last year, 1,377,000 bu. The wheat market is active at the decline, with some improvement in the demand. Arrivals from the interior are smaller, with the quality still unsatisfactory. The corn market is easier, with freer offerings, but there is still a better demand. The weather in Argentina has again turned wet, which is delaying harvesting."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Easy Opening in Wheat Followed By Bullish Tone.

Chicago, April 22.—Early trading in the wheat pit today took on a bullish tone after starting slightly easier. September was a favorite purchase in the first hour and advanced from 99⅝c to $1.00⅛. Light rains were reported from Kansas and showers were forecasted in other sections of the wheat belt. Some traders inclined to the belief that the Southwestern fields have been damaged beyond the aid of moisture and that a reduced yield is certain. Elevator interests were credited with taking the buying side. The offerings were not large and the quotations hovered around the high point.

July moved between $1.01⅛ and $1.01½@1.01⅝ and May traveled from $1.07⅞ to $1.08⅛. Opening figures were: July a shade to ¼@⅜c down at $1.01⅜@1.01¼; September unchanged to ⅛c off at $99⅞@99⅝c.

Later in the session the demand improved and values advanced slightly until the final hour when a sharp gain was registered, May going to $1.09¼, a cent above the low point. July advanced 1½ to $1.02½ and September moved up 1⅛ to $1.01.

Overselling was credited with causing the rally. The close was strong and near the top with July 1@1⅛c up at $1.02½; September 1c higher at $1.00⅞ and May ¾@⅞c up at $1.08¾@1.08⅞.

Corn quotations were steady to ⅛c down for May and September with July a trifle firmer and took on a little strength in the first hour. Commission houses supported the market. May went up from 57¾c to 58¼c, other options gaining with it, and rested near to the top. Opening figures for May were 57⅞c to 57¾c.

Influenced by the course of wheat, prices in the corn pit kept their strength, May advancing to 58⅜c. The close was strong at about the top with May ½c up at 58⅜c.

Nearby options in oats were steady, with September ⅛c down at the start, and a fair demand with light offerings advanced prices generally ¼c in the first hour. May went from 41⅞c to 42⅛c. The opening quotation for May was 42c.

Light arrivals of live hogs and higher prices for the animals gave provisions prices another advance. Pork gained from 10c to 35c at the start; lard from 5c to 10c, and ribs from 5c to 7½c. Commission houses were prominent on the buying side. Opening prices for May: Pork, 35c up at $22.25; lard, 5c up at $12.50; ribs, 5c up at $12.37½.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Conditions in Crop and Markets Help Boost Wheat Prices.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—May wheat sold for 4 cents higher than the low point on last Tuesday. Conditions surrounding the market favored the reaction. Besides the oversold condition, stocks decreased, crop reports were not as favorable and cash premiums were advanced. Local elevator stocks decreased 25,000 bushels for the week. Reports of the need of rain were received from Northwestern Canada. Minneapolis today received 116 cars of wheat against 92 a year ago; Duluth 50 cars against 27, and Winnipeg 367 against 87 cars. May opened $1.07¼; high, $1.07⅞; low, $1.06⅝; closed, $1.07⅞@1.08. July opened $1.08; high, $1.08⅝; low, $1.07½; closed, $1.08⅝. September opened 99¾c; high, $1.00⅜; low, 99⅛c; closed, $1.00⅜.

Cash wheat was in strong milling demand today. Offerings were light, and as a result premiums were advanced again. No. 1 northern sold for 1¼@3½c above the May option and No. 2 northern for ½c below to 1½c above. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern, $1.09¼@1.10⅝; to arrive, $1.08⅞@1.10⅝; No. 2 northern, $1.07⅛@1.08⅝; to arrive, $1.06⅞@1.08⅝; No. 3 wheat, $1.04⅛@1.06⅝; No. 3 yellow corn, 53¾@55¼c; No. 3 white oats, 39½@39⅝c; No. 2 rye, 71¾@73¾c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 998 tons; no change today; bran in 100-lb sacks, $18.00@18.25.

Local Forecaster.

T. indicates inappreciable rainfall. *For yesterday. †For 24 hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 22.—Cotton opened steadily at a decline of 1 to 5 points in response to disappointing cables, but quickly rallied on covering and some farther buying of the new crop on reports of recent frost damage. The tone of the market was very nervous and after selling about 1 to 3 points higher eased off under scattered realizing with subsequent fluctuations narrow and irregular. Private cables said the Liverpool market felt the influence of probable heavy losses through the recent Southern spot failure.

Spot closed quiet, 10 lower; middling uplands, 15.15; middling gulf, 15.40; sales, 3,400 bales. Futures closed barely steady; closing bids: April, 14.85; May, 14.75; June, 14.55; July, 14.53; August, 13.75; September, 12.82; October, 12.37; November, 12.23; December, 12.22; January, 12.19.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Early Losses Reduced By Short Covering During the Afternoon.

Subsidence of Liquidation Pressure and the Close Is Firm.

New York, April 22.—The average declines at the opening of the stock market today ran from a substantial fraction to a point for practically all of the prominent active issues. The larger loss was shown by St. Paul, Kansas & Texas, United States Steel and Central Leather. The early dealings were quite active but the execution of accumulated orders left the market quieter after a few minutes.

Stock prices declined steadily, with no signs of support. United States Steel, Western railroad stocks and the market leaders generally were all sold extensively. Losses of a point or more were widespread. Chicago & Alton and Consolidated Gas dropped 2¼, Union Pacific and United States Steel 2; Northwestern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Reading, Great Northern Ore certificates and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 1¾, Southern Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting 1⅝ and Great Northern preferred and Rock Island and 1½. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha broke 8 points.

News that the Tefft-Weller company were reorganized was taken as evidence of unfavorable conditions in the dry goods trade. This was the main motive for selling stocks. Inferences were drawn of an unsatisfactory state of trade in general. There was a lull in selling before noon, but demand was lanquid at any recovery. Bonds were easy.

The market closed firm. The early losses continued to be reduced by the short covering. The subsidence of liquidation pressure made the demand from bears effective in lifting prices. The large receipts of currency from the interior reported promised to offset the gold exports in the effect on the bank statement. Central Leather and United States Dry Goods gained 1.

YIELD OF ONE KERNEL.

Stayton correspondence, Oregon Journal: Eleven ounces of wheat for one kernel is the record for the season in this valley. The single grain of wheat in particular was planted in a flower bed that belongs to and is attended by Mrs. S. Aplet. Scarcely any attention was paid to it until after it had grown more than a foot in height.

She did not molest it, however, and not until it began to head out did her curiosity lead to investigation. Mrs. Aplet discovered that there were 119 heads in the bunch. When threshed out and weighed at the Stayton pharmacy there was found eleven ounces of wheat.

TEN MEN LEAP FROM SINKING DREDGE TO PIER AT ONTONAGON

Tragedy Similar to That of Mataafa Wreck Narrowly Averted.

Wind Holds Dredge Against Pier Long Enough for Men to Escape.

Series of Disasters to Fleet of Tugs Bound for Marquette.

Only presence of mind and a peculiar freak of the wind saved ten men, the crew of the Zenith Dredging company's dredge No. 2, from a fearful death in Lake Superior, when, in a blinding snow storm, the dredge was driven close enough to the piers at Ontonagon so that the men could jump off.

The dredge was immediately blown outside the piers, and is now being pounded to pieces on the beach. The wreck was much similar to that of the Mataafa in Duluth, only the men escaped in this instance.

The incident occurred after a series of accidents. The dredge left Bayfield several days ago, towed by the tugs Robinson and Mystic.

The fleet was bound for Marquette, where the Zenith Dredge company has a dredging contract. It left Tuesday. When off Michigan island Wednesday, the Mystic broke her shaft, and was towed to Bayfield by the Robinson, assisted by the America of the Union Towing company's fleet. A stiff northeast gale hit the fleet off Ontonagon Thursday afternoon, and the boats

WESTON FALLS IN COLLAPSE

Walker Has to Be Carried to Farmhouse Near Utica, N. Y., and Put to Bed.

Utica, N. Y., April 23.—Edward Payson Weston, who left Syracuse at 9:20 p. m. last night and was walking to this city along the towpath of the Erie canal, collapsed at 8:30 this morning, when two miles west of Chittenango. Those with him carried him to a farmhouse, where he has been put to bed.

He had not walked well throughout the night and had only proceeded about fifteen miles, when he was compelled to halt. Toward morning a strong east wind set in and this is thought to have affected him. He suddenly paused in his walk and said to those who were with him that he could walk no further, sinking to the ground in exhaustion.

After he was put to bed he went to sleep almost immediately. His pulse was very weak and it was thought by those attending him that he could not be able to proceed today. Chittenango is thirty-nine miles west of Utica.

SHIP'S CAPTAIN TO BE ARRESTED

Steamer Venus Is Alleged to Be Taking Arms to Nicaragua.

New Orleans, La., April 23.—The issuance of an affidavit last night alleging irregularities in the clearance papers of the steamship Venus, reported to be taking on a cargo of supplies for the Madriz forces in Nicaragua, marked another chapter in the Nicaraguan warfare. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Capt. Hyland of the Venus, charging that there are articles on board the ship which do not appear in the manifest. Hyland has not yet been arrested.

It is said that the complaint has been filed with the British consul here that the register of the vessel is not registered and that it is not entitled to fly the British flag.

It was reported here today that the insurgent representatives in New Orleans were preparing to send a supply ship to their forces on the East coast.

WILL TRY TO REACH THE TOP OF MT. M'KINLEY

PROF. HERSCHEL C. PARKER.

New York, April 23.—Prof. Herschel C. Parker of Columbia university is to attempt to climb Mount McKinley, starting from Seattle about May 5. The party will consist of three scientists, five climbers, two packers and an engineer and will enter Cook inlet, whence the route will lay up the Chulitna river, traveling in a motor boat. Prof. Parker has no doubt of the success of the Fairbanks expedition, which claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley, but this will not in any way alter his plans, since the American Geographical society, under the auspices of which he will go, wants the mountain explored.

HOLD RITES FOR AUTHOR

Simple Funeral Service Is Conducted in New York for Mark Twain.

Vocal Music and Pallbearers Omitted According to His Own Wishes.

New York, April 23.—Services as simple as his home life attended the tributes paid here today to Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), author, humorist, philosopher and citizen of the world.

New York City was but a stopping place in the dead author's last journey, as his body was brought here from his home at Redding, Conn., where he died, to be taken to Elmira, N. Y., for burial.

But it was here that chiefest expression was to be found of the loving regard in which Mark Twain was held by the American people and that fullest opportunity to do his memory honor was afforded.

The Brick Presbyterian church at Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street was the place selected for the funeral service this afternoon, and the two close friends of Samuel L. Clemens in life were chosen to voice the grief of the throng at his death and to speak the eulogies echoed by the heart throbs of thousands. This honor fell to the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, formerly pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church and now professor of English literature at Princeton university, and Dr. Joseph H. Twitchell o Hartford, Conn., a city for seventeen years the author's home.

Big Church Too Small.

Although the Brick church seats 1,200 persons it was by no means large enough to contain all who had desired to see for the last time the face of Mark Twain. To ensure that all those who rightly claimed the privilege should obtain it, cards of invitation to the number of 600 were issued, with the understanding that when these had been presented the doors would be open to the genera public. After the services, it was announced, the opportunity would be given for those outside to enter the church and file past the plain mahogany coffin in which the body of the dead writer had been placed.

In keeping with the known sentiments of Mr. Clemens, there was no

D. A. R. CONGRESS CLOSES SESSION

Mrs. Davis of Minnesota Loses Contest for National Office.

Washington, April 23.—The nineteenth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution came to a close today after having been in session since last Monday.

In the second election, made necessary to complete the list of officers, Mrs. Sarah Kinney was chosen second vice president, defeating Mrs. Charles H. Deere of Illinois by a majority of fifty votes.

The tenth vice president general elected was Mrs. Anna Caroline Benning of Georgia, who was given a plurality over Mrs. Charles Russell Davis of Minnesota of 87 votes.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT MAKES ADDRESS ON DUTIES OF CITIZENS

Ex-President Speaks Before Academy of Sciences at Paris.

Obligations of Wealth and Civic Responsibilities His Themes.

Is Chief Guest at Dinner Given By the President of France.

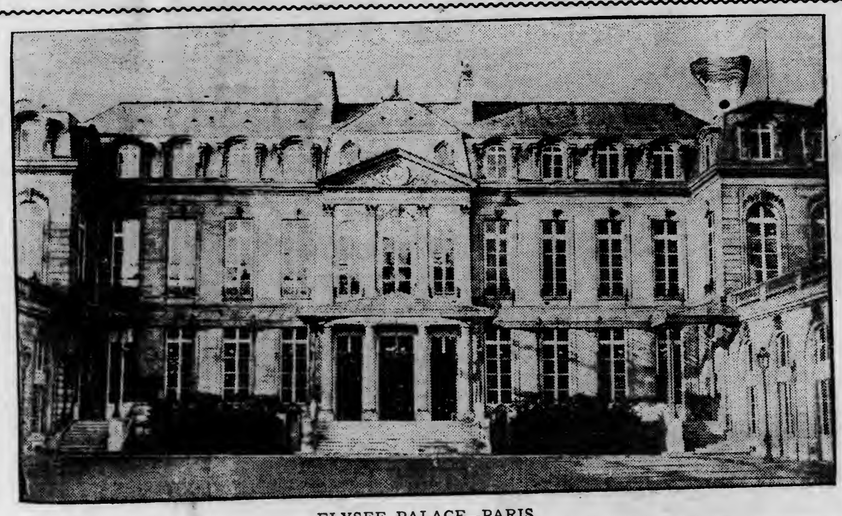
Paris, April 23.—Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States, delivered his eagerly awaited lecture on "Citizenship in a Republic" in the Sorbonne this afternoon. His audience was composed of all the members of the French cabinet, students selected from the University of Paris, and many distinguished guests, by whom the occasion was regarded as the most important feature of the distinguished American's visit to France.

Mr. Roosevelt spent today in the old Latin quarter across the Seine, which for centuries has been one of the intellectual centers of the world. At 1 p. m. in his capacity as a foreign member of the French institute, he attended the regular session of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences in the conference hall of the old Nazarin palace, where is now the home of the institute. This room was selected instead of the smaller room in which the "Forty Immortals" meet, in order to permit the public to enter, and because it is the usual meeting place of three of the academies, the Academy of the Fine Arts, the Academy of Inscriptions and Literature, and the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences.

Did Not Wear Uniform.

Although Mr. Roosevelt is entitled to wear the green, broaded uniform of an academician, he appeared today in his familiar frock coat dress. At 3 o'clock he delivered his lecture in the grand amphitheater of the Sorbonne, where he was most cordially received. His remarks were followed with intense interest.

According to the traditional custom of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences, Theodore Roosevelt entered without formal presentation.



Boutroux in the Chair.

Emile Boutroux, who presided, after the customary routine business had been concluded, addressed the academy upon the result of his observations made during his recent visit to the United States, regarding the growth of education there. After describing the conflict between general education and specialization in studies, and dwelling upon the vast resources of the American universities, M. Boutroux took Col. Roosevelt's ideal as the highest type of man which American education sought to produce, quoting frequently Roosevelt's own words in the exposition of his theme.

From the doctrine that a man who accomplishes nothing and indulges only in criticism is a parasite, meriting only scorn, the speaker evolved Roosevelt's doctrine that man is born for action, to work and to struggle—

BEATEN BOXER IS FOUND DEAD

Max Lundy Succumbs After Six-Round Match at Brockton.

Boston, Mass., April 23.—Max Lundy, a boxer who sparred six rounds with Joe O'Brien of Cambridge at Brockton last night, was found dead in bed at his home in Roxbury today.

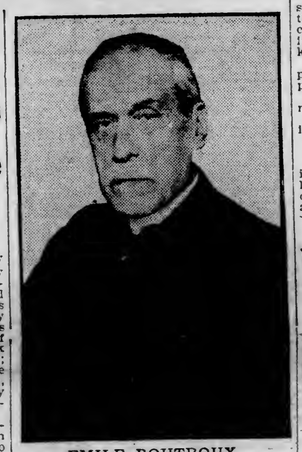
Lundy had the worst of the fight and several times he took the count, but the referee decided the match to be even.

Medical Examiner McGrath ordered the body sent to the city hospital morgue for an examination.

SENATOR DANIEL IS TAKEN TO VIRGINIA.

Daytona, Fla., April 23.—Accompanied by several members of his family and Dr. W. C. Chowning, his physician, United States Senator John W. Daniel, who has been seriously ill with paralysis here for more than a month, left early this morning for his home at Lynchburg, Va. Dr. Chowning reported his patient's condition as satisfactory. The trip is being made in a private car.

GET SCENT OF MORE GRAFTING



Chicago Prosecutors Strike Fresh Trail About the City Hall.

Chicago, April 23.—Investigation by the grand jury of more alleged city hall graft in connection with fire department coal contracts will be started soon, according to the state's attorney's office. Subpoenas were issued today by Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Marshall for James Horan, chief of the fire department; Capt. Patrick Lyons of the fire boat Graeme Stewart; Joseph Donahue, auditing clerk of the fire department; Thomas E. Cochran, Donahue's assistant; Joseph Harvey and E. J. Miller of the city comptroller's office.

The subpoenas were issued on an order received by Mr. Marshall from State's Attorney John Wayman, who is in Kansas City.

MINNESOTANS BUY BIG MONTANA TRACT.

Great Falls, Mont., April 23.—M. J. Kane of St. Paul and Dennis Murphy of Stillwater, Minn., have closed a deal for the purchase of the Cooper-Hughes ranch of 10,000 acres lying southwest of this city for $300,000. The tract will be colonized.

CONGRESS TO QUIT IN JUNE

Taft Thinks Adjournment Is Sure By Middle of That Month.

Republican Members Are Anxious About Their Personal Fences.

Washington, April 23.—Congress will adjourn before the middle of June and possibly by June 1, it is believed by President Taft and administration leaders. And before that time, it is expected, most of the so-called administration measures now before congress will have been passed, or if not they will be in such shape that they can be enacted into law soon after congress meets in December.

Operating in favor of the early passage of the five administration bills—the railroad bill, the statehood bill, the postal savings bank bill, the conservation bill, and the anti-injunction bill—are two factors. One is the fact that a number of Republican members of each house wish to get back home as soon as possible to prepare for the coming congressional election.

Worried About Fences.

Another reason why most of the measures mentioned are likely to be passed, it is pointed out, is that the leaders feel they must do something to offset the Democratic victories in the Fourteenth Massachusetts and the Thirty-second New York districts. The passage of measures advocated in the Republican program is the surest way, the leaders believe, of preventing further Democratic inroads.

The statehood bill has passed the house, one conservation bill has passed the senate and the anti-injunction bill is almost ready to be reported favorably to the house.

Of the five measures, the postal savings bank bill, the president has been told, is in the greatest danger; for, although it has passed the senate, it will have a rough time, it is said, in the house committee on postoffices and post roads, to which it was referred.

HARD BLIZZARD RAGING IN UPPER MICHIGAN AND MARINE DISASTERS ARE FEARED FROM GALE ON LAKE

More Than Twelve Inches of Snow Reported in Some Localities.

Wisconsin Also Swept By Wintry Storm With Heavy Snowfall.

Violent Storm Does Damage in Chicago---Middle West Crops Hit By Cold Snap.

Marquette, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A blizzard of more severity than was experienced in all the last winter is raging in upper Michigan. More than a foot of snow has fallen in some localities and it is drifting badly. Railroad operations are seriously hampered, wire service is crippled, and outside work is suspended.

Marine disasters are feared, as a violent gale prevails on Lake Superior.

Storm in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—An unsearchable blizzard is raging almost throughout the entire state of Wisconsin today. By 8 o'clock several inches of snow had fallen in Milwaukee.

The storm is heaviest in the upper peninsula of Michigan. Marinette reports a snow fall of two feet.

In the western portion the storm is not so severe.

Thermometers register below freezing.

Violent Storm in Chicago.

Chicago, April 23.—Chicago has been in the grasp of a heavy snow and violent wind storm for several hours today and there are no abating. The snow foll

WISCONSIN FR GETS HARI

Pessimistic View of Taken By State at Madison.

Madison, Wis., April 23.—"Prospects for fruit in Wisconsin this year are not very bright today," said J. G. Moore, assistant professor of horticulture at the university school of agriculture, discussing today's snow storm.

"Practically everything has been wiped out here, and the storm is pretty generally the same throughout the state. Nothing in the fruit line is likely to escape. Even the leaves on the trees here are frozen stiff. Grapes, apples and plums are wiped out here. The only exception may be strawberries, where the plants have not yet been uncovered. All early vegetables that are up have been killed."

Damaging Fruit Crop.

Cumberland, Wis., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A severe blizzard is raging throughout Northwestern Wisconsin. Heavy frost did irreparable damage to fruit and vegetation.

VETERAN ROBBED AND MURDERED

Inmate of Ohio Soldiers' Home Found Dead in Ravine.

Dayton, Ohio, April 23.—With the right side of his head crushed, an ugly stab wound several inches deep on the right side if his throat and various cuts and bruises about the head, the dead body of Samuel Raypole, aged 63, a resident of the soldier's home, was discovered yesterday in a ravine on the farm of Joseph Ullery, southwest of the city. Officials declare murder and robbery had been done.

DIES FOR CHILD ALREADY SAVED

Chicago Man Perishes in Fire Seeking Neighbor's Little One in House.

Chicago, April 23.—Nelson Harrison, 43 years old, was burned to death today in a fire at his home while trying to rescue a neighbor's child which he supposed was sleeping on the second floor, but which had been taken to safety. Mrs. Eleanor Harrison, his wife, was badly burned, and will probably die. Their four children were severely burned.

Harrison, who slept on the first floor, was aroused by the smoke. After helping his wife out, he went upstairs and aroused the children. After getting them out, he thought that a neighbor's child was still upstairs and went back. His lifeless body was found by the police after the interior of the building was practically destroyed. The fire was the result of an overheated stove.

Judge Windom of Municipal Court Advocates Novel Reform Measure.

Says Reckless Drivers of Machines Should Be Sent to Jail.

"Compel automobiles by law to remove their horns," is the innovation advocated this morning by Judge W. L. Windom of the municipal court to force reckless automobile drivers to reduce their speed on the crossings.

Further, Judge Windom states that the machines are being driven through the main streets so recklessly that he believes the only way to club them into obeying the speed laws is to give the drivers straight jail sentences.

"The chauffeurs do not seem to mind being fined," he explained. "If anything they seem to take it as something of a joke, particularly as the man who is employing them furnishes the money. Nor do I mean the owner should be sent to jail. The man who is handling the wheel is the one who should properly be punished. If the driver knows that he will have to serve a term in the county jail for reckless handling of the car he will not violate the laws even if he be directed to do so by the owner. He will realize that he must suffer personally and will refuse to obey the instructions or tell the employer to take the wheel himself if he wants to take chances on being sent to jail.

"If the horns were off the machines the drivers could not come tearing along confident that they could make the pedestrains hop out of the road with a toot. Many of them seem to take delight in scaring people half out of their wits in this manner. Being without the horn they would have to slow up at the crossings in order to take no chances of running over people."

Judge Windom is very decided in his opinions as to the handling of the gasoline carts. He has had several narrow escapes himself, he says, and has heard of many others from different persons who have had similar experiences.

THE DISEASES CURED

Rheumatism

The success of our Treatment in the cure of rheumatism proves conclusively to all fair-minded people that our method is superior to any other in the world:

"Drs. McKey & Hannel's treatments were miraculous. I was crippled up with rheumatism most part of last winter so I could not attend to my duties as fireman. In two weeks, under their new treatment, I could again attend to my work."
HERBERT WRIGHT.

Mr. Wright tells us he had tried many doctors and patent medicines before, without any relief.

Diseases of Men

Mr. C., age 35, sexual debility for twelve years. Completely cured in sixteen weeks.

Mr. K., age 28. Varicocele, cured without surgery in eight weeks.

Numerous cases of this class have been cured and are always cured quickly, safely and generally after other "picture doctors" have failed, but names of patients are for obvious reasons held in strictest confidence and under no circumstances will they be given to inquiries.

We are the only doctors in Duluth, who have strictly privacy for both ladies and gentlemen. Separate entrances, waiting and treating rooms. You meet only the doctor.

COPPERS HOLD THEIR OWN HERE

Firm Tone in Local Market in Spite of Decline in East.

In the face of a holiday coppers declined in the East although the local market was strong. Trading in the East was dull and there was considerable liquidation. Trading here was specialized and moderately heavy.

Coppers were nervous and after the opening values were weak, but strengthened on short covering and scattered buying. Toward the close traders took profits and got out of the market in the face of the holiday. In the closing hours the market sagged and there was little support.

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHTERS MAKE APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Committee Needs $3,000 for Work in Duluth This Year.

All Contributions Will Be Acknowledged Through The Herald.

The finance committee of the Duluth anti-tuberculosis committee, consisting of P. S. Anneke, G. G. Hartley, B. G. Segog, W. D. Underhill and John G. Williams, is sending out a general appeal for funds with which to carry on the work in Duluth.

The efforts of the society have met with much success since it was organized about a year ago, and it is believed that the request for funds for the next year will meet with a generous response. The receipt of contributions will be acknowledged publicly through the columns of The Herald.

Those desiring to aid with work can send their contributions to any member of the committee or to C. L. Rakowsky, the general secretary of the organization, who is taking an active part in the campaign to secure the needed cash.

A vast amount of good has been accomplished in Duluth since Mrs. Florence Lee, the visiting nurse of the society, took active charge last spring. She has visited hundreds of patients, doing a suprisingly large amount of work. She has not only endeavored to better them physically, but has done much to educate those suffering from the great white plague. No one realized how extensive the disease was in this city, until she had started her investigations. She has shown them how to improve living conditions, urged them to get into the air as much as possible, to improve their sanitary conditions and helped them build outdoor "shacks." Many patients practically lived in them all winter sleeping outdoors throughout most of the storms and cold weather. She has assisted them in building them and shown them how they could erect these shelters at small cost.

The Committee's Letter.

The letter which is being sent out by committee follows:

"The excellent record made by the visiting nurse, Mrs. Florence Lee, since May 1, 1909, warrants us in engaging her services for another year.

"We will need about $3,000 to cover the expense of operation and the granting of immediate relief where found necessary by the nurse.

"The executive committee financed the proposition last year by various means and was very successful in its efforts, but the sources of income were too narrow and the uncertainty too great, consequently, for the coming year, we plan on raising the necessary funds in a larger, more representative and more comprehensive way.

"You have been selected as one who undoubtedly would gladly contribute for such a worthy cause and we would kindly request that you send your subscription to E. A. Silberstein, treasurer, before May 1, because we must know by that date if we are going to be able to continue the services of the nurse after that time.

"Acknowledgment will be made through the press.

"Assuring you that your assistance and co-operation will indeed be greatly appreciated we remain very truly yours,

P. S. ANNEKE,
G. G. HARTLEY,
B. G. SEGOG,
W. D. UNDERHILL,
JOHN G. WILLIAMS,
The Finance Committee."

AGRICULTURAL CONDITIONS FURNISH BRIGHTEST FEATURE IN COMMERCIAL WORLD

New York, April 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

While business sentiment is distinctly optimistic wherever the process of extracting eight or nine billions of new products out of the soil is carried on, there is confusion and uncertainty in the financial markets. There the severe depression on bonds, the pressing needs of London, the continued large exports of gold from New York and the heavy merchandise exports into the United States, the overproduction in pig iron, coke and copper leading to talk of curtailment of operations and some hesitation caused by the remarkable political developments, both in England and the United States, produce confusion of opinion as to the immediate future. Yet there has been a notable abatement of the recent unrest of labor, with advances in wages by important co-operations.

The crop prospects are on the whole considered to be excellent and are improving. The recent weather, while causing some damage in places, has been very beneficial elsewhere. There has been some readjustment of prices to a more normal basis. This causes considerable irregularity in the textile industries, yet on the whole the drygoods trade, while conservative, is confident of a good year. A better feeling prevails in the wool trade. In a number of important centers the business activity is reported to be up to full capacity, while in others where conditions are less favorable improvement is noted. The shoe trade continues gradually to expand.

It becomes increasingly evident that a general curtailment of pig iron production may develop in the near future unless conditions in that market meet with some adjustment. The output of all grades is running steadily in excess of the demand and stocks naturally accumulate.

Concerted movement has been made to reduce the production of coke because of excessive supplies, and it is considered that similar development in pig iron cannot be delayed very much longer.

Buyers of cotton goods are inclined to await developments in raw cotton before operating on convertible and other fabrics. Retailers are buying conservatively but steadily. Jobbers hold out of the primary markets, because of the uncertainty in cotton goods prices. Manufacturers generally are increasing short time. The conservatism in the primary dry goods market is not reflected so strongly in distributing or retail channels.

WAS HAULING OFF COUNTY'S GROUND

Virginia Park Board Decided Dirt on a County Lot Was Handy.

Neil McInnis, chairman of the county board, discovered yesterday that the park board of Virginia was trying to cart away the site of the new county building. Many men and teams were engaged in the work when discovered and stopped by Mr. McInnis.

Ground around Virginia is valuable and inasmuch as the site of the new building is low and will have to be filled in, the county needs all the earth it bought.

The land was bought some time ago by the county for the purpose of erecting a county building. The price asked was paid and the commissioners think the park board of the range town had much "nerve."

WILL BE BURIED AT FORMER HOME

Remains of Automobile Accident Victim Sent to Howell, Mich.

Last services over the remains of Mrs. Hannah Monroe, 77 years of age, of 217 East Second street, took place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, from the First Presbyterian church, Rev. J. A. McGaughey officiating. The body was sent to Howell, Mich., the former home of Mrs. Monroe, for interment.

Mrs. Monroe was accidentally killed about 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon by an automobile owned by I. Freimuth and driven by Herbert Heimer, at First street and Lake avenue. Three surviving children reached the city yesterday to attend the services and the other son, Charles F. Monroe of Delta, Colo., came today.

Coroner McCuen did not hold an inquest yesterday afternoon as had been expected, as it was decided after a conference with the county attorney, that it was not necessary.

Grand Forks Retiring Mayor Held Position Fourteen Years.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the first time in fourteen years, Dr. J. D. Taylor is without official capacity. His retirement from the position of mayor Tuesday evening marked the close of public service in some capacity or other ever since 1896. In that year Dr. Taylor was appointed city health officer and in 1896 he was reappointed, thus serving four years. In 1900 he was elected state senator, serving four years and being re-elected in 1904 for four years more. In 1908 he became mayor of Grand Forks and held that position till this week.

Dr. Taylor expects to spend the summer very quietly at his cottage at Bemidji, which is even now almost ready for the opening of the outing season.

"Troyer" and "Brady" Go Six Rounds Before Democratic Club.

"Troyer" Wins But the Audience Gives "Brady" the Decision.

THE SPARRING MATCH.

Mistah Troyer, alias Joe Sleet, colored.
Mistah Brady, alias Joe Cooms, colored.
Time: Six rounds, three minutes each.
The stakes: Office of Chief of Police.
Referee: Tom Jefferson of the Jefferson club.
Timekeeper: T. F. Olson.
Chairman: M. H. McMahon.
Winner: Mistah Troyer.
Decision: In favor of Mistah Brady.

Even if C. H. Troyer is chief of police, the members of the City Democratic club forgot about it for a short space of time last evening at their meeting at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

Disappointed Democrats gathered at the West end hall to air their grievances over some of the appointments made by Mayor Cullum. The mayor was a speaker at the laymen's missionary banquet and could not attend the meeting.

Attorney M. H. McMahon was chairman of the entertainment committee and the meeting was given over to him by C. E. Dice, president, at the conclusion of the business session. The entertainment, provided by Mr. McMahon was a surprise to those in attendance, who came with the expectation of listening to a discussion of the mayoralty appointments.

Before the meeting, the talk was general among Democratic politicians of the city, that there would be a conworks, in which the mayor would come in for a scoring for not keeping some of his pre-election pledges. The charge was brought against the mayor by certain members of the club, that he failed to live up to some of his promises.

There were only a few allusions made to the matter and these came from Mr. McMahon. "One of the burning questions" he stated, "before the election of our mayor, was as to who would get the appointment for the office of chief of police. It was understood that Mr. Brady was slated for it, but the friends of Mr. Troyer were busy and he was also hot-footed after the office."

The "Debate."

Mr. McMahon then stated that he thought that the best way to settle the matter was to hold a little debate, which would comprise a part of the entertainment for the evening. Two disinterested parties had been secured, he said, Mr. Cooms, a schoolmaster from Cloquet, and Mr. Sleet, another pedagogue, from Barnum. He then asked Mr. Jefferson to bring in the gentlemen.

The floor was cleared and the two colored brothers shook hands. The debate, it was stated, was only to last for six rounds, three minutes to the heat. Mr. Cooms assumed the role of Brady and his opponent took on the title of Mr. Troyer. Mr. Jefferson acted in the capacity of referee, while J. F. Olson, a newspaper man, called the time.

When the pair started out with their distic argument, Mistah Brady held his own, but before the six spasms had elapsed he was nearly "all in," although "Mistah Troyer" failed to secure a knockout. The onlookers, according to the chairman, were the judges in the debate. A decision was called for and cries of "Brady" went up.

Although the sparring match featured the entertainment for the evening, there were other numbers on the program given by the "Invincible Trio," which comprises Messrs. James Johnson, Bert Jones and Ed Mackey, all colored players and singers. The trio gave a short vaudeville program, introducing a number of popular songs.

Mr. McMahon took occasion during his talk severely to arraign those members of the club, known as "office-seekers," who only attended the meetings "just before election." "When they want anything," said Mr. McMahon, "they are always with us, but after election they can't see us at all."

He spoke of the great strides made by the Democratic party throughout the country, declaring that the outlook for the future was most hopeful. He said that the present time might be compared to "dog days," as it was a period of inactivity in politics. He emphasized, however, that it was necessary for the members to turn out and keep in touch with affairs elsewhere in the country.

During the business meeting it was decided to hold future meetings of the organization on the second Thursday of the month instead of the fourth Friday, the present arrangement. At the conclusion of the entertainment refreshments were served and cigars were passed.

FRENCH PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

"Felix Poutre" Will Be Given Following Vesper Services.

A French play, entitled "Felix Poutre," will be given tomorrow afternoon and evening at the St. Jean Baptiste hall, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The play is an episode of the Canadian war of 1837-38.

The play will be given in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the children of the parish and in the evening after vesper services. As it is the last Sunday of the month, the men will attend in a body as is customary, so it is expected that the play will be a drawing card for the services.

Most of the cast are members of the French Naturalization club of the West end. The play is staged under the direction of Rev. Father Crozier.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Felix Poutre ..... E. Morin
Poutre, father of Felix.... A. Vellette
Bachard ..... J. Morin

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR SWEDISH SOCIETY.

The Swedish United Sons of Vasa Orden, a Scandinavian organization at the West end, will have special services at the St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. W. E. Harmann, pastor of the congregation, is chaplain of the order. There will be special music during the services. Mrs. A. Lofgren and Roy Prytz will sing. Rev. Mr. Harmann will deliver the sermon.

West End Shortrails.

Rev. James Sanaker of Minneapolis, presiding elder of the Red River Valley district, will occupy the pulpit tomorrow morning and evening at the First Norweglan-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Johanna Hanson, 66 years old, who died Thursday at St. Mary's hospital. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2010 West Superior street. Interment will be at Lutheran cemetery.

On account of the fact that several of the members of the West End Commercial club were in attendance at the Laymen's Missionary banquet last evening, no meeting of the Commercial club was held. A special meeting may be called in the near future to discuss the business on hand. The postoffice branch and the "white way" were scheduled for consideration.

Mrs. Eteve Eklund of 2025 West Superior street will entertain Thursday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish M. E. church.

Olaf Hanson, a missionary to India, will speak tomorrow evening at the First Swedish Baptist church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street. Mr. Hanson is a delegate to the Laymen's Missionary convention, now in session in this city.

Al. Johnson has left on a fishing trip to Gooseberry river.

William Anderson left this morning for Sandstone, Minn., to attend a convention of Christian Endeavor societies.

L. A. Simonson of 2102 West Superior street has returned from a short visit to his farm at Mason, Wis.

Ed Oredson has gone to Minneapolis to reside.

Rev. A. J. Peterson of Laurium, Mich., a delegate to the Laymen's convention in Duluth, will speak tomorrow morning at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. In the evening he will preach at Superior.

Mrs. Nat Goodwin at Rochester.

Rochester, Minn., April 23.—Mrs. Nat Goodwin, better known to the theatrical world as Edna Goodrich, is registered at the Kahler in this city, and is seeking medical advice of local specialists. Mrs. Goodwin is accompanied by her mother and sister.

MAY EMPLOY A "DOG COP"

Receipts From Dog Taxes Have Shown a Big Falling Off.

City Losing at Least $700 Yearly in Uncollected Taxes.

The heavy drop in the receipts from dog taxes the last two years because no policeman has been detailed to collect them after they become delinquent, May 1, has made it quite probable that a blue coat will be sent out this year.

Previous to the last two years the average receipts from the dog taxes amounted to $2,200. Last year the amount collected was $1,502 and the year before last the total receipts were $1,908.

The difference amounts to about $700, or enough to pay several policemen, acting as dog catchers for the month or thereabouts that it takes to cover the city rounding up those who beat the city out of the $1.25 due for male dogs and the $5 which ought to be paid for females. In the past, no extra men have been hired, but a man from the regular force has been directed to visit the houses in the city where the owners of canines have neglected to license their pets. In view of the big difference in the receipts, the city could easily afford to put on one or two extra men for this purpose. There is no doubt but that there are as many dogs in Duluth now as three or four years ago. In fact, the natural conclusion is that there has been quite a considerable increase. The knowledge of the difference would be a check on the man or men who are collecting these taxes, as they would be expected to at least bring the tax receipts up to what they were before the special was detailed to this work, if not to increase them.

Now is the time to visit the city hall with the dog license fee in hand and turn it over to the treasurer.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

No. 1 West Superior Street.
DULUTH, MINN.

Office hours: 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

HAPPENINGS AT THE DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY.

Located at 118-120 Fourth Avenue West, Christie Building.

The college is now giving lessons by mail in Gregg or Graham shorthand at a very nominal rate. This course appeals particularly to teachers, who can by taking such a course, get a good start in the work before entering the summer class in June.

Special rates will be allowed, special classes will be organized and special courses will be given at the college for teachers and high school students, during the months of May, June, July and August. Those wishing to take advantage of these special rates are requested to notify us as early as possible.

The demand for young men graduates continues to far exceed the supply. Some of the best firms of the Northwest applied during the past week for young men, with none in evidence to recommend.

The following young people have left the college to accept the following positions:

Grace Smith, stenographer for French & Bassett.

Thomas Colbertson, stenographer for D. M. & N. R. R. Co.

Ethel Bishop, stenographer for Empire Lumber Co.

Nita Murphy, stenographer for National Candy Co.

Molly McDonnell, bookkeeper for E. Dormedy.

Lena Block, stenographer for Huntley Printing Co.

Emma Decker, bookkeeper for Duluth Street R. R. Co.

Velna Frederickson, bookkeeper for Duluth Street R. R. Co.

Mabel Echlin, stenographer for F. I. Salter.

Herbert Erickson, bookkeeper for Alabama Marble Co.

ROOM NEEDED AT HOSPITAL

Addition to St. Mary's Will Accommodate Many More Patients.

The workers for St. Mary's hospital will make every effort to see that every one wears one or more tags on the tag day for the hospital next Saturday. They will be on the street from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. and will make an energetic canvass to tag everybody and secure a substantial sum for the cause.

St. Mary's hospital was established in 1888, at Twentieth avenue west, where the St. James' orphanage now stands. Feb 5, 1898, the Sisters of St. Benedict moved into their newly-erected hospital at Fifth avenue east and Third street, where they have been caring for the sick and wounded of Duluth and vicinity since.

It is necessary to enlarge the hospital, as the sisters are unable to supply the demand for rooms and are constantly forced to refuse admission to patients. The new addition will have a frontage of seventy-two feet on Third street and will extend back to the alley. It will contain about seventy-five private rooms and several children's wards.

During the twenty-two years of the hospital's history, 30,803 patients have been cared for at St. Mary's hospital, and 3,504 of them have been charity patients. In 1909, 192 patients were treated free of charge and since the first of this year there have been 127 charity patients in the hospital.

People, who have received the kind ministrations of the sisters, or who have had friends in the hospital, will work hard for the success of the tag day, for they realize, more than anybody, the great work the sisters are doing at the hospital. A willing spirit has been shown by those who have enlisted to work on tag day and it is expected the public will respond in like spirit.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicine usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worst than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

Progressives Must File Again.

Pierre, N. D., April 23.—The state supreme court yesterday decided unanimously that a law attempting to divide the state into congressional districts is subject to the provision of the state constitution. This means that progressive Republican candidates of the state will be compelled to file new nomination petitions.

UPRISINGS ARE COMMON

Dr. Headland Says Disturbances at Changsha Are Purely Local.

Chinese Will Never Be Fighting People, Says Missionary.

Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland, who is one of the distinguished principal speakers attending the Laymen's Missionary movement convention, and who went to China nineteen years ago and has lived there ever since except for three years, does not believe that conditions at Shangsna, capital of Hunan province, are as serious as the cables from China might lead one to believe.

"The rioting at Changsha apparently has no anti-foreign element in it," said Dr. Headland this morning, after reading the dispatches received by The Herald during the last few days. "It is just a squabble among the Chinese, an internal disorder. The fact that the governor of the province was killed is evidence that the trouble is of a purely local and domestic nature, but of course when a mob runs riot some one is likely to get hurt.

"The Chinese masses are self governing, but they are patient. They will stand a certain amount of 'squeezing,' of oppression, at the hands of their rulers, but when the 'squeezing' process becomes too flagrantly oppressive they take things into their own hands. Sometimes they content themselves with looting the governor's chair as he passes through the streets, stripping it of valuables and muddying the dignitary and then letting him go. At other times, when their patience has been utterly exhausted and their rights too brutally outraged, the governor loses his life.

"The government of China makes no effort to punish the people for these outbreaks. It looks to the governor to fulfill his duties of governing, and if he governs poorly, he must pay the cost, and frequently he pays with his life.

"The province of Hunan has been strongly anti-foreign, but that was years ago, before the time when Chang Chih-Tung was governor. He was one of the early advocates of modern progress in China, before the Boxer outbreak, and he led his people to see that the foreigners were not their enemies. Chang Chih-Tung is the author of a book that has had a great influence on the Chinese mind, a book which he called 'Learn!' translated, the title is 'China's Only Hope.' It had much to do with the development of the province from a district where anti-foreign sentiment flourished to a region where foreigners are welcomed. It is one of the largest and best of the Chinese provinces. Mills, factories and other modern industries have been established.

"Changsha is the site of the new Yale educational mission. It is proposed to build there a college for the Chinese, Yale thus following the example of the universities of Oxford and Chicago. The college buildings have not yet been built, but the Yale mission probably has some buildings in the city.

Such uprisings as those now reported to be in progress are not uncommon, and they seldom result in injury to foreigners. I have been in hundreds of somewhat similar circumstances, being reviled, muddled and sometimes struck by the rioters, but never really hurt.

Was in Riot in Pekin.

"During the time of the Chinese-Japanese war, when I was in Pekin, I was walking with Mrs. Headland in the street, when an uproar arose. Mrs. Headland is a physician, being the personal medical attendant of the late dowager empress, and she was about to leave Pekin to attend a patient in a nearby town. The crowd came upon us from behind, and pushed and jostled us, shouting insulting remarks. We attempted to hurry from the crowd, but they pressed upon us, and some of the leaders surrounded us, resorting to shocking methods to insult the 'foreign devils,' being urged on by the shrill yells of derision aimed at us by street boys.

"One of the men kicked at Mrs. Headland and I placed myself between her and the Chinese, when he struck me. Then I did an unmissionary thing. My fist went out with all the force I could put into the blow and the rioter reeled and fell, stunned.

"At about this time three Chinese pushed forward and placed themselves between us and the mob, keeping the rioters back while they urged us to go on. We moved forward and the three men slowly gave way to the mob so that the whole rabble followed us. Our rescuers guided us into a narrow alley, where they had less difficulty in restraining the mob, and finally into a woodyard which was strongly walled. They closed the gates and talked to the yardman, who soon was 'won over by their argument when told we were not Japanese. He told us we could go back to the European quarter without hindrance, but we refused to do so until a Chinese cart was secured for us. This was done and as soon as it came we piled into it. No sooner were we in than the driver descended, volubly protesting, and harangued the rioters.

"He told them that he had been sent for to take a sister of one of the men to another part of the city, and he reviled the woodyard man and all his friends for the deception. Here he was with two foreign devils in his cart, and as a result he would lose his cart, for the mob would attack the foreign devils and tear the cart to pieces. And he reviled, and then reviled and at last appealed to the mob to let him go in peace with his passengers, for he was but a poor carter and they should not make him suffer on account of a couple of foreign devils. The carter-actor's acting was effective. He completely won the rioters over to his view of the situation. We proceeded on our way and the mob dispersed.

"The next day Mrs. Headland was able to go to her patient."

Dr. Headland declared that the Chinese will never be a fighting people. The highest class in China is the scholar, and the lowest the soldier. "No good man will be a soldier," is an axiom of the Chinese.

"There is no Chinese 'yellow peril,'" said he.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BIG FIGHT.

A special electric lighted train of Pullman sleepers with an observation end, buffet and dining car, will leave Duluth June 29 for San Francisco and Emeryville, Cal. If the plans of the promoters are successful the train will be occupied by fight fans on their way to see the scrap between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The train will run over the Northern Pacific to St. Paul, the Northwestern to Omaha, Burlington to Denver, Rio Grande to Salt Lake City and Southern Pacific to San Francisco. Returning the train will run by way of Portland, Or., over the Southern Pacific and to St. Paul and Duluth over the Northern Pacific.

Tickets for the round trip will include berths, meals on the train and fare. While at the fight the travelers will occupy the sleepers and will have no hotel bills to pay. One sleeper will be reserved for men accompanied by their wives or women relatives. The cost of tickets will range from $160 to $200, according to the nature of the berth occupied.

C. L. Burr, who is manager for the Wolgast-Nelson moving pictures, and a representative of the Northern Pacific, will be in charge of the special train. Mr. Burr will make reservations for seats and the fans will not have to worry about being compelled to fight in a crowd for seats or go without places of vantage from which the scrap can be seen. The $200 tickets will entitle the buyer to a $25 seat at ringside.

Fight fans from the Twin Cities, Moorehead, Fargo, Grand Forks and the ranges will travel with the Duluth fans. The trip will be of twelve days' duration.

COMPLAINTS ARE BEING MADE

Impossible to Get Connections at Courthouse During Noon Hour.

Complaints are being made against the telephone service in the new courthouse.

People who have occasion to call up the county building at the noon hour say that it is impossible to get connections.

There is installed in the courthouse a telephone exchange maintained by the Zenith Telephone company. There is but one woman employed and she leaves the building for an hour and a half each day at the noon hour. The lunch hour is not begrudged her, but many citizens claim that some one should be kept at the office during the noon hour.

Some of the telephones are left connected so that they may be called, but these offices are not always the ones wanted.

STOPS RUNAWAY TEAM.

A pretty stop of a runaway team was made on Superior street today by a clerk of the Fulz Grocery company when a team of broncbos belonging to the firm took fright and started down the street. They swung around in front of the police station and bended eastwards. The clerk saw them breaking away and started after them. Outsprinting them he caught hold of the back of the wagon at Second avenue east and gathering up the reins had them under control before they had gone a block and a half. The company has had trouble with the team before.

RAILROADS

WILL SPEND HUGE SUMS

N. P. Work at Head of Lakes Alone Will Cost $200,000.

Supt. K. M. Nicolls of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific road, who recently has made a trip of inspection over the lines within his jurisdiction, supplied some figures today that indicate the extent of the work to be done this year by that road.

Approximately $715,000 will be spent by the road for improvements of all kinds, including additional trackage at the Head of the Lakes, additional side tracks on the division, improvement of roadbeds and depot buildings.

In Duluth on Docks Nos. 1 and 2, a sum estimated at $196,412 will be expended. The new Dock No. 1, replacing the one burned two years ago, will be ready for occupation about June 1, and repairs on Dock No. 2, which will begin in a few days, will be completed Aug. 15.

The road is laying fifty miles of ninety-pound steel rail on the lines between Duluth and St. Paul and is laying heavier second grade rail on the Ashland line. The cost of these improvements will total $170,650.

In addition the road is spending $120,00 for improvements on the St. Paul line, widening the banks and putting in new ballast.

EQUIPPING LINES WITH TELEPHONES.

The Great Northern Railway company has ordered telephone equipment for six more important divisions of its system. It already has about 2,100 miles of line in operation and when the newest equipment is installed it will have added 1,900 more miles. The extension includes the Fergus Falls, Breckenridge, Northern Dakota, St. Cloud and Cascade divsions. With the addition completed the Great Northern will have telephones in operation over all its main lines from Minneapolis and Duluth to Seattle and Vancouver, including 290 stations and 350 sidings and way stations.

Omaha Road's New Counsel.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—Announcement is made of the appointment of James B. Sheehan of St. Paul as general solicitor of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway. He succeeds the late Judge Thomas Wilson, who died three weeks ago.

REV. A. H. WURTELE WILL BE HOME MAY 5.

Rev. A. H. Wurtele, dean of Trinity Pro-Cathedral, expects to be back in Duluth May 5, according to a letter received from him this morning. He leaves England for New York on the return trip today.

Mr. Wurtele says he had a pleasant voyage across the water and is greatly benefitted in health by his trip.

NAVAL MILITIA WILL BE REVIEWED.

The annual parade and review of the naval militia will be held in the Armory, Monday evening. Medals will be given to those entitled to them for "faithful service."

H. R. Spencer and Mayor M. B. Cullum will review the battalion. The mayor will present the medals. The band will play for the review. Members and friends will dance after the exercises. White mustering uniforms will be worn. Commander Eaton will be in charge and will present the battalion to the reviewing party.

Superior Men Better Paid.

It is claimed that the Duluth fire chief and his assistants are better paid than the men holding similar positions in Superior, but that all those ranking below that grade are better paid in Superior than in Duluth. The men in Superior are also said to get one day off in seven while those in Duluth get but one day off in ten.

Church Services.

At St. John's English Lutheran church, Lake avenue and Third street, Rev. A. J. Reichert of Red wing, Minn., will preach at both morning and evening services tomorrow.

At the Second Presbyterian church, Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street, Rev. Joseph B. Astwood will preach at 10:45 a. m. tomorrow.

The regular meeting of the Bishop's club will be held Tuesday evening at the clubrooms. The leader will be Mrs. J. M. Rooley of Superior and the study of Italian art will be continued.

A Tag-Day Meeting

Will be held in the parlors of St. Mary's hospital next Monday, April 25, at 3:30 p. m., to arrange for tag day. All the lady lieutenants and helpers are cordially invited to be present at this meting as are also all ladies volunteering their services for this good cause. Tag day is next Saturday, April 30.

Looking for Her Son.

Mrs. W. A. Jones of 12 Carlyle road, Birmingham, Eng., has written to Clerk J. P. Johnson of the district court, asking for news of her son, Harry Reginald Jones, 28 years old, who has been missing for a number of years. She states that he worked for the Alger-Smith company near Two Harbors, some three years ago.

Alumnae Will Meet.

The Duluth branch of the Association of Collegiate alumnae will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. C. K. Dickerman at her home at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Sixth street.

Hearing on Thursday.

Herbert Helmer, the young man arrested Thursday charged with manslaughter for killing Mrs. Hannah Monroe with the automobile he was driving at First street and Lake avenue, will have his preliminary hearing in police court Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He is out on $5,000 bonds.

New Velie Car Here.

The third Velie car to arrive in Duluth, a toy tonneau, was received this week by T. F. McCarthy, the local Velie agent. The car has been greatly admired by those who have seen it for its graceful lines, beautiful finish, quietness and ability to climb the hills of Duluth easily. The car has 40-horse power and a long stroke motor of especial durability. The car has been popular elsewhere and is expected to make many friends here.

Search for Superior Boy.

The Duluth police have been requested by the authorities at Superior, Wis., to help find Arthur Anderson, 13 years of age, who has been missing from his home at Allouez since Thursday. No word has been heard of him and his parents are fearful that he may have been injured in some manner. The last seen of him was shortly after his father gave him $2 to spend, according to the report at headquarters. He is described as having a scar on his left check bone, a scar on his right wrist and wearing a black cap and grey striped pants.

Sunday Ball Game.

The Woodruff Lumber company baseball team will play the Lester Park team at Lester Park Sunday afternoon.

Passover Services.

Special Passover services will be held tomorrow morning at 10:45 at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street. Rabbi Lefkovits will preach on "The Optimistic Spirit of the Passover."

Superior Man Missing.

Relatives of Julius Josephs of Superior are looking for him. He was last seen last Sunday morning on a car going out to Woodland. They fear that he has wandered into the woods near the suburb. He is about five feet, five inches in height, is light, stoop-shouldered and has a prominent upper lip. He was carrying a suit case and a violin case when last seen.

Wanted in Hibbing.

Nick Nedac, Joe Bocvic and Sam Mivassa were arrested this morning on complaint of Rade Madich, a Hibbing boarding-house-keeper. Madich claimed that they had jumped a board bill. The total amount of their debt is $158, he said. They will probably be taken to Hibbing for trial.

Demanded Pay With Gun.

Joseph Trombley, against whom B. F. Howard, manager of the Millbrook Lumber company swore out a complaint yesterday for assault, was arrested this morning. He was arraigned in municipal court, pleaded guilty and was given thirty days in jail. Trombley had returned to the mill for his pay and demanded it with a gun to enforce his argument. Mr. Howard said that yesterday Trombley quit his job in violation of an agreement. When Howard remonstrated, it is said, Trombley assaulted him. Mr. Howard, who has only one arm, was quite badly beaten, it is said.

ROOM NEEDED AT HOSPITAL

Addition to St. Mary's Will Accommodate Many More Patients.

The women of St Mary's hospital make every effort to see that every one who is one or more taps on the tag day for the hospital next Saturday. They will be on the street from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. and will make an energetic canvass to be everybody and secure a substantial sum for the cause.

St Mary's hospital was established in 1888 at Fourth avenue east, while the St James orphanage now stands. Feb 7 1898 the Sisters of St Benedict moved into their newly erected hospital at Fifth avenue east and Third street where they have been caring for the sick and wounded ever since.

It is necessary to enlarge the hospital, as the sisters are unable to meet the demand for rooms and are constantly forced to refuse admission to patients. The new addition will have a frontage of seventy-two feet on Third street and will extend back to the alley. It will contain about seventy-five private rooms and several children's wards.

During the twenty-two years of the hospital's history 30,565 patients have been cared for at St Mary's hospital, and 5% of them have received charity patients. In 1905 the priests were created free of charge and since the first of the year there have been 127 charity patients in the hospital.

People who have received the kind ministrations of the sisters, or who have had friends in the hospital will work hard for the success of the tag day for they realize, more than anybody, the great work the sisters are doing at the hospital. A willing spirit has been shown by those who have enlisted to work on tag day and it is expected the public will respond in the spirit.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles due to cold or damp or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The prediction is also given confidently that rheumatism and pneumonia are very simple maladies. They are worst than useless in chronic rheumatism and muscular rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

Progressives Must File Again.

Pierre, S. D., April 23.—The state supreme court yesterday rendered unanimously that a law according to provide the state primary election district be applied to the provision of the state constitution. This means that progressive Republican candidates of the state will be compelled to file new nomination petitions.

UPRISINGS ARE COMMON

Dr. Headland Says Disturbances at Changsha Are Purely Local.

Chinese Will Never Be Fighting People, Says Missionary.

Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland who is one of the distinguished principal speakers attending the Laymen's Missionary movement convention, and who went to China nineteen years ago and has lived there ever since except for three years does not believe that conditions at Shangsha, capital of Hunan province, are as serious as the cables from China might lead one to believe.

"The rioting at Changsha apparently has no anti-foreign element in it," said Dr. Headland this morning, after reading the dispatches received by The Herald during the last few days. "It is just a squabble among the Chinese, an internal disorder. The fact that the governor of the province was killed is evidence that the trouble is of a purely local and domestic nature but of course when a mob runs out some one is likely to get hurt.

"The Chinese masses are well governed but they are patient. They will stand a certain amount of squeezing, of oppression, at the hands of their rulers, but when the 'squeezing' process becomes too flagrantly oppressive they take things into their own hands. Sometimes they content themselves with looting the governor's chair as he passes through the streets, stripping it of valuables and maltreating the dignitary and then letting him go. At other times, when their patience has been utterly exhausted and their rights too brutally outraged, the governor loses his life.

"The government of China makes no effort to punish the people for these outbreaks. It looks to the governor to fulfill his duties of governing, and if he governs poorly he must pay the cost and frequently he pays with his life.

"The province of Hunan has been strongly anti-foreign, but that was years ago, before the time when Chang Chih-Tung was governor and was one of the early advocates of modern progress in China, before the Boxer outbreak and he led his people to see that the foreigners were not their enemies. Chang Chih-Tung is the author of a book that has had a great influence on the Chinese mind, a book which he called 'Learn' translated, the title is 'China's Only Hope.' It had much to do with the development of the province from a district where anti-foreign sentiment flourished to a region where foreigners are welcomed. It is one of the largest and best of the Chinese provinces. Mills, factories and other modern industries have been established.

"Changsha is the site of the new Yale educational mission. It is proposed to build there a college for the Chinese. Yale thus following the example of the universities of Oxford and Cambridge. The college buildings have not yet been built, but the Yale mission probably has some buildings in that city.

"Such uprisings as those now reported to be in progress are not uncommon, and they seldom result in injury to foreigners. I have been in hundreds of somewhat similar circumstances, being reviled insulted and sometimes struck by the rioters but never really hurt.

Was in Riot in Pekin.

"During the time of the Chinese-Japanese war, when I was in Pekin, I was walking with Mrs. Headland in the street when an affray arose. Mrs. Headland is a physician, being the personal medical attendant of the late dowager empress, and she was about to leave Pekin to attend a patient in a nearby town. The crowd came upon us from behind, jostled us roughly and as I turned and justled in return, shouting insulting remarks. We attempted to hurry from the crowd, but they pressed upon us and some of the leaders surrounded us, shouting and shrieking epithets, the result of the foreign policy being urged on by the shrill cries of derision aimed at us by street boys.

"One of the men kicked at Mrs. Headland and I placed myself between her and the Chinese, when he struck me. Then I did an unmissionary thing. My self went out with all the force I could put into it. Blow and the rioter reviled and fled, stunned.

"At about this time three Chinese pressed forward and placed themselves between us and the mob, stopping the rioters back while they urged us to retreat. We moved forward and the three men slowly gave way to the mob so that the whole rabble followed us. Our rescuers guided us into a narrow alley where they had less difficulty in restraining the mob, and finally into a woodyard which was strongly walled. They closed the gates and talked to the yamdun, who soon was won over by their argument when told we were not Japanese. He told us we could go back to the European quarter without hindrance, but we refused to do so until a Chinese guard was provided for us. This was done and as soon as it came we piled into it. No sooner were we in than the driver descended, volubly protesting, and hurried off the horses.

"We told them that he had been sent for to take a sister of one of the men to another part of the city and he reviled the woodyard man and all his friends to the fifth generation. Here he was with two foreign devils in his cart and as a result he would lose his fare, for the mob would attack the cart for the foreign devils and tear the cart to pieces. And he reviled and then reviled and at last appealed to the mob to let him go in peace with his passengers for he was but a poor carter and they should not make him suffer on account of a couple of foreign devils. The carter-actor's acting was effective. He completely won the rioters over to his view of the situation. We proceeded on our way and the mob dispersed.

"The next day Mrs. Headland was able to go to her patients.

Dr. Headland declared that the Chinese will never be a fighting people. The highest class in China is the scholar, and the lowest the soldier. No good man will be a soldier, is an axiom of the Chinese.

"They're no Chinese yellow peril," said he.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BIG FIGHT.

A special electric lighted train of Pullman sleepers with an observation and buffet and dining car, will leave Duluth June 25 for San Francisco and Evansville, and if the plans of the promoters are successful the train will be crowded to fight fans on their way to see the scrap between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The train will run over the Northern Pacific to St. Paul, the Northwestern to Omaha, Burlington to Denver, Rio Grande to Salt Lake City and Southern Pacific to San Francisco, returning the train will run by way of Portland, Or., over the Southern Pacific and to St. Paul and Duluth over the Northern Pacific.

Tickets for the round trip will include berths, meals on the train and fare. While at the fight the travelers will occupy the sleepers and will have no hotel bills to pay. One sleeper will be reserved for men accompanied by their wives or women relatives. The cost of tickets will range from $100 to $200, according to the nature of the berth occupied.

C. L. Burr, who is manager for the Wolgast-Nelson moving pictures, and a representative of the Northern Pacific, will be in charge of the special train. Mr. Burr will make reservations for seats and the fans will not have to worry about being compelled to fight in a crowd for seats or go without places of vantage from which the scrap can be seen. The $200 tickets will entitle the buyer to a $25 seat at ringside.

Fight fans from the Twin Cities Moorehead, Fargo, Grand Forks and the ranges will travel with the Duluth fans. The trip will be of twelve days' duration.

COMPLAINTS ARE BEING MADE

Impossible to Get Connections at Courthouse During Noon Hour.

Complaints are being made against the telephone service in the new courthouse.

People who have occasion to call up the county building at the noon hour say that it is impossible to get connections.

There is installed in the courthouse a telephone exchange maintained by the Zenith Telephone company. There is but one woman employed and she leaves the building for an hour and a half each day at the noon hour. The lunch hour is not begrudged her, but many citizens claim that some one should be kept at the office during the noon hour.

Some of the telephones are left connected so that they may be called, but these offices are not always the ones wanted.

STOPS RUNAWAY TEAM.

A pretty step of a runaway team was made on Superior street today by a clerk of the Folz Grocery company when a team of broncbos belonging to the firm took fright and started down the street. They swung around in front of the police station and headed eastwards. The clerk saw them breaking away and started after them. Unsteppiting them he caught hold of the back of the wagon at Second avenue east and gathering up the reins had them under control before they had gone a block and a half. The company has had trouble with the team before.

RAILROADS WILL SPEND HUGE SUMS

N. P. Work at Head of Lakes Alone Will Cost $200,000.

Supt. K. M. Nicolls of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific road, who recently has made a trip of inspection over the lines within his jurisdiction, supplied some figures today that indicate the extent of the work to be done this year by that road.

Approximately $715,000 will be spent by the road for improvements of all kinds, including additional trackage at the Head of the Lakes, additional side tracks on the division, improvement of roadbeds and depot buildings.

Here in Duluth on Docks Nos. 1 and 2, a sum estimated at $196,412 will be expended. The new Dock No. 1, replacing the one burned two years ago, will be ready for occupation about June 1, and repairs on Dock No. 2, which will begin in a few days, will be completed Aug. 15.

The road is laying fifty miles of ninety-pound steel rail on the lines between Duluth and St. Paul and is laying heavier second grade rail on the Ashland line. The cost of these improvements will total $170,650.

In addition the road is spending $120,00 for improvements on the St. Paul line, widening the banks and putting in new ballast.

EQUIPPING LINES WITH TELEPHONES.

The Great Northern Railway company has ordered telephone equipment for six more important divisions of its system. It already has about 2,100 miles of line in operation and when the newest equipment is installed it will have added 1,900 more miles. The extension includes the Fergus Falls, Breckenridge, Northern Dakota, St. Cloud and Cascade divisions. With the addition completed the Great Northern will have telephones in operation over all its main lines from Minneapolis and Duluth to Seattle and Vancouver, including 290 stations and 350 sidings and way stations.

Omaha Road's New Counsel.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—Announcement is made of the appointment of James B. Sheehan of St. Paul as general solicitor of the Calcago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway. He succeeds the late Judge Thomas Wilson, who died three weeks ago.

REV. A. H. WURTELE WILL BE HOME MAY 5.

Rev. A. H. Wurtele, dean of Trinity Pro-Cathedral, expects to be back in Duluth May 5, according to a letter received from him this morning. He leaves England for New York on the return trip today.

Mr. Wurtele says he had a pleasant voyage across the water and is greatly benefited in health by his trip.

NAVAL MILITIA WILL BE REVIEWED.

The annual parade and review of the naval militia will be held in the Armory, Monday evening. Medals will be given to those entitled to them for "faithful service."

H. R. Spencer and Mayor M. E. Cullum will review the battalion. The mayor will present the medals. The band will play for the review. Members and friends will dance after the exercises. White mustering uniforms will be worn. Commander Eaton will be in charge and will present the battalion to the reviewing party.

New Velie Car Here.
The third Velie car to arrive in Duluth, a toy tonneau, was received this week by T. F. McCarthy, the local Velie agent. The car has been greatly admired by those who have seen it for its graceful lines, beautiful finish, quickness and ability to climb the hills of Duluth easily. The car has 40-horse power and a long stroke motor of especial durability. The car has been popular elsewhere and is expected to make many friends here.

Search for Superior Boy.
The Duluth police have been requested by the authorities at Superior, Wis., to help find Arthur Anderson, 13 years of age, who has been missing from his home at Allouez since Thursday. No word has been heard of him and his parents are fearful that he may have been injured in some manner. The last seen of him was shortly after his father gave him $2 to spend, according to the report at headquarters. He is described as having a scar on his left cheek bone, a scar on his right wrist and wearing a black cap and grey striped pants.

Special Passover services will be held tomorrow morning at 10:45 at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street. Rabbi Lefkowits will preach on "The Optimistic Spirit of the Passover."

Superior Man Missing.
Relatives of Julius Josephs of Superior are looking for him. He was last seen last Sunday morning on a car going out to Woodland. They fear that he has wandered into the woods near the suburb. He is about five feet, five inches in height, is light stoop-shouldered and has a prominent upper lip. He was carrying a suit case and a violin case when last seen.

Wanted in Hibbing.
Nick Nedac, Joe Bocvic and Sam Mivassa were arrested this morning on complaint of Rade Madich, a Hibbing boardinghouse-keeper. Madich claimed that they had jumped a board bill. The total amount of their debt is $158, he said. They will probably be taken to Hibbing for trial.

Demanded Pay With Gun.
Joseph Trombley, against whom B. F. Howard, manager of the Millbrook Lumber company swore out a complaint yesterday for assault, was arrested this morning. He was arraigned in municipal court, pleaded guilty and was given thirty days in jail. Trombley had returned to the mill for his pay and demanded it with a gun to enforce his argument. Mr. Howard said that yesterday Trombley quit his job in violation of an agreement. When Howard remonstrated, it is said, Trombley assaulted him. Mr. Howard, who has only one arm, was quite badly beaten, it is said.

Trades Assembly Does Not Favor Reducing Tax on Oleo.

The Duluth Trades assembly doesn't think a decrease of the federal tax on oleo will help the working man.

The assembly is of the opinion that if the tax were reduced or removed, the beef trust would reap the benefits and the consumer would get it in the neck as usual. So the assembly refused last night to pass a resolution asking Representative Miller to vote for the decrease. It l to do so by the Nation sociation.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

HIGBEE IRON CO.

President's Office at ST. PAUL, MINN.

Mines on the Famous Mesaba Iron Range in Minnesota.

R. Bacon Higbee, President, Business Builder and Counselor, St. Paul; George Salzer, Vice President, President Salzer Lumber Co., Minneapolis.

PROSPECTUS

In brief, this is our prospectus. It's brief because our company's the genuine article, and the genuine article can always be presented without expensive superfluities. Cheap propositions, like cheap people, need fine trimmings to gain attention. If you want an investment for profit, here's your chance, and if you don't say so, then we're no judges of the ability and intelligence of the people to whom this summary will be presented.

ORGANIZATION

The Higbee Iron company is incorporated for just One Hundred Thousand Dollars, divided into shares of the par value of one hundred dollars each. Think of it! Only one thousand shares! This is an exclusive company, everybody can't get in. Now, that's a business point of no small importance, for the slightest improvement in the welfare of the company means an increase of dollars, not cents, per share to every stockholder, and it is no unusual thing for companies organized on this plan to show profits of many dollars in a single day.

PROPERTY

The company owns the controlling interest in Iron Mining Lease from the State of Minnesota No. 722 on lands described as the N½ of SW¼ and E½ of NW¼ of Section 9, Township 56, Range 23, being a hundred and sixty acres located on the famous Mesaba Iron Range in the State of Minnesota, the biggest iron range in the world and from whose many mines come yearly about one-half of the world's iron ore supply. A dozen or more diamond and churn drill holes have already been put down on our land, blocking out a body of ore something like a quarter of a mile long and an eighth of a mile wide. Millions of tons of iron ore are shown to exist and many, many times as much will probably be found as development proceeds, and especially when drilling is continued deeper and over the balance of our property, seven-eighths of which has never even been touched. A great point about our mine is that the ore is only forty feet below the top of the ground, which will make it one of the easiest mines in the world to mine. Then, too, we are in good company, for on different sides of us we are adjoined by the mines and properties of the "Great Jim Hill" and the U. S. Steel company and other property of R. B. Higbee, George Salzer and the State of Minnesota.

The biggest kind of development is taking place here—here, where a few years ago was a vast timbered wilderness, are thriving towns, railroads and activity not unrivaled by the much-vaunted Panama canal. Things are doing here. It would do your heart good just to see it. No other mining equals it for stupendousness, modern business romance and picturesqueness. An Empire is in the building, and later, when the vast peat deposits are used to convert the raw ore into the finished product at the mines, the influence of the Empire that's growing fast will be reckoned with by all future generations. Here in the north woods of Minnesota—here on the banks of America's Inland Sea, is taking place a change that shall go down into history more wonderful to tell than any chapter of "Arabian Nights."

If you want to be a partner in this great drama, get busy and buy some of our shares today—tomorrow may be too late—stranger things have happened here. And then, there's one more great point about our stock. You'll never see it selling at a less price than it is today. Every share that's sold brings par or more. You can't get it for less, and it's mighty cheap at that. Mr. Salzer and myself have sold some shares to people we wanted associated with us at only a hundred dollars each, or, in other words, par; but not one of the present stockholders would think of such a thing as selling much or all of his stock at such a ridiculously low figure. Five and even six hundred dollars should be cheap for this stock, figuring on the present development alone; and future developments should, if I am any prophet, bring the ultimate returns on a share of this stock up to ten or twenty times that much.

If seeing is believing, come with us and see. Twelve dollars and twenty-four hours time will take you from the Twin Cities to the mines and back, and it's worth more than that of any man's money just to know about these things.

Dividends are expected to begin in the near future, to be increased as rapidly as circumstances will permit. Come in with us now and, as time goes on, you'll congratulate yourself on your foresight.

We're the boys on the ground. We've been pioneers and we've seen the thing grow. It will pay you to be in with us. Such co-operation will be of advantage to you in more ways than one.

Our following is increasing every day, and if you, reader, are a lover of real enterprise, invest your money with us now. For immediate acceptance we offer a few shares at a hundred dollars each. Fortune awaits the investor in this enterprise, and if you are alive to your best interests, you'll grasp the opportunity. Thanking you for your kind attention, I am,

Yours sincerely,
R. B. HIGBEE,
President.

SURVEY OF WORLD FIELD BY WORKERS FROM FRONT

Speakers Tell Needs of Various Countries at Morning Meeting.

China, Korea, Burmah, India and Africa All Touched Upon.

Fired with enthusiasm for the cause of foreign missions by the eloquent addresses heard at the banquet that opened the Duluth convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement last evening, the men who have enrolled themselves under the banner of the gospel gathered this morning in the First Methodist church for the first session.

While the attendance was necessarily much smaller than that of last evening, there was a large assemblage in the auditorium, and the most sincere and earnest interest in the work undertaken by the convention was evinced by the men present.

The topic that occupied the attention of the convention this morning was "A Survey of the World Field by Missionaries From the Front." These missionaries from the front are all distinguished members of the army that is spreading the gospel in foreign lands. Detailed stories of their work and experiences since they entered the field would make many books, and all of them would be crammed with narratives of martyr deeds and perils bravely met and heroically overcome.

Facts about the work of missionaries in Africa were told by G. Clifford Cress, while J. P. Jones, who has been described as the greatest living authority on Indian affairs, outlined the conditions that obtain in India. Ola Hanson, who is one of the most famous linguists engaged in missionary work, possessing a practical knowledge and use of more than a dozen languages and an acquaintance with more, spoke on Burmah.

Korea and its needs and aspirations in its time of transition from the state of a hermit but independent kingdom to that of a province of Japan, were discussed by George Heber Jones, and Dr. H. Percy Silver, formerly a chaplain in the army, told of what he had observed as to the spiritual conditions of the Filipinos.

Isaac Taylor Headland, Ph. D., of the University of Pekin, the author of many books and magazine articles on the subject of China, who also will speak this evening, gave an instructive and optimistic talk on some phases of the work in that country, enlarging on the need that China has for a higher religion before it can become a great modern nation.

Bishop John E. Robinson of India closed the morning program with a review of the general situation as set forth by the speakers preceding him, discussing the church's need for a world field.

At 12:30 a luncheon for ministers and invited guests was served at the Y. M. C. A., where the midday period was pleasantly spent by about 100 clergymen and laymen.

At the afternoon session, which began at 2:30 o'clock, there was a conference, conducted by Dr. J. B. Trimble, field secretary of the movement, on "How to Enlist the Men of the Church in the Work of Evangelizing the World." The speakers discussed the agencies that may be employed to bring about this general enlistment, following which Bishop Lewis of China told of the need for this united effort and demonstrated in forceful sentences what would be the result of the adoption of business system on the "firing line."

Following is the complete program of the sessions today and tomorrow:

CURRENT PROCTOR NOTES.

Junior Baseball Dance and Other Late Happenings.

Proctor, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dance given at the village hall by the Proctor Junior baseball team last evening, was a decided success. The hall was tastefully decorated in red and white crepe paper and evergreen was used profusely about the stage. Blewett's orchestra furnished the music to the satisfaction of all. Supper was served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Spornitz are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, Sunday, April 17.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Code on Sunday, April 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koons returned Saturday from their month's visit with relatives in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Riley returned Friday from their wedding trip to St. Paul and Wittrow, Minn.

Fred Spearman has sold his residence on Main street to Charles Yahn, who took possession on Monday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Spearman have taken the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Yahn.

William McWatty has disposed of his property here to Mr. La Casse, a train man on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway. Mr. McWatty has purchased a modern house on Grand avenue, West Duluth, and will move his family the first of next week.

William Green took his little daughter to St. Paul this week to consult a specialist, as she has not yet regained her usual strength since having infantile paralysis.

George Mowat has returned to resume his duties on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, after spending the winter in Canada.

Proctor Lodge, I. O. O. F. will give a basket social at the hall on May 17. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the new I. O. O. F. hall.

The card party given by the ladies of St. Rose's church at the hall Tuesday evening proved to be a great success. The prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies' head prize, Mrs. Baker; gentlemen's head prize, Fred Laberdie; ladies' consolation prize, Miss Lizzie Doyle; gentlemen's consolation prize, Van Denbender.

Charles Towner's family is quarantined with scarlet fever, the little boy being ill with the disease.

The family of Frank Murray has been placed under quarantine owing to the illness of his daughter, Marguerite, with scarlet fever.

George Graham, who spent the winter in Michigan and Florida, returned to resume his duties on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway.

A meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon to commemorate the ninety-first anniversary of the organization of the I. O. O. F. Rev. C. W. Ranshaw will speak.

G. F. Schroeder was chosen as marshal of the village to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. P. Murray. Mr. Schroeder will take up his new duties on May 1.

Tom Williams returned to Proctor this week from Michigan, bringing his family with him. He will take up his duties on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway.

Packers Lose Appeal.

Trenton, N. J., April 23.—The state supreme court has rendered an opinion affirming the decision of Supreme Court Justice Swaysee, in which the National Packing company and other beef packing concerns were ordered to bring their books within the state of New Jersey for the purpose of examination by the Hudson county grand jury.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Copper-Bearing Oak Tree Is Found Near the University.

Course in Stenography and Typewriting at the Summer School.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A copper-bearing tree is a freak recently found in the neighborhood of the university. While cutting down a dead stump of an oak, workmen found peculiar yellow spots in the grain of the wood. A branch was brought to Dean Frankforter, who found upon examination, that all the pores were covered by a thin film of copper, which was 99 9-10 pure. Dr. Frankforter says that copper is native here and may have been absorbed in that way or from refuse dumped on a vacant lot. In looking up records, the dean finds only one other case like this one. A tree in South America, which grew close to a vein of gold, took particles in much the same way.

For the first time a course in stenography and typewriting is to be offered at the university summer school. The course is composed of lectures on stenography and classes in typewriting. James Ford is to have charge of this course, which consists of:

1st. A combined course, including lectures and recitations on the principles of Gregg shorthand, with practice in reading, phrase writing, speed development, and in the touch method of operating the typewriter.

2nd. Typewriting. A separate course in the touch method of operating the machine, designed to develop accuracy and speed.

Dr. John Leo Coulter of the economics department has tendered his resignation in order to accept a position under the government. Dr. Coulter was offered a position as statistician in Washington, D. C., last year, but the regents increased his salary and gave him two assistants in order to keep him. The authorities of Washington have made a flattering advancement in their former offer to Dr. Coulter. He has accepted the offer. His resignation has not yet been acted on by the regents, and it is possible that Dr. Coulter may be granted a two-years' leave of absence without pay, instead of his resignation.

Eugene Rovtiar from Madagascar, and Christopher L. Faye from Zululand, are two African students enrolled at the university. Both received their earliest education in mission schools conducted by the Norwegian Mission society, where they acquired a complete mastery of the Norwegian language. They were both sent by the same society to study in this country, the former to St. Olaf college, and the latter to the Hamline Divinity school, and both are now pursuing post-graduate courses at the university. They are both students of theology and expect to return to their native home as missionaries.

Oliver Bowles of the geology department has compiled a hand book on rock study, which will be of great assistance to students interested in geological formations. The main feature of the book is a table by which the classification of rock formations may be determined. By its aid, inexperienced students will be enabled to properly classify rocks which they examine.

DULUTH SHIVERS IN WINTRY STORM

Weather Bureau Predicts Continuation of Prevailing Unfavorable Conditions.

Duluth is shivering in a forty-mile blast from the northeast and temperatures running down as low as 16 deg. The storm started yesterday afternoon, but in was unaccompanied by snow until this morning. The wind increased in velocity and the temperature dropped during the night and this morning furs and heavy clothing were called into play.

The storm is general and is comparatively mild in Duluth. In the northern peninsula of Michigan, street car traffic is blocked by a heavy snowfall that was drifted by a fifty-mile wind. Marinette, Wis., reports two feet of snow and Milwaukee six inches. Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas also share in the unseasonable disturbance.

There will be another hard freeze in Duluth tonight, according to the predictions of the weather bureau this morning and a continuation of present conditions that will make one think that winter has come back for a final playful frisk before going into the final sleep.

COST OF LIVING INQUIRY UNDER FIRE IN SENATE.

Washington, April 23.—Charging partisan motives on the part of the movers of the "cost of living" inquiry, which is proceeding under the direction of a special senate committee of which Senator Lodge is chairman, Senator Hughes of Colorado yesterday prevented a vote on the resolution to appropriate $65,000 to continue the work. Democratic senators have prevented a vote on the resolution every day for nearly a week.

Berlin Strike Settled.

Berlin, April 23.—The award of the trades' arbitration court, which grants the workmen a small increase in wages beginning Aug. 13, and a further increase Oct. 1, was accepted last night at general meetings made up of workers and employers. This will terminate the general strike in the building trades in Berlin. The agreement is to remain in force three years from April 1. The workmen continue to subscribe large sums for the support of the man who are locked out in other districts.

SAYS WEST WILL FURNISH LEADERS

Woodrow Wilson Talks of Retirement of Aldrich and Hale.

New York, April 23.—Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university, is glad Senators Aldrich and Hale are going to retire. He said last night as he addressed the gathering in the Methodist church at Ridgewood, N. J.

"We are told that come of the senators who are leaders in the United States senate are about to retire. I hope this is so. Their places as leaders will be taken by gentlemen from parts we call the Middle West. From this region our leaders are to come. The point of view is to shift."

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Basing its faith on the argument that the Sixth district will be the scene of the heaviest fighting in the coming campaign, because "more dissatisfaction exists here than in any other part of the state," the Foley Independent concludes that George E. Hanscom, the Foley candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, is likely to get extraordinary consideration.

"His nomination would add a great deal of strength to the ticket in the Sixth district," says the Independent.

Optimism is a good and a commendable thing, but in view of the rapid strides in public favor that are being made by Walter J. Smith of Eveleth, also a candidate for this nomination, the confidence of the Independent may be overdrawn. The friends of Mayor Smith have no quarrel with Mr. Hanscom, and no inclination to pick one, but they feel, it is said, that the Eighth district has the call on the state treasurership this year.

This feeling is being strengthened daily by the advices they are receiving from different parts of the state, according to current report.

Senator Nelson is called sharply to account by the Litchfield Independent for his tactics in conducting the Ballinger investigation, declaring that the senior Minnesota senator "has been showing his disposition to favor whitewashing him."

• • •

J. A. Hendricks of Fosston, who is being put forward as the candidate of Eastern Polk county for the state house of representatives, is getting considerable favorable notice in the press of that part of the state. He is a well-known lawyer and his large acquaintance in the district makes him a contender to be reckoned with by his opponents.

"He has been a splendid official," is the comment of the Hibbing Mesaba ore in mentioning the fact that County Attorney Norton is a candidate for renomination.

• • •

S. P. Wimmer of Albany, Stearns county, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative from the Fifty-fourth legislative district. Mr. Wimmer is a prominent and popular resident of Albany and he has a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the district. He is expected to make a good run, and if he enjoys even ordinary fortune, should be elected. In announcing that he wants the votes of Stearns county Democrats he says: "If elected, I will work and vote for the measures that will be of benefit to all the people." Which is good doctrine for Stearns or any other county.

A job "as is a job," declares the Madison Independent Press, confronts the Minnesota Republican platform makers, which goes on to say that:

"First the administration at Washington must be endowed and the party must "point with pride" to the recently enacted tariff law which both senators and eight of our representatives voted against. Then there must be some more "pointing with pride" to the splendid achievements of our delegation in congress which has talked on everything the administration has done or tried to do. Then they must put in a plank to please the local option by counties that will not scare the liquor interests away from the party. Then they must meet the demands of those who want a tonnage tax without saying something that will put the iron range people against the party. Then—but there is no use mentioning all the things which the party must or must not do to hold itself firmly together for the campaign that is just at hand. The task is a difficult one and the platform builders must needs be men who can make glittering generalities look and read like an honest declaration of political faith. That's the way the thing looks, now.

Deciding that it's a "case of damned if you do and damned if you don't, the Madison paper takes a decidedly gloomy view of the situation from the Republican point of view.

The chief executives of the three Minnesota communities are brothers. Robert Meyer's election as mayor of Waseca recently completed the trio of triumphs, one of his brothers being mayor of Mankato and the other being mayor of the village of Claremont. The news item that imparts this information fails to indicate the size of the family of Meyer, or whether there "are any more at home" like them.

The St. Cloud Times, commenting on William E. Lee's announcement that he would just as soon be governor, remarks: "Having been away from home he is not aware that John Lind has been picked for the place."

The Staples World, in common with all the Northern Minnesota papers, looks upon candidacies for lieutenant governor with a scrutinizing eye and with reapportionment as the main and determining consideration. Speaking of the candidacy of Dr. J. A. Gates of Kenyon, the World says:

"So far as we know he is well qualified for the position, and Goodhue county may lay claim to the office because it has been many years since it was represented on the Republican ticket, but before the delegates to the convention select any candidates they should be pledged to use their best endeavors with their local candidates for the legislation to secure the latter's support for a just reapportionment.

"Northern Minnesota has a big representation in the convention. It can secure such pledges if it will work for it. And after the primaries let each nominee on the state ticket show his faith by his works. . . . The question of reapportionment will be a live issue especially in Northern Minnesota, in fact we might say it will be the leading issue—is so now. There are other issues, but reapportionment should be made paramount."

"There are many in Northern Minnesota who realize what 'taxation without representation' means and they may sign a new 'declaration' November 8, 1910."

M. N. Koll of Cass Lake, who has recently been boomed more or less for state auditor, but hasn't risen to the bait, writes in the Cass Lake Times of fit legislative timber, saying:

"I believe that the time has come in Northern Minnesota politics when we need men in the legislature who are by nature of an uncompromising disposition. uch men are not always popular even at home, but in the great fight which Northern Minnesota has before it in the next legislature I believe we should have men who dare to stand for what is right, and will be willing to compromise. I believe that Charles W. LaDu is by nature of an uncompromising disposition, and I really believe that there never was a time when we stood more in need of a man who is known to have such a disposition. This is more particularly true in view of the fact that he has pledged himself to stand squarely on the platform of the Northern Minnesota Delevopment association he stands squarely upon that platform and will furnish a good center to build around so solidly that the other fellows will be willing to give us what in all fairness we are entitled to."

The International Falls Echo, evincing not the slightest admiration for Mr. Koll, devotes considerable space to the business of lambasting that gentleman and praising Mr. La Du, winding up in this wise:

"One day some one whispered to Koll that he ought to go to the legislature. Koll bowled back that he didn't want to go. And he has been howling quite vociferously ever since although the whispering has ceased long ago. If Koll would pull off his gum boots he would probably get some support as a legislative candidate."

CONTINUED COLD

Winter came back last night, chased Spring through the left field fence and took the spotlight all to himself. He's a great old joker, is Winter, with his chilling blasts, freezing temperatures and snowfall. Duluth can stand a little of this brand of weather, however. It's nothing to what we get in January, and Spring is surely coming, even though it doesn't come to stay until the Fourth of July, or thereabouts. The lowest temperature last night was 16 deg., and the wind attained a velocity of forty miles an hour this morning. A continuation of prevailing conditions, with another hard freeze, is expected tonight.

Bright cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:05, and it will set at 7:07, giving 14 hours and 2 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Iowa-Missouri storm has moved its center to Lake Michigan. During the past twenty-four hours it caused brisk to high northerly to westerly winds and light to heavy falls of snow or rain in the Lake region and rains in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and Southeastern states. The Alberta high pressure has advanced its center to Manitoba and has caused freezing weather in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa. The lowest temperature reported was 12 deg. above zero, at Minnedosa, Man., while at Duluth the lowest point reach last night was 16 deg. above zero.

"A severe freeze will occur again at the Head of the Lakes tonight.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 23.—Following are the forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT MAKES ADDRESS ON DUTIES OF CITIZENS

in other words, for the strenuous life. He said the aim of the American ideals as enunciated by Roosevelt was the development of an American soul, one and inseparable, regardless of the differences of politics or religion.

Talks of America.

While America was open to all comers, declared M. Boutroux, is recognized as the citizens only those who were entirely and exclusively Americans in heart and aspiration. The American spirit, he said, consists of love of national independence, faith in the power of honest effort, respect for human dignity and religious tolerance. He dwelt particularly upon Roosevelt's theory regarding the duty of the rich, which he said substituted "richesse oblige" for "noblesse oblige."

Continuing, M. Boutroux said that society does not owe happiness to all persons, but owes to all the possibility of an honest, comfortable life. The man without fortune should first work for his family, and with a fortune, he should work for the public good. To devote life to amassing gold was ignoble. It was necessary to teach all the doctrine of work; to men of fortune the doctrine of work without remuneration.

Such, said M. Boutroux were the doctrines of the man whom America recognizes as its most authoritative representative. Whatever return would be marked with spontaneous and universal enthusiasm.

Lesson to Be Learned.

"It is our duty," said M. Boutroux in conclusion, "to consider whether we cannot learn a lesson from contemporaneous America."

The speech of M. Liard, vice-rector of the University of Paris, in introducing Col. Roosevelt, was felicitious. After thanking the American ex-president for accepting the invitation of the university, M. Liard said the university particularly wished its students to hear "the greatest voice of the New World, that of the man who speaks by action as well as words, giving to the world counsels full of energy—justice as the end and energy as the means," that of Roosevelt, the man who believed that life's intense effort should be directed towards the public weal and honesty.

To Roosevelt Directly.

Turnig to Col. Roosevelt, M. Liard said:

"You denounce the idle and the useless, but you combat also the mischief-makers and the selfish. You do not separate morality from politics nor right from force. You are a rough soldier and a pacific thinker and a man of action, a preacher of high virtue and a living example of the virtues you preach."

"America," the speaker continued, "recognized in Roosevelt the embodiment of its most noblest traits, but in his journey across Europe the nations perceived in him something more—the representative of a larger ideal than that of country or of race—the champion of right and justice among the peoples. The University of Paris, was even the teacher of the ideas on which French genius is built—reason, justice and humanity; and the principle of progress of civilization is dependent on the grandeur of these moral forces.

"These are your ideas also," declared M. Liard in conclusion. "Like other Americans who have come to address us you will see that America and France are sisters not only by common tradition, but also by community of many ideas and sentiments guiding them in the pathways of the future."

In his lecture Col. Roosevelt spoke on individual citizenship in the republics of France and the United States. In part he said:

"With you here, and with us in my own home, in the long run, success or failure will be conditioned upon the way in which the average man, the average woman, does his or her duty first in the ordinary, every-day affairs of life, and next in those great occasional crises which call for the heroic virtues.

"My position as regards the monied interests can be put in a few words. In every civilized society property rights must be carefully safeguarded. Ordinarily and in the great majority of cases human rights and property rights are fundamental and, in the long run, identical; but when it clearly appears that there is a real conflict between them, human rights must have the upper hand; for property belongs to man and not man to property.

Where Success Rests.

"The average citizen must be a good citizen if our republics are to succeed. The stream will not permanently rise higher than the main source; and the main source of national power and national greatness is found in the average citizenship of the nation. Therefore it behooves us to do our best to see that the standard of the average citizen is kept high; and the average cannot be kept high unless the standard of the leaders is very much higher.

"It is well if a large proportion of the leaders in any republic, in any democracy, are, as a matter of course, drawn from the classes represented in this audience today; but only provided that those classes possess and cherish sympathy with plain people and of devotion to great ideals. You and those like you have received special advantages; you have all of you had the opportunity for mental training; many of you have had leisure; most of you have had a chance for the enjoyment of life far greater than comes to the majority of your fellows. To you and your kind much has been given, and from you much should be expected.

Critic Not the Great Factor.

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasm, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.

"Shame on the man of cultivated taste who permits refinement to develop him in a fastidiousness that unfits him for doing the rough work of a workaday world! Among the free peoples who govern themselves there is but a small field of usefulness open for the men of cloistered life who shrink from contact with their fellows. Still less room is there for those who deride or slight what is done by those who actually bear the brunt of the day; nor yet for those others who always profess that they would like to take action, if only the conditions of life were not what they actually are.

Qualities That Count Most.

"I pay all homage to intellect, and to elaborate and specialized training of the intellect; and yet I know I shall have the assent of all of you present when I add that more important still are the commonplace, every-day qualities and virtues.

"Such ordinary, every-day qualities include the will and the power to work, to fight at need, and to have plenty of healthy children. There are a few people in every country so born that they can lead lives of pleasure. These fill a useful function if they make it evident that leisure does not mean idleness. But the average man must earn his own livelihood. He should be trained to do so, and he should be trained to feel that he occupies a contemptible position if he does not do so; that he is not an object of envy if he is idle, at whichever end of the social scale he stands, but an object of contempt, an object of derision.

War and Its Critics.

"In the next place, the good man should be both a strong and a brave man; that is, he should be able to fight, he should be able to serve his country as a soldier if the need arises. There are well-meaning philosophers, who declaim against the unrighteousness of war. They are right only if they lay all their emphasis upon the unrighteousness.

"War is a dreadful thing, an unjust war is a crime against humanity. But it is such a crime because it is unjust, not because it is war. The choice must ever be in favor of righteousness, and this whether the alternative be peace or whether the alternative be war. The question must not be merely, 'Is there to be peace or war?' The question must be, 'Is the right to prevail? Are the great laws of righteousness once more to be fulfilled?' And the answer from a strong and virile people must be, 'Yes,' whatever the cost.

To Inherit the Land.

"Finally, even more important than ability to work, even more important than ability to fight at need, is it to remember that the chief of blessings for any nation is that it shall leave its seed to inherit the land. It was the crown of blessings in Biblical times; and it is the crown of blessings now.

"The greatest of all curses is the curse of sterility, and the severest of all condemnations should be that visited upon wilful sterility. The first essential for any civilization is that the man and woman shall be father and mother of healthy children, so that the race shall increase and not decrease. If this is not so, it is through no fault of the society there is failure to increase, it is a great misfortune. If the failure is due to deliberate and wilful fault, then it is not merely a misfortune, it is one of those crimes of ease and self-indulgence, of shrinking from pain and effort and risk, which in the long run nature punishes more heavily than any other.

Crime of Race Suicide.

"If we of the great republics, if we, the free people who claim to have emancipated ourselves from the thraldom of wrong and error, bring down on our heads the curse that comes upon the wilfully sterile, then it will be an idle waste of breath to prattle of our achievements, to boast of all that we have done. No refinement of life, no delicacy of taste, no material progress, no spread of the blessings of riches, no sensuous development of art and literature, can in any way compensate for the loss of the great fundamental virtues; and of these the fundamental virtue, the greatest is the race's power to perpetuate the race.

"In short, the good citizen in a republic must realize that he ought to possess two sets of qualities, and that neither is worth while without the other. He must have those qualities which make for efficiency; and he must also have those qualities which direct the efficiency to the end that it may do good. He is useless if he is inefficient. There is nothing to be done with that type of citizen of whom all that can be said is that he is harmless.

"The Timid Good Man."

"Virtue which is dependent upon a sluggish circulation is not impressive. There is little place in active life for the timid good man. The man who is enslaved by weakness from robust wickedness is likewise rendered immune from the robuster virtues. The good citizen in a republic must first of all be able to govern his own. He is no good citizen unless he has the ability which will make him work hard and which at need will make him fight hard. The good citizen is not a good citizen unless he is an efficient citizen.

"There are plenty of men calling themselves Socialists with whom, up to a given point, it is quite possible to work. If the next step is one which both we and they wish to take, why, of course take it, without any regard to the fact that our views as to the tenth step may differ. But, on the other hand, keep clearly in mind that, though it has been worth while to take one step, this does not in the least mean that it may not be highly disadvantageous to take the next.

Right of Minorities.

"The good citizen will demand liberty for himself, and as a matter of pride he will see to it that others receive the liberty which he thus claims as his own.

"Probably the best test of true liberty in any country is the way in which minorities are treated in that country. Not only should there be complete liberty in matters of religion and opinion, but complete liberty for each man to lead his life as he desires, provided only that in so doing he does not wrong his neighbor."

Guest of French President.

President and Mme. Fallieres last night gave a dinner of 104 covers at the Elysee palace in honor of Theodore Roosevelt. The palace was brilliantly illuminated and the Republic Guard lined the stairways. The assemblage was a notable one.

President Fallieres took out Mrs. Roosevelt, who looked charming in a blue brocade gown, embroidered with gold and crystal ornaments, while Col. Roosevelt escorted Mme. Fallieres. Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who wore a gown of pink satin, was escorted by M. Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States.

Among the other distinguished guests were Ambassador and Mrs. Bacon, former president and Mme. Loubet, Premier Briand, foreign minister and Mme. Pichon and other members of the cabinet and their wives; M. Pallain, governor of the Bank of France; Gen. Dalstein, military governor of Paris; Gen. Brugere, former commanding general of the army; Gen. Brun minister of war; Leon Bourgedis, former minister of foreign affairs; Louis Renault, permanent delegate to The Hague tribunal from France; Baron d'Estournelles de Constant and the Baroness de Constant and Frank H. Mason, the American consul-general, and Mrs. Mason; M. Croisot, dean of the faculty of letters of the Sorbonne; Henri Barboux, chief of the Corporation of Barristers; Admiral de Ford and M. Boutroux, professor of philosophy in the University of Paris.

During the dinner, which was served in the gorgeous Salle des Fetes, which is hung in priceless Gobelins, the band of the Republican Guards gave a musical program.

Toasted by Fallieres.

In proposing Col. Roosevelt's health, President Fallieres said:

"I cannot allow the dinner to terminate without seizing the occasion to offer a toast to Theodore Roosevelt—an illustrious man who is at the same time a great citizen, a great friend of France and a great friend of peace. I lift my glass also in honor of Mrs. Roosevelt, to whom goes out the homage of our respectful sympathy. I congratulate myself at being able to tell our guests how happy we are to receive and fete them."

Col. Roosevelt replied in French, saying he was profoundly touched by the words of President Fallieres.

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I," the American said, "never will forget the welcome we have received in France, especially from you, Mr. President.

Cradle of Civilization.

"Made to understand and love each other, our two countries have been friends from the beginning, and no doubt always will remain friends. Every civilized man who comes to France learns something, because France is the cradle of modern civilization. Even today I have learned much, and one thing in particular which will appear in my lecture tomorrow.

"I raise my glass in honor of the president of the republic and Mrs. Fallieres, whose grateful guests we are tonight."

A reception followed the dinner, to which many other notables of the French literary and scientific world and a number of prominent persons of the American colony, including William K. Vanderbilt, were invited to meet Col. Roosevelt. During the reception a literary and musical program was given by artists from the Comedie Francaise and the opera. Mary Garden and M. Saleza sang the duet from "Romeo and Juliet" and M. Mounet-Sully and Mme. Bartet recited by weakness from robust wickedness is likewise rendered immune from the robuster virtues. Spring-Cleaning

The Human System Needs It.

Mrs. M. Morgan, 411 4th Ave. E., Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I take from one to two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring to purify the blood just as regularly as I do my house-cleaning, and go around light-footed and light-hearted. I believe it is the best blood purifier known."

Hood's Sarsaparilla so combines the curative principles of roots, barks and herbs as to raise them to their highest efficiency; hence its unequaled cures.

Fruit Hard Hit.

Galesburg, Ill., April 23.—The last vestige of fruit growers' hope disappeared in this vicinity when a temperature of 18 deg. above zero was reached during the night.

Anxiety in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 23.—Throughout Indiana anxiety is reported today as to the disastrous effect of the wintry spring upon growing crops in general. In every section of the state a cold wind drove rain, turning to snow, during the night, and in the early hours today the temperature dropped below the freezing point.

Loss of Millions in Indiana.

La Porte, Ind., April 24.—The heavy frosts and cold weather last night and this morning is said to have killed practically all the fruit in Northern Indiana, according to statements today from fruit growers. All fruit trees in blossom, this including all early varieties of peaches, cherries, pears and plums, suffered. Snow fell throughout Northern Indiana during the greater part of the morning. One large fruit grower declared the loss in Northern Indiana will reach millions of dollars.

Freezing in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., April 23.—Freezing temperatures prevailed last night and early this morning in Kansas, in the northern half of Missouri and generally throughout Iowa and Nebraska, ranging from 24 deg. above zero in Iowa to 32 in Missouri. There was a heavy frost at Concordia, Kan. Damage to fruit is feared.

The cold wave did not touch Oklahoma, Arkansas or Texas.

Record for 74 Years.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—This morning's below freezing temperature, 28 degrees, was the lowest St. Louis on any date after seventy-four years that records have been kept here for two hours.

turned and made a dash for the harbor.

The America went in alone owing to the shallow and narrow channel. The Robinson was following with the dredge when the tow line became entangled in the tug's wheel. While the America was going to the Robinson's assistance she struck bottom and her shoe was badly twisted. She collided with the Robinson about the same time breaking the latter tug's steam pipe and otherwise crippling her.

During the mixup the dredge struck the end of the pier, swung outside and sank.

A terrible gale was blowing and for a time it looked as though the crew was doomed, but the wind drove her near enough so that the crew could jump off on the piers.

In a blinding snow storm, the weather cold, and the dredge rocking, the men one after another leaped in safety to the piers and the dredge went to her detention alone.

This morning the story of the escape of the men and the particulars of the accident were telephoned to Capt. Vroman, manager of the Union Towing & Wrecking company by Capt. William Hoy of the tub America.

Capt. Hoy told of the thrilling manner in which the crew of the dredge had escaped and gave a vivid description of the storm that is raging all over Lake Superior. He said that the snow was in places three feet deep and that the wind was increasing in strength.

Manager A. S. McDonald of the Zenith dredge company left this morning for the scene of the accident.

MINER BREAKS LEG IN HECTOR MINE

Car Upset While Dumping Ore Falling Upon Emil Toro.

Aurora, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil Toro, a miner, broke his right leg yesterday morning at the Hector mine. He was taken to the hospital at Virginia.

It has been the custom of the skip tenders to hold the car in place with a stick of timber while the skip is being dumped and at the time that Toro was placing the prop, the skip was hoisted and dumped with such force that the car was upset.

The lander was caught under the car, which broke Toro's right leg below the knee.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Darrow are taking a trip to points of interest on the Pacific coast.

N. S. Jackson, Iron Range operator, has been transferred to Ely.

McKINLEY CASE FIRST IN STATE

Right of Mining Company to Mine Under Village Is Novel Issue.

McKinley, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — Evidence is accumulating that legal battle between the village of McKinley and the Republic Iron & Steel company as to the right of the company to remove ore from underneath the village will develop into a battle royal in the courts.

Acting under instructions from the property owners Attorney N. B. Arnold of Virginia, went to Duluth this week to consult with Attorneys Baldwin, who are to be associated with Mr. Arnold in the case.

More Mining Than Claimed.

It is claimed by local people that since they practically decided to fight the company that the underground work at the Wills mine under the town has been even more pronounced than was the case previously. This is taken to mean that the company has decided to meet the issue in the courts, if necessary. The property owners are keeping close track of the work being done, and now claim that they believe that operations have extended to a point where there is danger of a cave-in in the vicinity of the village hall.

First Case of Kind.

So far as is known to the present time a case of this kind has never been brought to the attention of the courts of Minnesota. The point to be raised is to test the right of a mining company that owns the ore under houses of human habitation to go underneath without the consent of the owners of the property. The company claims that it is merely drifting —making small passages to determine the amount of ore. McKinley people believe regular mining is being done.

NEW BIWABIK STORE.

Duluth Architects Have Prepared Plans for Fine Structure.

Biwabik, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bray & Nystrom, Duluth architects, have prepared plans for a two-story brick store and flat building to be erected here for Max Cohen.

The building will be 50x100 feet. The first floor will be occupied by Mr. Cohen and the second floor will be divided into apartments. The building will cost about $15,000.

FIRST AURORA BALL GAME.

Will Be Played on Sunday If the Weather Man Permits.

Aurora, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aurora fans will be treated to their first game of the season tomorrow, when the candidates for positions on the team will line up against the strong team representing the Aurora Mercantile company.

There was some delay this season in securing grounds, but it is definitely decided now to use the old grounds.

Tomorrow's game promises to be a heavy one, providing the weather permits the game. The mercantile company's team is composed of fast players and there are also many fast men who are candidates for the regular team. The company team has announced their intention of winning the game hands down, but Manager Murphy of the regulars thinks otherwise. Murphy is a nephew of the Charles Murphy of Chicago, and is a "heady" manager, and the fans have the utmost confidence in his ability to place on the field a winning combination.

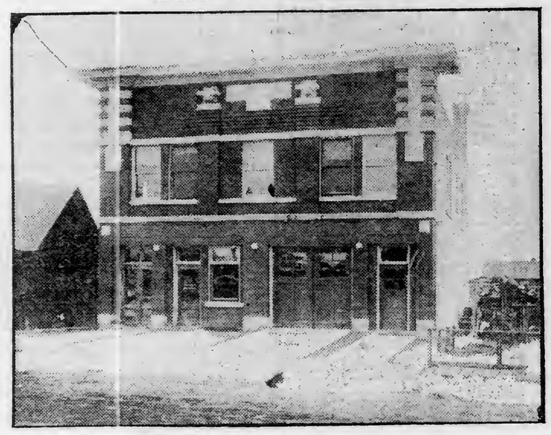
Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say good-bye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend one, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 94 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.



It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

FOR BETTER ROADS.

Lake County Automobile Association Has Been Formed.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the idea of securing better roads in Lake county, six local automobilists at a dinner held Thursday, organized the Lake County Automobile association.

Dr. J. D. Budd was elected president; Thomas Owens, vice president; F. E. Evans, secretary, and Iver Amundson, treasurer.

The following committees were appointed: Committee on constitution and bylaws, Thomas Owens, P. J. MacAlpine and Peter Le Clair; committee on legislation and good roads, D. H. Lawrence, Dr. J. D. Budd and H. S. Bryan; committee on finance, D. B. Pace, J. M. Latta and Dave Therrien; committee on membership, F. E. Evans, Iver Amundsen, William Cooke and H. B.Spencer.

Those present at the supper were P. J. MacAlpine, Dr. J. D. Budd, David Lawrence, J. W. Brownell, F. G. Falk and F. E. Evans.

The meeting was enthusiastic and it is expected that by working in conjunction with the Two Harbors Commercial club and the Lake County Development association, much can be accomplished during the coming summer. The next meeting will be held at the city hall, Tuesday evening, April 26.

MINER IS KILLED IN ADRIATIC MINE

Tons of Falling Ore Crush Out Joseph Nasseau's Life.

Aurora, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Nassau was killed at the Adriatic mine at 10:25 Thursday night by being caught in a cave-in.

Nassau and a companion were working in a room at the end of a drift when the cave-in occurred. Nassau's companion had just stepped from the room into the drift and was working with the ore car when he heard the earth giving way and was entirely uninjured while Nassau was covered with tons of iron ore.

Efforts were made at once to release Nassau, but it required over two hours of hard work to uncover his body, life being extinct by that time.

Nassau was an Austrian and had one brother in this country. He was a young man and single. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Known In Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here by local acquaintances of Joseph Noce Nassau, an old Evelethian, that he was killed Thursday evening in a mine accident at the Adriatic mine, near Aurora. Noce was about thirty years of age, and until two years ago resided in Eveleth and was employed at the local mines, but he then resigned his position to work in the Aurora district.

Ivan Neelmen, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Neelmen, was buried yesterday morning from the Finnish Lutheran Concordia church, Rev. Keranen officiating. Interment was made at Virginia.

CHISHOLM HAS A BAD FIRE SCARE

Two Buildings Destroyed During High Wind, Block Being Threatened.

Chisholm, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village had a fire scare early this morning when a whole block was threatened, that brought to mind the disaster of 1908 and kept everyone on the anxious seat until the danger was averted.

Cold weather interfered with the work of the firemen, the hydrants not yielding their contents readily, either, because of the unusual cold or some other reason as readily as the firemen expected. A high wind with the biting cold made the work of the firemen difficult, but they persisted until they had conquered over the fire fiend.

Starts in Meat Market.

The fire broke out about 1:25 this morning in Cogeggiola & Omaha's meat market, from unknown cause, and fanned by the heavy wind burned fiercely. That building and the adjoining bowling alley of Lozoulx were destroyed. Both are located on First avenue, opposite the postoffice, and for a time it was feared the whole block south of Lake street would be destroyed.

The firemen were hampered by the sluggishness of the water supply, but after two hours' hard work they extinguished the blaze confining the damage to two buildings.

The total loss is about $10,000. There was $2,600 insurance on the market building, $325 on the meat market stock and $350 on the bowling alley.

During the fire, Fire Chief O'Connor fell and injured an arm and leg.

CROSSED BURNING SANDS.

D. O. K. K. of Duluth Figure in Two Harbors Event.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tyros to the number of twenty-eight crossed the hot sands here last evening. They were assisted in the passage by sixty members from Duluth from the Al Sirat Temple of the D. O. K. of the Knights of Pythias. The special train that conveyed the Duluthians home arrived there at 4 a. m. this morning. There were nearly 150 enthusiastic supporters present at the meeting last night.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS IN VIRGINIA VICINITY.

Virginia, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Road improvements in the district immediately adjacent to Virginia will be cared for by the township of Missabe Mountain during the coming season. Capt. Thomas Treengrove and D. M. Mouser of the township board were in Virginia this week looking over the road and noting the improvements to be done. At the present time a good 4-foot sidewalk is being constructed to connect with the Lincoln walk and running northerly to the walk in the Higgins location. Also a walk will be constructed connecting the Commodore and Franklin locations with the city walk.

ODD FELLOWS' SERVICES.

Will Be Conducted in Eveleth Sunday By Mr. Schwarz.

Eveleth Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ninety-first anniversary of the organization of the order of Odd Fellows will be well observed here by the local lodges. Rev. P. A. Schwarz of the First Presbyterian church will take as the subject for his regular Sunday sermon, "Who Is My Neighbor?" The Half Moon Lodge, No. 159, and Lily Rebecca Lodge, No. 181, will attend in a body.

In view of the attention the Laymen's Missionary convention, which is now being held in Duluth, is attracting, Rev. Carswell of the St. John's church will address his congregation on "The Greatest Work of the World."

At the Methodist church Rev. R. C. Johnson will preach on "The Most Popular Virtue in the World."

WOLTER TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Murderer of Ruth Wheeler Convicted of Crime in First Degree.

New York, April 23.—Albert Wolter, a degenerate youth of 19 years, who gloated over lewd pictures and was "crazy" about women, must die in the electric chair for the murder of Ruth Wheeler, the pretty 15-year-old stenographer. After only 1 hour and 50 minutes of deliberation, a jury in the court of special sessions found him guilty of murder in the first degree at 10:30 o'clock last night, bringing to a close a trial marked by its swift movement and its testimony of horror.

Twelve men decided that Wolter had strangled Ruth Wheeler and thrust her, while yet alive, into a fireplace, where, soaked with oil, her body writhed and burned. With the same wax-faced indifference that he had shown throughout the trial, Wolter evinced no emotion when the verdict was announced. He had been asleep in his cell—and sleeping soundly—while the jury was deliberating on his fate. This was made known by a court attendant, who said that he had to arouse the prisoner to bring him into court. Wolter will be sentenced Wednesday.

When the verdict was announced all eyes immediately shifted toward the prisoner, but he was as stolid as a piece of stone. No relatives of the murderer or of his victim were in court to hear the verdict, though his aged parents were in court during the afternoon. Efforts were made to get a statement from Wolter, on his way to the Tombs, but he refused to talk. "I don't want to talk tonight—I'm tired, and I want to get a little good sleep first," he said.

vocal music and there were no pallbearers. Two organ selections, brief prayers and the few words of eulogy constituted the service.

Prominent Men Present.

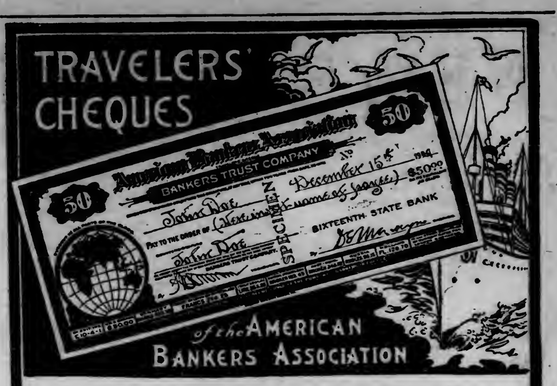
Mark Twain's sympathies were catholic and his circle of friends embraced both the high and the lowly. Many men who knew him in public and in private life attended the services. These included representatives from the Lotos, the Authors' and Players' clubs, prominent publishers and editors, eminent members of the bench and literary men and women of note.

After the services the body was placed on a train and taken to Elmira, where a second service, as simple as the first, will be conducted on Sunday afternoon. The burial will be in the Clemens plot in the Elmira cemetery, where Mrs. Clemens and the children of the couple are buried.

Within the next ten days public opportunity will be given for the numbers unable to attend the services today to show their respect for Mr. Clemens. This will be at a memorial service arranged by many well known men who cherished the memory of years of friendship with the author. The program of this meeting will include brief addresses by admirers of Mr. Clemens' humor and wisdom.

His First Writings.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 23.—George Rees of St. Joseph was the first person to give Samuel Clemens literary employment. Clemens was a typesetter in the office of the Keokuk, Iowa, Daily Post, when one day Rees, who was publisher of the paper, told him he thought he could make more money writing.



"Mark Twain was always a lazy fellow and wasn't fast enough to set type," Mr. Rees said, "so I suggested that he travel in the country contiguous to Keokuk and write letters for the paper. He wrote as a sample of his work 'My First Visit to a Theater.' It was a humorous description of the play 'Julius Caesar.'

"We sent Twain out. He asked $5 for his first letter, which we paid. For his second he wanted $10. We paid that. He asked $15 for the third letter, which we refused to pay. He soon left us and went on the river. He signed the name of Thomas Jefferson Snodgrass to the letters he wrote for us."

"Lincoln of Literature.

Ithaca, N. Y. April 23.—Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university, referred with feeling to the death of Mark Twain. He said Twain and Lincoln had much in common in their struggles, achievements, ideas and spiritual being.

"If Lincoln, on one side of him, was the Mark Twain of American politics, Clemens perhaps may be called the Lincoln of American literature," Dr. Schurman said.

MISCHIEF MAKER

A Surprise in Brooklyn.

An adult's food that can save a baby proves itself to be nourishing and easily digested and good for big and little folks. A Brooklyn man says:

"When baby was about eleven months old he began to grow thin and pale. This was, at first, attributed to the heat and the fact that his teeth were coming, but, in reality, the poor little thing was starving, his mother's milk not being sufficient nourishment.

"One day after he had cried bitterly for an hour, I suggested that my wife try him on Grape-Nuts. She soaked two teaspoonfuls in a saucer with a little sugar and warm milk. This baby ate so ravenously that she fixed a second which he likewise finished.

"It was not many days before he forgot all about being nursed, and has since lived most exclusively on Grape-Nuts. Today the boy is strong and as cute a mischief-maker as a thirteen months old baby is expected to be.

"We have put before him other foods, but he will have none of them, evidently preferring to stick to that which did him so much good—his old friend Grape-Nuts.

"Use this letter any way you wish, for my wife and I can never praise Grape-Nuts enough after the brightness it has brought to our household."

Grape-Nuts is not made for a baby food, but experience with thousands of babies shows it to be among the best, if not entirely the best in use. Being a scientific preparation of Nature's grains, it is equally effective as a body and brain buildrer for grown-ups.

Alleged to Have Abstracted Money Order and Tried to Cash It.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Francois Petier was arrested here this week by Chief of Police Lang on a charge of having robbed a rural mail box near St. Vincent last week.

It is claimed he had extracted from the box several letters, among which was one containing a postoffice money order and which he endeavored to dispose of in several stores and business places in St. Vincent. One of the merchants, becoming suspicious that all was not straight with reference to his possession of the money order, telephoned the party whose name appeared on the order. The result was that Petier became alarmed, "skipped" out and was taken into custody by the local police. He was taken before United States Commissioner Michelet and was bound over to await the action of the federal jury at the next term of court at Fergus Falls.

SUPERIOR IS INTERESTED.

In Pretty Event to Be Celebrated at Mohall, N. D., Monday.

Mohall, N. D., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the society editors say, "the social event of the season," will be the wedding here next Monday at 7 a. m. at the Catholic church, of Thomas B. Vaughn, a well-known Superior, Wis., traveling man, and Miss Tessie Casey of this city. The ceremony will be most elaborate. Vaughn Weinberger will be best man and Miss Florence Casey, a sister of the bride, will be maid of honor.

A wedding breakfast will be served the bridal party following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Casey. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn will leave for a trip to several of the principal Western cities on their bridal tour and will reach Superior the last of the month or early in May. They will be at home to their friends at Hotel Superior in that city for the present.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of the Sacred Heart Convent school at Graceville, Minn., and in addition to her other talents is an exceptionally accomplished violinist.

Can This Man Read Your Life?

The rich, poor, exalted and humble seek his advice on Business, Marriage, Friends, Enemies, Changes, Speculations, Love Affairs, Journeys and all events of Life.

MANY SAY HE REVEALS THEIR LIVES WITH AMAZING ACCURACY.

Free Test Readings Will Be Sent for a Short Time to All Duluth Herald Readers.

Has the veil of mystery that has so long shrouded the ancient sciences been raised at last? Can it be that a system has been perfected that reveals with reasonable accuracy the character and disposition of an individual, and so outlines the life as to assist in avoiding errors and taking advantage of opportunities?

Roxroy, a man who has for twenty years been delving into the mysteries of the occult, making a scientific study of the various methods of reading the lives of people, seems to have reached a higher round in the ladder of fame than his predecessors. Letters are pouring into his office from all parts of the world telling of the benefits derived from his advice. Many of his patrons look upon him as a man gifted with some strange, mysterious power, but he modestly asserts that what he accomplishes is due alone to an understanding of natural laws.

He is a man of kindly feeling toward humanity, and his manner and tone immediately impress one with his sincere belief in his work. A huge stack of grateful letters from people who have received readings from him adds to other convincing proofs as to his ability. Even Astrologers and Palmists admit that his system surpasses anything yet introduced.

The Rev. G. C. H. Hasskarl, Ph. D., Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, in a letter to Prof. Roxroy, says: "You are certainly the greatest specialist and master of your profession. Every one consulting you will marvel at the correctness of your detailed personal readings and advice. The most sceptical will consult you again and again after corresponding with you once."

If you wish to take advantage of Roxroy's generous offer and obtain a free reading, send your date, month and year of birth, state whether (Mr., Mrs. or Miss) and also copy the following verse in your own handwriting:

I have heard of your power
To read people's lives,
And would ask what for me
You have to advise?

Be sure to give your correct name, birth date and address and write plainly. Send your letter to ROXROY, Dept 54c, No. 177a Kensington High Street, London, W., England. If you wish, you may inclose 10 cents (U. S. A. stamps) to pay postage, clerical work, etc. Do not inclose coins or silver in letters.

Note—Under the new Postal regulations you can send a sealed letter to England for only 2 cents postage.

RED RIVER LAND BEATS THE WEST

Red Lake County Man After Trying Oregon and Washington Returns.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Leimers, who formerly lived on the Red Lake reservation, east of this city, and who left two years ago for the much boosted West, returned yesterday to Red Lake county and announced that he proposed remaining here the rest of his life. He spent some time in Oregon, but later went to Washington, where he purchased a piece of land. He is a good farmer and thoroughly investigated conditions in the West and is satisfied that any man can make more on a farm in this dairy country than he can in the Western states. Land out there is very high and the prices keep going up. This is not due, he states, to the fact that farmers are making money, but is on account of the influx of settlers. Cutover timber lands, which require an expenditure of from $100 to $150 per acre to clear them, are selling at $40 per acre. Meadow land is scarce, and as a result, much hay has to be shipped in from the irrigated sections. Mr. Leimers thinks that he can make more off his quarter section on the reservation than he could on one of the much advertised quarters or small tracts which are selling for $200 per acre out West.

UPPER PENINSULA ELKS ENTHUSIASTIC

Throngs of Antlerwearers Going to National Meet in Detroit.

Houghton, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—"One thousand Elks from the upper peninsula" is the slogan originating in Hancock lodge and adopted by Elks all over the northern part of the state when referring to the state and national convention of the order to be held in Detroit July 11. At least 1,000 Northern Michigan Elks will go to Detroit for the joint-conventions. From Calumet and Hancock it is anticipated that 500 Elks will go to the conventions. Many of these will take members of their families, while hundreds of persons not Elks will take advantage of the low railroad and boat rates to go to Detroit. Northern Michigan Elks anticipate, too, that the railroad and steamship lines will grant unusually low excursion rates for the trip.

On Sunday, May 1, delegates from the several Elk's lodges of Northern Michigan will gather at Hancock for the purpose of considering ways and means of getting to the convention. It is probable that it will be decided to charter a special train or else a special boat for the trip.

LEAVES DEAD CHILD IN DRESS SUIT CASE

Perham, Minn., April 23.—This section has been considerably stirred over a grusesome discovery made by the family of Grant Cooley, living near New York Mills, a few days ago, when a dress suit case, left at their home by Maggie Smith, a resident of that section, from which a strange odor came, upon being examined was found to contain the corpse of a baby.

The county attorney was promptly notified, and Coroner Haugen and Sheriff Billings left at once for New York Mills. They made an investigation, and Maggie Smith, who brought the suit case to the Cooley home, confessed that the dead child was hers. She said that she had been employed in a hotel at Page, N. D., where she gave birth to the child. She says that she was alone at the time, and, having no medical attendance, the child died almost immediately. She concealed its birth, placed the body in a satchel and returned to New York Mills.

An inquest was held to ascertain, if possible, whether the child's life was ended purposely, but the verdict sustained the story told by the young mother. In her confession, Miss Smith stated that a young man living in the vicinity of her home is the father of the dead child.

The young man was immediately arrested, but it is doubtful if even the quasi-criminal charge of bastardy can be preferred against him, now that the child is dead; and he will probably be released.

BIG FALLS MEETING

On May 6 to Boost Developing Koochiching County.

Big Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Large posters are out, announcing a big "booster" meeting of the Koochiching County Development association to be held here Friday, May 6. Among the prominent speakers down on the program for that day are: Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji; F. J. McFarlin; County Attorney W. V. Kane and R. S. McDonald of International Falls; Editor C. S. Jamieson of Littlefork; Aad A. Tone of Northome; W. J. Potter of Mizpah; John Reed of Loman, and Attorney F. O. Jevne of Big Falls.

W. R. McKenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and M. N. Koll, two of the foremost "boosters" of the cause, will be present. The Big Falls meeting will be an important one for Koochiching county.

NEWBERRY BOY WINS IN UPPER MICHIGAN CONTEST.

Negaunee Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jay Hamilton of Newberry won the upper peninsula interscholastic oratorical contest here last night. Henry Spear of Menominee was second. The declamation honors went to Lucile Harmon of Menominee.

DETROIT EXPECTS VERY 'DRY' SUMMER

Despite Judge Baxter's Decision All Saloons Will Probably Close.

Detroit, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Judge L. L. Baxter in his ruling made a few days ago dismissing the order to show cause in the proceedings instituted by local people, asking that Peter Randolph, C. D. Holmes, W. B. Carman, T. W. Koschnick and Iver Grimsgaard, local aldermen, be removed from office for alleged malfeasance in granting licenses to sell liquor within the territory described as "Indian country," did not write an elaborate opinion outlining his position on the matter, it is believed the court felt the council was justified in issuing the licesnes, also that the court did not feel like interpreting the question of the application of the old treaty to this territory under existing conditions.

While the plans of the petitioners in this matter have not been entirely made public yet it is generally understood that this action was originally started for the purpose of testing the validity of the treaty provisions and, if the view of the petitioners is maintained by an appeal to the supreme court, it will mean the closing of every saloon within the prescribed territory irrespective of any concessions made by Special Officer Johnson, who has been entrusted by the interior department with the enforcement of the treaty.

The ruling of Judge Baxter in no wise affects the situation here, as under Mr. Johnson's recent order, all saloons must close on or before May 10, and while he concedes the council the right to issue two licenses to entirely new men, there is little likelihood of application being made for the concessions with the present conditions prevailing. It certainly looks as if Detroiters are to have a "dry" summer.

MURDERS HIS STEPSON THEN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Detroit, Minn., April 23.—Fearing that his 12-year-old stepson would inherit his property instead of his daughter by his first wife, Louis Johnson, aged 45, a farmer living in Greene Valley township, Becker county, is alleged to have lured the boy to the woods, killed him with a rifle and then killed himself. That is the theory of the double crime, discovered when neighbors, searching for the missing pair, found their dead bodies in the woods.

The first husband of Mrs. Johnson, a man by the name of Hill, also died a suicide in the same neighborhood, about eight years ago.

HEART EXPOSED BY SHOT.

Platteville, Wis., April 23.—George Fisher, aged 16 years, was fatally shot while plowing. He had taken along a gun to shoot crows and gophers. While making a turn at one end of the field, the lines became caught in the trigger, and the gun exploded, the charge entering his left lung, tearing his chest terribly, his heart being exposed. He called to his brother who was within hailing distance to come and take the horses. He was taken to his home and medical aid summoned, but died in a few hours.

Tri-State Gets Franchise.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night granted the Tri-state Telephone & Telegraph company a franchise to carry on business here for twenty years. There was no opposition. Sixteen liquor licenses were also granted, making forty-four issued to date.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Births recorded in the city Thursday were a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heinanen, 16 Jasper street; a son to Victor Lindberg and wife, 1302 North Third street, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richstuff, 761 Michigan street.

Negaunee—L. E. Chaussee has started excavating for the foundation of the Negaunee National bank's new block on the former site of the Montreal House on East Iron street. Matthew Malloney, who purchased the buildings, removed the last of his material from the lot Wednesday.

Escanaba—Lying in a ditch partly filled with water the body of John Hendricksen, a woodsman, was found at the side of the Escanaba & Lake Superior railway company's tracks near Cornell, Delta county. How the man came to his death is not known. Hendricksen was about 40 years of age and is survived by two daughters, one of whom was taken to the state school for dependent children at Coldwater last week.

Marquette—Charles H. Schaffer of this city has been elected chairman of the Alger county board of supervisors, a position which he held consecutively for eighteen years, prior to 1908.

Houghton—The census takers in Houghton are progressing well with the work of collecting information and are writing about 200 names per day each. Every member of the squad reports good treatment and a general desire to give out the information courteously.

Calumet—At a well-attended meeting of the Calumet lodge of Elks Wednesday evening delegates to the Michigan Elks' association convention to be held in Detroit June 11 to 17 were named. The delegates are Dr. Charles H. Rupprecht, Frank Distel, Jr.; C. E. L. Thomas, and F. W. Hessenmueller.

Hancock—Edwin E. Edwards of Calumet, grand chief ranger of the Foresters of America, will be present in his official capacity at a meeting of the Court Bene Mesnard of Hancock, on Monday evening next. He will perhaps be accompanied by other officers of the order from Calumet.

Houghton—W. W. Walker, general freight agent for the South Shore road, has been here from Duluth this week looking after the interests of the railroad in the towns hereabouts.

Calumet—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Calumet Presbyterian church has made arrangements for a concert and social to be given next Wednesday evening at the parlors of the church. The members of the Houghton Presbyterian, Hubbell, Calumet and Red Jacket Congregational Christian Endeavor societies will be the guests of the Calumet members on this occasion.

Laurium—The wedding of Miss Sadie Fitzpatrick of Hubbell to James Nekervis of Calumet, was quietly solemnized at the Congregational parsonage, by Rev. L. K. Long, at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. Only a few friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony.

Hancock—Harold Jarvis, the greatest of Michigan tenors, will appear at the Methodist Episcopal church in Hancock about the middle of May. He will come under the auspices of the Epworth league of the Hancock church.

Calumet—The annual state meeting of the Young Men's Christian association will be held in Detroit April 28 and 29. Representatives of the Calumet association will undoubtedly attend.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Deerwood—The Dower Lumber company is putting in the cement foundation for its big shed. It is also draining its lots and getting in shape to erect its permanent quarters.

Brainerd—Conductor W. H. Denny is back on the passenger run between Duluth and Staples, after a layoff of nearly eight months caused by illness. Mr. Denny has just returned from a trip through the West and is looking fine and reports himself as feeling fine.

Grand Marais—Father Simon of Cloquet arrived from Grand Portage Monday and has been holding services daily at the Catholic church in Chippewa City. High mass will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

St. Cloud—Joseph Zertl, the old man who disappeared from his home at St. Joe about a week ago, was found by friends in Minneapolis Tuesday. He was picked up by the police on the streets and was taken to the city hospital, where Father Ferren, who happened to know him, found him and notified friends in St. Joe.

Bagley—The funeral services over the remains of John W. Torkelson, who was killed in a wreck this week, were held Thursday afternoon at Bagley, and many friends from outside the city were present at the sad ceremonies. His brother, ex-Sheriff Swan Torkelson came up from the Twin Cities Thursday morning to be present.

Moorhead—The next regular meeting of the Clay-Becker County Medical society will be held in this city on Monday evening next. All arrangements are not yet completed, but details will be settled within a day at least.

Middle River—Erick P. Modin has received a letter from the state railroad and warehouse commission announcing that railroad telegraph service would be established at this station. Agent Wenum has also been notified by Relief Agent Zamzow that the service will be installed. Mr. Wenum will also be granted a helper, which he has needed for a long time.

Perham—The school board has completed the list of teachers for the coming year. All the old teachers will return next year at an advanced salary except Miss Dudreys, who will teach in Staples. Miss Iva Butler succeeds her.

Staples—When the Staples Commercial club voted to get 500 bushels of seed potatoes to supply the farmers of this vicinity who might desire them, they thought it was all that was needed, but to make sure, the committee increased the order 25 per cent. The carload was all gone by noon Wednesday, and still they had a list of farmers who wanted 200 bushels more.

Stillwater—If Newport Lodge No. 118, A. F. & A. M., is successful in its efforts, and of this there is little doubt, the Masons of that locality will soon have an elegant home of their own. The proposition is to erect a building in St. Paul Park 32 by 72 feet, two stories and a basement, of concrete and steel.

Northome — County Commissioner William Durrin has returned from the county seat, where he has been in attendance at a meeting of the county board. Mr. Durrin says that he succeeded in getting an appropriation of $2,500 road and bridge money to be expended in this end of the county this summer.

Mankato—The Elks' lodge has decided to procure bids for the erection of its proposed building on Second street. It is not definitely decided whether the building will be erected, but some of the leading members believe that the lodge will proceed to erect it, in case satisfactory bids are received.

Little Falls—Misses Lillian and Eva Lindbergh, who have been spending the winter in Washington, D. C., with their father, Congressman Lindbergh, have returned to Little Falls. The Misses Lindbergh spent some time in New York city while en route home.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake N. D.—Hans Westegaard has leased the plant of the Devils Lake Petrified Brick & Stone company south of the Great Northern tracks, and will at once put it in condition to manufacture brick. Mr. Westegaard says the plant will be ready for operation within ten days, and that when he starts the machinery going he will be able to turn out 10,000 brick daily.

Bismarck, N. D.—George Luton met with a serious accident at his brother's place ten miles north of town, while riding a gang plow which struck a rock under the sod, precipitating him under the horses' feet. His right foot in some way came in contact with the plow, breaking the ankle in two places. The accident will lay Mr. Luton up for several weeks.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Roland Denton Reever, a young man, who came out from Minneapolis about a month ago and who has since been employed as a salesman in the Wolter shoe store, and Miss Leona Heck of Minneapolis were married Wednesday afternoon by Judge McNaghten in his office.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The remains of the late Andrew Arneson, who recently died at Northwood, were taken to his home town, McIntosh, Minn., where the funeral will be held. Ole Eldem accompanied the remains through Grand Forks Wednesday evening.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The new city council met Tuesday night at the city hall. Mayor McClory presiding, and all members being present. The meeting was notable in one thing, particularly, in that it was the first meeting held at which the new Fourth ward was represented by two members. The council now consists of eight members, two more than ever before.

Grafton, N. D.—Friends have received word of the death of Albert H. Payne, at Paynton, Sask., April 12, aged 46 years. Albert Payne was a resident of Grafton for more than twenty years, a man of sterling worth and kind disposition. He removed with his family to Paynton about four years ago. His death was due to pneumonia.

Fargo, N. D.—On Saturday night of this week the big meeting of the Fargo lodge of Elks, for the month of April will take place, when a large class of candidates will be taken into the order. This will be the last, but one, big meeting for this season, as the fourth Saturday night of May will end the work of initiation for the Elks until the fourth Saturday night of the month of October.

Jamestown, N. D.—W. C. McDowell of Marion, was re-elected president; G. S. Newberry of Carrington, vice president and C. R. Hodge of Jamestown, secretary-treasurer of the fifth district group of the North Dakota Henkers' association at its second annual convention in this city.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—According to the report for March of State Veterinarian Clark, three cases of glanders were found during the month, two being in Eau Claire and one in Dane county. Out of 9,624 head of cattle tested for tuberculosis 412 reacted.

Sheboygan—A resolution was introduced in the new council calling for an appropriation for equipping the water works plant for city lighting purposes. The present contract with the Sheboygan Light, Power and railway company expires in June.

Madison—Mrs. Sarah Riebsam, who died last Sunday, made a gift of $10,000 to the Congregational church, one of $5,900 to the Madison general hospital association, and one of $1,000 to the Young Women's Christian association. She also made a number of smaller gifts in her will of the total amount of $4,000.

Janesville—The Rock County Telephone company of this city has acquired the Badger State Telephone company with its complete equipment which includes toll line service into Racine, Beloit, Madison, Fort Atkinson, Edgerton, Monroe, New Glarus, and all points in Walworth county. Dr. W. H. Judd is the president of the reorganized company with H. G. Willitz secretary, and George E. Wing treasurer.

Tony—Paul Deininger, a Catholic priest mentioned in press dispatches as having turned Socialist and been married to Mrs. Gertrude Beistay Hunt at a Socialist meeting in Anderson, Ind., is well known throughout this part of Wisconsin. He was formerly pastor of the local congregation.

Madison—Matthew Anderson, member of the assembly in 1871 and state senator from the Dane county district from 1878 until 1881, died today at his home in Mount Horeb, 83 years old. In his younger days he was one of the most practical farmers of Dane county. Besides his wife he leaves two children, David Anderson of Ardmore, S. D., and Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Madison, whose husband is an engineer on the Northwestern.

Chippewa Falls—Joe Butak has the job of erecting a large factory for the Chippewa Shoe Manufacturing company. The bids did not suit the company so they gave Mr. Butak instructions to go ahead. The bids were: Wisconsin Construction company, $20,400; Albert Bjornas, $19,735; Maddox & Erickson, $18,998. None of these bids were accepted.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Duluth Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that

Backache pains come from sick kidneys,

'Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys,

Duluth people endorse this:

Mrs. W. F. Humerichous, 109 Twenty-seventh Ave., Duluth, Minn., says: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and the medicines I tried did not help me. My back often ached severely and if I stooped, dizzy spells seized me. After I had taken the contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt so much better that I procured a further supply. I am now free from backache and feel better in every way. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the good they did me."

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed conterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Central Drug Co., of Detroit, Mich., says: "We consider your Castoria in a class distinct from patent medicines and commend it."

Christy Drug Stores, of Pittsburg, Pa., say: "We have sold your Castoria for so many years with such satisfactory results that we cannot refrain from saying a good word for it when we get a chance."

Jacob Bros., of Philadelphia, Pa., say: "We take pleasure in recommending Fletcher's Castoria as one of the oldest and best of the preparations of the kind upon the market."

Hess & McCann, of Kansas City, Mo., say: "Your Castoria always gives satisfaction. We have no substitute for it and only sell 'The Kind You Have Always Bought,' the original."

The Voegeli Bros., of Minneapolis, Minn., say: "We wish to say that we have at all times a large demand for Fletcher's Castoria at all of our three stores and that it gives universal satisfaction to our trade."

Polk Miller Drug Co., of Richmond, Va., says: "Your Castoria is one of the most satisfactory preparations we have ever handled. It seems to satisfy completely the public demand for such an article and is steadily creating a growing sale by its merit."

P. A. Capdau, of New Orleans, La., says: "We handle every good home remedy demanded by the public and while our shelves are thoroughly equipped with the best of drugs and proprietary articles, there are few if any which have the unceasing sale that your Castoria has."

M. C. Dow, of Cincinnati, Ohio, says: "When people in increasing numbers purchase a remedy and continue buying it for years; when it passes the fad or experimental stage and becomes a household necessity, then it can be said its worth has been firmly established. We can and do gladly offer this kind of commendation to Fletcher's Castoria."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

Misfortune is never mournful to the soul that accepts it; for such do always see that in every cloud is an angel's face.

—St. Jerome.

Hibbing Tribune: The Duluth Evening Herald is 28 years old—or maybe we ought to say 28 years young, for really The Herald gets younger and brighter and more vigorous every day.

The Herald is a very good example of a useful newspaper. It prints a lot of news every day and it is useful that way, and any newspaper that is not very useful that way does not justify its existence. But it is the attitude of The Herald towards men and things that makes it unusually useful. It is pretty apt to be on the side of cleanliness and justice and right living, and these things are the things that the great mass of the people are reaching out after. The Herald, too, stands pretty consistently for the good of the whole people and that is where every newspaper ought to stand. But not only is The Herald's policy good but it voices its policy most ably. No newspaper has been more useful to the state and to the people than The Herald.

Here are congratulations to The Herald upon its birthday and may it have many more of them.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CHILD LABORERS.

In a letter commending The Herald for a recent statement in behalf of the local movement to provide scholarships for the children of poor families, who would have to work if these scholarships did not provide their families with the money they would earn, J. J. Eschenbrenner, member ship secretary of the National Child Labor committee, says: "Study shows another trend of thought not touched upon in your editorial—the cruelty of placing upon a child probably already handicapped by underfeeding, unadequate clothing and irregular schooling, a burden which will cripple his entire future earning capacity. To quote from the statement of the chief truant officer of Providence, R. I., who for years has been intimately associated with the problem, 'It is cruelly unjust to refuse a child because he is poor the advantages that the state has come to believe should be forced upon the child of the rich.'"

This is another reason, and a very strong reason, why the effort of the local Associated Charities to provide scholarships for child laborers should be supported by generous and public-spirited citizens. For the unfortunate child worker, and for the good of society, this work is vitally important.

Society, of course, should attend to such matters itself. When we get beyond the absurd and antediluvian superstition that "that government is best which governs least," and that attempts to exert social power, through government, for the good of society are "Socialistic," society will attend to such matters. The law now makes education compulsory for those children who can afford to take it, but it exempts from that compulsion children too poor to afford education, and lets it drop at that point. What it ought to do is to provide means of educating poor children as well as those who are well-to-do or rich; for the children of paupers are as much entitled to education as any other children. In point of fact, it is more important that society should see to the education of the poor, in order to give them a chance to escape poverty, than it is that it should see to the education of children who would be educated by their parents if the state did not take care of them.

Poverty and ignorance are twins, and both menace the peace and prosperity of society. Disease and crime are the children of these twins and the grandchildren of social neglect. Society, for its own good, must destroy this whole tribe of evils. If such efforts are called Socialistic, that is a compliment to Socialism, and not a reflection upon the aims and motives of such a movement.

In the meantime, all such work must be done by private generosity. A pitifully small number of dollars a month will take care of a child, keep it out of the shop or factory and maintain it in school. Surely such a service as this is a splendid return from the investment, and the opportunity to do that service ought to appeal to those who wish to see that their benevolences return good dividends to society, and to themselves in the form of satisfaction in charity well bestowed.

ROOSEVELT'S SIMPLE RULE.

The way Theodore Roosevelt turns every situation to his advantage is the wonder of the world, and many are puzzled by it. He has been called the world's greatest politician, and that is exactly what he is, though not in the sense usually meant. Those who regard his triumphs as the results of calculated plays to the gallery are usually men who know nothing of simple, direct honesty, and who are therefore utterly incapable of imagining anything except that Col. Roosevelt's feats are cunningly contrived with a view to advertising and popularity.

We have a theory that tastes much sweeter than that. The work of the cold, calculating politician who deliberately manufactures situations and seeks to turn them to his political profit exposes itself. Its motives are manifest on its face, and it does not delight, as the unrivaled maneuvers of Roosevelt do; it disgusts.

The reason why Roosevelt is popular, why he always lands on his feet, and why he is approved even when he is wrong, is very simple.

We believe it to be because he subjects every problem and every situation to one test: What is the right, the just and the fair thing to do or say?

Having found what he believes to be the right, the just and the fair thing to do, he does it, and he does it with all his might—and that means a good deal.

Then, even if he makes mistakes,—as he often does,—or says or does the wrong thing,—as he often does,—public confidence in him is unshaken because the people know that he meant to do the right thing.

It has been said that Theodore Roosevelt could stand on the steps of the White House drinking a glass of beer, and the spectacle would be greeted by the enthusiastic applause of a convention of the W. C. T. U. That is a gross exaggeration, of course, and it isn't true. It doesn't square with the rule we have suggested, because it would be merely a stupid and senseless thing to do, and however often he may make mistakes, Theodore Roosevelt never is stupid or senseless.

This idea is our own, and many may not agree with it. It is much more comfortable to hold it, however, than it is to believe that Roosevelt is merely a clever manager of stage effects, and that his triumphs are the result of skillful engineering or of calculating hunger for applause.

Roosevelt never dodged an awkward situation in his life. He faces them all, squarely and bravely. He subjects each to that simple test: What is right, just and fair? Having found, by this rule, the honest thing to do, he does it with all his energy.

And that's a pretty good rule for anybody to follow. Nobody can go far wrong by its use. Mistakes will be made, as Roosevelt makes them; but they will not count against the man who has established a reputation for doing the fair thing. The man who is always trying to do the thing that is easiest or that will dodge the most difficulty or that will please everybody, always loses. The man who does the square thing every time, as he sees it, will have his troubles, but he will build character and make himself a real man.

Yes, that's a pretty good rule for anybody.

MARK TWAIN.

The death of Samuel Langhorn Clemens, who was better known and better loved under his pen name of Mark Twain, afflicts the world. That his last days should have been so embittered by grief that as nearly as any man ever did he died of a broken heart, lends pathos to his passing. The grief of his fellow-countrymen is deep and lasting; for the nation sorrows for the death of a great individual as well as that of a great author.

"There is a work to do in this world for every man, according to his ability and talent. To this man it is given to build great business enterprises; to that man it is given to build great bridges or railroads or machinery; to another it is given to instruct his fellows, to another falls the task of arousing patriotism and constructing the political fabric upon which human progress builds: but to only a few, in all the world, is given the ability and the duty to bring laughter to the heart of humanity, to lighten the shadows of a world of sorrows with elemental, enduring humor that sweeps the gamut of human experience and plumbs the depth of human life. One of these men was Mark Twain; and he stands today in a permanent place among the world's great humorists; if not in first place, then in a place close to first, and with the immortal few whose humor is an everlasting gift to humanity.

Mark Twain was a humorist, but he was more than a humorist. His mission was to entertain, but it involved more than entertainment. His tales seldom carried a conventional moral, to be affixed at their climax in stolid platitudes; but they were cross sections out of human life, as true and as enduring as the sculptor's marble, carrying with them the moral of human experience. Tom Sawyer, for instance, is the universal boy. In his story, greatest of all Mark Twain's great works, men live over again the story of their own lives.

Above all, Mark Twain was a hater of shams, a valiant tilter at fraud and pretense and hypocrisy, as all great humorists have been. A taint of sham or snobbery was to him a challenge to battle, and right bravely did he conduct that battle, with victory his faithful companion.

His output was voluminous, and there is much in it that is ephemeral and trifling. Some of it quickly will be forgotten. If he had been nothing but a humorist, all of it would be forgotten. But if at the time of his death there was an American writer whose work glowed with the divine fire of genius, it was Mark Twain. His sympathies were with humanity. When he wrote of King Arthur's court, of which the world had heard only tales of its tinselled chivalry, he told of the utter degradation and abject poverty of the people who paid for the tinsel. Though largely a self-educated man, his work shows high literary quality, the quality that makes novels of the first class. He was a real creator of characters, and as such he ranks with Thackeray and Balzac and Cervantes. He had great dramatic power, and the power of description which involves seeing the right things and telling about them with the right words, words that create the illusion. He was distinctly and distinctively American; no writer has embodied the spirit of American life in books more effectively. He was a democrat, and democracy was his creed. His hatred of snobbery and assumed superiority was splendid and consuming. He was great, elementally and magnificently great; and there was none in his lifetime whose name will outlive his.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

John Jacob Astor, so the news columns relate, is creating for himself and his family a vast memorial estate in New York. He is buying more than 4,000 acres, and many farms and several prosperous villages are to be wiped out to suit the Astor whim.

It is said that the people thereabouts do not look upon this invasion kindly. It isn't the sort of thing Americans have become accustomed to. In England people are on the point of destroying these vast estates by taxation; and of course if the Astors and others get to building up such institutions here, they will put this country to the trouble of doing later what the English people are trying to do now.

The book department of The Herald lately reviewed the first two volumes of a "History of the Great American Fortunes," by Gustavus Myers (Chicago: Chas. H. Kerr & Co.), which is to be complete in three volumes. In the first volume an incident of the early history of the Astor fortune is related which is peculiarly interesting in view of the present attempt of a scion of the house of Astor to build himself up a vast family estate at the expense of destroying pretty villages and comfortable farms.

In this interesting history is told the story of how the original Astor made a "killing" by a disregard of popular rights as great as that shown in the present Astor's plans.

During the Revolution Roger and Mary Morris held a tract of land amounting to 51,000 acres in Putnam county, New York, just south of the place where John Jacob Astor is creating his baronage. This land had descended to Mary Morris from one Frederick Phillips, who had financed the buccaneering expeditions of Capt. Samuel Burgess. The Morrises were Tories, apparently, for their land was confiscated by the state of New York and sold in small tracts to farmers. By 1809 about 700 families had settled on this land and were cultivating it.

In that year Astor found out that these 700 families had no legal title to their property. The Morrises, it appeared, had only a life lease, and such an estate could not be confiscated. The property should have reverted to the Morris children after the extinction of the lease, and these heirs, not the 700 farmer families, were still the real owners. Astor, after having had the matter thoroughly looked into, skirmished around and bought up the claims of the heirs for $100,000. Then the innocent occupants were told that the property which they had cultivated for thirty years or more was not theirs, but Astor's.

There was a great public uproar, which buzzed ineffectually about the Astor ears. The farmers appealed to the legislature, which refused to recognize Astor's title. Astor offered to sell out to the state for $667,000, but public sentiment was so thoroughly aroused that the legislature dared not pay the price. The case went to the courts, and Astor won his point. In 1827 the state "compromised" with Astor and paid him $500,000, the whole people being taxed to put a profit of $400,000 in the Astor coffers.

Both the Astor who turned this trick and the Astor who is building up a dukedom in New York were well within their legal rights; which shows how, under the present dispensation, legal rights and moral rights often are vastly different things.

OUR DISTINGUISHED SCHOOLMASTER.

Those who are anxious to know what Roosevelt is thinking about the Taft administration will search in vain through the trenchant sentences of Col. Roosevelt's able address before the Sorbonne in Paris for a clew to his thoughts. There may be sentences that some will distort into relationship with the administration that succeeded his own; but much distortion will be needed to prove the relationship.

His talk was on the duties of the individual citizen in a republic; and beyond question, while it was delivered to a French audience, in its composition he had in mind still more prominently than any Gallic ears the ears of the citizens of the republic to which he is shortly to return, and to which he has contributed so splendid an impetus toward efficient and good citizenship.

In such a talk Col. Roosevelt is in his native element. He is as joyous as a duck in water, as glad as an eagle circling in the lofty blue. He reads a lesson to the citizen in a republic, and it is a good lesson; none could read a better lesson to such than he can.

"The average citizen must be a good citizen," he says, "if our republics are to succeed. The stream will not permanently rise higher than the main source; and the main source of national power and national greatness is found in the average citizenship of the nation. Therefore it behooves us to do our best to see that the standard of the average citizen is kept high; and the average cannot be kept high unless the standard of the leaders is very much higher."

That is unimpeachably true, all of it. It is so true that from other lips it might seem platitudinous; yet from his lips, and in the face of a great need of better citizenship, it is not platitudinous, and it is a lesson that needs to be read. No doubt France needs it, too; but there are more willing students at the Roosevelt school of citizenship in the United States that there can be in France.

One reason citizenship hasn't been higher in this country is that cunning devices, provided by the fathers of the republic because of their distrust of the people, have separated the citizen too far from his government. The citizen wasn't supposed to be capable of selecting a president, so that duty was delegated to electors whom the people were allowed to choose. They have over-ridden that restriction, and now they choose between the candidates submitted by the parties. What now is needed is greater democracy in party government, so that the people may select their candidates as well as decide between candidates. Another device that will soon be over-ridden is that which grew out of the same distrust of the people, and which provides that the upper branch of congress shall be composed of men removed from the impulse of the popular will.

All these devices, and many others, have tempted the people to delegate their political business to those who cared to make a profession of handling it. Say, rather, that the people almost have been compelled so to delegate their duties of citizenship. The voters will take more interest, will be better and more vigilant and more efficient citizens, when they have more direct responsibilities. In other words, the citizenship will have higher cultivation and democracy will grow finer fruit, when the people really own their government and manage it. At present they neither own nor control their government in this country.

"Crookston, June 1, 2 and 3," is a sentence that Northern Minnesota should keep in mind.

"The world for Christ" is a slogan that is worth while, and it is attracting the pick of the nation.

The opening of the laymen's convention in Duluth was marked by enthusiasm that promises well for its success.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE REAL OFFENDERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Personally, I have no interest in the occurrence of yesterday, April 21, namely—the accident on Lake avenue, in which an aged lady was killed, but I cannot refrain from stating that instead of arresting parties who are unfortunate enough to have an accident of this kind, it would be more proper to hold the officials of Duluth responsible, for they, and they alone, should be held accountable for what is the result of their negligence in exercising their duties, for if there is such a thing as a speed limit for automobiles in Duluth, it is not now, nor has it been in the past, enforced. As long as speeding is allowed, and offending parties not prosecuted, there is going to be speeding, and if the officials of Duluth do not put a stop to it they cannot expect anything but a repetition of the occurrence in question. There is not a day goes by but what there are hundreds of narrow escapes from death, or accidents, due to careless automobile drivers, and it is high time something was being done. The "stars" in this city apparently are nothing other than ornaments, occasionally exercising their authority on some little harmless boy.

A WELL WISHER.

THE ORDINARY MAN AND THE COPPER GAME.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have often wondered whether the ordinary man without opportunity to see behind the scenes has made any money in copper stocks in this town in the last five or six years. I have used about $25,000 all told in buying and selling coppers in that time and I am about $150 behind the game, not including the loss of interest on my money. I have traded in about 4,000 shares, and believed that I was in even better shape than the average man, to watch the market closely. What is there in it?

When values go down because of general conditions, Mr. Editor, I make no kick. But I think I am entitled to a mild protest when I read day after day that certain stocks are "conservative buys," "will make you big money," "are the best buys on the market for a long pull," and other more less ungrammatical statements. Although I like my reading properly edited, yet I admit that I went down in my jeans for a few thousand dollars partly on the strength of these poorly written advertisements.

The advertisements of course attracted my attention and then I investigated. I was informed by men in Duluth who like to pose as mining magnates that certain gold and copper mines contained the real metal. They showed me maps, engineers' reports and samples of the metal. Now, I could not spend the money to go to Idaho, Montana, Old Mexico or Arizona. I investigated to the best of my ability here and my final decision to invest was based on statements of wealthy men who were supposed to possess business integrity and a sense of honor as far as the average business man has a sense of honor. If I had been told that the mineral remained to be found but that indications were good I would have been more satisfied than to have been told of riches that did not exist.

Mr. Editor, I would accept my losses without a murmur even under those circumstances. But when the people who controlled the mines in which I was interested began to juggle the stock, when certain pirates of high finance in this town who have never opened up a real mine, but like to hear themselves called mining kings, began to rob hundreds of Peters to pay a few Pauls I sat up and took notice. Before I was certain of what was going on, however, the blow had fallen and my stocks which seemed to be advancing legitimately, collapsed. I noticed then and I have observed since, that when a stock is going up faster than circumstances warrant the reports from the mine begin to come in with unexpected rapidity. But when the stock is low or declining the news factory is dead too.

If the public knew how some of these so-called mining reports were prepared, if the public could perceive the mentality of some of the ex-mining captains who write them, if the public could know all the facts that the reports omit, there would be a smaller number of mining companies floated.

I keep the files of the Duluth papers because I sometimes like to refer to past incidents and events in local and foreign history. I spent an amusing afternoon on a recent Sunday reading the advertisements of Duluth brokers for the last three years. After I had perused the market pages of the last three years I came to the conclusion that the only thing that hadn't had a glowing prediction made about it was Halley's comet. If some broker had only thought of that comet, Mr. Editor, he could have made a prognostication that would have "come true."

The Sunny Side of Superstition.

Atlantic: That there is anything genial, cheering or therapeutically valuable about superstition may seem a tall statement. The adjective generally associated with it is "dark." On the contrary, there is something very brightening about a four-leaved clover. Who is not a little more of an optimist for picking up a horseshoe? What lonely farmer's wife, storm-bound on a winter afternoon, with unwelcome leisure on her hands, but feels a little quickening of the pulse as she drops her scissors and beholds them sticking up in the carpet? or discovers that she has laid an extra place at the table? Company-signs are the commonest and welcomest of all superstitions. The scissors, the needle, the dishcloth, the fork, the Saturday sneeze, all inculcate hospitality, and reward it, by an unexpected visitor. If the needle slants as it stands up in the crack of the floor, it foretells a gentleman! Run, young daughters of the house, and put a blue bow in your hair.

Where Public Spirit Is Good Business.

Springfield Republican: The "good" steel trust is becoming so awfully good these days that it may yet figure as the one righteous individual who saved the city of the trusts from destruction when the supreme court gets around to a judgment in the trust test cases. It is not only increasing the wages of employes voluntarily, but voluntarily instituting a system of benefits to injured employes on a scale more generous than is commonly known of among employers. And this system does not operate to relieve the corporation from any claims under legal liability which may extend beyond these benefits.

No Friends of Mine.

"Senator Aldrich," the president said,
"Is a mighty good friend to me."
Then he patted him gently on the head
as a token of amity.
And it may be true, for the friendship
graft
Is right in the Aldrich line;
But though he's a friend of William
H. Taft
He isn't a friend of mine.

He isn't the sort of man I'd choose
To succor the patient poor;
He isn't the doctor I would use
The nation's ills to cure;
I wouldn't want his hand to draft
The latest reform design.
He may be a friend of William H.
Taft,
But he isn't a friend of mine!

Because of the tariff bill he's made
I'm robbed wherever I turn;
The "benefits" he has gained I've paid
With every penny I earn.
Whatever bears his handicraft
Has proven, for me, a "shine;"
So he may be a friend of William H.
Taft,
But he isn't a friend of mine!

Then there is Cannon, and Tawney, too,
Ballinger, Payne, and Crane—
Taft holds them up to the public view
As part of his friendly train.
But they're stabbing his measures "to the haft"
And ripping them up the spine,
And they may be "friends" of William
H. Taft,
But they'll never be friends of mine!

So I say it loud, and I say it strong
To the ear of the president,—
That his "friends" have put him in dead wrong
And thwarted his good intent.
He ought to "tip them off the raft,"
And into "the salty brine,"
So they wouldn't be friends of William H. Taft—
For they never were friends of mine!

Boy and Man.

Puck: The boy paused for a moment at the edge of his neighbor's field.

"What's a melon, anyway?" he argued, against the still small voice of his conscience, and went in and helped himself.

Years passed. The boy became a man and a financier. And when there was public clamor because he and a few associates divided among them some $20,000,000 accruing from the sale of watered stock, he laughed sardonically to recall his first defection into devious ways.

"What's a melon, anyway?" he snarled, nor vouchsafed any other answer.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

What People Talk About.

Without playing the eavesdropper or possessing ourselves of secrets to which we have no right, we may learn a good deal, if we keep our ears open, from the conversations going on about us. The lesson is often one of warning. I am not thinking now of the language used. It is possible to frame faultless sentences and yet say nothing of consequence. On the other hand one may take great liberties with the King's English as the honored evangelist, D. L. Moody, sometimes did, and yet give voice to a thought that stabs the conscience awake, and puts iron into the will.

So it is rather of the staple than of the form of daily talk that I speak, being under the strong conviction that the subjects treated are as a rule of a lower grade than should engage us. The other day I rode for an hour on a train with a mother and grown-up daughter who sat so close to me that I could not help hearing what they said. And what did they say? One long string of questions and answers concerning what they had had to eat in the city they had just visited, what they had bought in the shops and what they would have purchased, if their purses had been longer, what they wore at the dinners and teas to which they had been invited, what furnishings were in the houses of their friends and relatives, what Aunt Sarah said about Cousin George's new motor car and what fellows were paying attention to what girls.

And so on and so on. Nothing objectionable, nothing scandalous, but all rather tedious for the man who could not choose but hear.

Sample the average masculine conversation as you meet a group of men in a hotel lobby or at the club, and what do you hear? The stock expressions relate to deals, pools, propositions, stocks, bonds, percentage of profit, mergers, gilt-edged investments and the like. Or consort with the politicians and hear them talk about the machine and party loyalty, about pulls and delivering the goods. Or frequent the gatherings of the fashionable and listen to the comments on gowns and hats, the latest society chit-chat, the freshest bit of gossip or scandal.

Plain, is it not, that people today talk chiefly about what they eat and wear, about the almighty dollar and wherewithal they shall be amused. People talk about these things because they think about them. And what a poverty of ideas the average popular conversation reveals, what shallow emotions, what a limited experience of the height and depth of human life!

Even if they are not doing any positive harm to others, by their idle and profitless talk, people are injuring themselves. God endowed man with the powers of speech, that he might use it for the highest ends. If he habitually confines himself to trivialities he loses or seems his ability to promote through his talk his own upward progress and the welfare of others.

Why not then be more scrupulous in the choice of topics of conversation? One need not abandon altogether small talk" or ordinary themes, but one can accustom himself to thinking and speaking of larger matters. He can talk of the virtues and valor of his fellowmen instead of decrying them. He can point out the merits, advantages and opportunities of the community in which he lives instead of constantly criticising and belittling it. He can talk about the big movements going on in various parts of the world that are lifting humanity. He can talk of the goodness of God, as Christian and Hopeful in "Pilgrim's Progress" did, on their way to the Celestial city.

Jesus put strong emphasis on a man's talk as an index of his character. What can you do this week to elevate the tone of the conversation in your shop, your home, your school, your social circle?

THE PARSON.

The Futility of Trust Busting.

Charles Edward Russell, in Success Magazine: Organized business, with all its trusts and all its features of good and evil, is our present source of supply for man's primal necessities. It is, therefore, above all attacks as above all laws and all regulations. It may have undermined itself; it may have, by unwisdom, brought its dominance to an end; but it never has been and never will be affected by any attempt to curb or regulate it. And if its day is coming to an end it will be succeeded by other sources of supply organized upon its lines and still further removed from that competition desired by regulars and reformers and aimed at in the Golden Specific and Anti-Trust Cholagogue of Dr. Sherman. The trust, the great business combination, the perfected and articulated organization for efficient and economical production, represented an incalculable advance upon all previous methods of business. Its installation has been attended with many minor evils and one great radical fault. So far it has operated to confer its benefits almost entirely upon its owners. The next obvious step is to operate it so that it will confer its benefits upon the community. What the regulators and reformers want to do with it would be a huge retrogression.

The world does not retrograde.

Filling.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: As we understand the stand-pat claims, the new tariff is filling the treasury, but not with the stuff that votes are made of.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1890.

The event of the evening at the city council meeting was the reconsideration of the street railway ordinance granting the company authority to convert the road into an electric line. The clause of the ordinance limiting the franchise to fifteen years was amended to read thirty years. Aldermen G. W. Davis and James Dingwall voting in opposition. Vice President Wilson of the Duluth Street Railway company, who was present, said the work of equipping the line with electric power would begin at once.

Dr. Swaine is urging the need of an emergency hospital in Duluth.

The death of Hon. Eugene M. Wilson of Minneapolis is announced. Duluth recalls his special service to her as the efficient representative in congress of the old Third district, who did so much to secure the passage of the Northern Pacific railroad bill, and furnished the mark also for the goose-quill shafts of Proctor Knott that once set the house in a roar, but are a butt for little wits no more.

Ex-Speaker Randall of Pennsylvania is dead. Ill-health and growing infirmity during the past two years impaired his power of service and withdrew him from prominence in congressional work. It is generally believed that, had it not been for his high tariff views, he would have been nominated by the Democrats for president in 1876.

William Neracher, president of the Neracher Sprinkler & Piping works, Cleveland, has been making a test of fire sprinklers put into the elevators of the Lake Superior company at a cost of $12,000. John Oathout, manager of the National Bureau of Inspection, Chicago, conducted the test, which was successful in every way. Mr. Neracher says they are agitating the question of establishing a branch factory in the Northwest for the manufacture of their apparatus and he favors Duluth as its location.

A GRAND STAND PLAY

By SAVOYARD

April 4 is very early for the baseball season, but it afforded Col. Theodore Roosevelt opportunity to make a startling and astounding and characteristic grand stand play, and in my small, though somewhat varied reading, I do not recall a figure in history or fiction that can approach the colonel at that sort of thing, and I am mindful of that wonderful and magical "frenzied financier," Tom Lawson, too, and also Dennis Kearney.

The colonel, and he is a man of limitless royal prerogative, had cabled his rebuke to the Vatican, and manifestly he had his press bureau with him, for a most vital part of the correspondence, all of which the Holy See supposed confidential, was expurgated. How that does remind us here of old times! How suggestive of the grandstand play!

It amounts to this: Roosevelt is a candidate for president. That is the opinion of all with whom I have talked today, many of them excellent observers. As for his controversy with the pope, I shall not much discuss it, except to say that his side of it is a sham, and that "near" insolent and false "Americanism" that will some day raise the gorge of our people and take some of the foolishness out of us.

I doubt if Roosevelt can be nominated by a Republican national convention. Grant was not, under much-like circumstances, and I am fool enough to believe it would take a regiment of Roosevelts to make one Grant, for any meritorious service whatever. But Grant had a Blaine to contend against, and Blaine is dead. If Mr. Roosevelt is nominated, can he be elected? There is the rub. On the surface it looks as though he could; but that is the way the surface looked for Grant in 1880. The Democrats look like they are going to behave, and when they have done that they never have been licked.

But suppose Roosevelt shall be inaugurated president in 1913? Suppose a financial panic should immediately succeed as when Cleveland was inaugurated twenty years earlier? And let me say right here that if Theodore Roosevelt had been inaugurated president of the United States on March 4, 1893, whether elected on one ticket or the other, the Fifty-third congress would have given us 16 to 1, and Theodore Roosevelt would have approved the bill, setting his signature to it, and pronouncing it not only very good, but what he had been aiming at all the time.

When, in politics, did he swim up stream? When and where? Cabot Lodge, nor other of his worshippers, can point the time or place. Swimming with the current, Roosevelt can beat Leander, or a dolphin, or a Mississippi catfish Up stream he is driftwood, flotsam and jetsam.

But Grover Cleveland was your navigator up stream. He never "sold the truht for power." There was a man from crown to heel, one of the very great men our country has produced, and the very greatest of his generation. He was no grandstand player. He was no egotist. He had but one idea as to conduct, and that was to do the right as he saw the right. He was

One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break;
Never dreamed, though right were baffled, wrong would triumph.

And swifter than the comet, history did him vindication. Ere he was gathered to his fathers his country recognized his gigantic stature, his worth incalculable. As a sentinel on the watch-tower, he was exemplar for posterity, and the fame of Cleveland will grow and grow and grow. He was the giant oak, stalwart, grand, bold, defiant. He was a man of destiny appointed to do the work he performed. He was at the head of affairs in a period of stress and crisis. He restored the public credit that the Republican party had impaired and maintained a government of law when the mob threatened the reign of anarchy. He revitalized the Monroe Doctrine and taught the Democratic party victory.

As for Col. Roosevelt, he knew as well as King Edward did that to be received by the pope of Rome he must subscribe to the etiquette of the Vatican. The chancellor of the German empire subscribed to it and had his audience and so would any gentleman of any court of Europe, whether a crowned king or chief minister or plain subject or citizen. It never occurred to these that the Holy See was "imposing conditions," "dictating their conduct," and all that rot.

But Mr. Roosevelt must needs impose conditions on the pope. His demand, for that is what it amounted to, was that the Vatican should make an exception in his case, and give him an audience upon conditions that would be refused King Edward, or Emperor William, or Czar Nicholas.

It was only a characteristic piece of Rooseveltian impudence, and why not? He is the very greatest egotist since Napoleon Bonaparte. He has been the recipient of more adultation than all the other presidents together, more than was showered on Clay, Douglas, Blaine and Bryan combined. Is it not perfectly natural that he should hold himself infallible? When he was a sort of bureau chief in this town, during the administration of Ben Harrison, he was one night very garrulous at a supper, on which occasion Tom Reed was a guest. Teddy was, even for him, exceptionally dogmatic, arrogant, peremptory, dictatorial and pragmatic.

Tom Reed remarked to his next neighbor at the table, "That young man, Roosevelt, has just made an original discovery of the 'Ten Commandments.'"

But why should Roosevelt not believe that he is not only the most precious piece of flesh now in the world, but the most superior piece of humanity in profane history? He has been told so ten million times by sycophants, many of whom, I shame to say, are newspaper men, some of them preying on the garbage that fell from his political kitchen table.

But to get back a little to this Catholic-Methodist episode. The chancellor of the Vatican, in terms that it is not easy to mistake the meaning of, suggests that Theodore Roosevelt, American citizen, when he goes to Berlin, first visit the Polish club in that town, and see whether Emperor William will receive him in the imperial palace. And Theodore Roosevelt owes it to every Catholic citizen of America to subject the emperor of Germany to the same test he imposed upon the pope of Rome. But he dare not. He knows that if he shall accord to the Poles the same consideration he was so swift to declare he gave the Methodists, that the emperor will shut the door in his face as the pope did. Are you a free man, Col. Roosevelt? Then go to the Polish club in Berlin. There are hundreds of thousands of the race in America, mostly voters at that.

But as I write this I hear the colonel has hedged by snubbing the Methodists of Rome. Mark Hanna was our greatest man. He annexed the major part of the Catholic vote to the G. O. P. without calling the Northern Methodist church. McKinley was twice elected by the Catholic vote. It elected Roosevelt in 1904. It elected Taft in 1908. It will elect Taft's successor in 1912.

Would it not be poetic justice, as well as a triumph of patriotism, if Col. Roosevelt should turn the Catholic vote back into the Democratic fold where that church found refuge against the fanaticism of Know-Nothingism fifty-five years ago?

Wouldn't it be glorious? Bully for you, Colonel! Try it again!

PRIVILEGE AND DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA. By Frederick C. Howe, Ph. D., author of "The City: the Hope of Democracy," etc. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.50 net.

Privilege and Democracy are two mutually abhorrent things. Each depends for life upon the destruction of the other. Where they are coexistent, there is inevitable warfare until one or the other is slain. Wherever they meet, battle is joined, and sooner or later one must be completely vanquished, the other completely triumphant. In the United States today privilege and democracy are engaged in deadly war; and that war is the one issue out of which all other political issues are born. Up to a short time ago democracy was getting very much the worst of it. It is underneath in the fight still. Before the victory of privilege became complete, however, those who believe that democracy means hope for humanity and that privilege forbids humanity to hope awakened the people; and behold, the battle wages fiercely.

This book is devoted to a study of that battle, described by an optimist and a lover of humanity who believes in the ultimate triumph of democracy and the ultimate defeat of privilege.

Dr. Howe begins by recognizing that all through history economic advantage has been the motive inspiring struggle for the control of the government. "All the relations of society were created by the class which ruled. And the class which ruled was the class which owned. Its constant aim was to control the distribution of wealth." When law was substituted for force, by law humanity was made to serve, and rulership was given solemn religious sanction. It was privilege against democracy; the rule of the few for the few against the rule of the many for the many. In this volume Dr. Howe seeks to determine to what extent democracy in America has shifted the ascendancy of privilege, and whether political revolution carried with it "a revolution in the economic invironment, which in the last analysis controls the life, the liberty, the morals and the well-being of humanity." "Do not the few," he asks, "still elevate themselves upon the backs of the many by means of law, by means of the control of government and the agencies of justice and public opinion? Are not poverty and the attendant evils of ignorance, disease, vice and crime the children of our own flesh and blood? Have not the liberties which represent centuries of sacrifice and suffering only conferred upon humanity the shadow of power, while the substance is still in the hands of an ascendant class, which has made use of the new machinery as readily as it did the old?" No clear thinker can view the present situation, as it is presented in this absorbing volume or as he sees it for himself all about him, without realizing that the same struggle is still in progress, even though its form has changed; that privilege has adapted itself to the new conditions created by American democracy, and still sits firmly in the saddle, forcing a "free" people to delve and hew and spin that it may enjoy its fat and corrupt leisure.

From the beginning, man has travelled westward seeking free land, driven ever onward by land monopoly that followed soon after he gained a new footing. Now America, the last continent, is full, and the wave of population breaks upon the impassable barrier of the Pacific and rolls back upon itself. It is the culmination of a movement than began in the cradle of the race. Is it strange, in such circumstances, that this should be a time of unrest and discontent? "It marks," says Dr. Howe, "a turning point in the world." Free land has determined the wage scale, because no man will slave for a pittance when freedom awaits him upon the soil. What is to happen when there is no more land?

The population is crowding into the cities; that economic liberty which, rather than political liberty, has made America great, has been exhausted by monopoly. This nation let the people's land and the riches in the soil and beneath it slip into the hands of a few, thus shutting the door of opportunity in the faces of its own people. This government has lost to private greed enough wealth in land and its rich contents to keep it and its people rich for centuries. Most of it was stolen, and is being used to exploit the people for the profit of a few.

Not long ago The Herald editorially showed, by quotations from a conservative financial authority, that a dozen men control four-fifths of the nation's corporate wealth, and that these men are working together against a scattered and disorganized people. This is the organization of privilege, and it is a power greater than the government, and until the people organize in a united purpose, greater than the people.

Dr. Howe describes accurately, vividly and yet without undue heat, how privilege has entrenched itself in this country. The people's savings are all directed by the banking system to Wall street, where they are in the control of a few men who use them to squeeze additional fat profits out of the people. "The dividends of privilege can only mean cold, hunger and want for the millions, just as they mean idle luxury for the few." The home-owners have decreased in proportion and the tenants have increased, both in the city and in the country.

Dr. Howe says that there are two remedies: Industrial Socialism and Industrial Freedom. Privilege should be abolished by law. The tariff walls should be razed. The people should own the means of transportation. The land should be nationalized by taxation. Thus Dr. Howe embraces the plan of Henry George rather than that of Karl Marx. Though he has adopted bodily the Socialistic theory of economic determinism, he does not advocate the Socialistic program.

Yet the Socialists and the followers of the single tax theory, and thousands who are neither, all agree in the fundamental proposition that government must be made to work for the people, and not against them; that society must exert its governmental powers for the common good; and that that reactionary belief in individualism which is responsible for the present arrogance of monopoly must give way to an enlightened conception of society's duty to its members, whether exertion to carry out that conception is called Socialism, single tax, or something else. The name counts for nothing. What is needed is a new governmental objective that will hold humanity higher than property, and the social need higher than the wishes of powerful individuals greedy for power and profits.

The book is a startling challenge of existing conditions and existing apathy. It should be read by every citizen who hopes for progress.

ROUTLEDGE RIDES ALONE. By Will Levington Comfort. Philadelphia: The J. B. Lippincott company. $1.50.

Here is a truly "ripping" story, full of dash and go, and written in a nervously virile style which is strongly Kiplingesque, and which gives picturesque realty and peculiarly gripping interest to the narrative.

It is a story of war and of war correspondents, giants in their trade; of China and India and Japan; of wherever race clashes against race and there are stirring tales of battle and bloodshed to be cabled home; of the secrets of international politics; of Rawden, the mystic, who "served blindly among the dregs and had mercy for all men but himself;" of Routledge, prince of war correspondents, who "rides alone" and works gigantic "scoops", and of Noreen, beautiful daughter of Jerry Cardenegh, dean of the corps of correspondents. Routledge, returning in triumph to London, finds himself scorned by high and low for a false charge of high treason. The real offense was done by Cardenegh, his Fenian hatred of England getting the better of him in a moment of madness; and Routledge shoulders the blame for the sake of Noreen, and goes back to the wilds where war still reigns, to do great feats in the Russian-Japanese war under an assumed name. A strong love story puts full-blooded flesh on the Stark bones of this intensely fascinating story.

THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF LUTHER TRANT. By Edwin Palmer and William McHarg. Boston: Small, Maynard & Co. $1.50.

Here is an entirely new type of detective. Trant is an examplar of applied psychology, and he uses the new science in detecting crime. By the use of cunning and delicate devices which register emotions which not a muscle betrays otherwise, he identifies evildoers in a way that seems exceedingly mysterious and intricate until it is explained when it becomes as limpid as the multiplication table. In a preface the authors state that there are none of Trant's feats that are not known in the psychological laboratories of America and Europe. The characters and incidents are imaginary, but the scientific basis is real. We are indebted to the galvanometer, the automatograph, the "new psychology," and to Messrs. McHarg and Palmer for nine fresh, ingenious and piquantly entertaining detective stories that are "different."

RALEIGH. A romance of Elizabeth's court. By Stephen Lovell and William Devereaux. Philadelphia: the J. B. Lippincott company. $1.50.

Sir Walter Raleigh is a name to conjure with in story or play, standing as it does for romance and a later chivalry. Raleigh's loves, and the uncertain affections of the virgin queen, together with Spanish plotters, form the ingredients of a highly dramatic, and brightly readable tale which is founded on the play "Sir Walter Raleigh," in which Lewis Waller recently scored a great success in London, and which he will probably produce in this country the coming fall.

Of Books and Writers.

Doubleday, Page & Co.'s offerings this week are: "The Book of Daniel Drew," by Bouck White; "Lady Merton-Colonist," by Mrs. Humphry Ward; "Verses and Sonnets," by Julia Stockton Dinsmore, and "Success in Market Gardening," by W. W. Rawson. For April 21 are announced: "South American Fights and Fighters," by Cyrus Townsend Brady; "The Beast," by Judge Ben B. Lindsey and Harvey L. O'Higgins.

Mrs. Humphry Ward is the subject of an article by M. Firmin Roz in the Revue des Deux Mondes. The author places her among the greatest of English women novelists, classing her with the Brontes and George Eliot. He finds that she expresses all the best that exists in English society today; that there are few novels more thoroughly English, few more lifelike representations of the English aristocracy than are contained in "Lady Rose's Daughter." Her latest book, "Lady Merton-Colonist," published this week by Doubleday, Page & Co., is a romance of the Canadian Northwest.

Charles Battell Loomis is going to take his Little Maude to England and introduce her to English audiences. This will not be Mr. Loomis' first public appearance in England, for he has already given English people the pleasure which his reading always affords. He expects to remain there throughout the season. "Little Maude and Her Mama," is one of the Comic Masterpieces published by Doubleday, Page & Co.

The Baker & Taylor company announce that for the coming fall season they will publish about twenty-five books including works of scholarship and research, like Frothingham's "History of Architecture," works for the art student and amateur, like Keppel's "Golden Age of Engraving," and a number of beautifully illustrated child's books of which Grace Duffie Boylan's "Steps to Nowhere" and Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," illustrated by George Soper, are examples. They will continue the popular and successful Guide series, no longer called the "Child's Guide," and will issue the customary proportion of books of fiction.

Probably few readers of "The Top of the Morning," "Open House," and that earlier book by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins—"Dr. Ellen"—all of which the Baker & Taylor company are the fortunate publishers—have seen any of the author's attempts at poetry. But Miss Tompkins has made at least one excursion into the realms of verse, with a result that will appeal to her feminine readers.

FOR CLOTHES.

Thank God for clothes!
Not that they shield us from the winter rude,
Not that they foster social rectitude
And cloak deficiences—for none of those;
But for the warm uplift that furbelows
Can kindle in this sorry human clay—
The glory and the strut of fine array;
Thank God for clothes!

Hartley Burr Alexander, author of "Odes on the Generations of Man," published this year by the Baker & Taylor company, is professor of philosophy in the University of Nebraska, of which he is a graduate. Though poetry is his strongest interest, Prof. Alexander has done some notable work in the field of scholarship, having been one of the authorities upon the International Dictionary, and a contributor to the new International Encyclopaedia, the International Journal of Ethics, etc. He is the author of two earlier books: "Poetry and the Individual," and a volume of poems entitled "The Mid-Earth Life."

Owen Johnson, whose story, "The Varmint," is appearing in the Saturday Evening Post, is the son of Robert Underwood Johnson, editor of The Century, and author of an earlier successful book, based like this, upon school life at Lawrenceville. "The Varmint" will be published as an early fall book by the Baker & Taylor company.

Among the spring publications of Doubleday, Page & Co. is Cyrus Townsend Brady's latest volume of the "American Fights and Fighters Series." It is called "South American Fights and Fighters," and is divided into two parts. The first takes up the stirring story of conquest in that continent and Mexico, narrating the deeds and fortunes of the Pizarros of Pedrarias, of Balboa and Cortez—names cherished by every American boy today: of Ojeda and Nicuesa, and of the gentle, but glorious Las Casas, apparently the only Spaniard friend the Indians had.

Part II contains a series of sea pictures of the Pacific, such as the cruise of the Tonquin, and the loss of the Essex, Whaler. The book contains numerous illustrations including original drawings by several American artists, maps, plans, portraits and reproductions of old prints. It is fully up to the standard of its predecessors in a series which threatens to equal the celebrated Henty books in popularity.

Bouck White, the biographer of Daniel Drew, is a graduate of Union Theological seminary who is devoting his life to social service. He is now head resident at Trinity house, New York city, and a prominent factor in the work of this institution, which seeks to unite all classes and creeds in the cause of good citizenship and make the Christian church a telling factor for social and civic betterment. Born in 1874 in Middleburg, New York, a Dutch village in the Catskills, Mr. White graduated from Harvard in 1896. Before entering Union, he spent some time as a reporter for the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"The Book of Daniel Drew" by Mr. Bouck White, published this month by Doubleday, Page & Co., is the first adequate biography of this remarkable up-state cattle-drover, who became one of Wall street's shrewdest and most Napoleonic figures. Its fundamental source is a diary found in an old trunk, in Putnam county, New York, where the financier was born, but the book is amplified by many facts from Drew's relatives, from Wall street histories, and other sources. It is told in the first person, in the uncouth, illiterate manner of speech that Drew employed, and forms a unique and fascinating addition to Wall street literature.

Little, Brown & Co. are publishing in book form one of the most successful serials of the year, "The Red Symbol," by John Ironside. The story deals with the adventures that befell a young newspaper man, Maurice Wynn, who is sent to Russia primarily on business, but soon finds himself involved with a secret society of Nihilists. His adventures are incessant and always tinged with the element of danger which keeps the reader on the qui vive. Furthermore, they are usually the outcome of his endeavors to assist a fascinating but elusive heroine. Love, mystery and adventure are the ingredients from which this absorbing tale is compounded, and the result is a book unsurpassed for interesting incident and romantic charm.

"Just Between Themselves" is the title which Anne Warner has given to her latest and most characteristic book, and a most descriptive title it is. Six people, varying greatly in their tastes and ways, assemble for a house party in a little German town, which Miss Warner disguises under the name of Dichtenberg. Here the lack of American luxuries and the enforced companionship speedily expose the real nature concealed under the veneer of politeness and good breeding. Miss Warner's display of "femininity" as such, and her expose of masculine weaknesses are effected with remarkably clever touches and with a humor that is irresistably droll. Aside from being a breezy satire on the little troubles of married life, the book has a bright, scintillating love story as its main theme.

"I was born in the working class. Early I discovered enthusiasm, ambition and ideals; and to satisfy these became the problem of my child-life. My environment was crude and rough and raw. I had no outlook, but an uplook rather. My place in society was at the bottom. Here life offered nothing but sordidness and wretchedness, both of the flesh and the spirit, for here flesh and spirit were alike starved and tormented. Above me towered the colossal edifice of society, and to my mind the only way out was up."

With this engaging frankness, Jack London opens his discussion of "What Life Means to Me" in his latest volume, "Revolution," published by the Macmillans. This book contains a number of stirring essays on some of the different subjects which have seemed to Mr. London in his varied career to be of vital importance. There are thirteen papers in all, the volume deriving its name from the first one,—an appeal for socialism. Besides those which are concerned with some phase of modern society, there are others of widely differing interests: one an account of some Alaskan gold diggers, another a discussion of the animal psychology of John Burroughs and Theodore Roosevelt, and a third a criticism of Gorky and Kipling.

The announcement for publication by the Macmillan company this spring of Robert Herrick's novel, "A Life for a Life," has aroused considerable curiosity as to its nature. At present all that is known about it is that it is a vigorous story of modern American life, in which the political as well as the social conditions of today figure.

One of the chapters of Winston Churchill's new novel, "A Modern Chronicle," (Macmillan), which seems to be arousing no little discussion, is the one to which he has given the title, "The New Doctrine." Here he says: "No lady is in the least interesting if restricted and contented with her restrictions—a fact which the ladies of our nation are fast finding out. What would become of the Goddess of Liberty! And let us mark well while we are making these observations that liberty is a goddess, not a god, although it has taken us in America over a century to realize a significance in the choice of her sex. And—another discovery!—she is not a haus frau. She is never domiciled, never fettered; * * * she is a coquette, and she is never satisfied. If she were she would not be liberty; if she were she would not be worshiped of men, but despised. If they understood her they would not care for her. And finally she comes not to bring peace but a sword."

Among the Magazines.

The May St. Nicholas brings the first chapters of a jolly sequel to Mary Constance Du Bois's "The Lass of the Silver Sword." The new serial is entitled "The League of the Signet Ring," and the scenes are laid in a quaint old country seat on the banks of the Hudson, which has a secret room, discovered in a most fascinating way. The number, too, brings a talk on "Girls' Rooms," the first of a series of delightful sketches by Antoinette R. Perrett, with delightful illustrations by G. P. Perrett. Mrs. Perrett preaches the art which lies in giving a soul to things and in realizing the beauty that is fitting to the place that belongs to us. There will be other hopeful discussions of how to fit up "well-balanced" boys' rooms, and dens, and work-shops, etc. Another new feature, more especially for the littlest readers, starts in this number, merry "Leaves From the Journey Book," some story and many pictures by De Witt Clinton Falls.

The American consul at Havre, James E. Dunning, contributes to the Youth's Companion of April 28, an article of great pith and point on the topic of "Young Americans in Our Foreign Trade." Mr. Dunning dwells upon the great opportunities which this field offers for ambitious young men who wish not only to enrich themselves, but to increase the prestige of their country in foreign markets.

An article of vital interest to every woman is "The Day of the Woman," by Prof. Charles Zueblin, in The Delineator for May. It goes to the bottom of the phase of life which sends a woman into the commercial world, and advances some new ideas that are worth turning over many times. "The New Housekeeping," after pointing out that many of the present-day wife's cooking utensils were used in the prehistoric ages, outlines all that is new in the kitchen. "The Widow of an American Diplomatist" goes to Rome in this issue with her bright charm and way of seeing things. Rupert Hughes has a splendid article on "What Everybody Ought to Know About Music." The fiction is by Annie Hamilton Donnell, Kate Jordan, Mary Stewart Cutting and Theodosia Garrison, which is enough to be said for any magazine. The three fashion authorities, Clara E. Simcox, Edouard La Fontaine and Helen Berkeley-Loyd, outline the very latest in the world ruled by Dame Fashion.

The May Century will show reproductions, in black and white, of five striking studies by the noted French illustrator, Andre Castigne, made especially for The Century, of scenes in and around Paris during the recent great flood.

The Book-Keeper for April publishes rather more than the usual number of technical articles that are of special interest to bookkeepers and accountants. Among these is the concluding part of the article entitled "A New Plan for Proving Receiving Tellers." Other articles that deserve special mention are: "A Voucher Record For Department Stores," "Keeping Accounts In a Paint Shop," "System of Accounting For Brick Manufacturing," "Card Ledger For Dentists," "Practicability of Card Ledgers as Compared With Loose Leaf Ledgers," "Higher Accountancy and Finance" and "C. P. A. Questions and Answers."

Frederic S. Isham contributes the complete novelette to the May Smart Set. His story, "The Buccaneer," is a mystery tale, a romance of freebooters —old thieving junk captains, 'way up the hidden reaches of inland Chinese rivers, and modern social marauders who prey on soociety by means of dubious financial schemes and polite legerdemain. A fashionable country house, the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, a dark byway of Chinatown and the far-off heights overlooking an ancient Chinese city see the working out of the intricate and absorbing plot, in which wealthy New York men, a charming American girl, an astute and energetic English diplomat, a wily Oriental and a popular young society man plays the leading roles. Mr. Isham, who has been for some years a popular writer of best sellers, has worked out in "The Buccaneer" a tale full of plot and counterplot. It is a story that will keep you awake. The May Smart Set contains several short stories that are above the average even of this magazine in interest and strength and cleverness of treatment.

Gunter's Magazine for May offers 192 pages of stirring and entertaining fiction, eminently readable even in these spring days of out of doors. The number contains a complete novel, the beginning of a new serial novel and installments of two others already started, the first half of one two-part novel and the conclusion of another, and thirteen short stories, truly a strong and varied collection of fiction to suit all tastes.

Timeliness is the note in the first May issue of the twice-a-month Popular Magazine. Baseball, politics, the black hand, the explorers, the opera season—these are some of the up to date themes in stories in the Popular. The baseball yarn is by Zane Grey. It tells how the league champions went up against a bunch of wild cats in Canada. Francis Lynde contributes the political story—a long novel, published complete in this issue. J. Kenilworth Egerton has been investigating the black hand in Italy and America, and he gives his results in a two-part story called, "The Passive Strike." Max Marcin tells how the rival opera houses get excited over a "Yiddish Nightingale."

Smith's Magazine for May has more than its usual quota of entertaining fiction and verse. The magazine opens with a beautiful art supplement containing new and striking portraits of well known stage favorites, then comes a fascinating novel, after which follows over a dozen clever, readable short stories, bright verse, and an amusing little sermon by Charles Battel Loomis. "A Florida Fueeze," the long novel by Susie Bouchelle Wight, is a wonderful story of the "Flower" state. From the very start one's interest goes out to the lovely girl who has just come through that most discouraging of an orange grower's experiences—a "black" frost. Woven in the record of her brave fight to make good the destruction of her precious trees, is a dainty love story—the story of a love that came to her in adversity and which she put from her, time and again. Its final conquest of this stubborn, determined girl comes as a beautiful climax to a very attractive novel.

The cover of May 10 Story Book, just out, shows a charming maiden in the doubtful embrace of his Satanic Majesty. The stories are of the usual crisp and snappy variety, light reading and very entertaining. Garrard Harris leads the magazine with a clever sketch entitled, "To Him That Hath," wherein a clever lawyer obtains much on a foundation of nothing. "Stung," by Howard Dwight Smiley tells how a tenderfoot finally got more than even with a bunch of "Wildcat Gulch" sharpers. Domestic Science and what it does or doesn't teach the average society girl is cleverly brought out in an unusually bright skit entitled "Alecia's Whirlwind Career in Domestic Science," by Helene Hicks Bowen.

Essentially champagne-like in quality, the novellette which opens Young's Magazine for May is "The Latch Key," by Fred Jackson. Royal Arden, the heroine, descendant of colonial governers and related to the half of Kingsport, insists on putting her dainty foot through each convention which threatens to interfere with her wilful, but innocent progress. The story has to do with a sublet flat, an unexpectedly returned tenant and a blizzard. Forrest Halsey in "Mr. Delancy Goes to Jersey" relates a farce which might well make a successful play instead of a short story. Sharply contrasted is the tragic horror of John Louis Berry's story, "Seven Dollars and Seven Cents."

The May Ainslee's opens with an entertaining story of love and mystery, called "The Sapphire Bracelet," by Edward Salisbury Field. It is a complete novel, sparkling with interest and humor, and moving forward without a hitch to an amazing climax. Women readers will be interested in this story and in "The Eagle's Feather," a dramatic love story by Emily Post, in the same number. The last is a serial, and to those who have not read the former chapters, is worth looking up. Samuel Gordon tells a very funny story of a woman flirt's nemesis at the hands of two men whom she had engaged herself to simultaneously in "A Cross Reference." The lure of strange lands is in a dramatic story of the Chinese boxer uprising, told by Will Levington Comfort in "The Final Portrait."

To the issue of Harper's Weekly for April 16 Edward G. Lowry contributes a paper upon the Democratic opportunities and prospects at the next elections. Albert Bigelow Paine describes a visit to the tombs of the ancient kings of Egypt. "An Ex-Super" contributes an amusing description of the behavior of Caruso and other grand opera stars behind the scenes. Charles Johnston writes on "The Grim Humor of John Chinaman." In "Shadows of the Stage" William Winters sums up the events of the dramatic season.

Hampton's for May opens with the second of Charles Edward Russell's remarkable revelations of the inside history of the Southern Pacific railway, and the methods it employs to gain control of the state of California. The article is authoritative in the extreme, basing its charges upon the Pacific railroad commission report and other government and court reports. This is the first time that this amazing story of corruption has been given to the public adequately. Benjamin B. Hampton has a second article on Alaska, following up the one in April. This is called "Shall Alaska Become a Morganheim Barony?" In it Mr. Hampton details the resources in gold, copper and coal, and shows the exact satus of the railroad situation in Alaska today. He proves that the Guggenheims and J. Pierpont Morgan will have an absolute monopoly of the country unless the government steps in. His plea—which is meeting with high favor throughout the country and in Washington—is for the government to own the railways and give every man a chance, leasing the mines upon a royalty basis.

Under the title of "The New American City Government" George Kibbe Turner tells in the May McClure's of the rapid spread of the commission form of government; Burton J. Hendrick has an aticle on "The Skulls of Our Immigrants," which upsets the belief so long held by scientists that the skull was the one thing that could not change; W. A. Du Puy and E. T. Brewster show what the rat has cost us in lives and money, and M. Paoli gives his reminiscences of the czar of Russia. Foremost in the fiction is an unusual detective story, "The Anthropologist at Large," by Dr. R. A. Freeman, editor of the London Lancet. Other stories are "The Glamour" by Oscar Graeve; "The Blue Pearl" by Neith Boyce; "The Nineteenth Hat" by Arnold Bennett; "The Point of View," another war story, by "Ole Luk-Oie"; and "The Education of King Peter" by Edgar Wallace.

Baseball—and the kind that isn't just for the "fan"—is the subject of the leading article in the May American Magazine. Hugh S. Fullerton is the exponent and he has something really new to tell about the game. His article deals with the mathematics or geometrics of baseball and the diagrams and photographs which accompany it are unusually interesting. There are four other big features in this magafine. "The Hired City," by James Oppenheim, which is a fresh and unbiased report on Pittsburg—a city the author believes to be still asleep; "The Joke's On You?" by Samuel Hopkins Adams, wherein Mr. Adams tells how our chosen representatives work the joker game on legislation; autobiographical notes by Jane Adams describing the foundation of Hull-Hose, and "Probing the Pullman Company," which includes many new and interesting facts about sleeping cars. Miss Ida Tarbell's "The American Woman" and Stewart Edward White's "The Cabin" maintain the interest and charm that earlier installments promised.

"The Knell of the Fourth," an article by J. R. Quirk in the May number of Popular Mechanics contains the expression of the sentiment of many mayors of prominent cities against further human sacrifice. In his editorial, H. H. Windsor treats of vital subjects, such as the assembling of trains so that disasters like the recent Iowa horror are possible; fireproof buildings; a department of health, national in scope; and encouragement of the young to secure education. "The Growth of the Motorboat" is discussed by Francis Buzzell in an interesting illustrated article. Alfred Stumpe warns of "The Menace of the Match" and Guy Elliott Mitchell tells some interesting things about Tungsten. The fourth article on heat, by Prof. J. Gordon Ogden, discusses the "Production and Uses of High Temperature." Each of these articles is complete in itself and handled in a style that makes it interesting to any one.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

THE OPHIR MINE TO RESUME

Unwatering of Shaft and Workings to Begin—Will Sink to Depth of 1,000 Feet to Open Up Ore Bodies.

Butte, Mont., April 23.—Orders have been received in Butte to prepare the Ophir mine for a resumption of operations, and it is the intention of the Butte Central Copper company to develop the property on an extensive scale. The recommendations of the company's engineers, to sink the shaft to a depth of 1,000 feet, will be carried out, and at that depth it is believed that a crosscut will open up rich ore bodies.

Supt. Samuel McConnell will at once commence the work of installing a set of new boilers, and as soon as this work is completed the shaft will be unwatered. The latter work will require about two weeks to complete, and another two weeks will be required to clean out the lower workings and place the property in condition for resumption of operations. The shaft is of three compartments, something over 500 feet in depth. When operations ceased about two years ago, a crosscut had been run to intersect the south vein, and fairly good values were encountered. It is the opinion of the company's engineers that a depth of 1,000 feet will open up commercial ore bodies. It is probable, however, that the shaft will be continued to a depth of at least 2,000 feet, the work going on simultaneously with the development of ore bodies on the levels above.

It is understood that it will be the policy of the company to install a concentrator for the treatment of the ores on the 200 and 300-foot levels, which were partially developed by leasers some years ago. It is estimated that these ores, the content of which is principally silver and gold, will more than pay the current expenses incurred in developing the

DRILL WORK ON CORDOVA

Third Hole on Osceola Division 532 Feet Deep---Second Hole Being Sunk on Montgomery Claim of Warrior Is Acquiring Depth.

Globe, Ariz., April 23.—The churn drill working on the Eureka group of claims held by the Cordova Copper company is making good headway. The third hole is now being sunk on the east end of the Osceola claim almost directly southwest of the Sullivan shaft, where considerable drifting in the schist was done last year on the 475-foot level. The present hole is 532 feet deep and the formation in which the drill is working is granite-porphyry. It is the intention of the management to continue sinking until a depth of 650 or 700 feet is attained.

Warrior.

The second churn drill hole being put down on the property of the Warrior Development company is acquiring depth at a rapid rate. This hole is being sunk on the Montgomery claim not far from the ore body developed by the underground workings. At its present depth of 565 feet the drill is in silicate or in schist. The kind of ore brought up for sampling corresponds closely to that which has been mined so extensively for shipment in the past and is supposed to be the result of the drill having encountered the Montgomery vein which dips in that direction.

The exploratory work being done by drifting and raising on the 300 and 250-foot levels, of the Warrior mine is proving very satisfactory. A raise and stope in which work is now under way in Block No. 40 of the property is developing an excellent grade of ore. The daily shipments to the El Paso smetler are being maintained at about 100 tons a day, the average copper content of the ore being approximately 9.5 per cent.

Superior & Globe.

The development work on the Superior & Globe Copper company's group of sixteen claims located five miles northeast of Globe is being confined to the drifts being driven east and west from the north crosscut on the 650-foot level. The drifting is being continued along a fault of mineralized material and for a distance of 300 feet, the vein has proved to have an average width of about ten feet. The mineralized ground is between diabase walls and will be further explored by the drifts with a view to developing copper values. The wall rock, so far as explored, is solid diabase to the face of the north crosscut over 100 feet from the intersection of the fault. Crosscutting was discontinued last week to enable the management to hasten the work in the drifts.

THE COURTLAND DISTRICT

Germania Mine Being Developed by the Calumet & Arizona—One Hundred Tons Being Shipped Daily to the Smelter at Douglas.

Courtland, Ariz., April 23.—What is known as the Germania mine, Courtland, is being operated by the Calumet & Arizona company under the superintendence of George A. Arnold, general management being in the hands of Col. L. W. Powell of Warren, who is the manager for the company's general mining and smelting interests in the Southwest.

This property is being principally developed from a level at 261 feet from the surface, though a two-compartment shaft has been sunk to 500 feet and on the latter level considerable exploratory work was done, without satisfactory results. On the 261 there is a very extensive ore body, and while many faces are being worked on this body, there are but nine chutes for the handling of the ore. At this time they are stoping from three entrances on the west end of this ore body, the square set system being in vogue.

The ore is generally of fair grade, and they are enabled to ship all to advantage because the high grade brings the general average up materially. In one of the stopes the writer found very high-grade material and secured some of the handsomest specimens of azurite and malachite crystals he ever saw. In this stope, too, there is a good body of the high-grade, with occasional bunches of practically solid cuprite. The ore of the property usually occurs in an altered limestone, but occasional better grades are found in the unaltered materials. In this property, as in the others, the rhyolite-porphyry cuts out the ore absolutely. They find some native copper, the ore generally being cuprite, azurite, malachite, chalcopyrite (very little) and some black oxide. At one point in this property a little body of sulphides was encountered, but it did not amount to much. They are shipping 100 tons per day to the smelter owned by the company at Douglas.

"This property is being developed in a very fine way, everything being done with a view to efficiency, economy and thoroughness. The ore is being taken out in such a way as to be handled in the best manner and with least cost; the different workings are connected both for convenience and economy; the connection with the Mary mine brings pure air; the location of electric economies are at most available and convenient places; and in general it is fine throughout. Everything is allowed to fill with water below the 300-foot level as below that the workings are for the present abandoned. A 25-kilowatt dynamo generates the electricity necessary, and water for boilers is pumped from a station two miles away.

PLATINUM MINE IN OREGON

First Deposit Ever Discovered in United States—Only Two Platinum Mines in the World, in Ural Mountains and Australia.

Butte, Mont., April 23.—If the investigations now being made at Merlin, Or., by R. H. Bailey, a Chicago mining engineer; Ed Ellis, a realty dealer; John D. Turner and a number of other prominent business men of the city, develop as they believe they will, Oregon will have the distinction of being the first state in the Union to have a platinum mine, and Bailey the distinction of being the first discoverer.

There are but two platinum mines in the world—one in the Ural mountains and the other in Australia, but in neither one of these does platinum predominate, as is the case in the Merlin mine.

The mine was located on the fifteenth day of last November, and is owned by six men, Bailey being one of them. It is located five miles west of Merlin and on the west side of the Rogue river, about three miles from the famous Hell Gate on the stream of the same name. There are twenty-nine claims in all.

As Bailey describes the mine, it is a wonder. He states that the ledge is highly mineralized for a width of 600 feet, 200 of which is a bright pink quartz, eighty feet of other quartz, fifteen feet of spherulitic gangue, eight feet of pitch blende and the balance of other mineralized gangue, each character of rock being divided from its neighbors by strong seams of gouge.

Many assays have been made of all characters of rock and they run from an ounce of platinum up to sixty-five ounces, which is valued at $22 an ounce. This brings the ore values up from $22 to $1,400 a ton.

In addition to this the ore carries tin which the assays show runs from 2 to 59 per cent. These assays were made by D. L. Johnston of Grants Pass and C. E. Boyer, chemist and assayer at the Oregon Technical laboratory of the Willlamette university. There is one tunnel of ninety feet, another sixty feet and cuts and shafts on every one of the twenty-nine claims.

LAKE COPPER STOCKS SMALL

Smelter Docks Almost Free of Metal at Opening of Navigation—Rate of Production for District About Normal—Little Change in Situation at the "Little Lakes."

Houghton, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The season of navigation on the Great Lakes opened this week and found the local smelter stocks comparatively free of the finished metal, a condition unusual at this period of the year and due entirely to the demands of the American consumer who apparently have been leading a hand to mouth existence during the greater part of last fall and the early spring. This demand, which reached its height in March, exceeded all former records for rail shipments in both large and small tonnages. There is at the present time at the several local smelters probably slightly in excess of a single month's production available for shipment, and this is now being shipped by water as fast as it can be loaded. The rate of production for the district is about normal, being in the neighborhood of 225,000,000 pounds annually.

The "Little Lakes."

There has been no material change in the situation at the properties of the several so-called "Little Lakes," where upwards of ten diamond drill outfits are engaged in exploratory work. On the South Lake property, where two outfits are in commission, diamond drilling is centered in an effort to tap the underlay of the Lake lode. The No. 2 hole, in which this disclosure is expected shortly, has attained a depth of about 1,900 feet and should cut this famous bed any day. North Lake has two drill outfits engaged in seeking the northerly extensions of the several so-called Lake and Adventure lodes. Some showings of copper have been had in this work but none have promised much. Both holes are being sunk to greater depth in the hope of encountering the amygdaloid bed upon which the Lake mine is opened. At the Indiana property there are four drill outfits in service. Of these, two are so located as to bring a further disclosure of the so-called Indiana lode at a depth of anywhere from 800 to 1,000 feet. These holes are now down around 600 and 900 feet respectively. The Indiana lode, where cut in the No. 2 hole, now abandoned disclosed copper ground of exceptional richness and it is hoped this showing will be developed in the two of the four holes now sinking on this property. The operations of the Bohemia company are centered in an effort to locate the several lodes cut by the Indiana, North Lake and Lake companies to the southward. One drill outfit is in commission and is rapidly sinking a hole, and important results may be expected. A second drill outfit will be added to make a cross-section of this property. The Cherokee Copper company, operating on a tract of mineral lands next north of the Bohemia, has received two diamond drill outfits and is preparing to make an investigation of the several copper bearing lodes traversing that property.

Houghton.

The Houghton Copper company, owning a tract of land next north of the Superior mine, upon which diamond drilling is now in progress, has been forced to suspend operations temporarily owing to caving ground. A single drill hole has been put down to a depth of about 400 feet and is stopped in shattered ground, which it will be necessary to cement. This work is now being done and as soon as the cement has set, diamond drilling in search of the Superior lode will be continued. It is thought that this hole will cut the Superior lode within the next 500 feet of drilling.

Adventure.

The Adventure company, on whose property the so-called Adventure lodes were first located about two years ago, is centering all activity in shaft sinking. The shaft, which is being opened with a view to permanency, has attained a depth of about 600 feet, and it is calculated will reach the upper or so-called No. 1 Adventure lode at a depth of about 900 feet from surface. This should be attained by the end of September. The efforts of the company to locate commercial ground in the so-called New Mass lode have not been very promising and this work has therefore temporarily ceased.

Franklin.

Franklin continues to center its activities in the development of the Pewabic lode, in which two shafts are being sunk on this property. The older shaft has attained a depth of about 3,000 feet and is developing copper ground of average grade, though a considerable improvement is noted in the operations at depth in this shaft, particularly so in the north laterals, several of which have been extended into Rhode Island tract recently acquired by the Franklin company. The newer, or No. 3 shaft, has attained a depth of about 1,100 feet. Little other than straight shaft sinking has been done at this time and therefore little is known what this ground has to offer. The company has a diamond drill outfit engaged in an attempt to locate the northerly extension of the Hancock lode as also to make a cross-section of the western portion of the Franklin property.

RICH FIND FOR NORTH BUTTE

Diamond Drilling Discloses New High-Grade Copper Ore Body at Great Depth—Believed It Is in North Butte Property—Merger of Butte Mines Still Uncompleted.

Butte, Mont., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is something doing in North Butte, but what it is can not be determined in Butte, where the usual secrecy and mystery concerning North Butte affairs is maintained as strictly as ever. It was reported several months ago that deep explorations were to be made for North Butte from the 2,800-foot level of the Diamond mine, by means of diamond drills. This was promptly and emphatically denied by Anaconda officials, who declared that no diamond drilling was under way or contemplated. However, diamond drilling has been going on ever since from the 2,800-foot level of the Diamond mine, the drifting being done northward toward the North Butte mines. Three shifts have been working and the drill has made a progress of fifteen feet per shift. About two weeks ago the drill penetrated and passed through a vein, containing a large body of very high grade copper ore, having a width of forty or forty-five feet. The report of the strike was followed by the story from the East that the vein was the Edith May of the North Butte. It couldn't be confirmed in Butte. At first it was denied that there had been any strike at all, and it was declared that the drill was not within 700 feet of the Edith May vein. Later there was an admission that an ore body had been located, but not in any of the North Butte veins. This statement did not come from North Butte officials, however, and all that could be obtained from any one connected with the North Butte was that the property was looking good and improving. It is certain, however, that some property, some company, is the owner of an enormously rich and new ore body, as proved by the diamond drill operations from the lowest level of any Butte mine. The exploration also adds evidence to the fact that the richest part of the whole Butte district is about the High Ore and Diamond mines of the Anaconda company, which have been opened to a depth of almost 3,000 feet. Around this spot are situated the Modoc, Old Joe, Bell and Wild Bill of the Anaconda company; the Butte-Ballaklava properties; the little mine of the Tuolumne company, and the Speculator and Edith May of the North Butte company. There is little reason to doubt that all of these companies carry their riches to great depth.

Talk About the Merger.

When is the merger of the mines of this district to go into effect? This is a question which is daily asked, but no one at the present time is in a position to answer it. As yet some companies are to meet and vote on the question of selling out to the Anaconda company under the terms offered, and a good deal of interest centers about the Parrott meeting called for this city on April 30, as it is urged by some people that the terms offered are not just what might be expected, and there is just a possibility of a strong opposition developing to the sale. Another meeting yet to be held is the Diamond Coal & Coke company, and up to date no call has been issued for the meeting, notwithstanding the annual meeting was held a short time ago and the directors for the year re-elected. It is generally conceded that some time will be required to get all the merger details into shape and the final transfer made, consequently the various mines will not pass to the control of the Anaconda company before July 1. The rumors of changes in the ranks of high officials still continue to be circulated, but the only one which seems certain to take place is that of Attorney Kelley, head counsel for the Amalgamated, who is slated to be moved to New York from this city. He is now in that city arranging the legal details of the merger.

Big Merger Far Off.

The big merger, that is the one which will embrace the Guggenheim interests, is believed now to be many months off, due to the United States supreme court decision that the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust cases must be reargued. Those who are the prime movers in the larger merger are not prepared to go ahead until they know where they stand from a legal standpoint, and this cannot be ascertained until the supreme court passes on the cases in question. The opinion is that the court will not hear arguments in the cases until after the summer vacation, in which case it is calculated that the year 1911 will be reached before the result is known. However, it will not take long to bring the outside companies into line, as it is understood that everything is practically arranged now so far as the details of the big merger are concerned.

The Parrot's Position.

In view of the discussion going on in connection with the taking over of the Parrot mine by the Anaconda company at the special meeting of the former on April 30, it may be remarked that Parrot company has shown a balance on the wrong side of the ledger for some time, the deficit being in the

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Two Cemeteries at Negaunee to be Removed in Order That Large Body of Ore Beneath May be Mined—Shaft Sinking Progressing at the Dexter Location.

Lakes have been drained, rivers have been diverted into artificial channels and towns even have been removed to new locations in order that ore deposits in the Lake Superior iron region might be mined. The most notable of these extraordinary undertakings have been the unwatering of the Lake Angeline mine at Ishpeming, Marquette range; the shifting of the Michigamme, Iron and Sturgeon rivers at the Mansfield, Riverton and Loretto mines, Menominee range, and the transfer of the village of Sparta to a neighboring townsite, on the Mesaba range. Now an interesting event in the same category is about to be recorded at Negaunee, Marquette range. It is the removal of the Protestant and Roman Catholic cemeteries to a new site, together with the many hundreds of human bodies interred therein. A large body of ore lies beneath a portion of the present burial grounds, and the deposit is to be mined by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company.

The cemeteries now in use at Negaunee comprise a tract of four acres, the fee of which is owned in part by the Roman Catholic church and in part by the city of Negaunee. The needs of the community have outgrown the capacity of the grounds. The right to explore the land for ore was granted to the Cleveland-Cliffs company some years ago. The big Maas mine of that corporation adjoins the cemetery tract, and it was believed that its ore deposit extended into the graveyard property. This has proved to be the case. The ore will be mined through drifts extended from the Maas property. There is an extensive deposit, most of which underlies the Roman Catholic portion of the tract, and what is now a city of the dead soon will be a scene of busy mining operations. Royalties on a sliding scale, based on the iron content of the ore, will be paid the owners of the fee.

New Grounds Provided.

One condition of the leases is that the Cleveland-Cliffs company shall provide new burial grounds. This has been done. A site of ninety acres, one "forty" of which will be for the sole use of the Roman Catholic parish, has been acquired and has been deeded to the city. It is sufficient in area to answer all needs for several generations to come; it is conveniently located and far surpasses the present grounds in natural beauty, and it complies with the state statutes, which prohibit the location of a cemetery within one-half mile of any body of water used by a community for drinking purposes. The mining company will fence the tract, will make all general alterations needful to convert the land into a cemetery and will transfer all the bodies contained within the present graveyard.

This instance at Negaune is not the only case of the creation of a Lake Superior cemetery into an iron mine. A work of somewhat a similar nature is in progress on the Mesaba range. This is at Hibbing, where the land that formerly constituted the village cemetery is included in the area which comprises the Buffalo & Susquehanna company's Susquehanna mine, and which is now being stripped in order to permit of open-pit mining.

The old burial grounds at Hibbing have not been used for many years. They still contain the remains of persons long decedent, however, but just how many is not known, for the plat of the cemetery has been lost and there is no tangible evidence of the exact locations of the graves. It is expected that twenty to thirty bodies will be unearthed by the steam shovels this summer, and it is thought that because of the nature of the soil, which is largely of clay, they will be found in an excellent state of preservation.

Dexter Location Mine.

Shaft sinking is now in progress at the new mine, which the Cleveland-Cliffs company is to open in the Dexter location in section 3, 47-28, Marquette range. A depth of sixty feet has been attained. This mine, which has been named the Barnes, and which is owned in fee by the Barnes Land company of Marquette, is being developed on the strength of diamond drill borings which revealed the existence of ore at a depth of some hundreds of feet. The ore is of good quality and there is enough of it to insure that the mine will be a heavy producer for many years. The property will be substantially and splendidly equipped, both in the way of

BUILDING WILL BEGIN SOON

Work Under Way for Butte & Superior's New Concentrator—Crosscut Into the Butte-Milwaukee Ground May Open Up Valuable Veins.

Butte, Mont., April 23.—At the Butte & Superior property, the work of preparing for the building of the concentrator is progressing favorably and it will be only a short time before actual construction will commence. Delays may be occasioned in the delivery of the structural steel, but the management has been assured that the delivery will be made just as rapidly as possible considering the vast number of orders that are ahead of those of the Butte & Superior company at the mills. However, it will be a matter of only a few weeks before the building will be so far completed as to permit of the installation of the machinery which was ordered some months ago.

Although no great amount of underground work has been done during the past few months, certain necessary repairs to the shaft have been made and an immense tonnage of ore has been blocked out on the 1,200-foot level, where the ore body is of great width. A sufficient quantity of zinc ore is in sight to keep the 700-ton mill in continuous operation for an indefinite period, and to maintain the present shipments of about 400 tons a day to the Basin concentrator.

Work on the spur from the main line of the Great Northern road to the lower portiton of the site to be occupied by the proposed concentrator is being pushed along. It will provide facilities for handling the zinc concentrates direct from the concentrator to the cars, to be shipped to the zinc smelters of the American Metal company.

On the 1,600-foot level some work is being done in driving the crosscut into the Butte-Milwaukee ground, and it is contemplated that the crosscut will be finished to the Colonel Sellers shaft early next year. In the course of driving the crosscut into the Butte-Milwaukee a number of important copper veins should be intersected, and there is little question that long before the Colonel Sellers ground is reached the value of the property will have been wonderfully enhanced by the development of enormous copper values.

It has been proved, to a certain extent, that the ground north of the original holdings of the Butte & Superior company carry no zinc and that the copper and silver values are high. There is good reason to believe, therefore, that in acquiring the Butte-Milwaukee properties the Butte & Superior company has taken over what will prove to be among the most valuable copper properties in the district.

ON THE LIVE OAK PROPERTY

Limits of Proven Ore Body Being Extended Constantly—Shafts, Laterals and Drill Work Showing Future of Great Property.

Globe, Ariz., April 23.—Almost every branch of the Live Oak development work is making a showing most favorable to the future of the property and is opening up weekly new possibilities for the mine. Chief among the factors which are adding constantly to the probable tonnage of sulphide concentrating ore are the extensions of the drifts in the western part of the mine and the sinking of the vertical shaft which is in progress below the third level where the bulk of the development work has been done so far. The continuance of development in these two different parts of the mine is extending constantly the limits of the proven ore body and thus endows the property with greater value from week to week.

The drifting is progressing rapidly by means of power drills which were recently put in commision by the installation of a ten drill compressor at the portal of the Sulphide tunnel. Drifts Nos. 300 and 310 are looking especially well. The former has been in ore averaging 3 per cent during the past week and teh latter is continuing steadily in ore with a gradually increasing copper content.

Drift No. 316 has been started within the past few days opposite No. 310 and is in virtually the same kind of material as is No. 310. Drifts Nos. 308 and 310 are respectively 448 and 377 feet long thus showing a great extent of the ore west of main drift No. 306 which is a continuance of the Sulphide tunnel.

The vertical shaft has continued steadily in ore to its present depth of sixty-five feet below the third level so that no downward limit has yet been set to the sulphide ore body. The ore in which the shaft has been sunk thus far is chalcocite of good grade and of concentrating quality.

On April 15 the churn drill which has been on the ground for some time awaiting the arrival of tools, was set at work about 450 feet west of the vertical shaft and at the junction of drifts Nos. 308 and 311. In the future this drill work will doubtless prove an invaluable auxiliary to the drifting on the different levels of the mine.

THE GIROUX CONSOLIDATED

Big Shaft Has Been Fully Retimbered—New Pumping Station Nearly Finished—Everything Is Bustle and Activity on the Property.

Ely, Nev., April 23—The Giroux Consolidated mines has completed the work of retimbering its five-compartment shaft. It is the biggest shaft in the district and one of the biggest in the world. This is not all, however, for the company has two compartments down below the 1,200-foot mark, at which point the big pumping station is being cut out. The latter will be completed before the end of the month, and will be 100 feet in depth by 20 feet in width. It will have an equipment capable of pumping the entire district dry. One pump, with a capacity of 1,200 gallons a minute, and two more each with a capacity of 600 gallons a minute, comprise the equipment. The latter is on the ground and the big one is on the way, and will be here some time next month.

The big hoist has been set in motion and is being used on the cage in the manway. Work is going ahead on the excavation for the permanent plant, which is to be located about 400 feet south of the shaft. Eight boilers of the marine type will be used in the plant and these are now on the way, and it is estimated that the plant will be completed in seven months. The steel for the new gallows frame has been shipped, and the latter is to be ninety feet in height.

Busy times are in evidence everywhere on the estate of the Giroux. The tracks from the main line up to the Alpha and Giroux shafts are being ballasted, and this work will be finished in the next few days. The churn drills are all about to go into

ATLAS BUYS YUKON-PUEBLO

Yukon Property Sold for $500,000, Practically Cash, to People Connected With Snowstorm Mine—Ore Shipment to Begin About July.

Spokane, Wash., April 23.—The Atlas Mining company, recently organized in Spokane with a paid up capital of $600,000, of which $100,000 is set aside as a working fund, has bought the holdings of the Yukon-Pueblo Mining company at White Horse, Yukon territory, for $500,000, practically cash, from Byron N. White and his associates of Spokane. R. K. Neill, president of the corporation, announces that Wilbur D. Geeenough, general manager, and John Mocine, who has been prominently identified with the Snowstorm mine in the Coeur d'Alenes will leave for White Horse early in May to install a ten-drill air compressor, with boiler and steam engine, and erect the necessary shops and houses for the working of the mine and the accommodation of the men.

The entire output of the mine has been contracted to the Tacoma smelter and contracts for its transportation thither already have been made. This latter agreement provides for the immediate construction of a six-mile branch of the White Pass & Yukon railroad to the ore bins at the mine. Mr. Greenough says the line will be ready for operation July 1, soon after which shipping will begin.

The Atlas mine, as it is now called, has been one of the sensational features of the Yukon country since its discovery shortly after the first rush of prospectors to Dawson. Its outcrop is unique in that it projects above the surrounding surface to the height of thirty or forty feet. At one point the ledge has been stripped for the length of 400 feet and a width of between 200 and 300 feet. The only deep development is a shaft sunk on the ore body to a depth of eighty feet with a crosscut at the bottom 123 feet long. The mass of ore thus exposed, on the surface and at depth, averages 4 per cent copper, besides small values in gold and silver, the copper occurring in the form of chalcopyrite. The ore carries in excess of 30 per cent in iron.

Several engineers agree in estimating the tonnage of ore immediately available at approximately 500,000 tons.

The purchase by people intimately connected with the Snowstorm mine as are Messrs. Greenough and Neill of a property so admirably adapted to be the base of a great smelter enterprise, naturally suggests its utilization sooner or later to create a market for Snowstorm ore for which it would be an absolutely ideal flux, though Mr. Greenough declined at this time to commit himself to any statement as to his policy in this respect.

PEOPLE'S PLAYGROUND ON THE PALISADES

State of New York Asked to Furnish Public Camp Sites Up in the Highlands of the Hudson.

By E. STAGG WHITIN

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The Municipal Art society of New York, an organization of artists, architects, engineers, landscape architects and the like, has started something brand new in putting it up to the state of New York to establish public camp sites in the big new park which Mrs. Edward H. Harriman, widow of the great financier, has offered to give the state. The matter is now before the legislature, backed by Governor Hughes.

The Harriman country place, a stunning tract of 10,000 acres, is offered entire for the park. Mrs. Harriman offers besides $1,000,000 in cash to buy adjoining territory, and other public-spirited men and women have chipped in an additional $1,625,000. This would buy land clear through to the Hudson, extend all around the military academy at West Point except on the river side and, by hitching up to the Palisades park, give a long narrow park on the Palisades and in the Highlands from opposite One Hundred and Thirtieth street, New York city, clear up to Nyack. It would include four of the most famous places below the Catskills—Hook mountain, Stony Point, Dunderberg and Highland lake. This country has been the summer home of millionaires for years. Now it is proposed to make it available for all the people.

The plan will bring to the very doors of New York city a tract all but wild. While the Ramapo mountains, parts of which are included and more of which will probably be bought, range only from 1,000 feet up, they are rugged, heavily wooded, full of tumbling creeks, altogether delightful valleys, green cups in the hills, faint trails where roads once ran and what to an eye accustomed to skyscraper and asphalt seem bits of the forest primeval. The Ramapos are too steep and rocky for farming and this, coupled with the fact that great tracts have been held in rich men's estates, probably explains their remaining so long unspoiled by New York city ninety minutes away by rail.

A day's tramp through the Ramapos draws many men and not a few stout-booted women out of New York. An hour and a half by train and half as much more up a meandering road toward the nearest gap in the hills leave one on his own resources in the woods. The government maps show good roads, but at every turn they fade away into nothing. In the middle of where the road should be, stands a flourishing maple eighteen inches thick. These were the roads tha Washington's soldiers marched on after '76 and precious little use have they had since.

An hour's walk from Suffern, just across the line in New York after Jersey is passed, lies a deserted settlement. Rough houses falling apart, log barns, crumbling fences, fields grown up to scrub oak, give the feeling that here surely stood one of those pitiful new towns cleaned out to the last soul by the Indians.

Squatters abound—called locally the Jackson whites. Negro features with black hair, sometimes straight and sometimes very curly, add weight to the tradition that white and black and red blood run in their veins. Traditions goes a step further and claims that the white blood is German, from the Hessian mercenaries brought here by the British. Some of them deserted and some were discharged in the new country after the revolution, but they found a cold welcome even in tory New York and New Jersey. They drifted back to the hills where they had fought or run, and there took wives among the women of the squatters who were part Negro and part Indian.

So tradition has it. At any rate, on the day's walk one comes on little clearings with a makeshift house, a pig, some chickens, a potato patch, untalkative men and women, children who have never been to school. Perhaps only a footpath, where the map shows a road leads twisting off to the nearest town, and the mulatto father does not know even the name of the village beyond that.

The important of all this is pretty clear when it is remembered that New York city really extends a long way outside the city limits. It has outgrown like any schoolboy and follows all the railroads for many miles in more or less continuous strings of suburban towns. By 1920 the city will have a population of 10,000,000 people and the strings of villages will have grown together and broadened, improved rapid transit will extend the suburban zone and the New Yorker will be more of a city man than ever.

There are few places near New York where campers can pitch a tent and fish as they do around smaller places. So it is proposed that the state play the part of good-natured farmer and let the city people camp out in its park. A good deal of the park cannot be used in this way as it drains into city and village water supplies, but many parts can. The plan is to dam small creeks to make a good water supply for the campers and carry off refuse to the river, and otherwise lay out camps in the midst of some of the most beautiful woods in America. In the winter there will be fine skating, snowshoeing and tobogganing.

SOCIALISM AND MUNICIPAL REFORM

Since the election has taken place which has resulted in a complete victory for the Socialists of Milwaukee, the newspapers all over the country have been busy editorializing upon the causes for this political—to most of them—surprise. The peculiarity of it is that with hardly an exception they admit that "nothing rash will be attempted at this time." Some even go so far as to say that "now that the Socialists have been given control they should be given opportunity to put into practice their theories."

To avoid misconceptions that such ideas and writings are bound to evoke, the writer desires, as a Socialist, to have no person run away with the impression that Socialism aims to revolutionize society by attempting piecemeal expropriation which would be natural to expect if we were to follow the ideas suggested by those who want us to now prove our case. There is nothing in any of the writings upon Socialism by Socialists that gives sanction to such a viewpoint, neither can it be cited as a precedent ever established, or even attempted where Socialists did gain municipal victories.

Nothing is further from the aim of Socialism than the idea of making any special individual class of men in any one locality responsible for economic conditions they did not create, simply because they chance to be "property owners" in the city of Milwaukee for instance, instead of the city of Superior. We Socialists lay special stress upon the fact—for it is a fact—that no one individual created the present economic system, that the capitalist class, as a class, is no more responsible for the conditions that exist than is the working class; that the struggle for supremacy took form primarily as an individual effort for food; that the class struggle was evolved spontaneously as a result of the individuals "lining up" according to their material environment, but always and ever involuntarily according to their possessions.

Let us once for all get this notion of local expropriation of the capitalist class out of our heads. The property owners in the city of Milwaukee need have no fear that their "possessions" are to be taken from them over night simply because the "Reds" have elected a Socialist mayor and control the municipal council. Socialists are sticklers for "law and order." We believe in order, and advise conforming to the laws of the land so long as they remain the will and dictum of the majority of the voting population of the country. The policemen in Milwaukee will continue to protect the property in the city of Milwaukee against attempted spoilage by law trespassers, but they will also be given instructions to pay some attention to the welfare of the common people who five in Milwaukee and thereby minister as protectors of life, and limb, and health, as well as of property. "Property has rights that under the present system must be protected." Yes, but life also has rights that should be safeguarded.

Local option in the state of Wisconsin is very limited. The Socialists of Milwaukee will conform to the laws of the state and nation, but propose to exercise the duties that have been entrusted to them as far as their powers will enable them to do for the purpose of improving the living and working conditions of the "common people." They have already outlined part of their program, which, boiled down, means a cleaner, safer, more beautiful city—more parks, schoolhouses, play grounds, better service from business enterprises that are dependent upon the public for their maintenance, etc.

Of course "there is nothing revolutionary" about it, simply because we Socialists know that all the people are not yet ready for Socialism. Not until all or most of the people are prepared to do what the few of them did in Milwaukee, will the real revolution be made possible. The starting point begins with the mind; the thought must be there to give it impression; the impression must precede the expression, revolutionize the mind and the rest is easy. When the people come to understand that owning the earth for themselves pays better than having themselves owned by the few men who now own the earth they will get together involuntarily and do in the nation what their brothers in Milwaukee have manifested a desire to do—that of giving the White House and the halls of congress a thorough whitewash and house cleaning, and send into the legislatures of the land men who will be the servants and the representatives of the people instead of lackeys and emissaries of the privileged few.

MORRIS KAPLAN.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Work Resumed on Connie May Morris Claim in Roubaix District---Chicago Men Take Over Property of Gilt Edge Maid.

Deadwood, S. D., April 23.—The Brush brothers have resumed work on the Connie May Morris group of claims in the Roubaix district. The bond and lease with the Nebraska Mining company for the ground has not been renewed and the owners will operate themselves. They now have a shaft down over fifty feet and it will be continued to 100 feet, where a crosscut will be started. A promising vein of porphyry and quartz ore has been opened up which shows well in the pan and is said to be of milling quality. It has an estimated width of about seventy-five feet. It will be developed this summer.

Repair work on the property of the Anaconda Mining company on Elk creek has been completed and the company is now ready to recommence sinking the shaft from the present 300-foot level to 500 feet. The shaft has been retimbered forty feet down and a new shafthouse erected.

Dennis Henault has shipped to New York a quantity of ambligonite from the Bob Ingersoll property in the Keystone district, where he has been developing the ground all winter. The car contained twenty-three and a half tons. The material will be sent to Europe for final tests as to its lithia qualities.

J. S. Ford and associates of Chicago have taken over the property of the Gilt Edge Maid Gold Mining company, located at Turner in the Two-Bit district. The property has been idle some months, since it was learned that the 200-ton mill was inadequate for the proper handling of the ore. It is the intention of the new owners to organize a company at once, remodel and increase the capacity of the mill to 500 tons and more thoroughly develop the property, which is considered one of the best low grade propositions in this part of the Hills. The Gilt Edge Maid is a consolidation of the Gilt Edge and Dakota Maid properties. J. L. Turner of Springfield, S. D., and United States Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota were two of the heaviest stockholders. The property, which is economically worked by means of the open cut system, contains many thousand tons of undeveloped low grade gold ores.

With the arrival here of Robert Bunce, promoter and president of the Black Hills Development & Financial corporation, final plans for the consummation of the deal by which the company takes over many of the best prospects in various parts of the Northern Hills will be made. Mr. Bunce says he has brought with him enough capital to insure the commencement of work on one property, if, as is expected, the majority of the original options are renewed by the owners. The Montezuma Mining company's directors at a meeting held in Troy, N. Y., absolutely deeded their property to the Bunce company. The Montezuma was one of the chief properties depended upon by the company.

A deal is pending for the sale of the Columbia property at Keystone to Colorado capitalists. The sale of the ground and the investment are said to represent about $150,000. A Colorado engineer recently examined the property and his report was favorable. The ground is owned by the Manion brothers, who for some time past, since their recent rich strike, have been shipping ore to outside smelters that averages about $100 a ton gold.

BIG SHIPMENTS BY GRANBY

Increase of 25 Per Cent in Output During Past Three Months---Millions of Tons of Ore Still Blocked Out.

Seattle, Wash., April 23.—While Granby Consolidated shares have been performing surprising feats on the New York and Boston exchanges the big mine pursues the even tenor of its way, shipping its thousands of tons of ore each day—two trainloads over the Great Northern and two over the Canadian Pacific railroad, and the big smelter furnaces are consuming increased tonages in open defiance of the stock.

During the first three months of this year, Granby has shipped and smelted in round figures 315,000 tons of ore, as compared with 240,000 tons smelted during the corresponding months last year, an increase of 75,000 tons or over 25 per cent. And while there are naturally gaping holes whence the rock comes, there are still millions of tons of the ore on block and the diamond drill is busy.

According to a statement just issued by the Granby for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1909, copper was produced at 10.4 cents a pound, which compares with 10 cents for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, and 10.24 and 10.14 in the two preceding fiscal years.

Among its stocks and bonds the company is carrying some shares of the British Columbia Copper company at $9,395, while its investment in the shares of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company at first cost is carried at $858,814. Giant-California Mining shares at 50 per cent of cost are carried at $45,000, while Kettle Falls Power at cost appears in the latest balance sheet at $30,677.

The second installment of 50 per cent on the 13,500 shares of treasury stock offered to stockholders for subscription at 85 was payable last week. It is proposed to use the proceeds principally to meet outstanding obligations in excess of $3,625,000 incurred during the last five years for acquiring other mining properties, new plant and an interest in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company and other items chargeable to capital account.

The Stewart Mining & Development company has struck a new lead vein with a width of seven feet between the walls, all in ore, which is more highly mineralized than any yet found on the property. When news of the strike was first received it was thought they had broken into the third or east vein. This, however, has not yet been struck in the present crosscut tunnel.

A contract has been signed by E. Hoult and J. Adams of Copper City, B. C., for a seventy-foot tunnel on the Silver Queen mineral claim. The Silver Queen is owned by Manuel Clark of Kitselas, B. C., and is located within three miles of Copper City. The tunnel to be built will strike the vein at a depth of about 100 feet below its outcrop. On the surface this lead is four feet wide and can be traced along its strike a distance of 1,800 feet. Different samples taken from the lead gave an average assay of 21.4 ounces in gold or $428 a ton.

property at depth.

The property is well equipped with a Corliss hoist, double drum, with capacity for sinking to a depth of 2,500 feet, a gallows frame which can be ararnged for the operation of a skip, and in addition to the two boilers on the ground, a third will be added to insure ample steam capacity. An electrically-driven air compressor is to be installed at once, and an electrically-driven pump will be placed in the station on the 500-foot level. This will lift the water to the surface.

The Butte Central company has been thoroughly financed by an underwriting syndicate, which has guaranteed to furnish the company with $250,000. Of this amount $50,000 already has been placed in the treasury, and the balance is ready on call.

THE GIROUX CONSOLIDATED

commission again, and they will be used to thoroughly exploit Old Glory hill, where considerable rich ore has been already demonstrated.

The company has made no announcements as to its developed tonnage, but it is known to be entirely satisfactory and it includes a steam shovel proposition where the percentage of copper values is said to be at least twice as great as in the pit at Copper Flat. The Giroux ores of the lower grade will also avearge 80 cents in gold per ton and from a quarter to a half ounce in silver, giving them a value in the precious metals of better than $1.25 per ton, which will be no small item to the company when it gets ready to handle from 5,000 to 10,000 tons per day.

The Giroux property is being opened on a scale of magnitude never before seen in this state of great mines. The opinion is expressed in this district that the Alpha, when it is once producing, will establish a new record for high-grade ore and also for the amount of tonnage that it can supply within a given time. From the 1,000 to the 1,200-foot level, it would be hard to pick a specimen of ore that would go less than 10 per cent in copper, besides gold and silver values, while any number of specimens can be taken at random that will go from 20 to 30 or even 40 per cent. It would not be unreasonable to suppose that the entire body of ore between the 1,000 and 1,200-foot levels will average at least 20 per cent. For high grade ore it can only be equaled by the United Verde at Jerome.

vicinity of $300,000. It is the belief of many well-informed mining men that the Parrot is mined out of the class of ore which will pay at the present price of copper—this, in fact, is admitted by the controlling powers. The future of the property and what it is proposed to do with after it becomes the property of the Anaconda company, is known only to those who are promoting the merger. Some people are of the opinion that operations will be resumed in the mine and an effort made to locate paying ore at a greater depth.

The Parrot is now down 2,100 feet and old miners shake their heads when it is even hinted that anything might be gained by going to a greater depth. However there are those who believe that the Anaconda company will take a chance in extensive development work during the summer Copper will have to go several cents higher than it is at present to make the grade of ore in sight profitable," said a well-known mining man the other day, when the future of the Parrot was being discussed. The terms under which the Anaconda is to take over the Parrot are 90,000 shares of the capital stock of the former. The Parrot has a total stock issue of 229,850 shares at $10 a share. The Amalgamated Copper company owns 115,299 shares, which is a share more than half the outstanding issue, so that it is just possible a strong opposition may appear at the meeting to block the sale at the present time. It may be stated that the Parrot company owns twenty-seven mining claims, amounting to 236 acres, and a part interest in two other mining claims, together with five lots of land in this city and 160 acres of land in Madison county in this state. The recent statement sent out in a circular to the directors is regarded by competent persons as a very fair one.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly company is having a run of hard luck so far as building its line of railway from the Colorado mine to the Great Northern railway tracks is concerned. The company is anxious to construct this line so as to be able to ship its ore direct to the basin concentrator, but property owners along the right-of-way are fighting the matter bitterly. The city council has given the Davis-Daly people permission to construct the road but the real estate men were able to secure a court injunction and now the matter is up to the supreme court on appeal. It will probably be some time before there is a decision, but this is not interfering with the work in the mine, as ninety men are engaged in development work and large quantities of ore are being blocked out. Just how the company will continue work without being able to make any shipments is a question. The company has expressed a willingness to pay reasonable damages, but the property owners are, according to the company, unreasonable in their demands. To haul the ore from the Colorado mine to the Great Northern tracks would entail an expense which the company could not stand at the present price of copper.

Gagnon.

The new vertical shaft being constructed in the Gagnon mine will be put down to a depth of 2,300 feet. It is intended to use the old shaft, which is an inclined one, for air and a safety opening. The new shaft, which will be one of the largest and best in the district, is now down somewhat over 600 feet and the work is being pushed along as rapidly as possible.

machinery and buildings. Construction work is under way. Two miles east of the Barnes, the Cleveland-Cliffs company is opening the North Lake mine, in section 1, 37-28. This property also contains a very large deposit, to reach which two shafts are now being sunk. Neither mine will enter the shipping list this year, but each will be provided with transportation facilities by the Cleveland-Cliffs company's Ishpeming & Lake Superior railway, which will be extended from Ishpeming to the new properties this summer.

An air compressor and a hoisting engine, each of which will be operated by electricity, are being installed at the Barnes. Permanent hoists are replacing the temperary plants in commission at the North Lake. These hoists also will be operated by electricity. In fact, wherever possible at the majority of its many Marquette range mines the Cleveland-Cliffs company will utilize electrical power. Two big generating and transmission stations have been established, one at the Maas mine at Negaunee and one in the Swanzey district, twenty miles south of there. These will be served by steam plants for the time being, but eventually the water power of the Carp river will be harnessed at a cost of $1,000,000 and boilers will be dispensed with. Motors and other electrical equipment are now being installed at the various mines, and with most of this machinery in place, the transmission stations will go into commission. This will be very shortly. Compressed air for the operation of the drilling machines at the North Lake property is being supplied from the big plant at the Cliffs Shafts mine at Ishpeming, four miles distant. The air is conveyed through a six-inch pipe line.

Many Drills at Work.

No mining concern in the Lake Superior region, the United States Steel corporation alone excepted, has made more liberal use of the diamond drill in its quest for iron ore than has the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. The result has been the discovery of numerous important deposits. The company is still drilling, and it doubtless will continue in that line of exploratory work a great many years yet. Among the localities now being investigated on the Marquette range is that to the west of Lake Michigamme and in the vicinity of the company's Imperial mine. Seven deep holes have already been put down and the work is still in progress. It is believed the results are entirely satisfactory. It is in the Michigamme district that the Rogers-Brown Ore company is operating the Ohio and Portland mines and where the Graham Nut & Bolt company of Pittsburg, Pa., is opening the Catherine property. Ore has been found at the Catherine and the indications point to the development of a mine. Shaft sinking is under way. The signs all point to a very active season in the Michigamme district. The ores of this field appear to be finding a more ready market than in years gone by, and their phosphorus content make them suitable for basic steel production.

Mining operations have been resumed at the Consumers' Ore company's Richmond property in the Cascade district of the Marquette range. This mine will be wrought more vigorously this season than ever before and will send out in excess of 150,000 tons. It produces a low grade ore. It is an open pit proposition, active only during the season of navigation, however, and its product is obtained very cheaply. A steam shovel was installed last year, and two "dinkey" engines have been added to the equipment this season. These locomotives will take the place of mules in hauling the tram cars out of the pit and will still further reduce the mining costs. Upwards of a hundred men will be employed at the Richmond this year. The only other shipper in the Cascade district is Oglebay, Norton & Co.'s Empire mine, whose product of 109,000 tons last season exceeded that of the Richmond by a few thousand tons. The Empire is an open pit property, which obtains its product by the milling system, the ore being trammed to a shaft and hoisted to surface. The pit is to be further enlarged this year, a contract for additional stripping having recently been awarded to the Hoose & Person company of Iron Mountain.

The Buckeye Mine.

There are only two producing mines in the Wisconsin portion of the Menominee range, and one of these is Oglebay, Norton & Co.'s Buckeye mine at Commonwealth. The Buckeye is a new property which entered the shipping list in earnest last season with a production of 50,000 tons. The outgo this year will more than double that tonnage. The present force of 100 men will be increased to 125. The Buckeye has developed into a fine proposition. It is a worthy successor to Oglebay, Norton & Co.'s old Commonwealth mine, its neighbor, whose deposits have been exhausted after having yielded 2,500,000 tons, and it is now being given a fine equipment. There have been erected the past few months a model "dry" for the miners, established in which is an emergency hospital; a combination machine shop and smithy, and a shafthouse. An engine and boiler house is nearing completion. Two boilers and an air compressor are in position and there is being installed a hoisting plant capable of lifting a five-ton load at the rate of 800 feet per minute.

Production at the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company's Newberry, Mich., furnace has ben steadily increasing since the plant went into operation last January and last week the ninety-ton mark was reached. This is a remarkably good record considering the size of the stack, but the officials are confident they can yet reach a daily production of 100 tons.

WOMANS GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.

For the Man Who Works

In these days of strenuous commercial activity, the man who succeeds, who keeps abreast of the struggling procession, must above all have good health and mental as well as physical vim. There is no food which better keeps the system in working trim than good beer It nourishes, refreshes, aids digestion and is an ideal tonic.

There is a difference however, in the finer qualities of beer. A trial of

Fitger's Beer

(the best by 25 year's test) will convince you of its superior flavor. It is brewed, aged and bottled to suit the most exacting taste.

JOHNSON IS CONFIDENT

Black Champion Believes He Will Have Little Trouble Beating Jeff.

Predicts Boilermaker Will Be Whipped Within Eighteen Rounds.

In a long interview with a reporter from the Chicago Inter-Ocean the other day Jack Johnson, halfway champion of the heavyweight division of pugilism, intimated himself of a lot of public, a few carloads of press stuff and a little common sense. Those part of the interview which might prove interesting to the public are herewith produced with little ado or knowledge on the part of the writer.

"Do I expect my fight with Jeffries to go a long route?" repeated Heavyweight Champion Jack Johnson in response to a question asked by an Inter-Ocean representative. The famous black man smiled his usual good humored smile and reflected an instant before replying.

"In a like manner," he said finally. "I have not told anybody just what kind of a battle this is going to be, consequently made no prediction as to the number of rounds it is apt to last. Reasons in the first place it is only in the course of the last week or so that I came to the conclusion that the fight would really take place. As I know the Jeffries were peeved and all that, but somehow I couldn't get it into my head that Jeff really was absolutely on the level in according to fight me. Perhaps it was because I had been handling for the classiest ex-long and when it seemed as if I was going to get it, I could hardly believe in my good luck. You know how it is when a fellow has been handling after one particular thing for a long time. If he gets the prize at last, he's apt to stop and take hold of himself and give himself a pinch or two to make sure he isn't dopied or dreaming. And I guess that's how it has been with me. I've been plugging myself hard and only just about get convinced that I'm awake and inclined to meet the chap I want to whip the worst of any man on earth.

Knockout in Eighteen Rounds.

The foregoing conversation took place in Johnson's training quarters in the rear of his home on Wabash avenue, where the champion is going through his preliminary conditioning stunts for the battle of July 4. He had just finished his work for the day and stood half naked like a huge ebony statue. From the hands of the rubber, his black skin glistening in the rays of the sun. Slipping a heavy woolen sweater over his head, he seated himself comfortably in the depths of a big wicker work rocking chair, and indulged in another capacious grin.

"Perhaps you'll think I'm kidding," he laughed, "but what I'm going to say is in good earnest. As sure as the sun shines on me today I expect to knock out Jim Jeffries within eighteen rounds. or you can make it twenty, to be exact. It may take a little longer than I look for and not a minute over twenty and that goes. This is no press stuff I'm handing out either. You've asked me a straight question and I'm giving you the straight goods to the best of my ability. I believe that I have the Indian sign on Jeffries, and when the time comes some of the smart fellows who are figuring on seeing a fake fight will see nothing but the part of the boys are in for the surprise of their lives."

Will Get Like an Johnson.

Johnson paused for a second, his big white teeth came together with a snap like a steel trap and his heavy jaws set rigidly. For the first time during the interview the shepherd of a crowd hovered on his dusky brows as he said emphatically:

"The man doesn't live on this earth who can throw me around just as he wants to. Jim Jeffries is a strong fellow all right but when he bumps into me he'll be tackling up with a man that's every bit as strong as he is. Where do some of these dopesters get the bunch that I'm a chicken compared to him? I know I don't look the part, and you can ask any one I've boxed with if I'm An easy guy to mouf around at close quarters. Also, you can bet your best dollar that this fight is going to be no different from any other that I've taken part in. It's the God's truth that never yet, since I've passed my motion days in the ring have I been fully extended. I never had to bring every pound of punching power in my muscles into play, and I've always had plenty of reserve force to fall back on if I needed it. But it happened that I always was with something considerable to spare. Therefore I don't think it a boasting when I say that nobody has ever got a complete line on what I can do. This time I mean to get out every link in my body, and there'll be some astonished faces at the ringside when they see me going for full gait. Jeffries won't be able to force me in the opening rounds, as he hopes to. When he finds that he hasn't got me scared to death and I am getting back at him with punch for punch and several over for good measure, he'll get some discouraged. Then it is when I mean to do some rough mauling myself. I'll set him the fast est pace he was ever up against in his life, and believe me, he won't be able to stand it. You often hear folks who think they know it all say that I lack punching power. The fact is, I've never been obliged to cut loose with all there is in me up to date. When I do, you'll hear something drop, and drop heavy."

Training Quarters.

"We are going straight to the ocean beach from here," continued Johnson, "where there's a dandy training camp picked out for me. It's near the site of the old Cliff House that has been burned down and built up again. There's a whole bunch of big hills there, that's just the thing for climbing. I won't have to take to any wild mountain ranges to miss to get what I want in that way. Right from the training quarters there runs a long road that takes you clear around the beach a matter of twelve miles or so, to the old Ingleside race track and back to the extreme end of Golden Gate park. Talk about a place for road work. It looks as if it was made for nothing else and little Arthur will be sprinting around there till further orders. As for good air, there isn't a place in the world to beat it. I'm going to take my auto along and let my managers have with it. Lots of people are wanting me to leave the machine behind, but not me. It's my amusement even if I did get me plashed again boils."

Will Be in First-Class Condition.

"Every other day I read in the papers where Jeffries has added another clasp to his training staff. If there is any truth in the stories he'll have so many helpers that they'll be falling over each others feet. If I'm as easy meat as he says I am, it's a wonder he's going to such a lot of expense getting ready to fight me. Anyway, it shows that he's taking things seriously and means business, and that suits me. But, for my part, I don't want too many helpers fooling around my camp. I'll need a couple of big boxes to, lose with, for Jimmy work Gunnard Smith will be one of them. He as tough as they make em and can kill some, let me tell you. I'll be hard times in my camp, no loafing since I get down to business. Nobody can say that I ever neglected my work when I had a big fight on and I'm going to be in the swiftest of shape when I stack up against Jeffries."

Will Bring Trainers to Coast.

"I am losing flesh every day, and when I leave for the coast I will be in first class condition for an ordinary scrap. It won't be many weeks after that before I'll be in shape to put up the fight of my life. And remember what I told you. Eighteen or twenty rounds will see Jeffries finish. You can't make that statement too strong for Jack Johnson."

AS SEEN FROM THE SIDE LINES

(BY BRUCE.)

Ty Is That Honest.

Tyrus Cobb, the Georgia Peach, is naturally somewhat elated over the compliment paid him by Charles A. Comiskey. Any man has the right to be happy and overjoyed when merit, such as Cobb has, is thus publicly commented and made known the length and breadth of our land.

When asked what he thought of the laudation heaped upon his shapely shoulders by the Old Roman, Cobb answered in the unique way they generally have of evading the question in the State land.

"I hardly know what to say," answered Tyrus, and he hung his head in a deep split of modest shyness. Then recovering he looked the interviewer in the eyes and expressed his keen sentiments.

"Comiskey is the greatest judge of baseball and baseball players in the world. I consider it the greatest compliment that could have been payed to any player. What Charley Comiskey says comes pretty near being right."

All of which is more or less true, Tyrus.

A Referee, Please.

Now we are going through the second phase of the fight—the looming trouble over the selection of the referee that will have the responsible task of standing between the races in the selto of July 4.

Strange as it would seem, Johnson has declared in favor of a man by the name of Welch. Was it an Irishman who said he was in favor of race suffrage for the negroes, "so that they could suffer more."

One would be inclined to imagine that the brunette would favor someone with a name that smacked more of George Rastus Washington Brown brand. Johnson really did demand that a negro be the third man in the ring, early in the negotiations, but that idea was chased from his limited brain pan faster than the man who had the rabbit to get out of the way and let someone run who knew how, was going. Remember?

There will really be no trouble over the referee. There seldom is. We will hear some of this and some of that from the camps of the two fighters, and at the appointed time they will select the third man in the ring without more ado than Mr. Roosevelt addressing a crowd of excited foreign citizens before being called into breakfast with some emperor of nervous potentates.

The two fighters may call themselves some names. Jeffries or his press agent broke lose the other day and by day we are dawning near to the date of the conflict, therefore developments must be expected.

Showing Schardt How.

In La Crosse they have a faint hope that Schardt may be returned to the outcasts. He has yet failed to show with the Brewers, though, to tell the truth, none of the Brewer pitchers have covered themselves with a mantle of glory in the games that have been played this season.

The return of the La Crosse beauty would be the signal of the closing of all mants of industry in the down-river town. Harry Hood would be asked to write an epic for the occasion. It would approach the celebration given to Koney, when he returned from the triumphs in St. Louis. Few men have achieved triumphs in St. Louis since one Folk inaugurated reform.

Schardt was a most consistent performer for the Suffragettes, or the Suffoodites, rather, and his return to the La Crosse mound would strengthen the team to that degree where Winona fans would talk of schemes of adopting the protested game resort.

Just now Schardt is being shown. If he returns to the smaller circles with the knowledge tucked away safely, Joe Safford will be able to use him to large and multitudinous advantage, whatever such a thing would amount to.

When Did He?

This literary craze is getting to be a habit. Going down the line of celebrities who have taken to the institution made famous and profitable by such prolific ink-slingers as Miss Ashbey and Old Sleuth, not to mention Berth M. Clay and Nick Carter, ideals of our days of 13, it is found that John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Christy Mathewson, Johnny Evers, Herman Schaefer and Charles O'Leary are some of those who have smeared their knarled fingers with ink in an endeavor to enlighten the public.

At first the movement started as a national one. Then a man had to be some champion before the doors of the hall of arts were opened to his cumbersome knock.

Now the movement has degenerated to a local one. Any city which cannot manufacture a literary hero is a small place indeed.

In Detroit they have impaled Charley O'Leary on the pinnacle of glory. He is writing about "How I Win." One of the best ways, Charles, is to hold four aces.

The question naturally follows, when did he win? There are a lot of more consistent winners than Charles. Wasn't it young Owen Bush who copped the shortstop position on the Tiger team from him? However, O'Leary may be more gifted with the pen than Owen, who is probably so tired playing every day that he has not time to turn out this win stuff.

Now, if Darby O'Brien could be induced to take up the penn-well, there would be some stuff that would make Elmer Glynn's diaphanous dialogues look like warblings wafted from the infants in the sand pile.

Ingrowing modesty on the part of the White Sox leader discourages the belief that he would write of the thoughts of his utmost heart.

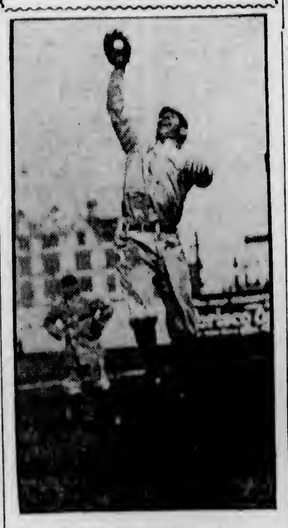
Gotch Training Hard.

Word from Minneapolis would bear out the belief that Frank A. Gotch is carefully preparing for a hard and gruelling match with the Pole. He is working out daily with Henry Ordemann, and promises to be in the best of shape for what will probably be the greatest match of his career. Gotch is earnest enough to invariably be in the best of shape for a big match. He has learned the importance of this condition thing by sad experience. It was grand condition that enabled Gotch to defeat Hackenschmidt. Hack was not in the best of shape.

With Gotch wrestling at the height of his wonderful career, and in the best condition for a hard and gruelling match, Americans cannot see where the Pole can defeat Frank.

The Pole is a great and dangerous opponent, yet those who have seen the two wrestle cannot see how he can get behind Gotch. It may take Gotch a long time to defeat the massive Pole—but how can the Pole beat the American? We can't figure it out.

"THE PRIDE OF HARLEM"



TOMMY MURPHY.

Tommy Murphy, the "Pride of Harlem" New York, seems to be the logical opponent for Al Welgast, the present lightweight champion. Murphy had a slight advantage of Welgast in their fight in Pittsburg. Murphy recently defeated Owen Moran of England in a twenty-round bout at James Coffroth's Colma club.

Manager Donovan seems to have made a big mistake in letting Harry Wolters get away from the Boston Red Sucks. Wolters is making good as an outfielder for the New York Americans. His batting, fielding and base running have been of the sensational order. He was originally a pitcher, but was going back in his box work.

HIS WORST RING FIGHT

Ancient Fitzsimmons Nearly Defeated Boilermaker in Second Meeting.

Cut, Bruised and Bleeding, Jeffries Won By Brute Strength.

It is written large in the ethical code of the prize ring that no good fighter ever loses a battle because the man who beat him happens to be an even better man. And as the boxing game offers even a wider range of excuses than the lawn tennis court, which is popularly supposed to hold the belt, there is no reason why a beaten man should make such an admission.

He is either trained too much or too little; his hands go bad; his water was changed, his feet were sore; he was fouled, he was doped; he was forced to fake, and so on.

Occasionally it is considered a wise play to tell the reporters, "A better man beat me," but it must always be done in a manner to indicate that there is a lot you are not telling that would throw white light on the real inside of your defeat.

The one about being "doped" had grown somewhat musty unlil it was revived by sailor Burke recently. He had his last big run after Jeffries had beaten Fitzsimmons at Coney Island, and was to a large degree responsible for the second match. This is the story:

When the big California youth knocked the champion of the world dead at Coney Island, in which the veteran fought one of the weakest battles of his career, his fight was weak because he was rattled by a new attack and overwhelmed by the youth and strength of his foe, but he knew too much to make those remarks for publication.

Fitz Claims He Was Doped.

Fitz announced that he had been "doped" by some one interested in having Jeffries win. But he would retire, prouder in defeat than Jeff could be in the glory of a victory won by those means. He would let the world judge his long record, he said.

Now Fitz had no more idea of retiring than he had that he was doped. Human beings are not so constituted that they retire from anything as long as there is anything to be made out of it until some one or some thing gets them hard between the shoulder blade and the cerebellum. An old man always believes that he knows so much more than the young crop that their youth is more of a disadvantage than the other way.

The fight was held on the evening of July 25, 1902, and all of that day San Francisco swarmed with fight fans and gamblers, local and foreign talent. The betting in Frisco was enormous.

Fitzsimmons came out of his "retirement" about every twenty minutes by standard time to tell the sport world what a horrible example he would have made of Jeffries if he hadn't been doped.

Sign Articles for Battle.

Big, good-natured, clean-handed Jeffries was notably wrought up after a few months of this, and he developed a feverish desire to confer with Fitz in a twenty-four-foot ring. After many weeks of wearying talk the two men and their managers finally got together in the Evening Journal office and signed articles for a twenty-round fight for the championship.

Then the thing nearly fell through several times because they couldn't agree on a battle ground. San Francisco at last landed the fight. A temporary arena was erected at Fourteenth and Valencia streets, the big battle was advertised, and the two men went into training. The champion established himself in his "lucky camp" at Harbin Spring, and Fitz went to work at Skaggs Spring, in Sonoma county, while the whole country hung at the ends of the telegraph wires to get a line on their conditions. For there have been few championship battles that worked the fight public up in the manner of the second meeting between the veteran Australian and the giant of the West.

Different Types of Men.

The fighters decided to speculate with the club and take 70 per cent of the gross receipts as their share.

The stories that the two men had trained hard and without mishap were confirmed by yells of delight when they climbed up onto the platform and faced the thousands under the winking arc lights. They were different but equally mighty types of the dominant brute of creation. Every ounce of waste had been wrung from their great muscles. The mountain winds and sun had browned their skins to a toughened tan, as if to hold in the splendid animal life that hummed beneath their ribs. The only sign of decay in either was where the light glistened on Fitz's half-bald pate.

All trifles, such as bandages, had been arranged for in the articles of agreement, and there was little delay after Referee Graney called the men to the center. No official weights were taken, but the champion's bulk was said to push up the beam to the 215-pound notch. Fitz said that he weighed 166 pounds. Many of the hardened callously declared that this was a play for sympathy in case of eventualities.

Crowd Was Enthusiastic.

The gong was the signal for a roar of excitement as the gladiators moved slowly out of their corners and faced each other. Again Fitz met the unexpected, for Jeff had elected to drop his crouch and make a stand-up fight of it. But Fitz hailed the new style with a joy that was but little short of the crowd's. He feinted cautiously for a few seconds as he wheeled slowly around the swarthy statue in the middle of the ring, and then his long, powerful arm licked out, and the fist landed with a thud on Jeff's cheek. Another fierce yell as Jeff drove his left to the body for a counter and a crescendo when Fitz doubled up his left and hammered it against the champion's nose.

From that moment on until the knockout in the eighth, the great pavilion was a bedlam. The champion's great body slid forward like an avalanche and bore Fitz to the ropes, his left hand finding the body again. The veteran wriggled out of the clinch and again he jammed his left fist against Jeff's nose. The force that he put into it made him grunt, and he was rewarded with an instant trickle of blood from the nostrils of the world's champion.

The scream that went up from the ringside told Jeff what had happened and he rushed upon Fitz with his great arms swinging like the spokes of a mighty fly-wheel. But the "Old Man of the Ring" coolly blocked some of them and as coolly ducked the others, and came out the whirl unbounded. Then he banged a wicked left against the champion's temple. Jeff was thoroughly angry and he leaped in with a frightful swing for the body. Fitz bent over until the fist just scraped by and then crossed his right to the ear with stunning force. The bell rang and the uproar announced that "the underdog" was easily boss of the round.

Fitz Batters Jeff's Nose.

The big man hurried out of his corner like a man who has something that must be attended to at once, but Fitz stepped into the ball of deadly fists and clinched without taking a damaging blow. Jeff's anxiety was making him wild and he charged up and down the ring so energetically that Fitz had few opportunities to land forcibly. But he kept the nose bleeding.

Fitz smiled as he evaded a few of the champion's frantic lunges at the opening of the third. But Jeff got in one of his lefts to the mouth and another to the ear. But he paid a bloody price. As the left landed on the veteran's ear his great shoulders swayed forward and his own left crashed against the ridge of Jeff's battered nose. In three seconds his face was a crimson swear. Two more lefts to the face followed like the blows of a hammer. Then Jeff swung his great right, but the blow was cleanly blocked and Fit's left darted out to the face again. It was another flat-footed punch and it opened a chasm an inch and a half long under the champion's eye.

Jeff stood still for a second and then pawed for his foe. Two more lefts ripped his battered face before the ball came.

And then came the deluge. For four rounds the bold and war-worn warrior hammered the face of the champion of the world until it was a shapeless, dripping pulp. Never did a man get such a beating in so short a time. Occasionally he managed to reach the middriff of the veteran with one of his dendly lefts, but it was the old champion that was doing the spectacular work, and it was for him that cheer after cheer went up to shake the sandhills of San Francisco.

Fitz is Knocked Out.

It did not seem possible that any human being could stand up so long under the merciless pounding of those terrible arms. But another "miracle" of the prize ring was working out. One of Jeff's eyes was entirely closed and the other was a slot in his raw face. His nose looked like a generous handful of face putty. His lips were cut and tattered. But the tide of his youthful strength had not ebbed a hair's breadth. He was angry and "marked up." That was all.

There was scarcely a mark on the veteran, but he was so much the weaker of the two at the end of the sixth round that every expert saw the inevitable end if he could not stun the behemoth in front of him in the next few minutes. At the end of the seventh the end was in sight.

Jeff forced him across the ring at the opening of the eighth, landing twice with both hands to the body. He crowded the Old Man until his shoulders touched the ropes, then came the dying flicker. Fitz gathered himself together and drove both hands to the face, and as Jeff dropped back, half a pace he got the same close again. Then, while the great throng bayed and shrieked for a knockout, he drove the champion clear across the ring. It was his last flash. Again Jeff came on to the attack, and it was not met. Fitz retreated and his back touched a post. He dropped his hands as if to clinch, and at that moment he got a left into the stomach that lifted him clear off his feet.

As he came down the right went into the same place, and with a groan he dropped on his hands and knees. Twice he tried to raise as the count was ticked off and twice he dropped back with a shake of his head. He was not senseless, but helpless. At the third try he straightened up on his knees as the final word was called in his ear.

Then he did a dramatic thing. Before his handlers could reach him he stripped the gloves off his broken hands and threw them—right and left—into the crowd. In a voice hoarse with pain and scanty breath he roared:

"I have fought my last fight!"

JEFF BOXES FOUR ROUNDS

Berger and Armstrong Manage to Make Going Fast for Big Man.

Ben Lomond, Cal., April 23.—The hot Sun did not check Jeffries in his training yesterday and he put in the longest boxing session thus far in two bouts with Berger and Armstrong. The going was fast in both bouts.

Joe Choynski was an interested spectator in the sparring. He expressed himself surprised at Jeffries' improvement, but said he believed the boilermaker needed some good, stiff boxing to put him in the old-time fighting trim. Joe's working togs will arrive today and he will be ready to assume his duties as sparring partner, if called upon.

In addition to the boxing, Jeffries went through his usual routine of road work and gymnasium practice, covering twelve miles in his morning run.

With two sessions of hand-ball later and a vigorous attack on his punching bag Jeffries finished out his routine. Before Jeffries entered the gymnasium yesterday, Farmer Burns applied the taps to the fighter, with the following result: Height, 6 feet 1¼ inches; neck, 18; chest (normal) 46; chest (expanded), 50; waist, 36; thugh, 26, calf, 17; ankle, 10; biceps, 16; forearm, 13; wrist, 8½. His weight was given at 226 younds.

MILWAUKEE BOXING BOUTS NOT ILLEGAL.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—Boxing contests as conducted in Milwaukee are not in violation of the state law which prohibits prize fights, according to a decision by Judge Alvin C. Brazee in the municipal court late yesterday afternoon.

The decision was in the case in which Eddie Greenwald, a local bantamweight, was defendant. The court held that boxing bouts, where no decisions were given, no purses awarded, no championship hinging on the result and no bet awarded, could not be termed prize fighting, and that the bouts, as conducted here, are not in violation of the law.

C. B. Willis of the Y. M. C. A., was the chief witness for the state. Other witnesses included Dr. John W. Frew of the Milwaukee A. C., George Schoepperle, a local detective, and Thomas S. Andrews, a sporting writer.

AFTER BANTAM CHAMPIONSHIP

PAL MOORE.

Pal Moore, the 18-year-old bantamweight of Philadelphia, will take on Jimmy Walsh, claimant of the world's bantamweight championship at the Empire Athletic club on Thursday next. In Pal, the Boston champion recognizes a dangerous opponent and he doesn't want to risk his claim to the title without sufficient preparation. This is why the bout was postponed until next week. Walsh has refused to make weight for Moore and the bout will be at catch weights.

CRUEL JOKE ON MANAGER DARBY

Weather Man Changes Mind at Last Moment and Sends Rain.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 23.—The weather man took a fall out of the locals and the Duluth club yesterday afternoon just as they were about to indulge in a little fray. Manager O'Brien is considerably put out as a result of his misfortunes so far this spring, but all are pulling for a better brand of weather, with hopes that the games scheduled for today and Sunday afternoon may be played. Fans in this city are anxious for a glimpse at a real contest, and should the weather permit, big crowds will be out during the Duluth team's stay in this city.

Darby O'Brien was in conference for an hour last night with boss Jimmy Burke of the Fort Wayne club with hopes of landing several players. Burke has twelve men on his pitching staff, to say nothing of several good infielders, and it is possible that at least two of these will leave this city with the Duluth club.

Burke thinks well of all the players and especially of two infielders who are to be turned over for another year with Class C and D organizations. Strong strings will be tied to all as a result, in order that they may be called back after another year's seasoning.

Manager O'Brien has established a record as a developer of young players, and it is possible that he will profit as a result at the hands of the local management.

WILL ENTERTAIN THE BOWLERS

Mill City Pin Smashers to Play Match Games With Duluth.

Tonight and Sunday night there will be bowling games between Minneapolis and Duluth bowlers. The games tonight will be rolled on the Majestic alleys.

The Mill City bowlers will arrive in the city tonight at 7 o'clock. They will be taken to the Elks' temple on West First street where a dinner will be served.

At 8:30 the bowling begins. It has not been decided what Duluth team will roll tonight and another will try out the Minneapolis men Sunday night.

At a meeting held last night the local bowlers talked over the entertainment to be furnished the visitors. Many affairs have been planned and if the weather permits a ride around the boulevard will be given them.

ALL THE TEAMS ARE NOW BUSY

Minnesota-Wisconsin League Managers Hustling to Get Into Shape.

That all of the teams in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league are now in training, indicates the approach of the opening of the season. Wausau, La Crosse, Winona, Eau Claire and Rochester have now begun work while Superior, Duluth and Red Wing have been busy for some time. Duluth and Superior have run into bad weather and the luck of both teams has been rough.

La Crosse is playing a series of games with the Regina team of the Western Canada league. The Outcasts were beaten yesterday by a small score. The weather was cold, however, and neither team could show up in good form.

All the teams are claiming pennants, and each manager thinks he has several "finds."

DONLIN WILL BE REINSTATED AGAIN.

Chicago, April 23.—Mike Donlin, baseball player, said yesterday that he would make formal application tomorrow for reinstatement as a member of the New York club. Donlin's announcement followed a conference with Garry Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, who said that Donlin's request would be granted.

WASHINGTONS WIN INDOOR MEET

Athletic Exhibition Held at Boys' Department Y. M. C. A. Was Very Interesting.

By a margin of six points the boys of the Washington grade school won the athletic indoor meet held last night at the boys' department Y. M. C. A.

The final scores were: Washingtons, 19; Adams, 14; Bryant, 12; Franklin, 0; Jefferson, 0. Only the five mentioned schools were entered.

The events were well contested between the three first mentioned schools and a large crowd cheered on their favorites.

The summary of the events follows:

Standing broad jump—Oscar Benson, (Adams), Roger Whiteside, (Washington), Harold Armstrong, (Washington). Distance 8 feet, 3¼ inches.

Potato race—Edward Johnson (Bryant), Harold Armstrong (Washington), Simon Peterson (Adams).

Running high jump—Roger Whiteside (Washington). Distance 4 feet, 10 inches. Three tied for place at 4 feet 6 inches. They were Simon Peterson (Adams), Alger Streval (Bryant) and Elmer Whitney (Washington.)

Pull-up—Chauncey Larson (Bryant), Henry Azinsky (Washington), H. Nocain (Adams). Record, 16 times.

Relay race—Adams team (Peterson, Olson, Benson, Norain), Washington team (Armstrong, R. Larson, Whiteside, Azinsky), Bryant team (Myrhman, Mitchell, Streval, C. Larson).

Referee, J. R. Batchelor; clerk of course, Forest Huyck; announcer, William Otto; judges, Henry Hallenback, Albin Lee, Arthur Bush, William Nelson.

PERSON WILL MEET JACK ROWETT OF BESSEMER.

Houghton, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chris Person, the Duluth heavyweight grappler, and Jack Rowett of Bessemer, Mich., the world's champion, Cornish style, will meet at the Ishpeming theater, Ishpeming, Mich., catch-as-catch-can style, on April 30. Rowett is of the opinion that he can throw Person although he, Rowett, was easily conquered by Karl Lehto, the Calumet wrestler at their meeting in Calumet several months ago. Lehto threw Rowett twice in about eleven minutes.

Rowett and Lehto will meet at Calumet, Cornish style, July 4. Special trains will be run from all points in the Iron country to Calumet for the match.

TWO GIANT PITCHERS COUNTED ON BY NEW YORK AMERICANS

JACK QUINN,
New York Americans.

VAUGHN,
New York Americans.

"Big Chief" Stallings' two giant pitchers are expected to keep the Highlanders near the head of the league if they don't win the pennant for Stallings. They are Jack Quinn and Jim Vaughn, former fireman. Quinn has been playing professional ball since 1906 and is one of the few men who have perfect control of the spitball. For left hand batters, he is just as dangerous as a southpaw, because his side arm spitter breaks away from the batsman just like a southpaw's curve. He has three motions in delivering the spitball, overhand, side arm and underhand according to the way he wants to make it break. Vaughn played with the Hot Springs club of the Arkansas league in 1908, and the Scranton club of New York State league and last year finished up with the Louisville team of the American Association. All three teams were pennant-winners.

ST. LOUIS PITCHERS WILD AND PIRATES WIN.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 23.—The champions had no difficulty in taking another game from St. Louis yesterday, 4 to 0. Corridon at the the start gave Pittsburg three bases on balls and was relieved in the second by Backman, who also issued four passes and was found for ten hits. Campbell of Aberdeen, Wash., played his first full major league game in right field and made an excellent appearance. Flynn, too, was tried out at first base and proved a close rival to Sharpe for the position. The score: R. H. E.

LOUISVILLE WINS ANOTHER GAME.

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—The Louisville team won its second game of the season yesterday by defeating Indianapolis. Weaver, the former Chicago Cub pitcher, had the visitors at his mercy and landed the victory handily. Louisville played better all-around ball than Indianapolis. Fast fielding characterized the game. Woodruff's triple and Chadbourne's one-hand catch were the features. Score: R. H. E.

COLUMBUS BLANKED BY TRIUMPHANT MUD HENS.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22.—Toledo took the second game of the series, 2 to 0. Sullivan and Land drove in the runs. Robinson was wild but only Downs could hit him steadily. In the ninth, Downs, Rossman and W. Hinchman were on bases with none out. West relieved Robinson and got Congalton on a pop fly. Then he speared Quinlan's hard grounder and started a double play. FITWELL TEAM IS REORGANIZED

Team Hopes to Make Better Record Than Last Year.

The Fitwell baseball aggregation has organized for the coming season with Frank Sears as manager.

Only a few of the players have signed up for this season as yet, but, after a few more tryouts it is expected that the entire team will be selected. Manager Sears aims to have one of the strongest semi-pro teams in Duluth this year and announces that he is looking for games from outside teams as well as those in the city.

The players will have new suits and equipment this year. The suits will be white with blue trimmings. The uniforms are now being made up and will be ready in the course of a few days. The Fitwells made a fair record last season, but expect to go one better this spring.

Object to Strong Medicines.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than nine out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all druggists.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR LICENSE TO SELL, MORTGAGE OR LEASE LAND.
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Signa Maria Erickson, Minor.
The petition of Alma Erickson as representative of the above named minor, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that for reasons stated in said petition, it is necessary and for the best interests of the estate of said minor and of all persons interested therein, to sell certain lands of said minor in said petition described, and praying that license be to her, said Alma Erickson, granted to sell the said land;
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Courthouse, in Duluth in said County on Monday the 5th day of May, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

JOE CHOYNSKI.

Joe Choynski, the veteran prize fighter, whose record includes a twenty-round draw with Jeffries and a three-round knockout administered years ago to Jack Johnson, is on his way to C..lifornia to join the Jeffries camp as chief trainer. Choynski has unique ideas of training the big fellow. Music, art, pshchology, painting, poetry, literature—all of these are going to be tried on the former champion at his training camp provided Choynski finds that as chief boxing partner and superintendent of training, he is given the latitude he should have.

WILL HAVE FINE NEW GARAGE

Mutual Automobile Company Will Erect $50,000 Building on First Street.

The Mutual Automobile company will soon have a fine new modern garage on West First street, just west of the new Elks building.

The Mutual is one of the oldest automobile concerns in the city and is at present located in the rear of the Board of Trade building.

The site of the new building is at the present time occupied by an old building that was for many years used as a livery stable. Of late years it has been used by the Duluth Motor Car company as a garage and repair shop. The lot is owned by Julius H. Barnes and associates.

The new building will be two stories, built of re-enforced concrete and will be 40 by 140 feet. When completed, it is epected, the cost will run close to $50,000.

The new garage will be up to the minute in every respect. There will be waiting rooms for women, a separate one for the men, a chauffeur lounging room, the improved wash racks and space for a great number of cars.

In front of the building will be a large show room for new cars. There will be steam heat and all other modern conveniences.

The shop will be located up stairs. As the second floor will be about on a level with second alley, an elevator will be unnecessary.

A long lease has been secured by the automobile concern. The present occupants of the building have been notified to move, which they are doing at the present time. The old building will be torn down at once and work will be started on the new immediately.

The new garage will be ready for occupancy some time during the coming month of June.

There has been need for some time for more car space in the city and while the demand is growing faster than the buildings are being erected, the new garage will help the congestion for a time at least.

DETROIT THE HUB OF MOTOR WORLD

Wonderful Development Along Automobile Lines Sounds Like Fairy Tale.

Lansing, Mich., April 23.—According to statistics issued by the state labor commissioner, Michigan is the foremost state in the Union in the manufacture of autos, and Detroit is the hub of the motor world.

Michigan's wonderful development along automobile lines sounds like a fairy tale. In 1895 the national output totaled $26,645,000, of which Michigan's share was $18,000,000. During 1909 the auto output of the state reached the enormous total of $135,000,000.

In 1905 $2,300,000 was invested in automobile property in Michigan. Last year the amount had grown to $34,300,000, and the annual output of cars has grown from 38,830 in 1905 to 271,440 in 1909.

In 1905 there were 3,950 people employed in Michigan auto factories. Today the number is approximately 27,990. The aggregate total daily wage comparisons were $8,349, or an average daily wage of $2.38, as compared with the average daily total of $75,470.71 last year. In 1909 the average daily wages paid to factory employes was $2.70.

Speaking of Michigan's place in the auto world, the state report says:

"Michigan took first place among her sister states in the manufacturing of automobiles in 1905 and has proudly continued to maintain her lead, while Detroit has so far outstripped all her competitors as to be recognized and acknowledged the auto center of the world."

There are thirty-three auto concerns in Michigan and they are distributed as follows:

Detroit, 17; Pontiac, 4; Lansing, 3; Jackson 3; Flint, 2; Owosso, 1; Grand Rapids, 1; Dowagiac, 1; Saginaw, 1.

Two of the Michigan concerns are capitalized at $10,000,000, three at $2,000,000, one at $1,500,000 and one at $1,000,000. The total capital invested is $34,687,620, and the average capitalization is $1,071,487. Eighteen concerns have increased their capitalization since their organization.

The aggregate value of Michigan's annual auto output is $135,005,465, and the cost of the material used annually is $75,198,480.

There are seventy-two superintendents employed, receiving an aggregate salary of $178,008.48, or an average of $2,471.04. The total number of office employes is 1,419, their average daily wage $2.61, and their aggregate daily wages $5,121. There are 591 foremen employed, their average daily pay is $4.07, and their aggregate daily wages $2,405.67.

The total number of skilled employes last year was 20,572, and the average daily wage paid them was $2.82. Each working day the skilled help received from the auto concerns $58,145.95, while the common laborers numbered 5,404 and received in daily wages $9,797.19. Thirty-eight auto salesmen are employed at an aggregate yearly salary of $72,876.96, or an average yearly salary of $1,918.80.

There is no cough medicine so popular as Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to cure coughs, colds, croup and bronchitis. For sale by all druggists.

REVERSES JUDGMENT IN MANN LIBEL CASE.

New York, April 23.—Judges Lacomb, Coxe, Ward and Noyes, sitting in the United States circuit court of appeals, have reversed the judgment obtained by Samuel Dempster, a Pittsburg millionaire, against Col. William Dalton Mann, publisher of Town Topics, and ordered a new trial.

The suit, which was for libel, was tried in April, 1909, and the jury awarded Dempster $40,000 damages, which Judge Hough considered excessive, and ruled that unless the plaintiff was willing to accept damages to the amount of $20,000, he would order a new trial.

In Probate Court.
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. —ss.
In the Matter of the Estate of William Robert McKeag, Decedent.
THE PETITION OF Maggie McKeag having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that William Robert McKeag, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota on the 8th day of March, 1910, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the surviving spouse of said decedent, and praying that Letters of Administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to Maggie McKeag.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 9th day of May, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this Order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this Order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County, not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE BIJOU

What Is Claimed to Be the Biggest Show of the Year, Will Open Next Week. "Eight Minstrel Maids," the Feature.

What is termed as the biggest show of the year will open at the Bijou Monday afternoon.

Heading the list will be Tim McMahon's eight minstrel maids and watermelon girls, appearing in one of the best and most pretentious novelties that has ever been shown at the Bijou. At the opening of the act the young women are attired in natty masculine costumes. After a brief ensemble of singing and dancing they form the usual minstrel circle when they present a program of jokes and musical numbers. The vocalists are all blessed with excellent voices which blend beautifully in tone and harmony. After the first part there is a change of scene and the "maids" are disclosed grouped inside huge and brilliantly lighted watermelons, which offer a picturesque setting. They then come forth from the melons and introduce several big dancing numbers, which are exceptionally good. Following is a notice from the Cincinnati Enquirer, where the act was recently featured at the Empress theater: "McMahon's Watermelon Girls are the big feature at the Empress this week, and are alone capable of giving a whole evening's entertainment. A minstrel first part is given, followed by singing and dancing specialities, all of which are first-class. All are good vocalists and 'Cocaine Habit,' by the Mobile quartet and chorus is an original number that brought down the house. The act is one of the best ever presented in the Empress."

The "Miniature Female Sandow," Mabel Valenteene Moore, with her graceful and muscular aerial exhibition, will offer a very entertaining act on the program. Mis Moore has just finished the United Circuit in the East. She is the only woman in vaudeville who is presenting an act of posing and muscular feats upon flying trapeze. Physical culture experts claim she has not an equal.

Dick Fitzgerald and Tommy Odell will offer one of the best singing, talking and dancing acts that has ever appeared at the Bijou. They are styled the "Daffy Dustys," portraying two happy tramps who have an abundance of good parodies, comic songs and some tanglefoot dancing. A feature of the act is the burlesque of a drama, which is said to be a solid laugh from start to finish.

An excellent comedy offering will be by Helen Stuart, a clever and talented comedienne, who offers fifteen minutes of good comedy and songs, in her original creation of "Polly Wiggles in Society." This little comedienne has a talent for creating merriment, and her fine singing voice, and well-selected songs always makes her a favorite wherever she appears.

The big added feature for the week will be Joe Willard and Harry Bond and company in an act entitled "The Battle of Bunco Hill." This act has been featured in every first-class vaudeville theater in America. Following is a recent press comment on their act from the Philadelphia Press:

"The bill this wek is made up largely of new acts seen for the first time in Philadelphia. Most applauded of these is the 'Battle of Bunco Hill," presented by Joe F. Willard and Harry Bond. Mr. Willard is a well-known German comedian, and as 'Philip Schlitz,' a war correspondent, who is drafted into the army, he has a character in which the funniest side of his German impersonation is seen.

"This is a burlesque on a war play. The 'correspondent's' efforts at drilling and posing as a cavalry soldier are highly amusing, his antics with his thoroughbred horse, 'Devilskin,' keeping the audience in constant laughter.

"Mr. Bond, a clever comedian, as Capt. Brayton, is responsible for most of the trouble the German gets into. The act is constructed along clever lines, and is the funniest seen on the local stage this season, and they deserve all the applause that was bestowed upon them."

The reputations of Joe F. Willard as well as Harry Bond are well known to amusement lovers. Mr. Willard was the star of "Gay New York," a musical comedy, for two years. Harry Bond is that funny comedian who won renown in Hoyt's "A Tin Soldier," and last season appeared in as "The Fairy Queen," in "The Gingerbread Man." They have also been starred in such well known musical comedies as "The Rounders," "The Telephone Girl," "Lady Slavery," and "The Girl From Paris," and their 1910 tour in vaudeville has been a big success.

The illustrated song, which will be sung by Decdata Rossing, will be one of the newest song hits entitled "Back to My Old Town."

The moving pictures will be up to the usual high standard, showing only exclusive and first-run subjects.

Matinees are given daily at 2:45, and performances every night at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. A special school children's matinee is given Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under the age of 14 years will be admitted for 5 cents. Performances are given Sunday afternoon and night.

Lyceum Notes.

The San Francisco Opera company, which made it first bid for popularity before a Duluth audience last Thursday night, will be seen in "The Girl From Manila," a musical comedy, tonight, Sunday matinee and Sunday night at the Lyceum theater. It is adapted from "Turned Up," one of the funniest pieces of theatrical building in existence. The music, although elbowed to the background is of sufficient importance.

At considerable expense and trouble, the Lyceum theater has succeeded in securing the famous Nelson-Wolgast fight pictures. These pictures contain walking stunts, ringside scenes and all of the best parts of the battle.

Manager Marshall announces that he has the personal guarantee of the advance representative that there is nothing whatever in these pictures that approaches either the vulgar or objectionable. They are just a reproduction of a famous scientific battle.

Monday afternoon there will be a special matinee at 2:30 and the evening performance at 8:15.

Grace George comes to the Lyceum this season presenting as her latest offering a smart comedy of modern life called "A Woman's Way." It was written by Thompson Buchanan, a young New York newspaper man and is described as a comedy of common sense. The character played by Miss George is that of a young bright and charming American wife, who discovers that her husband has fallen in love with another woman. By her clever treatment of the unpleasant situation, the young wife completely wins back her husband's love and easily defeats the schemes of the other woman. The cast supporting Miss George is an unusually capable one.

• • •

"The Prince of Tonight' is the name of a new musical play by Frank Adams, Will Hough and Joe Howard, which Manager Mort H. Singer will present at the Lyceum late this season. The story is claimed to be the most fascinating that Messrs. Adams and Hough have ever invented, combining as it does modern characters and places with fantastic incidents and situations, and making the whole the most original musical comedy of recent years. The music of Mr. Howard embraces the best compositions of his career. The mention of Henry Woodruff's name in the title role is sufficient guarantee of the character of the play. Mr. Woodruff has been recognized as one of America's best actors, who, after a wide experience in Shakespearean roles as leading man for Mrs. Fiske, Amelia Bingham and Henrietta Crossman, and as the star of "Ben Hur" and "Brown of Harvard" and other notable productions, will make his bow to the American public as the leading player in a pure musical comedy. "The Prince of Tonight" was staged by George Marion, and he has left nothing undone to make the musical numbers a success.

CIRCUS GOSSIP

The Barnum & Bailey circus will close its New York season tonight to open Monday in Brooklyn for a week's stay.

• • •

The Ringling Bros.' circus will close its Chicago run tonight and start the road season Monday in Danville, Ill.

• • •

The Forepaugh-Sells circus opened the season today in Springfield, Ohio, and will work East. The circus will be in New York in June, for a week and will be the first circus under canvas in New York for years.

• • •

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus will as usual, open in Peru, Ind., on May 2 and will immediately start East.

• • •

The Sells-Floto circus has left Denver and is en route to California. Two days will be spent in Los Angeles and five in San Francisco.

• • •

Jay Rial and Dexter Fellows, two of the most popular men in the circus world, are looking after the press this season for the Barnum & Bailey circus.

• • •

Guy Steeley has succeeded James Jay Brady as press agent for Ringling Bros

Ned Alvord, a Duluth boy, is contracting press agent with the Forepaugh-Sells circus.

Frank J. O'Donnell, well known here, is with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus this season.

Fred Wagner, who has many friends here, is special agent this season for the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

• • •

George Choffin, who is said to know the location of every bill board in the country, has taken charge of the opposition brigade of the Forepaugh-Sells circus.

• • •

Contracting agents for the Ringling Bros. were in the Twin Cities this week. The circus comes to Duluth this season.

• • •

The Buffalo Bill-Pawnee Bill Wild West and Far East united will open the season in New York next Thursday. After a general tour of the East, the show will come West, and probably visit Duluth.

• • •

Maj. J. M. Burke, one of the best known inciters of public interest in America and Europe, has consented to again act as press agent this season for Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill, although he announced at the close of last season that he would retire to enjoy the pleasures of wise investments made in New York real estate years ago.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"Beethoven" an Unusual Dramatic Production --Mrs. Fiske in Hauptmann's "Hannele"--Elektra" Given in Greek--The Walter-Belasco Separation.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"Beethoven" is described on the program as "a dramatic biography." It introduces the great tone master at the age of 39, when he was in the height of his glory, and the three acts show the master in various phases of his career and in many of his moods. The piece does not pretend to be a play in the ordinary sense of the word. There are hardly any dramatic situations. There is a sequence of events, but the interest is chiefly in the development of the character, depicted by the playwright of a great man, and this interest is at times gripping. It is not till the last act that the play becomes in a sense dramatic. The incident portrays the dying composer rising from his bed—and surprising his favorite nephew—Karl—for whom he made sacrifices and suffered—in the act of rummaging his desk for money with which to continue his dissipations. Alone, Beethoven sinks down at his clavier, and there beholds the vision of his nine symphonies represented by that number of maidens in white, hears the prediction of his eternal fame, and then dies during a terrific thunder storm.

In the first act he is represented in love with Countess Giulietta Guicciardi, who was on the eve of marrying him, but at the last moment was unable to find her station, and bestowed her hand on Count Von Gallenberg. Here Beethoven tells a French officer why he obliterated the name of Bonaparte from the Third Symphony and denounces the emperor as a tyrant. Here, too, is the incident of his declining an invitation to dine with Archduke Rudolph and his friends. The second act devotes the growth of Beethoven's deafness, which provides an element of singular pathos, and the last act represents him in his decline, disappointed in love, in his nephew and the world's appreciation of his work.

In Paris last season, this strange play of Rene Fauchois created a good deal of interest. It is excellent literature and the story is enhanced in interest by the generous introduction of themes and passages from the master's famous compositions, which run through the entire three acts and often illustrate his passing moods and joy and sorrow. After a meeting with the Countess Giulietta, for instance, he is seen, moved by a sudden inspiration, jotting down the theme of the "Moonlight Sonata" as he sits at a table in the open with the moonbeams falling upon his leonine brow and the strains from an invisible orchestra intoning the motif.

"All this is new to the general public. Such an exotic requires to be approached in a reverent state of mind. It was done beautifully at the New theater by the special company, so far as Beethoven is concerned. There were fifty men in the orchestra to play the music, and the cast included J. Harry Benrimo, Rebecca Warren, Frank Currier, Frank Aiken, Stanley Dark, Robert McWade, Sr., Mrs. Sol Smith and Helen Tracy. These all represent minor characters, however, as the personality of Beethoven dominates throughout and ensures every other participant in the action. For this important role, Donald Robertson was specially engaged, probably because he looks enough like Beethoven to characterize him in figure and face. He has a fine voice, and he is also an experienced actor. But his performance grew monotonous ere long, and it became evident that it would require the genius and style of Mrs. Forbes-Robertson to do justice to the role and save the performance from growing tiresome. This, I fancy, will be the ultimate verdict passed upon it. With just the right actor in the part perhaps a more favorable view would prevail.

At the Lyceum Mrs. Fiske changed her bill from "The Pillars of Society," of Ibsen, to the "Hannele," of Hauptmann, and "The Green Cockatoo," by Arthur Schnitzler. The first had a singular experience in New York. When presented about fifteen years ago on Broadway it was prohibited as sacrilegious because Christ is introduced. At two of the German theaters it was repeatedly played here, and only last winter was seen at the now defunct German theater, with Hedwig Reicher in the cast. It is one of the strangest of plays, with the simplicity of a child's story. Indeed, Hannele is a little girl, the wretched product of village squalor and childish faith in all the miracles of religion. There is an intense pathos in the scenes, but the proper enjoyment of them depends on one's ability to translate oneself into poor little Hannele's atmosphere and to view things through a child's eyes. It is best described as a modern miracle play, written in Hauptmann's well-known poetic vein, combined with genius for barren realism. Hannele is finally seen lying in a crystal coffin, which bursts into light, and the play closes with an apotheosis showing the little girl born to heaven in the arms of the Savior. The whole is a glorification of a child's faith.

It speaks highly for the genius of Mrs. Fiske that she was able to give the role of Hannele the similitude of childish trust and simplicity, and that peculiar quaintness that is indispensable to the character.

She did not appear in "The Green Cockatoo," which preceded "Hannele," but turned out to be much more than a curtain raiser, as ordinarily understood. It is intensely interesting and full of dramatic surprises. The scene is Paris during the revolution, and deals with vagabond life in a cabaret on the night of the fall of the Bastile. The whole is a grotesquerie, with an undercurrent of tense reality. The author is known in America for "The Reckoning" and a one-act play, "Literature," which was presented at a New York theater some years ago. The leading part was played by Holbrook Blinn.

Still another novelty of the week is "the first correctly given performance of the 'Elektra' of Sophocles in America" by Raymond Duncan, the brother of Isadore Duncan, the classic dancer, who, with his wife and child has been amusing New Yorkers for some time past by parading Broadway in the classic dress of the Greeks. The performance was given at the Berkeley theater in the original Greek, and pleased an audience that was made up of Greeks and some dozens of art patrons, including Lady Duff Gordon and the Greek minister at Washington. Duncan is a rabid propagandist for Greek music and customs, and the performance was interesting only as a novelty, varying the schedule of dramatic entertainment of the metropolis.

The second play from the pen of Porter Emerson Browne, who wrote "A Fool There Was" for Robert Hilliard, was produced at the Hudson, with Edmund Breese in the principal part. It is called "The Spendthrift," but failed to grip the audience as the author's first-born, though it has elements of strength and may turn out a success. It is in four acts, though which the story is stretched in a somewhat attenuated form.

It has a didactic theme, the extravagance of a woman who ruins her hard-working husband and then borrows money from a man in order to forestall the loss of all she holds dear. The husband suspects some other motive than generosity on the part of the lender, and having trapped his wife in one lie, regards her incapable of telling the truth about other matters. He forces the wife to call her generous friend to her room at night, but discovers that she is innocent of any wrong. The test decides the wife to leave him, and within five months she is found in a single room making a living as a governess, where the husband finds her and restores her to his bosom after a scene of tears and forgiveness. Incidental to the characters is a millionaire aunt of good sense, a lawyer friend and a couple of juvenile lovers, who are essential to the story. As the husband, Edmund Breese, who has just closed as the husband in "Just a Wife," was given a hearty reception, and he played the part with distinction. The cast is small and the playing is uniformly interesting.

Henry E. Dixey has returned to vaudeville and made his first appearance at the Colonial in his former sketch, "Over a Welsh Rarebit." The comedian has been holding aloof from the twice-a-day in the hope of landing a suitable comedy in which to continue his starring career, but has had to yield to force of circumstances. Since his marriage to his leading lady, Miss Nordstrom, he has become the father of a girl, born soon after the close of "Mr. Buttles" at Weber's theater.

Before the week is over this will prove one of the busiest of the season, with "Beethoven" at the New theater, Mrs. Fiske in "Hannele" and "The Green Cockatoo" at the Lyceum, "The Spendthrift" at the Hudson, "The Three Daughters of M. Dupont" at the Comedy, "Lulu's Husband" at Maxine Elliott's, the Ben Greet players in "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Garden, and the old tragedy of "Elektra" at the Berkeley—all new productions never before seen here, and in their variety of theme showing the prevalence of a kaleidoscopic taste that few dramatic centers can equal.

Meanwhile Marietta Olly continues at Daly's in "The Wirlwind," Ethel Barrymore is still playing Pinero's "Midchanel" at the Empire, Cyril Scott is doing well in "The Lottery Man" at the Bijou, Francis Wilson is holding out at the Criterion in "The Bachelor's Baby," Wallack's is still a center of attraction for those who have not seen "Alias Jimmy Valentine," at the New Amsterdam "Madame X" is playing to good business, "The City" has not lost its thrill at the Lyric, "The Fortune Hunter" continues to prosper at the Gayety and "Seven Days" amuses people at the Astor. "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Dollar Princess" and "The Arcadian" are the big musical successes, as they have been for months past, and "The Old Town" and "The Jolly Bachelors" maintain an even level of popularity at their respective houses.

Charlotte Walker has closed her season at the Belasco in "Just a Wife" and at the same time retired from the Belasco fold to pass under the management of her husband, Eugene Walter, who, as you have no doubt heard, has also severed relations with the wizard of Forty-second street. As Walter wrote "Just a Wife" under a contract which provides that no one but Miss Walker shall appear in the play, Belasco relinquishes his rights to the production, and the play is expected to serve as Miss Walker's vehicle on tour under the management of her husband, who has recently opened offices in the Commercial Trust building. The details of the trouble between Belasco and Walter have not been given to the public. The report that the split came over the construction of a clause in Walter's contract giving him the exclusive right to name the cast of his new play is thought to give the true facts only in part. Neither side is talking for publication and both minimize the rupture, the foundation for which was laid more than a year ago. Walter wrote "The Easiest Way" for Miss Walker, but Belasco put Frances Starr into the role which the author had designated specially for his wife. After that matters were never the same, but peace was patched up in anticipation that Miss Walker would be compensated by the production of "Just a Wife." It failed to create the sensation scored by its immediate predecessor, and the old sore seems to have been reopened.

There are 1,853 aspirants for the $250 prize offered by Martin Beck for the best one-act contributed to the actor's fund fair. It was the largest playlet contest ever held. Manuscripts poured in from every state in the Union, except Nevada, and nearly a score came from Europe.

Six plays from among all these will be selected for presentation at the fair, and five of the best known critics in New York will select the winner.

A playlet was submitted on almost every conceivable subject, from the contemplated visit of the stork to the reappearance of Caesar's ghost. Over one-third of the plays concerned the domestic triangle. Less than one hundred were free from the element of love, and nearly half ended with a kiss. Fully a score of the authors demanded that their acts be produced by certain stars and asked that their manuscripts be returned if any person of lesser light was to be selected. One Radcliffe girl modestly suggested that her play contained parts admirably suited to Maude Adams, Ethel Barrymore and Mrs. Fiske.

"I fear," she said "that others might not bring out the delicious humor in the lines."

Nine Harvard men contributed plays, one of them being written by a Japanese student. There were three plays in Yiddish and one in Italian. A resident of the East side contributed a play in German, requesting Mr. Beck to translate it and deduct the expenses from the prize.

About six hundred plays were contributed by New Yorkers. California seemed to have the fever worse than any other state save Massachusetts, having a total of sixty-four.

Paul Armstrong's royalties from the performances of H. B. Warner in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" at Wallack's theater, New York, are said to run in the neighborhood of $1,200 a week, considerably more money than Mr. Armstrong was able to earn as a newspaper reporter.

• • •

That May Irwin has won another big success in the new play "Mrs. Jim" by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, authors of "The Man From Home," is not a startling bit of news, for it is hard to remember when May Irwin didn't have a stage winner. In the new facial comedy "Mrs. Jim" after years of struggle, finds the money she has been hoping for. In the prologue of the play, she tells about her longing thus—"I used to think Fortune would come to me with a fairy prince on a white horse, but now if it came in a gunny sack on a mule, I'd kiss the mule."

Pietro Mascagni has completed a portion of the new opera "Ysobel," in which Liebler & Co. will introduce Bessie Abott as a star to American audiences next fall. Luigi Illica is writing the book. Mr. Illica wrote the operatic versions of "Madame Butterfly," "La Tosca" and "La Boheme." The scene is laid in England in mediaeval times, and the story is based on Tennyson's poem "Lady Godiva."

• • •

It is probable that Wilton Lackaye will be seen next season in the character of Dr. Benjamin. Earle Browne, who plays the part of Red Joclyn, a yegg, in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," has written an unnamed play dealing with the intrigues of the French court during the peace negotiations following the American revolution. The play employs a pretty little episode for which there is abundant historical authority, a love affair of one of Mr. Franklin's household which almost nullified the efforts of Franklin, Jay and Adams in their great work of securing a satisfactory peace. The Browne manuscript has been sent to George C. Tayler, head of the Liebler & Co. firm, who is now in London.

George C. Tyler, who went to London a short time ago for the purpose of securing a playhouse in the West end suited to the production of "The Dawn of a To-Morrow," has been successful, and the little play of cheerfulness will be given a speedy presentation. Miss Gertrude Elliott, sister of Maxine Elliott and wife of Forbes-Roberston, will play "Glad," the street waif, in which role Eleanor Robson won her greatest following. Several members of the company which supported Miss Robson have gone to London to appear in the English production.

There is a great deal of discussion rampant with regard to the production Frohman intends making of Rostand's "Chantecler" next season. Otis Skinner was first announced as the actor selected for the title role. Now comes word that Maude Adams is to be seen in the leading role of this barnyard drama. It is expected that her charm and personality will aid greatly in making the play acceptable to American audiences. It is not the first time that Maude Adams will have been called upon to assume the principal character in a Rostand drama. Her efforts in L'Aiglon" are still well remembered.

When Henry W. Savage produced "The Gay Hussar" early in the season it proved to be an unexpected failure. It was adapted from "Herbstmaneuver," which had been a most profound success in Europe, and which seemed to have all the ingredients required for an American success. The great difficulty which Savage encountered was to find a baritone who could act and sing sufficiently well to assume the leading role. While he tried many candidates, none of them filled the bill, and the piece had to be taken off as a failure. But he still has hopes in the operetta. Meantime he has had some of his men at work on it, and in its new dress it is to be tried again next month. It is to be more American in its new form.

The well-known novel, "Bella Donna," is being dramatized by James Bernard Fagin, and is intended for Mrs. Henderson, who appeared here last week in "A Fool That Was." The drama is to be a free adaptation of the book, rather than a close arrangement of scenes taken from its pages.

• • •

A well-known playwright has now assumed the task of writing a play which will be a suitable starring vehicle for Tully Marshall. It will be somewhat difficult to provide a role worthy of this actor's talent, or one which will eclipse in power his present role in "The City." It may be some time, therefore, before Mr. Marshall is willing to forsake his part in the Clyde Fitch drama, even for the sake of becoming a star.

• • •

"La Sanambule," the latest production of M. G. Molasso, will receive its American premiere at the American Music Hall April 25. The act will be presented with special scenery, costumes and effects. M. Molasso, who originated and produced "L'Amour de l'Apache" and "Paris by Night," is under exclusive contract to William Norris, Inc., and this summer he will tour Europe in search of novelties to be presented on the Morris circuit next season.

• • •

Miss Ellen Terry is to play Mistress Page in Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree's revival of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at Her Majesty's theater. He has surrounded himself with a splendid cast. Henry Ainley is to be the Master Fenton, Lyn Harding Master Ford and Jules Shaw Master Page. W. G. Fay will play Justice Shallow.

Contracts have been signed by which Edith Ellis, who wrote "Mary Jane's Pa" and other popular plays, will furnish the new character comedy, "He Fell in Love With His Wife," which is based upon E. P. Roe's charming love story, and which Gus Bothner and Robert Campbell will produce early next season with a cast of well-known players.

The lure of country life and the important position of the agriculturist in the general schemes of life, together with the wisdom of James J. Hill's slogan, "Back To the Farm," are among the ideas which the author will work out.

When Laurence Irving returns to London to produce the play which E. H. Sothern exploited in this country under the title, "The Fool Hath Said in His Heart." Mr. Irving, however, will change the title to "The Unwritten Law," and will appear in the role originated by Mr. Sothern.

• • •

"Every Woman" is the title of a play that is now nestling up Henry W. Savage's managerial sleeve. It is from the pen of Walter Browne, and is to be produced next season.

• • •

Daniel V. Arthur will book his productions with the Shuberts next season.

• • •

F. C. Whitney has received a letter from Oscar Straus, the composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," in which Mr. Straus says he is writing an intermezzo for the three hundredth performance of his opera at the Casino early next month.

• • •

Mrs. Leslie Carter is to answer the lure and will play a fortnight in vaudeville, a strong dramatic sketch being now in the process of formation for her.

• • •

William Norris has been playing in a piece called "Play Ball," in which he has been assuming the role of a college baseball pitcher. The name of the face is to be changed to "My Cinderella Girl."

• • •

One report has it that Mme. Rejane is to have a little theater in London in which she is to produce moderate plays, and another report denies it. The reader is left to make his own choice.

• • •

George Arliss closed his tour in "Septimus" in St. Louis last week.

Bickel and Watson, the comedians who were originally introduced to Broadway playgoers by F. Ziegfeld, Jr., in "The Follies of 1907," and were also in the cast of the "Revue of 1908," are to be one of the principal features of "The Follies of 1910," which is to occupy the Jardin de Paris about June 1.

• • •

The rumor has been current that Willie Collier was to desert the Frohman camp at the end of the season and go with the Shuberts. The popular comedian has just issued a vigorous denial of that reflection.

THE MEN WHO RUN THE PRESIDENT

They Are Men You Hardly Ever Hear About, and Yet Day in and Day Out They Work to Make His Day's Work as Easy as Possible—They Are Captain Archie Butt, Secretary Fred W. Carpenter, Secret Service Agent Sloan and His Side Partner, Head Doorkeeper Stone, Executive Clerks Latta and Crook, to Say Nothing of Pannell, the President's "Mother" During the Presidential Campaign, and His Filipino Valet, Who is a Severe Trial on the Presidential Temper Seven Days in the Week—Personal Anecdotes About All the Men Who Come in Daily Contact With Mr. Taft.

Written for the Herald by E. J. Edwards ("Holland").

(Copyrighted, 1910, by E. J. Edwards.)

HOW PRESIDENT TAFT can dispatch the immense amount of executive business which comes before him daily and at the same time meet the many obligations which devolve upon him, frequently necessitating long trips from Washington, is a matter of constant wonderment to the people of the country. The fact is, neither President Taft nor any other president could travel the pace of the chief executive without the assistance of a first-class body of office men and personal attendants, whose duty it is to relieve the president of as much work as possible, and contribute to his comfort in other ways.

The daily routine of the president is practically ordained for him by his subordinates. He frequently comes to the executive offices in the morning without the slightest idea of what is going to happen to him, although every minute of the day has been provided for by Secretary Fred W. Carpenter and his associates. The calendar is simply laid on his desk, and he is expected to follow it. Head Doorkeeper Thomas E. Stone attempts to see that he does follow it, and about all the president has to do is to carry out the program which, whenever possible, is made out so as to conserve his time and give him a chance for recreation when it is completed. Of course, the president makes many appointments on his own account, a record of which is kept by his subordinates, and made to fit in with each day's program.

It is rare that the men who run the president ever get into print. They are modest, unassuming men who could tell much inside history if it was not their business to treat nearly everything that comes before them as confidential.

Indispensable Archibald Butt.

If there is any one individual in the White House entourage besides Secretary Carpenter whose services are indispensable to President Taft, Capt. Archibald Clavering De Graffenreid Butt is the man. He is the social aide, the walking encyclopaedia, the jack-of-all-trades, the absolute necessity of the president. Whether in Washington or elsewhere, as was sagely remarked by a wit near the close of President Taft's long tour of the country last summer, the president nearly always "has the time of Archie Butt's life."

Somewhere, somehow, the impression has got abroad that just because Archie Butt, captain, U. S. A., wears regimentals most of the time and travels in presidential company, there is something wrong with him. A little original research into Capt. Butt's personality, habits of life, and accomplishments will soon convince the investigator that the said Capt. Butt is a good deal above the ordinary in manly attainments. He is a natural born executive, full of energy, and a man no enemy would want to meet, especially in the dark. His unfailing good nature and his democracy are among his chief assets. Wherever he has gone, he has made good. He put the military club at Manila upon its feet when everybody else had given up in despair, and as military attache to the legation at Mexico, he made such an impression upon President Diaz that when the latter met President Diaz at El Paso last fall, he insisted that Butt should be present at the private interview, although his own aide was left to cool his heels outside.

Incidentally, Butt would be something of a politician if the president would only quit giving him away. On a recent trip, Butt saw a man coming toward the president whom he recognized as a prominent citizen of the Territory of New Mexico.

"Here comes a man you met down in New Mexico, Mr. President. His name is Brown, and he is an influential citizen down there," said Butt, sotto voce.

The man approached and the president grasped him by the hand.

"Why, hello, Mr. Brown. I am glad to see you. Butt tells me I met you down in New Mexico, but blamed if I remember you, or where it was I met you," said the president, illustrating that frankness, and at the same time that lack of political sagacity, with which he is generally credited.

Butt has never expressed his opinion of that incident even to his most intimate friends, but it is said that he has given up all hopes of making a politician out of Mr. Taft.

Not long ago, Capt. Butt followed President Taft into Masonry, and now sainites the East with full military dignity. He can swing a golf club on par with the president, and he knows the history of every dish, piece of furniture and rag in the White House. When some disreputable article is produced in that historic mansion, Capt. Butt can be depended upon to save it from the scrap-heap by giving it a pedigree running back to Jackson, Jefferson or Washington. If the White House chef happens to slip up in preparing some course at dinner, Butt will make it palatable by informing everybody that they are getting it off a plate used by Abraham Lincoln or some other bygone president. His social duties also bring him in close contact with Mrs. Taft, and he is frequently consulted on White House affairs at which men are to be present.

Like Secretary Carpenter, Capt. Butt is a bachelor. If he were not, he would certainly be in a constant state of perplexity between love and duty, for he is on the job whenever the president is out of the bed.

Next to Capt. Butt, Col. Spencer Cosby, U. S. A., is in demand around the White House for advice on social matters. Cosby is another tie which binds President Taft to the Philippines. He was engineer officer of the department of Luzon in the Philippines during the Taft administration as civil governor, and the president took an immense liking to him. Cosby, like most of the White House force, affords a striking contrast to the president in size. In address, he is one of the most dapper individuals around the executive office.

Officially, Col. Cosby is known as the superintendent of the White House grounds and buildings. He plans all the improvements, both interior and exterior, and it is needless to say that the White House takes a lot of improving to make it comfortable for the president and family. After a winter's social campaign, in the course of which thousands of people have passed through its doors, it is squarely up to Col. Cosby during the summer months to bring it up to the mark for the next campaign.

Col. Crosby was No. 1 in his class at West Point in 1891. He saw actual service in Porto Rico as a major of engineers on the staff of Gen. Brooke. When he went to the White House, he was a bachelor, but has since taken unto himself a wife. The eight young officers of the army and navy who are assigned to the White House for special social occasions report to Col. Cosby.

The President's Serious Secretary.

Fred W. Carpenter, private secretary to the president, has been known to smile feebly at a good joke. When the joke was excruciatingly funny, his laugh, to quote one of his friends, sounded "like somebody cracking eggs in the next room." This characterization, however, has nothing to do with Mr. Carpenter's qualifications or ability to hold down his job. Without him, President Taft might just as well be in the middle of the Atlantic ocean in a tub.

The job of secretary to the president is one of the most discriminating character. The demands upon the president by the public far exceed the power of human endurance to meet, however willing the flesh may be. As an illustration of the value of Carpenter's acuteness and tact in handling persuasive congressmen seeking favors at the White House, there is an excellent example of recent date, in which the president got everlastingly "stung" by overriding his private secretary.

During the Easter holidays Washington is annually overrun with excursions from girls in seminaries, high schools and various "rahrah" institutions. To this class of people the home congressman is of no use on the face of the earth, unless he can secure introductions for them to the president. Consequently the White House is besieged at such times by congressmen seeking engagements for their constituents.

"And how many did you say there were in the party?" inquires Mr. Carpenter, after listening to a tearful plea from said congressman.

"Only a few," replies the congressman, drawing down the corners of his mouth in an endeavor to be diplomatic if not truthful.

"I regret exceedingly that the president's time will be so occupied on the day you mention that he will be unable to receive your party," replies Mr. Carpenter suavely.

Recently a bunch of congressmen who had been thus tactfully shelved in their onslaught on the president's secretary, went to see the president in a body, and persuaded him to override Carpenter. They promised the president that not more than 500 of their constituents would be in line. The president told Carpenter he would receive them at 10 a. m. the next day.

At that hour there was a line in front of the White House five or six abreast, and reaching from the front door to the outside gate, a block away. After the president had been handshaking for an hour his feet began to hurt. He called for Carpenter and inquired:

"How many people did I say I would receive?"

"Eight hundred," replied the secretary.

"Well, how many have I shaken hands with since this thing began?" asked the president.

"About sixteen hundred."

"How many more are there outside?"

"About as many as there were when you began."

"Shut the doors at once," shouted the president. "This is too much of a good thing for me."

This order Carpenter promptly carried out, all the time smiling to himself. Both he and Assistant Secretary Forster had told the president the night before just what he could expect for violating their orders, and they enjoyed the joke, even if the president did not. It transpired that other excursionists who had heard of the "open door" at the White House, had joined the throng, as well as a lot of old residenters, who shake hands with the president at every opportunity and brag about it to their children and grandchildren.

If every man who writes President Taft a letter flatters himself that the president sits down in a quiet nook to absorb its contents, he is badly left. Out of 300 letters which reach the White House every day on an average, Secretary Carpenter and his assistants weed out all but ten or fifteen. If they did not do this, the president would never get a chance to do anything else. Under the system evolved in the White House offices by George B. Cortelyou, when he was a president's secretary, everybody who has anything to do with stenography or typewriting in that institution can read everybody else's notes in shorthand. Consequently, Assistant Secretary Mischler answers all the letters he can and then passes the job on to Assistant Secretary Forster, who is one of the best office men in the employ of the government, and who so disposes of a goodly portion of the presidential mail. Finally, Secretary Carpenter takes a look at what is left, and when the whole is boiled down, President Taft gets the, remainder, which as noted above, rarely ever amounts to more than ten or fifteen letters.

During the presidential campaign President Taft passed through Carpenter's home town, in Minnesota. He made a back-platform speech, in which he said he had hired Carpenter without ever having seen him, and had found him to be "the best private secretary any man ever had." Carpenter, who was on the train, thought this was a good time to take a vacation, so he climbed off the train, and literally owned the town for the next two weeks.

One thing about Secretary Carpenter that President Taft likes is the fact that Carpenter went through his Philippine experience with him. Let there be a "blue Monday" in the White House, and the president and his secretary revert to the Philippines for relief. The president regards his work in the islands as of more lasting value than anything he has ever accomplished as president, and Carpenter agrees with him.

Secretary Carpenter is a university graduate, unlike all his immediate predecessors, and a lawyer. He learned to ride horseback in the Philippines, and, being an unmarried man, gives his unmortgaged affection to a black horse which he frequently rides. He maintains an apartment in Washington, the chief attributes of which are his Philippine mememtoes and a nexcellent library of classical literature.

Taft's "Blame-it-on-Loeb" Man.

Assistant Secretary Wendell W. Mischler is the "blame-it-on-Loeb" man of the Taft administration. It will be recalled that during the Roosevelt administration, William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president, was the "goat" whenever anything happened to affect the personal popularity or political standing of that president. Not in recent years has there been a president in the White House who has talked so often and so much, extemporaneously, as President Taft. Mischler is the man who takes down all these speeches. He is not only held responsible for his own mistakes, but if he faithfully transcribes any mistakes the president may make, he gets cussed for that also. Sometimes, the president's friends wish his stenographer was not quite so accurate.

Mischler came over to the White House from the war department with Mr. Taft. He used to think that a common ordinary business suit was all anybody needed to keep from being arrested. When he became assistant secretary to the president, however, he suddenly became imbued with the notion that the dignity of the office demanded adornment of a different fashion. Consequently, one bright morning Mr. Mischler appeared in a frock coat that reached to his ankles. The coat itself was not so long, however, for Mischler is pretty short of stature. The president saw him coming and backing off into the corner, sized him up with a critical eye.

"Well, what do you think of that for a secretary?" he said to those about him.

Mischler got such a joshing that he beat a retreat to the tailor and had a part of his coat tails amputated. Even this did not satisfy his critics. Repeated trips to the tailor have since reduced this garment to proportions somewhat akin to an ordinary sack coat, and everybody now seems to be fairly well satisfied with it.

Mischler is in his glory when at a banquet. Those who have had the patience to follow him through such a meal are authority for the statement that he can eat as much as a man twice his size. As a tonic to the risibilities, he is at his best when he loses a word out of one of Mr. Taft's speeches. The context has never yet enabled him to supply the missing link, but his efforts to do so are well worth the price of the loss to the president and those who are on the inside.

For the first time in the history of the White House the secretary or assistant secretaries to the president are not delivering presidential messages to congress. The whole White House staff is a trifle undersized, and for this reason Maurice C. Latta, formerly assistant secretary to the Roosevelt administration, and executive clerk under this one, has the job. Latta possesses the most imposing appearance of the men close to the president. He is a good six-footer, loose-jointed, and without an ounce of fat on him.

Latta used to travel with President Roosevelt as his official stenographer. Usually, however, his heft and strength made it necessary for him to serve in the ranks with the secret service men, and it is said that no president ever had a wider swathe cleared for him in a crowd than the pathways Latta used to clear for his chief. Around the White House he is known as "Judge."

William H. Crook, the other executive clerk and disbursing officer, was one of the so-called president's "old guard" which was on duty in the White House early in the Roosevelt administration. Charles Loeffler, who was doorkeeper in the Roosevelt administration, is the only other member of the "old guard" now on the payroll, but Mr. Crook outranks him in point of service.

Mr. Crook was detailed from the Washington police force on January 16, 1865, as a body guard to President Lincoln. He journeyed with Lincoln in the spring of that year to City Point and Richmond, walking by the side of the president with his hand on his pistol. When the party returned to Washington, the news of Lee's surrender was not yet known, and it was Mr. Lincoln who asked Mr. Crook the meaning of the bon-fires gleaming on the hills south of Washington. On the night of Mr. Lincoln's assassination, Mr. Crook was detailed to remain at the White House, and he has always felt that had he been allowed to accompany the president, John Wilkes Booth would never have entered the presidential box door and have accomplished his purpose.

During the second administration of President Grant, Mr. Crook served for a while as his private secretary. In 1876, he was appointed to his present position. For many years, he handled the distribution of the president's messages, and had many exciting experiences with interested persons who tried to steal them in advance or who attempted to bribe him to give a copy out on the quiet, and in evading persistent inquiries as to the contents of the sought-for documents.

The Men Who Guard the President's Health and Life.

As commander-in-chief of the army and navy, President Taft gets his medical attention free. The present physicians at the White House are Lieut. Col. Guy L. Edie and Capt. Matthew H. DeLaney, both of the army medical corps. Col. Edi is a Virginian, and was attending surgeon at the war department when Mr. Taft was secretary of war. He was among the first consulted about the proposed reduction in the presidential girth measurements even before Mr. Taft had the presidential bee in his bonnet. With the aid of an eminent English physician, who prescribed a diet for the president which was conspicuous by the number of articles of food Mr. Taft could not eat, Col. Edie did succeed in taking some weight off Mr. Taft a couple of years ago. Recently, the president has gone in for strenuous physical exercise in the early morning when he first awakes. It is understood, however, that he has thrown up the diet idea as a permanent weight reducer.

Col. Edie and Capt. De Lancy also have charge of the hygiene and sanitation of the White House, and one of their really tough jobs has been to get enough air into the presidential offices on a hot day to satisfy the present incumbent of that high office.

As is well known, every president has two secret men detailed to accompany him whenever he makes a public appearance. These men are also detailed at the White House and are close by the president whenever he holds a public reception. Occasionally, they receive a great deal more than ordinary attention from the president.

Of the many men who have served in this capacity in the White House, perhaps none has ever been quite so much appreciated as "Jimmy" Sloan, who was a guardian of President Roosevelt and was inherited by President Taft. One of the few requests Mr. Roosevelt made of Mr. Taft was that Sloan should be made United States marshal in the Eastern district of Illinois, his home. President Taft made every effort to carry out this request, but Speaker Cannon, who also lives in the district, objected and got the Illinois senators to oppose the proposed nomination.

Sloan is one of the best athletes the secret service ever put into the White House. He is the one man that President Roosevelt could not make quit. On one occasion Mr. Roosevelt took a well-known minister of the gospel out walking with him for no other purpose than to wear him out. After he had covered nearly ten miles in his broke into a full-fledged run on the last mile and with teeth tightly clenched, tore down the home stretch without once looking behind him. Despite his best efforts, he heard immediately behind him the sound of pursuing feet. When he had almost reached the door of the White House he heard a voice behind him say:

"Mr. President, I wonder what has become of that minister?"

President Roosevelt turned around in astonishment and gasped out:

"Darn you, Sloan, I have been trying all the time to kill off that minister, and all this time you have been killing me."

The president and Sloan retraced their steps and found the minister in some brambles near the starting point, his clothes badly torn and himself thoroughly exhausted.

That Sloan had considerable respect for President Roosevelt's athletic prowess was made apparent on the last day Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House. The Roosevelt admirers were calling in droves to bid goodby to their hero, when one of them remarked that it was too bad Mr. Roosevelt was about to leave.

"He ought to be president for life," said he.

"Like hell he ought," replied Sloan. "Well who would you rather see in here?" said the inquirer, bristling up.

"Either Corporal Tanner or Senator Daniel would suit me," said Sloan.

When it is recalled that Corporal Tanner lost both legs and Senator Daniel lost one in battle, the purport of Sloan's remarks can be fully appreciated.

Sloan's side partner is Lucien Wheeler, a husky product of the state of Iowa. On a recent trip with the president, the White House detectives were assisted in holding back the crowds by a fire company. All went well at the morning performance, but when a return engagement was played by the president in the afternoon, it was noted that the firemen were pretty well "lit up." Having heard that the locality was in prohibition territory, Wheeler made some inquiry as to "where they got it." The captain of the company volunteered this explanation:

"There is a roadhouse out near the city limits and whenever the boys get thirsty, we have a friend out there who turns in the fire alarm."

The President's Doorkeepers.

Thomas E. Stone, chief doorkeeper to the president, has one of the largest acquaintances among public men in Washington. He served as chief usher at the White House proper during the Roosevelt administration, and one of the hardest jobs he ever had to perform was to get President Roosevelt to go to bed. Mr. Roosevelt was a most omniverous reader, and would not retire at night if he had a book in his hand, unless almost forced to do so. Mrs. Roosevelt frequently gave up in despair, and called upon Mr. Stone to persuade her husband to "turn in." When Stone would tell the president that it was bedtime, he knew the operation would have to be repeated several times before the retirement of the president became an accomplished fact, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Roosevelt would always meet his suggestion by slamming his book and saying: "By George, I'll do it."

From the first floor, the president would go to his den on the second, and if Stone or Mrs. Roosevelt did not col-

NEARLY 1,200 ENTHUSIASTIC WORKERS IN THE MISSION CAUSE ATTEND BANQUET AT ARMORY

Opening Feature of Laymen's Missionary Convention Is Unqualified Success.

"Evangelization of the World in This Generation," Their Slogan.

Gathering Was Unique in the History of the Zenith City.

A nail had worked loose in the rostrum from which the speakers addressed the laymen's banquet in the Armory last evening.

Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland, under cover of the thunder of applause that followed the conclusion of a song by the male chorus, leanded forward—in his outstretched hand a hammer—and, with two quick, sharp blows, drove that nail deep down where it belonged.

The noise of the vigorously wielded hammer was heard by comparatively few of the 1,200 banqueters who attended the opening event of the Duluth convention of the Laymen's Missionary movement, but the act seemed to symbolize, in a homely way, the significance of the gathering.

The hammer-head was the strong human Christian feeling that is making the laymen's movement an irresistible force; the handle was the eloquence that expressed and the spirit that moved the gathering and the nail was the conviction driven deep into the souls of the men present that theirs was a task set clearly before them.

And that task is what the speakers pleaded for last night—the evangelization of the world in this generation.

An Unprecedented Gathering.

Never before has Duluth witnessed such a meeting as that which was held last evening. The audience proper was made up of men only, although women were there in numbers. As one of the speakers said, in a gallant tribute to them, they formed the commissary department of the Duluth laymen's banquet.

And the men were representative of Duluth. The best of every class in every Protestant creed, men of every calling, had a part in the occasion. Although strong, deep feeling and the conviction of serious intent and import were predominantly in evidence, there was no dearth of flashing wit and brilliant humor.

That which made the gathering such a one as Duluth has never before had was the same thing that has imparted to the laymen's movement meetings in cities from coast to coast, a quality that gripped men's imaginations and held them fast in a realizing sense of what it is possible for them to do for mankind. At least, so it seemed to the observer.

March to the Armory.

Promptly, the banquet ticket holders, who had gathered in the Y. M. C. A. building, formed in line and marched to the Armory, which was reached at about 6:15 o'clock. Some ticket holders had disregarded the request that they meet at the association headquarters, and had gone directly to the Armory. Because of the chilly blasts from the lake, the doorkeepers permitted them to enter before the lengthy procession arrived, and many were seated when the bulk of the company entered.

So quickly were most of the guests seated that Executive Secretary Snell was forced to speak a detaining word to prevent them from succumbing to the temptations invitingly spread before them on the banquet tables, but soon the evening's proceedings were properly inaugurated and the banquet was enjoyed.

It was after the banquet had begun that the Two Harbors delegation entered the hall and marched, fifty strong, to the tables reserved for it in the gallery. The north shore men were cheered heartily and responded with a vim.

The invocation spoken by A. W. Ryan, briefly, but impressively, and the formal speech making was begun by Mayor Cullum, who in a compact and forceful talk welcomed the visiting laymen in the name of the city.

Judge Page Morris, the next speaker, welcomed the movement in a brief address that pleased the audience immensely. It was characteristically witty, forceful and impressive, and, supplementing Mayor Cullum's welcoming remarks, prepared the audience for the evening's program by putting every man in it in a mood of optimistic earnestness.

Significance of Movement.

One of the most compeling addresses was that of Dr. H. Percy Silver, until recently a chaplain in the army, who served in the Philippines. With a seemingly inexhaustible fund of stories and anecdotes at his command to illustrate his arguments and lend greater penetrating power to his points, Dr. Silver discussed the significance of the national movement in a way that brought home to his hearers what it really means when men of business and of crafts, too long laggards in the field of missions, become enthusiastic supporters of such an enterprise as the present one.

"Men and Mission" was the comprehensive title of the address of Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland, who for sixteen years has been a resident of Pekin. Figuratively, he transported his auditors to the ancient Chinese kingdom and in graphic phrases told how the entering wedge of Christianity has, in the years that have passed since he first saw Pekin, given that country the first evidences of a glimmering comprehension of modernism. The address was a straightforward and convincing presentation of things as they are in non-Christian countries and things as they may be if the Christian men of the world will join together in the effort that is now in its formative stage, known as the laymen's missionary movement.

Makes Striking Address.

Willis R. Hotchkiss, telling of "Dawn in the Dark Continent," made a speech that thrilled and enthralled his hearers. Mr. Hotchkiss has been engaged for years in missionary work in British East Africa.

The most intense interest was aroused by Mr. Hotchkiss throughout his address, which, at times, was almost dramatic, and when he sat down the audience gave the Chatauqua salute.

The benediction was asked by Bishop John E. Robinson of India and Dr. J. R. Trimble, field secretary of the movement, made several announcements. He commented with enthusiastic approval on the spirit shown by those attending the banquet, after which the doxology was sung and the gathering dispersed.

Singing Is Appreciated.

The singing of the Normanna choir of male voices was one of the pleasing features of the evening's program, and the selections they gave were excellent and were appreciated to the full, rounds of applause indicating the enjoyment the singers gave the auddience. The leader also directed from the speakers' stand when the audience sang at the opening of the proceedings.

LOCAL SPEAKERS.

Watson S. Moore, Mayor Cullum and Judge Morris Address Audience

Watson S. Moore, who presided, said, when he arose to introduce the first speaker, that the laymen's movement had arrived in Duluth and in a few words of encouragement and appreciation he started the proceedings of the evening. After the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" by the audience and Mr. Moore's brief address, Mayor Cullum was introduced and he said in part:

"I cannot help voicing the thought that is uppermost in my mind at this time in beholding this splendid audience. I cannot help thinking what a power for good it can accomplish if it will turn its energies in one direction at all times. Every man whose heart beats true cannot help being in sympathy with any movement that has the uplift of humanity as its object.

"I suppose it devolves upon me to say something about the city of Duluth. Praise of Duluth is a good song if well sung, a good story if told at length, but my time is brief. Our hopes here in Duluth are high and our prospects bright.

Judge Page Morris, the next speaker, requested the newspaper reporters not to take notes. "I always find," he said, "that what one says that pleases the audience most doesn't read very well."

A Missionary Himself.

He said that whoever got up the banquet program believed in the inspiration of the moment in assigning topics to the speakers.

"It reminds me of the old Methodist saying that if a man is called on to say something and doesn't know what to say, the Lord will tell him, providing the subject is a good one. I guess these missionaries here on the platform don't know that I've done a great deal of missionary work myself, but of another sort, right here in this building.

'A man would have no spirit and no enthusiasm if this great audience did not inspire him to say something," he continued. "I am glad to welcome the laymen's movement. Not a laywomen's movement, understand, you men! The women are always on the firing line. It's you men who need this movement and with such character of citizenship as this that I see before me the movement is bound to go forward.

"I confess that I once thought the movement a forlorn hope, but I feel entirely different about it now. We can surely evangelize the world and we surely will if we can arouse enthusiasm such as this in different parts of our country.

'Let us remember that every Protestant denomination in the city has rubbed elbows here and let us not forget it when we leave this building, but let us continue the work begun here tonight."

MEN, NOT MONEY.

Movement Designed to Open Men's Eyes, Not Their Pocketbooks.

Dr. Silver's address was calculated to stir the laymen to enthusiasm for the cause of foreign missions, and he emphasized that the movement does not so much seek to secure money for the missions as it does to get men.

It was designed to open men's eyes, not their pocketbooks, he said, but he added that the statistics showing Duluth's per capita contribution of 56 cents a year was significant of the need for the movement. He urged that it was the duty of every man to carry the gospel to all the creatures of all the world.

"America has spent too much time and energy in gratifying the being made in the form of a brute and too little time and energy in developing the nature made in the form of God," he said. "If the laymen's movement can do anything to spread further the gospel of God to develop the spiritual side of man, it will accomplish its end. What we want is for you to give your life to the movement; if you cannot give your life, then at least you can give your loyal and manly support to those who do give their lives.

"If we can get all the Christian men of our day to expend a certain amount of energy in bringing others to Jesus Christ, what a great and incalculable thing we can accomplish!" he exclaimed.

"The laymen must be thoroughly aroused. You must awake, and believe that the commission given you by Christ is worth carrying out. A layman can consecrate to God the talent that he has. You business men can consecrate your business judgment and experience to God's work. Come and take hold of the business end of God's kingdom and run it. Consecrate your business talents to the service of God and this great problem will have been solved."

WHAT CHINA NEEDS.

Not Railroads or the Telegraph, But Christianity, Says Dr. Headland.

"Men and Missions," was the subject of the address by Isaac Taylor Headland, Ph. D. He spoke in part as follows:

"Jesus Christ was a man. The twelve whom He selected as His disciples were men. The seventy whom He sent out two and two to preach His gospel were also men, and the world has never succeeded in accomplishing any great undertaking until the shoulders of the men were under it.

"The church stands for salvation; the school stands for education; the government stands for protection; but the gospel of Jesus Christ stands for them all. It is bigger than salvation, it is bigger than education, it is bigger than protection; it is as big as the universe, and nothing that the world has is able to withstand its power.

"It is important though when we enter upon a campaign of world-conquest to take stock of the forces arrayed against us. Let us take a glance at China.

"A nation's literature is a fair index of her power. I wish you could take a ride with me in a Chinese cart. I would take you to Liu Li-Chang, the great book and curio street in Pekin. There we have a street a half mile in length on both sides of which are nothing but book stores. In each store there are tons of literature. Here we have a history that would fill a two-horse wagon. Here we have an encyclopaedia that contains as many volumes as there are days in a hundred years. Here we have one man who wrote as many separate poems as there are minutes in two weeks. We have all kinds of scientific literature—falsely so called—for no science has ever been made by a non-Christian people.

Chinese Science.

"The Chinese have a science. They call it Feng Shua. Feng means wind and Shua means water, so that if one understands all about the wind and water he understands all about their system of science.

"Let me illustrate: Near our mission there lived a relative of the emperor, called a huang tai-tze or yellow girdle-man. He had five daughters but no sons. This is a calamity in China, and he began to inquire the reason. He supposed that there was something wrong with the situation of his house. He called in a soothsayer to inquire. The latter looked all about his place but could find nothing unlucky about it. As he came out of the front gate however he noticed that we had built a chimney on a Chinese house, which, as luck would have it, was directly opposite the official's front gate, and seizing upon this as a pretext, he announced that it was this foreign devil's chimney that had destroyed the luck of his place, and he would never have anything but girls as long as this chimney stood.

"The old man donned his official clothes and came over to consult about the matter. After talking for an hour about other matters he finally came to our chimney, and asked if we would not remove it and restore the Feng Shua his home. We wanted to live in peace and harmony with our neighbors and so we tore down the chimney to a level with the roof of the house—and his next two babies were boys. Such is the Chinese system of science.

"They have the purest classics in the world. They contain not a word that could not be read before any mixed audience. In them we find: 'Recompense injury with kindness;' 'Do not do to others what you would not have others do to you;' 'You be righteous and your people will be righteous;' 'If everybody loved every one else as he loves himself, no one would injure anyone else for personal ends, and so all the ills of life would be cured if only everybody had universal mutual love;' 'First others, then yourself,' and many other good principles of a like nature. Suffice it to say, however that they have not been able to practice these principles.

What Have We to Give.

"They have then a great literature and they need something greater to help them practice their good teachings. Have we that something to give them? There are those who have answered that we have, and I do not hesitate to say we have, but what is that something?

"In the first place it is not our railroads, or trolleys, or steamboats, or telegraphs, or telephones, or great guns, or dreadnaughts, nor even our educational system, or methods of government, or commerce. All these we have tried. They may make her richer and stronger, moe able to defend herself and resist us, but they will not enable her to love her neighbor as herself. Only the gospel of Jesus Christ can do so.

"Now it is said by some that the strong men of America are but little interested in the gospel. Is that true?

"I entered this laymen's movement at Detroit. There we had 1,200 men at the dinner; at Syracuse, 1,400 men; at Schenectady, 1,200 men. From there I went down to Branford, Conn., to deliver a lecture. As I boarded the train at New Haven there were a number of other gentlemen in full dress. One of them sat down beside me and asked me if I had been at the dinner.

"'What dinner?' I asked.

"'The dinner to President Taft.'

"'Where?'

"'At New Haven.'

"'How many were present?'

"'Eleven hundred.'

"'Could anybody go who bought a ticket?'

"'Yes.'

"The next morning, at Albany Mr. Fisher of Boston sat down beside me, and remarked:

"'We had a big time in Boston last night.'

"'What?'

"'A dinner given to Chapman and Alexander.'

"'The revivalists?'

"'Yes.'

"'How many were present?'

"'Four thousand.'

"'Why, there were only 1,100 at the dinner to President Taft at New Haven last night.'

"'Oh, well, Taft may be president, but Jesus Christ is King.'

"He is, men, and there never was a time in the history of the world when Jesus Christ was King in the hearts of big strong men more than He is today. This is evidenced by this Laymen's Missionary movement.

"At New York we had 1,800 men present at a $3 dinner on a night of the worst blizzard I have ever been in. When I got to Dayton, Ohio, I asked the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. how many tickets he had sold for the dinner.

"'Sixteen hundred and twenty,' he replied, 'and then we had to stop because the chickens refused to enter the ministry.'

"'Why didn't you persuade the chickens that this was a lay movement, and then they would have given their necks to be in it?'

"What other platfrom is there large enough to enlist the sympathies of all the churches like this call of Jesus Christ to the men of America for the salvation of the dark world? And what other method can you think of that would bring out as many men as the method of having a dinner, adopted by the laymen's movement? Here we find Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Baptists, Methodists, Episcopalians and all the rest.

"I was talking to two neat, trim young Episcopalian rectors at one of the conventions. They were enthusiastic.

"'What a pity we were ever divided,' they remarked.

"'What a pity,' I added. 'Here you Episcopalians are the cream, and we Methodist Episcopalians are the milk. The cream is richer than the milk, but there is a good deal more milk than cream.'

"'What a pity we were ever skimmed! It is a pity that we cannot move forward as one army, and in this laymen's movement we are.

"At Oklahoma we had 1,200 men who gathered at a church on one side of the city, and marched, to the music of a band, to the hall on the other side of the city where the dinner was served.

"At Grand Junction, on the western slope of the Rockies, a town of only a few hundred inhabitants, they had 500 men and one woman.

"'How does it come that you have a woman registered?' I inquired.

"'Well,' they answered, 'there were seven men drove forty-seven miles to get her, and this woman rode one whole day on horseback and another day in a stage, and when she arrived we told her that this meeting was not for women, but for men only.'

"'Don't you worry,' she answered, 'when this meeting opens I'll be there.'

"And she was.

"At Boise, Idaho, we had 300 more men than there were male members of the churches in the city, many of whom came as far as from Buffalo to New York, on a 5-cents-a-mile rate. While in a meeting at St. Louis, at which there were not more than thirty men present, thirteen joined the Four Square league, binding themselves to give not less than $1,000 a year for missions. Such is the interest that the big strong men of America are taking in missions as a method of spreading the gospel to the whole world, and nothing but the call of a lost world could lead them to do so."

BEFORE ROOSEVELT.

W. R. Hotchkiss Tells of Conditions in British East Africa.

Interest attached to Willis R. Hotchkiss, because he lived in the land where Col. Roosevelt has been hunting. He is himself a hunter of big game and has killed lions, tigers, rhinocorl and many other demizens of the jungle.

He was the first white man to penetrate the jungles of British East Africa as a missionary. He has lived for fourteen years as a missionary; has created language for the natives among whom he works; written them a grammar and taught them the message of Christ in that language. It took him two and a half years to find the equivalent of the word Savior, and to him that day was the happiest day in his life, he says.

Fourteen years ago he walked, waded and swam his way from the east coast of Africa to Lake Victoria Maganza to establish the Lunabwa industrial mission of British East Africa. Today the railroad penetrates the same route to the lake. Col. Roosevelt recently traveled over it.

Mr. Hotchkiss has a plantation of 1,000 acres under cultivation. He has come back to America to buy harvesting machinery for his wheat fields, an electric light plant and other modern machinery and accessories to civilization. He gets thirty bushels of wheat to the acre and sells it for $2 a bushel. In a short time he expects to be clearing $10,000 a year on his plantation. This money will be used to support other missions in Africa.

For fourteen months Mr. Hotchkiss went without bread at one time. Twice the natives tried to starve him out by refusing to sell him food. Various times he has been attacked by wild beasts and hostile natives. Some of his hunting stories surpass those of Col. Roosevelt, for he was fourteen years ahead of the former president.

The African Nntives.

In telling of his work in Africa, Mr. Hotchkiss said: "The natives of British East Africa are the laziest people on the face of the earth. They wear no clothing. Families live in low squalid huts with their goats and sheep, amid filth too revolting to describe. The sick are thrown to the wild beasts. There are no grave yards save hyenas.

"These conditions are being changed. The missionaries are teaching the natives to work, to wear clothing suitable to the climate. The sick are nursed. The houses are being cleaned, the dead buried. The savage negro is bowing his neck to the yoke of the gospel, is taking up the burdens of the risen Christ."

Mr. Hotchkiss at one time moved his station to another tribe and they refused to receive him. His food was given out and he was about to be forced to return to his starting place.

One day the chief of the tribe told him a rhinoceros was near the village. The oldest man in the tribe had never seen one in the community, for it was a thickly populated section. He thought it was a plan to draw him into the jungle to murder him. Shouts from the terrified natives a few days later caused him to rush from his hut. A rhinoceros was approaching and they begged him to kill the beast. Arming himself with a rifle, he went forth like a young David of old to meet this Goliath of the jungle.

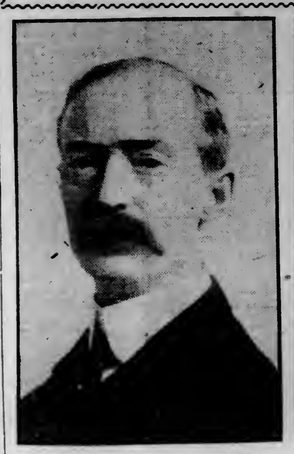
All the hills were covered with natives. Thousands of spectators stood by while he, accompanied by one of his native boys carrying a second rifle, stalked the beast. His first shot tore the animal's tusk, the second penetrated its neck and sent it with wild and discordant cries of pain into the thicket. Taking his other gun and clearing a tree of the natives so that he might have a place of refuge in case of need, the missionary went forth to meet the enraged monster. "I prayed as I went, and if ever God answered a prayer he answered that one," he said. "I fired. The bullet sped home. The beast was dead.

"What was the result of that? The next day 100 chiefs marched up to my house, beating drums and each one deposited a load of food. A mission station was opened and the hated white man made friends of a whole tribe."

Mr. Hotchkiss closed his address by saying in a most impressive manner, amid the rapt silence of the great audience and galleries:

"Men, listen! think! Isn't it time that you stopped treating Jesus Christ so shabbily?

After what He did for you, is it right that you should give to Him merely the small change that you have after all your luxuries are cared for?"



NAMED IN COAL GRAFT.

Miami Company Accused in Chicago Investigation.

Chicago, April 23.—The Miami Coal company was named as beneficiary in a $6,800 fire boat coal graft disclosed before the Merriam investigating committee at city hall. Investigators declare graft in city coal contracts amounting to many thousand dollars more will be shown through discovery of false delivery slips in the accountant's office.

John T. Connors, vice president of the City Fuel company, is president of the Miami concern, and his brother, James F. Connors, treasurer of the Chicago Fire Appliance company, is secretary of the Miami company. The latter is under indictment charged with fraudulent deals between the city and the fire appliance company.

New Edison Records for MAY

On Sale April 25th

THIS month's Edison Record list is remarkable in that it introduces two new Grand Opera stars of the Manhattan Opera House, New York—Carmen Melis, prima donna; and Gustav Huberdeau, basso; besides records by Marguerita Sylva, Blanche Arral and Riccardo Martin. But not only from the standpoint of Grand Opera is this month's list remarkable. The biggest hit of the season, "Has anybody here seen Kelly?" is on the Amberol (four minute) list and Billy Murray's newest success "He's a College Boy" is a head-liner from the Standard (two minute) list. And these are just samples—your dealer will play anything on this list, you wish to hear, on the Edison Phonograph.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY 2

SOCIETY

The Country club and Boat club have robbed Duluth of its social life, so say the people who look with gloom on the quiet months of winter slip colorlessly by. But the Country club members and the Boat club members go in for sports offered in real earnest or dawdle on the porch and sip refreshments and sigh at the pure luxury of not having to entertain folks. They go to the club to meet their friends and a few of their dearest enemies and have a fine opportunity to remark on the grotesqueness of some one's new hat and the utter imbecility of another's new gown and get an opportunity to wear their own frocks—what more would you? Not that society has bgeun that yet. It's a bit too early. But that is what it will be doing in a few short weeks and that is what it has been looking forward to for many long weeks.

Bridge has seemed to lose some of its favor. At least very few Duluth hostesses are feverishly getting in their acquaintances and playing like mad for a few hours. One table or two breaks the monotony, of course, but there is no prolonged excitement in that line.

Many Duluthianes were in St. Paul the latter part of the week to attend grand opera and to bathe in the high priced melody of the Metropolitan stars. The series of lectures in May on French civilization by M. Papot and the art exhibit the latter part of the same month will be of great interest.

The boat club season will be formally opened next week with a gala production of a good old comic opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," to be given by the pupils of George L. Tyler. The opera will be given Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Lyceum. The theater will be decorated in the boat club colors and pennants and the performances will mark the beginning of the most active and delightful year in the history of the club.

The club houses of the boat club are open and informal dancing parties are being arranged by several groups of the members, the cool evenings of spring inviting to the pleasures of dancing more than the hot nights of mid-summer.

Mrs. Homer Collins was hostess at a delightful children's party Tuesday afternoon at her home on East First street. A large number of little folks enjoyed the affair.

SPRING WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Edith Stewart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Stewart to Oscar C. Wagner of this city, will take place Wednesday of next week at the home of the bride's parents, 501 East Third street. The bride will have at her only attendant, her sister, Miss Lyda Stewart and the groomsman will be Wray Withrow. Mr. Wagner and his bride will leave for a wedding trip and after July 1 they will be at home at 1432 East Fourth street.

The wedding of Emma Teng to August Bjerkvist, took place last Saturday evening at their new home at 2514 West Second street. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Edward Stromberg of the First Swedish Methodist church.

The wedding of Miss Ida Johnson and Carl Bjorlin, took place Monday at the parsonage of the First Swedish Baptist church and the service was read by the Rev. Swaney Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Bjorlin will make their home at Proctor.

Mrs. Jane Ryan of West Duluth, during the week announced the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth to Napoleon Quesnel.

Miss Anna Anderson of Duluth and Arthur W. Talboys of Biwabik were married at St. Paul's rectory Wednesday afternoon by Dr. A. W. Ryan. They will make their home at Biwabik.

The wedding of Miss Nellie Carolyn Nichols of Solon Springs and Charles A Knight of this city took place yesterday at the home of the bride at Solon Springs. The service was read by the Rev. Harry Milford, a superintendent of the mission at Superior. The bride formerly lived at Superior and was a leading member of the Sunshine society. After a short wedding trip to Duluth and Superior, Mr. and Mrs. Knight will return to Solon Springs, where they will make their home.

Many Duluthians were interested in the wedding this week at St. Cloud of Miss Leslie Mitchell who is well known here and Otto Poirier, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of this city. The wedding took place Wednesday, and the Journal Press of St. Cloud wrote of it as follows:

"A wedding of more than usual interest to St. Cloud people took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, when their daughter, Leslie, was married to Otto Poirier of Virginia, Minn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. V. Campbell and was witnessed only by the relatives and intimate friends of the bride, who acted as attendant was her sister, Miss Eleanor Mitchell. Herbert Poirier acted as best man. The marriage ceremony took place in the library, which was very beautifully decorated with boughs of apple blossoms, ferns, and from the doorway to the stairs white ribbons were stretched by Margaret Hoyt and Lois Whitney. The bride wore a princess dress of lace made over ivory satin, trimmed with pearl ornaments. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lillies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a pale pink satin Royale trimmed with marabout and tiny rosettes of roses and forget-me-nots. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of forget-me-nots, roses and narcissus. H. C. Ervin, Jr., presided at the piano, playing the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party and the Mendelssohn march at the close of the ceremony. A reception followed the ceremony and supper was served in the dining room in which the scheme of decorations was carried out in pink. The bride, who is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, was born in St. Cloud and has always made it her home. She is a graduate of Smith college. Mr. Poirier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of Duluth, and is practicing law in Virginia, Minn., where he and his bride will make their home after a Southern trip and visit to New Orleans, for which they left immediately after the ceremony last evening."

The wedding of Miss Johanna Larka and Carl Nygren took place yesterday morning at the parsonage of the Swedish Mission church. The service was read at 1:30 o'clock by the Rev. J. J. Daniels. Mr. and Mrs. Nygren will be at home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tetu of West First street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Tetu, to Dr. A. A. Giroux of this city.

MOVEMENT WIDESPREAD

University Extension Center Arousing Interest of Duluth People.

Many Committees Formed to Promote Success of Venture.

The movement which has modestly made itself known under the name of a university extension center is creating widespread interest and making strong appeal to the rapidly growing civic spirit of Duluth.

Business men, college alumni, high school graduates, educators, literary, social and commercial clubs are uniting in developing the plans suggested by the organization.

Literary clubs are to bring out an audience of women; business clubs an audience of men; the high school and normal school an audience of teachers and students. There is a field of usefulness to the city as a whole, which can be best served by some organization which brings all of these together for some special occasion.

To enlist public interest in the courses of lectures during the year, and develop a large audience, representative of the city, will go a long way toward bringing the scattered interests together.

Every city cherishes its historic traditions and as the entire Northwest has profited singularly by the French spirit it seems appropriate that Duluth should take great pride and satisfaction in viewing the contribution of France to the world.

For this reason M. Benedict Papot has been secured for a course of six lectures on "French Civilization," as illustrated by literature.

Dr. Papot, Richard Burton, of the Minnesota university department of literature, who is well known in Duluth, and is himself a lecturer and author of note, has written:

"I know M. Benedict Papot well, having taught side by side with him in Chatauqua, N. Y., several summers. He is a fine teacher in French; and thoroughly conversant with French literature. Personally he has enthusiasm and a contagious love of this subject. I feel confident that he would give your extension society great satisfaction as a lecturer."

The following committee here was appointed to enlist public interest:

Commercial club—F. E. House, Stephen H. Jones and C. W. Hugo.

College alumni committee, (to be completed)—C. E. Adams, Minnesota; Rev. John W. Powell, Minnesota; Rev. Albert Parker, Williams; E. M. Morgan, Harvard; Paul Welch, Yale; William White, Jr., Princeton; J. J. Robinson, Ann Arbor.

College alumni committee — Mrs. Frank Adams, Chicago university; Mrs. J. D. Scott, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Fred Rollins, Minnesota; Mrs. Charles Adams, Minnesota; Mrs. E. W. Matter, Oberlin; Miss Duncan, Wellesley; Miss Helen Clotram, Smith; Miss Lucille Bradley, Vassar.

Drama league committee—Mrs. Robert Seymour, Mrs. Stanley Holden, Rev. John W. Powell.

Educator's committee, high school—Mr. Buck, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Sprague, Mr. Brackett, Miss Grace Wright. Principals—Mr. Denfield, Miss Calverly, Miss Carey. Normal school—Miss Quilliard.

Women's clubs—Twentieth Century club, Mrs. J. D. Morrison; ladies literature class, Mrs. T. J. Davis; Saturday club, Mrs. Robert Smith; Lester Park Literary club, Mrs. John Pinkerton; Bishop's club, Miss Jean Poirier.

High school alumni—Charles McLennan, chairman.

French Naturalization club — Rev. Father Crozier, chairman.

Alliance Francais—Mrs. L. V. Oullette, chairman.

Women's Council—Mrs. Ralph Marble, chairman.

Associate membership committee—Mrs. A. M. Miller, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. J. B. Cotton.

The officers of the Duluth University Extension Center are as follows: F. E. House, president; F. W. Paine, vice president; F. W. Lachmund, secretary, Mrs. Robert M. Seymour, chairman of the committee; Mrs. Stanley Holden, treasurer for the associate members.

The board of trustees is composed of the following members: Stephen H. Jones, C. C. Cokefair, T. J. Davis, W. I. Prince, George H. Crosby, J. B. Cotton, W. J. Olcott, O. C. Hartman, F. A. Patrick, Wilson G. Crosby, David Williams, E. A. Silberstein and E. Lachmund.

THE WORLD'S HEART SIDE

BY THE OPTIMIST.

I am going on a long journey. I shall be absent from home many weeks. The separation hangs over me for days. Except for the duty and profit there is in it, the trip would cloud my life for weeks before I start.

It is a common experience. Many who read this are just starting. It is rather unpleasant to contemplate the very large number of homes which endure such departures of the breadwinner. Thousands of resolute men chase fortune afar and try to be cheerful in the loneliness of such quests.

Just how it comes about that it is theirs to wander while others can get to their own friends, after the day's work, is one of the mysteries of life.

The softening of the heart, immediately before a journey, is curious. The lad climbs to father's knee at every opportunity, but never mentions the separation that flings its shadow on the horizon. Gentleness is in all the air of the house. Things are said and done as one would wish to remember them if—and the great "if" grows so large that it fills one with fear. One stands in awe of his own home happiness and trembles at a realization of his blessings.

Perhaps it is impossible for us to reach the full appreciation of the kindred tie unless we go at times. The modest heroism of solitary days and nights that slowly wheel no words can name. The poem has never been written because it seems such an everyday affair, and the knights of trade, booted or saddled, are so large a squadron. The vigil of the sick room, kept by the mother, is rarely the subject of complaint, being taken as a matter of course, for fathers have to go. The management of the home, the guidance of children, the solution of problems and the care of business often, these the woman's duties, faithfully done till he comes and approves. The boys are devoted to the mother whose fashioning hand is most upon them. That is some compensation, for mother's boys are apt to be good boys. Perhaps it makes up for much heart hunger.

Life is too short for such subtractions. They should pay well, and the business house that demands them should take the sacrifice into consideration. The partner of today was a traveler of yesterday, and he knows the homesickness pang is no jest.

TRY THIS DINNER

Welsh Mutton Broth.

Soak over night one-half cup of pearl barley. Cut into bits lean meat from two pounds of a shoulder of mutton; cover with two quarts of water. Skim the meat carefully and when scum has ceased to form add the soaked barley and skim again. Fry brown in butter one-fourth cup of carrot, turnip, onion and celery. Add to the meat and simmer four hours. Thicken a little with flour, season to taste and serve without straining.

Meat—Beef Friandelles.

Chop fine a pound of lean beef and mix with a pound of sausage meat. Add a cup of bread crumbs, two eggs well beaten, two onions finely chopped, and salt, pepper and thyme to season. Mix thoroughly, shape into small flat cakes, saute in hot fat and serve with tomato sauce. After removing the meat from the pan add a tablespoon of flour and when well blended add two cups of the liquid from a can of tomatoes. Season well and pour around the fricadelles.

Salad—Carrot Salad.

Put six carrots to boil in plenty of water; when half done remove and throw out water and put on to finish in fresh water; when done take out, cool and cut into one-half inch dice, then the remainder of the dressing. A novel and ornamental dish as well as wholesome.

Desert—Apple Pie With Whipped Cream.

Bake an open crust as for lemon pie, have ready a well-seasoned apple sauce. Fill the pastry shell and cover with stiffly whipped cream.

MORE THAN YOUR SHARE

By CARA REESE.

It only means taking more than your share, that's all! It isn't stealing, nor thievery, nor dishonesty; it isn't taking by stealth, or on the sly or in secret. It is merely taking more than your share.

So, now, son, you know what you are when you help yourself to more marbles than your share and "knuckling down" a time or two more out of your turn! You know what you are for taking two apples when there are not enough to go around as it is; when you extort pennies from mother which she sorely needs for family necessities; when you insist on the lion's share, the best garments, the first choice, the biggest helping of everything.

That is all it is, merely taking more than your share and lessening the benefits for some one else. This is all that men are going to prison for, and oh! how sad it is. For nothing more than what you are doing right along, merely taking more than your share. And you are taking more than your share in adult years. You are taking more ease than your share while your brothers work overtime. You are enjoying more than your share in the food supplies while your comrades go hungry. You have more travel, more pleasure, more cash than your share while some of your kind do not know the meaning of leisure.

It is not a case of everybody sharing equally and you grabbing two shares or three shares over and above your own. There are no equal sharings as yet in the great world's scheme of living. There are humble toilers with hands and brains fitted to homely tasks. There are more gifted mortals and with the measure of toil and recompense rated at higher values. There are the well-born and capable and the low-born and incapable. It is not this.

But simply things as they are, conditions as they are, the scheme as it stands, and you are taking more than your share, thus leaving someone to feel the pinch, or causing a tight place in market or cash. The minute you take more than your share you are on the same plan as those who are known as grafters. The minute you hold on to more than your share you belong to that class. The minute you grab, override, overreach and knock over your comrades in order to gather in more of the windfall than your share you are one of the kind. The minute you develop a spirit of miserliness and figure continually on the interest and usury, you belong to the band. And the minute you know in your inmost soul that you are amassing beyond your capabilities or deserts you are one of the crowd.

This is all that grafting means, simply taking or receiving or holding on to more than your share. And, soon, you are not doing this without knowing. The tearful protest of the playmate who has lost his "commies" and "alleys" hints of overreaching effort on your part. "He pushed me over," "he has two apples and I have none," "he shoved me out and took my place," are the sure beginnings to a greater, greedier, grabbing and accumulating.

Everybody, big boys and little boys, or small girls or women folks who have or hold or possess a fraction more than their share are grafters. It is up to you and your conscience as to what constitutes your share, conditions as they are.

SOCIETY

[illegible] Country club and Boat club have [illegible] of its social life, so say [illegible] who look with gloom on the [illegible] months of winter [illegible]. But the Country club members [illegible] the Boat club members go in for sports offered [illegible] or dancing on the porch and [illegible] refreshments and sigh at the [illegible] of not having [illegible]. They go to the club to meet their friends [illegible] a few of their dearest [illegible] and have a [illegible] opportunity to remark on the [illegible] of some one's [illegible] new gown and get an opportunity to wear their own frocks—what more would [illegible]? Not that society has [illegible] that yet. It's a bit too early. But that is what it will be doing [illegible] weeks and that is what it [illegible] looking forward to for many long weeks.

Bridge has seemed to lose some of its favor. At least very few Duluth hostesses are feverishly getting in their [illegible] and playing like mad for [illegible]. One table or two breaks the monotony of course, but there is no [illegible] excitement in that line.

[illegible] Duluthians were in St. Paul the latter part of the week to attend grand opera and to bathe in the high priced melody of the Metropolitan stars. The series of lectures in May on French civilization by M. Papot and the art exhibit the latter part of the same month will be of great interest.

The [illegible] season will be formally [illegible] next week with a gala production of a good old comic opera, "The [illegible] of Normandy." It is given by [illegible] of George L. Tyler. The [illegible] will be given Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Lyceum. The [illegible] will be decorated in the boat [illegible] and pennants and the performance [illegible] mark the beginning of [illegible] and delightful year [illegible] of the club.

Many Duluthians were interested in the wedding this week at St. Cloud of Miss Leslie Mitchell, who is well known here, and Otto Poirier, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of this city. The wedding took place Wednesday, and the Journal Press of St. Cloud wrote of it:

"A wedding of more than usual interest to St. Cloud people took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, when their daughter, Leslie, was married to Otto A. Poirier of Virginia, Minn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. V. Campbell and was witnessed only by the relatives and intimate friends of the bride, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Eleanor Mitchell. Herbert Poirier acted as best man. The marriage ceremony took place in the library, which was very beautifully decorated with boughs of apple blossoms, ferns, and from the doorway to the stairs white ribbons were stretched by Margaret Hoyt and Lois Whitney. The bride wore a princess dress of lace made over ivory satin, trimmed with pearl ornaments. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a pale pink satin, Royale trimmed with marabout, and carried rosettes of roses and forget-me-nots. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of forget-me-nots, roses and narcissus. H. C. Ervin, Jr., presided at the piano, playing the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party and the Mendelssohn march at the close of the ceremony. A reception followed the ceremony and supper was served in the dining room, in which the scheme of decorations was carried out in pink. The bride, who is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, was born in St. Cloud and has always made it her home. She is a graduate of Smith college. Mr. Poirier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Poirier of Duluth, and is practicing law in Virginia, Minn., where he and his bride will make their home after a Southern trip and visit to New Orleans, for which they left immediately after the ceremony last evening."

MOVEMENT WIDESPREAD

University Extension Center Arousing Interest of Duluth People.

Many Committees Formed to Promote Success of Venture.

The movement which has modestly made itself known under the name of a university extension center is creating widespread interest and making strong appeal to the rapidly growing civic spirit of Duluth.

Business men, college alumni, high school graduates, educators, literary, social and commercial clubs are uniting in developing the plans suggested by the organization.

Literary clubs are to bring out an audience of women; business clubs an audience of men; the high school and normal school an audience of teachers and students. There is a field of usefulness to the city as a whole, which can be best served by some organization which brings all of these together for some special occasion.

To enlist public interest in the courses of lectures during the year, and develop a large audience, representative of the city, will go a long way toward bringing the scattered interests together.

Every city cherishes its historic traditions and as the entire Northwest has profited singularly by the French spirit it seems appropriate that Duluth should take great pride and satisfaction in viewing the contribution of France to the world.

For this reason M. Benedict Papot has been secured for a course of six lectures on "French Civilization," as illustrated by literature.

Of M. Papot, Richard Burton, of the Minnesota university department of literature, who is well known in Duluth, and is himself a lecturer and author of note, has written:

"I know M. Benedict Papot well, having taught side by side with him in Chatauqua, N. Y., several summers. He is a fine teacher in French; and thoroughly conversant with French literature. Personally he has enthusiasm and a contagious love of this subject. I feel confident that he would give your extension society great satisfaction as a lecturer."

The following committee here was appointed to enlist public interest:

Commercial club—F. E. House, Stephen H. Jones and T. W. Hugo.

College alumni committee, (to be completed)—C. E. Adams, Minnesota; Rev. John W. Powell, Minnesota; Rev. Albert Parker, Williams; E. M. Morgan, Harvard; Paul Welch, Yale; William White, Jr., Princeton; J. J. Robinson, Ann Arbor.

College alumni committee—Mrs. Frank Adams, Chicago university; Mrs. J. D. Scott, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Fred Rollins, Minnesota; Mrs. Charles Adams, Minnesota; Mrs. E. W. Matter, Oberlin; Miss Grace Duncan, Wellesley; Miss Helen Cleveram, Smith; Miss Lucille Bradley, Vassar.

Drama league committee—Mrs. Robert Seymour, Mrs. Stanley Holden, Rev. John W. Powell.

Educator's committee, high school—Mr. Buck, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Sprague, Mr. Brackett, Miss Grace Wright. Principals—Mr. Denfield, Miss Calverly, Miss Carey. Normal school—Miss Quillhard.

Women's clubs—Twentieth Century club, Mrs. J. D. Morrison; ladies literature class, Mrs. T. J. Davis; Saturday club, Mrs. Robert Smith; Lester Park Literary club, Mrs. John Pinkerton; Bishop's club, Miss Jean Poirier.

High school alumni—Charles McLennan, chairman.

French Naturalization club — Rev. Father Crozier, chairman.

Alliance Francais—Mrs. L. V. Oullette, chairman.

Women's Council—Mrs. Ralph Marble, chairman.

Associate membership committee—Mrs. A. M. Miller, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. J. B. Cotton.

The officers of the Duluth University Extension Center are as follows: F. E. House, president; F. W. Paine, vice president; F. W. Lachmund, secretary; Mrs. Robert M. Seymour, chairman of the committee; Mrs. Stanley Holden, treasurer for the associate members.

The board of trustees is composed of the following members: Stephen H. Jones, C. C. Cokefair, T. J. Davis, W. I. Prince, George H. Crosby, J. B. Cotton, W. J. Olcott, O. C. Hartman, F. A. Patrick, Wilson G. Crosby, David Williams, E. A. Silberstein and E. Lachmund.

THE WORLD'S HEART SIDE

BY THE OPTIMIST.

I am going on a long journey. I shall be absent from home many weeks. The separation hangs over me for days. Except for the duty and profit there is in it, the trip would cloud my life for weeks before I start.

It is a common experience. Many who read this are just starting. It is rather unpleasant to contemplate the very large number of homes which endure such departures of the breadwinner. Thousands of resolute men chase fortune afar and try to be cheerful in the loneliness of such quests.

Just how it comes about that it is theirs to wander while others can get to their own friends, after the day's work, is one of the mysteries of life.

The softening of the heart, immediately before a journey, is curious. The lad climbs to father's knee at every opportunity, but never mentions the separation that flings its shadow on the horizon. Gentleness is in all the air of the house. Things are said and done as one would wish to remember them if—and the great "if" grows so large that it fills one with fear. One stands in awe of his own home happiness and trembles at a realization of his blessings.

Perhaps it is impossible for us to reach the full appreciation of the kindred tie unless we go at times. The modest heroism of solitary days and nights that slowly wheel no words can name. The poem has never been written because it seems such an everyday affair, and the knights of trade, booted or saddled, are so large a squadron. The vigil of the sick room, kept by the mother, is rarely the subject of complaint, being taken as a matter of course, for fathers have to go. The management of the home, the guidance of children, the solution of problems and the care of business often, these the woman's duties, faithfully done till he comes and approves. The boys are devoted to the mother whose fashioning hand is most upon them. That is some compensation, for mother's boys are apt to be good boys. Perhaps it makes up for much heart hunger.

Life is too short for such subtractions. They should pay well, and the business house that demands them should take the sacrifice into consideration. The partner of today was a traveler of yesterday, and he knows the homesickness pang is no jest.

TRY THIS DINNER

Welsh Mutton Broth.

Soak over night one-half cup of pearl barley. Cut into bits lean meat from two pounds of a shoulder of mutton; cover with two quarts of water. Skim the meat carefully and when scum has ceased to form add the soaked barley and skim again. Fry brown in butter one-fourth cup of carrot, turnip, onion and celery. Add to the meat and simmer four hours. Thicken a little with flour, season to taste and serve without straining.

Meat—Beef Friendelles.

Chop fine a pound of lean beef and mix with a pound of sausage meat. Add a cup of bread crumbs, two eggs well beaten, two onions finely chopped, and salt, pepper and thyme to season. Mix thoroughly, shape into small flat cakes, saute in hot fat and serve with tomato sauce. After removing the meat from the pan add a tablespoon of flour and when well blended add two cups of the liquid from a can of tomatoes. Season well and pour around the friendelles.

Salad—Carrot Salad.

Put six carrots to boil in plenty of water; when half done remove and throw out water and put on to finish in fresh water; when done take out, cool and cut into one-half inch dice, then the remainder of the dressing. A novel and ornamental dish as well as wholesome.

Desert—Apple Pie With Whipped Cream.

Bake an open crust as for lemon pie, have ready a well-seasoned apple sauce. Fill the pastry shell and cover with stiffly whipped cream.

MORE THAN YOUR SHARE

By CARA REESE.

It only means taking more than your share, that's all! It isn't stealing, nor thievery, nor dishonesty; it isn't taking by stealth, or on the sly or in secret. It is merely taking more than your share.

So, now, son, you know what you are when you help yourself to more marbles than your share and "knuckling down" a time or two more out of your turn! You know what you are for taking two apples when there are not enough to go around as it is; when you extort pennies from mother which she sorely needs for family necessities; when you insist on the lion's share, the best garments, the first choice, the biggest helping of everything.

That is all it is, merely taking more than your share and lessening the benefits for some one else. This is all that men are going to prison for, and oh! how sad it is. For nothing more than what you are doing right along, merely taking more than your share. And you are taking more than your share in adult years. You are taking more ease than your share while your brothers work overtime. You are enjoying more than your share in the food supplies while your comrades go hungry. You have more travel, more pleasure, more cash than your share while some of your kind do not know the meaning of leisure.

It is not a case of everybody sharing equally and you grabbing two shares or three shares over and above your own. There are no equal sharings as yet in the great world's scheme of living. There are humble toilers with hands and brains fitted to homely tasks. There are more gifted mortals and with the measure of toil and recompense rated at higher values. There are the well-born and capable and the low-born and incapable. It is not this.

But simply things as they are, conditions as they are, the scheme as it stands, and you are taking more than your share, thus leaving someone to feel the pinch, or causing a tight place in market or cash. The minute you take more than your share you are on the same plan as those who are known as grafters. The minute you hold on to more than your share you belong to that class. The minute you grab, override, overreach and knock over your comrades in order to gather in more of the windfall than your share you are one of the kind. The minute you develop a spirit of miserliness and figure continually on the interest and usury, you belong to the band. And the minute you know in your inmost soul that you are amassing beyond your capabilities or deserts you are one of the crowd.

This is all that grafting means, simply taking or receiving or holding on to more than your share. And, soon, you are not doing this without knowing. The tearful protest of the playmate who has lost his "commies" and "alleys" hints of overreaching effort on your part. "He pushed me over," "he has two apples and I have none," "he shoved me out and took my place," are the sure beginnings to a greater, greedier, grabbing and accumulating.

Everybody, big boys and little boys, or small girls or women folks who have or hold or possess a fraction more than their share are grafters. It is up to you and your conscience as to what constitutes your share, conditions as they are.

Don't FORGET The Best Mother That Ever Lived-YOUR OWN MOTHER

HOW TO OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY, MAY 8.

Wear a white carnation.

If you are at home and your mother lives, make a gift of love to her.

If you are not at home, write her a letter and send her some token of remembrance.

If your mother be not living, wear the white flower and if possible place one on her grave as a token of love and fidelity.

Live the day as your mother would have you.

Keep in mind your mother and her many kindnesses, her many sacrifices, her unbounded love that never failed.

Display the flag in honor of the patriotic mothers of the country—especially the mothers, whose sons died that this country might live and its honor remain unsmirched.

Three years ago, struck by an idea that a movement for the observance of one day in the year as Mothers' day, a day upon which every man, woman and child would honor the "best mother that ever lived," would find ready response, Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, inaugurated an agitation that has spread like wildfire throughout the country.

Last year on the second Sunday in May, millions of people throughout the United States observed Mothers' day by wearing the white carnation, writing letters home, doing some act of kindness in honor or in memory of their mothers. Special services were held in the churches, organizations of all kinds observed the day jointly, governors of states and mayors of cities issued proclamations and the movement was placed upon a basis that bids fair to cause it to extend to the uttermost bounds of the earth.

This year the observance of the day, May 8, the second Sunday in the month, promises to be even more general. Literature calling the attention of people to the day and its object is being sent broadcast over the country. More churches, more organizations, more executive officers, more publications are being enlisted in the campaign for a general observance of the day, and the strides which the movement has made during the past few years promised to be surpassed by the strides this year in swelling the ranks of those who wear the white carnation and honor "the best mother that ever lived."

The general object of Mothers' day is a general observance in all parts of the world of the love and reverence every man, woman and child owes to a good mother. It is not confined to any race or creed, to any body of men or women, to any country or any clime, to the rich or the poor, the young or the old. No man is os low or so high, so rich or so poor, so fortunate or unfortunate, so happy or so disconsolate that the fire of love for the mother who bore and loved him, who guided his childish footsteps toward the good and the noble, who worked for him and prayed for him, has been extinguished.

"Mother" is the shrine toward which all loving hearts turn in reverence on Mothers' day. Whether one worships at any other shrine, or whether one knows no religion, the reverence and honor of true motherhood is universal. During the busy life of every-day, one may not think always of his mother, but on Mothers' day, all hearts will turn toward the one person to whom the day is dedicated, all should wear the white flower, all who need to do so should write a letter home, all should do something to give visible expression to the love and reverence in which they hold "the best mother that ever lived—Your mother."

Last year, Mother's day proclamation" were issued by Gen. Henry M. Nevius, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; Gen. Edgar Allen, Jr., Veterans, U. S. A.; Governor Vessey of South Dakota, Governor Glasscock of West Virginia, Governor Gilchrist of Florida, Governor Gillett of California, Governor Shallenberger of Nebraska, Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia, Mayor Mears of Harrisburg, Pa., and other mayors across the country from Mayor Stoy of Atlantic City to Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles. Heads of representative fraternal, religious, military and business organizations issued orders for observance of the day.

The proclamation of Governor Vessey of South Dakota ,calling upon all citizens of that state to join in the observance of the day by wearing the white flower and giving other expression of love and reverence is a beautiful tribute to true motherhood. Commander-in-chief Henry M. Nevius of the Grand Army of the Republic paid attention to the patriotic as well as the sentimental observance of the day in his proclamation calling upon the veterans to honor the motherhood of the country.

Patriotic Significance.

"Comrades, there is no class of men living whose mothers were as patriotic, loyal and heroic as your mothers from 1861 to 1865," he said. "No mothers ever made such sacrifices as our mothers did and the commander-in-chief requests you on the second Sunday in May to wear in the lapel of your coat a white carnation, or other white flower, to honor the memory of your own mother, if deceased, and in reverence to her if living."

Mother's day not only honors the living mothers, but also the mothers who should be revered for their patriotism. No national tribute has ever before been paid the brave women whose sufferings, privations and patriotism in pioneer, colonial and war times have meant so much to the country. "Heroes of heroes," in many instances, they not only sacrificed their lives through hardships endured, but also surrendered to their country lives more precious to them than their own —sons, husbands, fathers and brothers.

In Duluth, Mother's day will be quite generally observed this year. Some of the churches of the city had been in the habit of having a Mother's day each year, even before the national movement was inaugurated. Now that the national movement has taken up the spirit that they formerly fostered, they will join in, set the date of their mother's day on the same day as the national mother's day and ask their congregations to observe the day. The pastors will preach special sermons, special services will be held and the members of the congregations will be asked to wear the white carnation in honor of "the best mother that ever lived," and all motherhood.

Members of the Grand Army of the Republic and of other organizations, the heads of which request a general observance of mother's day, will follow out the orders. It is not known whether Governor Eberhart or Mayor Cullum will join in the movement this year and issue proclamations, but proclamations are unnecessary in such a movement, which finds such ready response in the hearts of the people. It does not take an executive proclamation to awaken the love of mother, but people, knowing of the day and its significance, will readily respond to the appeal of those who inaugurated the movement, will wear the white carnation, will write a letter to mother or do her some little service. The observance of the day is not born in nor prompted by maudlin sentiment, but is a noble expression of love and reverence for one to whom love and reverence are due in greater measure than the heart of men can hold.

CROWN "THE NOBLEST OF ALL."

Comrades, in what soldier grave
Sleeps the bravest of the brave?
Was it he, who sank to rest
With his colors round his breast?
Friendship makes his tomb a shrine
Garlands veil it—ask not mine;
One low grave yon trees beneath,
Hears no roses; wears no wreath.

Yet no heart more high and warm
Ever dared the battle-storm;
Never foot had firmer tread,
On the field where hope lay dead,
Than are hid within this tomb
Where the untended grasses bloom,
And no stone, with feigned distress
Marks the sacred loneliness.

Youth and beauty, dauntless will,
Dreams that life could ne'er fulfil
Here lie buried; here in peace
Wrongs and woes have found release.
Turning from my comrades' eyes,
Kneeling where a woman lies,
I strew lilies on the grave
Of the bravest of the brave.

—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Of Her, Who "Loved You First."

"He never knew her. His coming into the world was the signal for her going forth. A few brief days she clasped him to her heart—the heart whose last beats were most for him, then ere the baby eyes had learned to look with recognition upon her, she kissed them closed and closed here own forever.

"Vaguely, through life, he missed her. Timas, as a boy, when the night wind moaned outside, and within fantastic figures and shapes of fear formed in the darkness, he cowered beneath the covers of his cot and wept passionately for something that he wanted, but could not name—though afterward he knew that the thing he craved was sheltering mother love. His playmates had ever a source of unfailing love and sympathy, from which he saw them copiously and continuously draw, and he felt that the fates had left something out of the scheme of his life, and in the midst of the buoyancy of youth his eyes would grow wistful and his heart be sad.

"Then a man—and sometimes after the struggle of the day, when came the quiet hour—musing o'er flood and field, or gazing far out into the sad and solemn sea—he would dream of the land beyond the setting sun—of the mystic glories which eye hath not seen—and of her, who loved him first! Aye, others came and crept into his heart, and filled it with a love that was almost pain; but in its innermost holy of holies he kept ever a chamber inviolate for themother he never knew.

"And it pleased him to believe that though he saw her not, she walked through life beside him and many thues made her presence felt in sweet suggestion of kindly need, in silent stirrings of the heart that turned him from temptation's way. And whatever of good, or gentleness, or generous impulse ever blossomed in his life, to her he gave the credit.

"Therefore, on Mothers' day, when thousands have the blessed privilege of buying the votive offering of their love at living mothers' feet and other thousands live over tender memories of days when mothers walked by their side—he wears the white flower for her—for her to whom he believes his nature owes its best.

"So in the dusk of this dear day, while the flower is fading, though its fragrance lingers still, he writes these lines for the mother only in the land of dreams."

"A BOY'S BEST FRIEND."

"A boy's best friend is his mother," and the relation of the mother to the boy or the girl does not cease when the boy or girl becomes a man or a woman. The mother is always the counsellor and friend, the one to whom man or woman may turn when the world is cold, dark and forbidding. In the gloom of despair or misfortune, her love shines out as a beacon to guide one in the better paths, to awaken nobler feelings, to awaken purer and sweeter thoughts. To every man "the best mother that ever lived" is his own mother. Honor her or her memory on May 8,—the second Sunday in May.

THE EMBLEM OF MOTHER'S DAY.

The white carnation is the Mother's Day special flower. Its whiteness stands for purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness; "Carnation," mother sufferings—all a true mother's attributes.

Sunday Services in Duluth Churches

Several pulpits in the city will be occupied at services today by visiting clergymen and missionaries who have been here to attend the laymen's missionary conference.

In the afternoon a mass meeting of laymen will be held in the First M. E. church. Well known missionaries and leaders in the laymen's movement will speak. A union missionary meeting will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 8 o'clock in the evening, and also at the First M. E. church.

At the Trinity Pro-cathedral tomorrow services will be as follows: 8 a. m., holy communion, in crypt chapels; 10 a. m., Sunday school; 11 a. m. morning prayer, litany and sermon; 3 p. m. evening prayer and sermon. The Rev. C. C. Rollit, secretary of the sixth missionary department of the Episcopal church, will officiate, assisted by Archdeacon H. E. Parshall. Archdeacon Parshall will be the preacher at the afternoon service. Both morning and evening services will be along the lines of the laymen's missionary movement.

The musical program follows:

Use Salubrin

It Quickly Makes Sick People Well.

Just try taking Salubrin this Spring and see how much better you feel. Perhaps you haven't any faith in Spring medicine. Maybe, even if you do know that people need cleaning up in Spring just as much as a house needs cleaning, you don't think there is any medicine that will do it. Just forget about all the so-called "blood-purifiers," the "tonics" and nerve compounds" you may have tried and been disappointed with, and use Salubrin.

There is no mystery about it or its action. No guess work about what it does to the accumulation of germs and toxins in the system during the cold, sluggish winter months. Salubrin is a germ killer, an anti-toxic which is sure death to all germs, but unlike other germ destroyers it does not injure the human system, being a neutral compound as far as human tissue is concerned. It drives germs out of the blood out of the vital organs, out of every nook and corner of your whole system and makes you feel strong and good all over because it helps nature to do her duty. Salubrin is sold by druggists, price 50 cents per bottle. It's fine for coughs and colds and catarrh, because it kills the germs. If you can't find Salubrin, write us and we will tell you where to get it. Salubrin Laboratory, Dept. 26, Grand Crossing, Chicago, Ill.

Napoleon at St. Helena.

WHEN Napoleon, as life-long royal prisoner of the British government, was sent to the Island of St. Helena, provision for his comfort was not neglected, as the following report from the London house which supplied the furnishings will show. No stipulation as to price was made, and the order was for every article of furniture and household goods to be "of pure and simple elegance, but without ornament or initial letters on them." As the order had to be filled within six weeks after it was given, 400 men were employed to execute the work. When everything was in readiness for the future home of the exiled emperor, the report read as follows:

"The whole has been executed in British materials; the chairs and tables are formed of the finest British oak, inlaid with polished brass; the breakfast service is of Wedgewood's most beautiful pale-blue composition, with a white cameo device in relief, modeled by Flaxman, in best style; the dinner service is in white and gold, the center of each plate, dish, etc., containing an elegantly executed landscape of British scenery; the glass, of the finest quality, is plainly, but elegantly cut, with a fancy border of stars supported by fluted pillars; the table cloths and napkins are of the finest damask. The evening service is white and gold, the imperial plate rendering it unnecessary to furnish him with a service of British manufacture, but a few dozen of spoons and other minor articles of that description, to meet the wear and tear of domestic accidents, form a part of the present supply. The cushions and curtains are of light-blue silk, with a black border and small black wreaths. Some are of blue, with a rich yellow border. Both the colors and styles of this part of the furniture, and, indeed, of the whole, are admirably suited to the climate for which they are intended. In Bonaparte's wearing apparel his favorite color (dark green) has been preserved. Shirts, cravats, pocket handkerchiefs, boots, shoes, stockings of every description, are also provided for him."

From the above we are to understand that Napoleon lived in quiet elegance in his island home, but he was like a bird in a gilded cage, and beat himself against the bars ceaselessly. However, before his real imprisonment began and while on board the ship which was carrying him to his long confinement—which ended only with his death—he seemed quite cheerful at times. The following is quoted from the book entitled, "St. Helena:"

"Bonaparte ate and drank, conversing familiarly with the officers on board who could speak the French language, and playing whist in the evenings. At dinner he helped himself to a mutton cutlet, which he ate from his fingers without the use of either knife or fork. Indisposition compelled seclusion in his cabin, but he would not acknowledge to seasickness, and it is said his suite, who still paid him all the attention the most despotic monarch could desire, were courtiers too refined to question the veracity or discernment of their imperial master when he ascribed his illness to different causes. But he was soon on deck again, assailing all whom he met with questions. To one of the midshipmen he put the question as to how long he had been in His Majesty's service, and on being told "Nine years," remarked on the length of time. "Yes," replied the midshipman, "but part was passed in imprisonment in France, and I happened to be at Verdun when you, sir, set out on your expedition to Moscow." At this answer Bonaparte shrugged his shoulders and ended his questioning."

While on the island Napoleon was often entertained by a little girl visitor whom he became very fond of. She was a sweet-faced merry little maid of nine years, and it was a custom of the exiled monarch to provide himself with sweetmeats and fruits to give to her when she called on him. He often amused himself by giving the child drawing lessons, and once, shortly before his death, he decided on a pretentious gift to the little lady, whose name was Julia. The gift was a gold watch and chain with the inscription, crudely graven on the watch by Bonaparte himself by means of a pen-knife: "The Emperor, to his little friend, Julia."

House in Which Napoleon Died, on the Island of St. Helena.

A Peasant Boy and a King.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

IN the very, very long ago there dwelt in a country across the sea a king who was very, very unhappy. He often felt so tired of life as he lived it that he sometimes wished to die. And he would sit on his throne and sigh deeply. And his courtiers would vie with one another in trying to make their monarch's existence less unbearable. But they fawned upon him and flattered him, and bowed down before him in the humblest manner. And all the time the king hated them for their humbleness and servility. But being a king, he held himself aloof from his fellow-beings, and retained a haughty reserve.

One day while driving in his coach of gold and silver, the king beheld a little peasant boy on the banks of a river, fishing. The child looked up at him, smilingly. Then, without removing his cap and failing to bow respectfully before his monarch, the boy returned to his work, pulling out of the water a fine fish. The king was so deeply impressed by the boy's happy face that he called to his coachman to stop, as he would speak with the peasant boy.

As the coach stopped, the king called to the lad: "Come hither, youth."

But the lad sat quite still beside the bank, holding to his fishing rod. "Come hither, I command you!" So spoke the king in imperious tones, beckoning to the peasant boy.

"But I must not leave my rod, sir," explained the boy. "I have a fish nibbling at the bait, and I must watch the line."

"Do you know who I am?" questioned the king in a severe tone.

"Yes, sir. You are the man the people call king. I would not know you but for your coach and retinue." The boy spoke in the easiest manner possible, without the least show of embarrassment. The coachman and outriders trembled for the child's fate, for they feared he had offended his king and would be made to suffer the penalty. But to their great surprise, the king smiled—for the first time in months—and again spoke to the peasant boy:

"If I pay you a golden coin for the fish you haven't yet caught, will you come and speak with me? I, your king, beg this favor." And again the king smiled in an amused way.

"Oh, if you are willing to pay me for my lost time why I will come and speak with you, sir," agreed the peasant boy. And he arose and approached the king's coach. The outriders opened an avenue so that he might walk to the side of the coach. To their utter astonishment the king made room for the boy inside the coach and bade him be seated beside him. The boy looked up and shook his head: "No, sir, a peasant boy is not fitting company for a king. I prefer to remain afoot on ground and talk with you."

"You are a strange and bold boy," declared the king, a bit out of temper. "And why do you dare to refuse me—your king?"

"If you are my king, then I am your subject," said the boy. "And we each owe the other certain liberty. I must live my way and you your way."

Now it was the king's turn to be astonished and banishing the frown which had begun to gather on his brow, he said: "You interest me, youth, and I shall get out of my coach and sit beside you while you fish. Will that please you—my subject?"

"I have no objection to your sitting on the banks of the river, for it is yours as well as mine," explained the boy.

The king laughed outright. "Why, youth, don't you know that river—and all the land about it—belongs to me, the king and ruler over this land?"

The boy shook his head: "That river is not yours any more than it is mine—even though you be a king. You cannot bridle it or change its course. You cannot stop its waters, or cause them to flow. It is God's river, and so is the land all about it. And you the God's creature as I am God's creature, and when he bids us leave this life you are as powerless to disobey as I am. So, I am as much a king in God's eye as you are a king in the eyes of yonder courtiers."

"You have an old head on young shoulders," declared the king, motioning to a servant to throw his cloak on the ground that he might sit on it. "And I shall chat with you an hour—just as though I were a peasant like yourself."

"Or I a king like yourself," smiled the boy.

"Ah, you are a strange youth," said the king. "Come, tell me. Are you always happy?"

"Always very happy, sir," declared the boy. "In the first place, I am very busy all day long helping my father and mother in the work of earning an honest living. I am too busy to be unhappy, sir."

"Why do you not call me 'Your Majesty?'" asked the king.

"I like the plain title better, sir. Only God is my king."

The king knit his brows, then said: "Suppose I should command you to call me 'Your Majesty?' And if you should refuse suppose I should order your head cut off?"

"Then you would be a cruel king, and committing a very grave crime, sir, for in having me killed you would be committing murder. My life belongs to my Maker, not a man of the earth."

The king sat silent for a little while. Then he said: "Tell me, boy, where have you learned all that you say? There must be traitors in my realm, and they must have talked in your hearing."

"A good king need fear no traitors," said the boy, putting some bait on his hook. "Only an evil ruler fears enemies."

"You are right, youth," said the king fervently. "And you have set me to thinking of many things new to my mind. I shall beg you to come to the palace and visit me. I can learn from you, though I be a king and you a peasant. But—do you angle all day long?"

"Oh, no sir; doing one thing all the time would make me very unhappy. Now, were you to have more variety in your life, sir, you would be less discontent. I have heard it said that our king never laughs. That his subjects are far happier than he. That is because they find much beneficial employment. The king but rules. And ruling is a heavy work, and a thankless one, though paid for in gold. Gold doesn't love one. Gold doesn't offer the hand of friendship. It never lends a helping hand to the one in need, nor kisses and caresses the brow of the aged. Gold is very hard, and is a fitting companion only for a haughty and unhappy king. And I am too content to want more of it than is needed to buy the necessaries of life."

The king sat still and looked across the river for a moment. Then he bowed his head in his hand and sighed. "You are right, youth; gold and kinghood go hand in hand. Neither have feeling nor love."

"But a king can love, and be loved, if he wishes," declared the boy. "If he enters into the life of his peasants—his subjects—and knows them, and lets them know him, he will find much to live for. Also, he will find much to make him smile with pleasure, to laugh with merriment, to weep with sympathy, and to give for sweet charity's sake."

"I shall try your prescription, youth," said the king, rising. "Tomorrow all my fawning and flattering courtiers shall be dismissed and in their place shall be put men from the country, uncouth, plain-spoken fellows who will tell me things for my own good."

"And for the good of your subjects, sir," interposed the boy. "Do not forget others—if you would be happy. Happiness cannot be found in oneself, but in the love and sympathy of others. That is the reason you have never known happiness, sir. You have thought only of self, and had about you a lot of cowards who pretended to think only of you, also, but who in truth hated you and lived a life of hypocrisy. Have fearless men about you and you will get strength from them, and, in time, will become a monarch all men will love. Think less of your position, and more of the people's position, sir, if you would be a real king."

The king took from his purse two golden coins and offered them to the boy who took the smaller one, saying that the fish he might have caught would not have been worth more than that amount. "And I cannot take more than I can earn," he observed in a straightforward way.

"You are a true philosopher," avowed the king emphatically, "and I must see you often."

"I am only a peasant boy, and you are only a king," smiled the boy. "But perhaps you are poorer than I. If so, I shall gladly share my riches with you. But now I must hurry homewards, for my parents will be looking for me. I wish you more happiness in the future than you have had in the past. Good by, sir, and may luck attend you."

And the king, his hands clasped across his breast, stood watching the boy as he ran nimbly across the hill, disappearing on the other side. Then, turning to one of his courtiers, he said: "A king may learn from a peasant boy."

"You have an old head on young shoulders," declared the King.

HAPPY DAYS.

UP the hill, down the hill,
Through the country lane,
Off to school so early
Then back home again.

Studying and learning,
Through the livelong day,
Except at noon and recess,
When there is time to play.

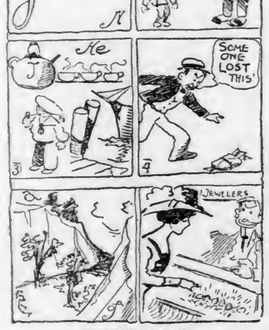
And in the home at evening
Ah, there they find real joy!
Around the supper table—
Papa, Mamma, Girl and Boy!

OUR PUZZLE CORNER

LETTER ENIGMA.



My first is in grape, but not in vine;
My second is in maple, but not in pine;
My third is in river, but not in lake;
My fourth is in danger, but not in snake;
My fifth is in eel, but not in fish;
My sixth is in spoon, but not in dish;
My whole is made fresh
During every spring;
And good to all people
It always does bring.

PRIMAL ACROSTIC.

This acrostic contains six words of five letters each. If the words are rightly guessed, and written one below another in correct order, their initial letters will spell the name of a race of people almost extinct. The cross-words are: 1. An elephant's tusk. 2. The whinny of a horse. 3. A beverage. 4. A Far Eastern country. 5. A vine-covered summer house. 6. Common names.

ADDITIONS.

1. Add together a part of the human anatomy and a plank and get a piece of furniture. 2. Add together something which rings and something swift and get an Irish city. 3. Add together the name of one of England's kings and a weight and get a city in the United States of America. 4. Add together a railway coach and grownup boys and get the title of a well-known opera.

CONUNDRUMS.

Why is an ax an inconsistent weapon?
Because it first cuts a tree down, and then cuts it up.

What is that which can run all the way between two towns, and yet never move?
A road.

What part of the face resembles the old-fashioned schoolmaster?
The eye, because it always has a pupil under the lash.

How do we know that Noah had a pig in the ark?
Because he had Ham.

THE SUMMER HOME of THE SING-LOUDS.

BY MAUD WALKER.

MR. TREE TOP SING-LOUD sat on a topmost branch of a high pine tree singing very gaily. It was early in the morning and the sun had not yet peeped above the eastern waters, for Mr. Treetop Sing-loud was in a southern country on the very edge of a great body of water. Whether or not it was a bay, or a gulf, or an inland sea, Mr. Treetop Sing-loud did not know or care. He was happy, cold dashes from the North are done for the season. Fine weather will be ours till the frost flies in October. Then we will return here to our balmy Southern home. We are surely blessed with the good things of life."

"Well, if we are to move today," said Mrs. Sing-loud, "I would better be up and doing. We'll have breakfast at once, my dear."

Then Mrs. Sing-loud prepared breakfast as fast as ever she could, for she was a brisk little nest wife. She had everything at hand for the morning meal, and within a few minutes had called to her husband to come to breakfast. As they sat at table, which was covered by a big soft leaf, they discussed their long journey which was to begin that day.

"We'll start as soon as you have put the nest to rights," said Mr. Treetop Sing-loud. "While you are packing things away for the summer I will gather together our clothes and put them in our traveling bags. By an hour by sun we'll be on the wing."

Then both fell to work, and soon the nest was in order to be locked up till the following October, and the two small traveling bags were packed with the garments and toilet articles necessary for the Sing-louds' summer use. And just as the sun hung in the heavens over the deep blue expanse of water—an "hour high," as Mr. Sing-loud expressed the time of day—they took their bags in wing and started. Up, up, up they soared till the earth below looked very small and dim to them. Then, having entered a fine, cool current of air which carried them along as though they were in an airship, they allowed themselves to rest and glide northward with scarcely an exertion.

And all that day the sky overhead was serene and the rays of the sun warm and delightful. But toward nightfall the air became colder and clouds gathered overhead. "I do believe we're going to have a storm," declared Mr. Sing-loud; "and we are crossing some bad country, too, without a stream or wooded hill in sight. I remember this treeless stretch of land."

"But a little further to the east runs a fine river," said Mrs. Sing-loud. "We can change our course a bit and reach some timber before the darkness has fallen all about us. We must find shelter from the elements."

"Yes, we will act on your advice," said Mr. Sing-loud. "We'll turn eastward, my dear, and strike that river within an hour."

But the storm clouds were thickening and lightning flashed forth every few minutes, and the heavy thunder shook the very earth. "We'll be caught, I fear," said Mr. Sing-loud anxiously. "I don't think we'll be able to reach that river. I can see it just a dozen miles ahead; but we're tired from a long day's journey and cannot hasten our flight. But—look at yonder dark spots just below us! I believe it's some sort of place we may shelter in." And Mr. Sing-loud pointed his little beak in the direction of a group of dark objects on the ground beneath his mate and himself. The objects he saw were buildings—a farmhouse, barns and sheds, but as Mr. and Mrs. Sing-loud did not have much acquaintance with people and their forms of habitation, they did not know the character of the "dark spots" they were now looking at.

"Shall we fly down to them?" asked Mrs. Sing-loud.

"Yes, we'll at least find a hole or a crevice into which we can hide from the storm," said Mr. Sing-loud.

So earthward went Mr. and Mrs. Sing-loud, just as some big drops of rain began to fall. And they were not a minute too soon, either, for almost immediately a clap of thunder shook the earth and the rain fell in torrents.

With the first burst of the rainfall, Mr. Sing-loud found a great black hole, and into it he led his frightened little wife. Her heart was fluttering terribly, for never before had she been caught in a storm of such severity. Their former trips north had always been made during a week of fine weather. But this journey had not proven so propitious.

Once inside the hole, Mr. Treetop Sing-loud began to peer about him. He did not know that he and his mate had entered the hayloft of a big barn. But he knew the place was a queer one, and that a sweet fragrance filled the air. It was the odor from the hay which filled his nostrils.

"Here is the largest nest I every beheld," he said to Mrs. Sing-loud. But Mrs. Sing-loud was too much exhausted from the last half hour's speedy travel and fright to reply at once. She sank down on the soft hay and rested. Oh, how comfortable was this immense nest! She felt she might sleep there unmolested and happy over night.

"We're snug and safe," said Mr. Sing-loud, snuggling close beside his little mate. "We'll stay here till dawn."

"Yes, we'll have a fine night here," assented Mrs. Sing-loud, now somewhat rested and entirely recovered from her fright. "Isn't it a strange nest? There seems to be no tree beneath it. And it doesn't rock in the wind. We are as quiet here as in our Southern pine tree on a sunshiny morning in April."

Just then a strange noise was heard below them, and suddenly Mr. and Mrs. Sing-loud saw a light come into the nest near to them. And then more suddenly came into view a big boy's head. Of course, the Sing-louds did not know the creature was a boy, but supposed it a dangerous monster. The boy was coming up a ladder into the loft, and he had a lantern on one arm.

When he had climbed quite into the loft the boy hung the lantern on a peg in the wall over the opening through which he had come and then proceeded to pitch hay in the manger below. Of course, the Sing-louds sat as still as mice, fearing to draw their breath. And as they had perched themselves on top of the hay, near to the window, they were not within range of the pitchfork used by the boy, and he knew nothing of their proximity.

Pretty soon, to the great relief of the Sing-louds, the boy had thrown hay to the horses below and had betaken himself down the ladder, carrying away the lantern on his arm. Ah, how the Sing-louds did breathe freely again! But there was a strange noise coming to them occasionally, such a noise that they both were afraid to go to sleep. So, very cautiously, Mr. Sing-loud tripped to the opening over the manger and peered down, for it was from that source that the noise came. Ah, he could see by the flashes of lightning that some huge beasts were devouring the hay which the monster had pitched to them from the immense nest! It was all so strange, this being so close to those beasts and the monster!

And ever so long did these huge beasts chomp and chomp on the hay. They were horses, merely two fine friendly old farm horses, but the Sing-louds did not know that. Their classification of animals was very different from ours. And they thought of the boy and of the horses as being very terrible.

The next morning as soon as the dawn came creeping in from the east Mr. Treetop Sing-loud hopped to the window and looked out. The clouds had disappeared from the sky, and a few stars winked to him before withdrawing from sight. The song of an early bird came across a meadow, an old rooster in the coop in the barnyard began to crow lustily.

"It's time for us to be on our way," whispered Mr. Sing-loud to Mrs. Sing-loud, who was wide awake and listening to the discordant crowing of old rooster. "Isn't this a queer big nest? And wasn't it a strange experience we had last night?"

"Yes, indeed, and I'll be glad when we are safe in our own summer quarters again," declared Mr. Sing-loud. And he spoke from the depths of his heart.

At the end of that week the Sing-louds were snugly quartered in their summer home, and relating to their neighbors the strange experiences of their long journey northwards, a subject of interest to all who heard.

The boy hung the lantern on a peg in the wall.

THE MEN WHO RUN THE PRESIDENT

lar him, the chances were nine out of ten that he would go to reading again.

Stone's present job involves the exercise of diplomacy and suavity. He must not only know men worth while, both official and civil, but also their political relationships. When the president gives a carte blanche order to admit all waiting callers, Stone knows that such political enemies as Senators Bristow and Curtis, of Kansas, must not be admitted at one and the same time. It is up to him to keep the president on time with the schedule of engagements Secretary Carpenter has made for him, but when the president side-tracks himself by taking a caller into the cabinet room for a talk of half an hour, when he was originally scheduled to converse for five minutes, it is Stone's duty to apprise all others having engagements that the president has jumped the track. Not infrequently, he must supplement this task by calming down an individual with shattered nerves who does not like to be kept waiting, even by the president of the United States.

President Taft's "mother" during the presidential campaign was "Billy" Pannell, who was his doorkeeper when Mr. Taft was secretary of war, is now doorkeeper to Secretary Carpenter, and hence, still helps to run Mr. Taft. Pannell is a colored man of more than ordinary mental attainments. He can absorb with alacrity what goes on about him with especial reference to the president. During the campaign Pannell traveled everywhere with Mr. Taft, and was always at his side to hold his hat, put on his shirt, comb his hair, or do anything else that was necessary for the comfort of the candidate.

Of course, President Taft had a few stock speeches he made repeatedly during the campaign. One of them was on the labor question, and Pannell learned this speech by heart. One day Mr. Taft heard a commotion outside his private car, and, slipping out to the door found Pannell on the back platform getting off the Taft labor speech with great gusto to a group of colored men who were standing around with their mouths open and their eyes bulging.

The Personal Valet of the President.

Monico Lopez Lara, a native Filipino, is the personal valet of the president. He is the one man in the White House force about whose choice the president had nothing to say. Lara never gave him a chance to say anything. When Mr. Taft was civil governor of the Philippine islands, Lara was one of those Filipinos who attached himself to the "big father" and refused to shake himself loose. He never was known to be on time but once in his life, and that was when Mr. Taft sailed away from Manila to become secretary of war. Lara was not only at the boat, but on the boat, and refused to quit. He insisted on going along, and good-natured Mr. Taft could not resist his display of affection.

Since that time Lara has cost President Taft more time than any other human being on the face of the earth. He has disarranged more railroad schedules than any president that ever lived, and has worked the presidential temper up to an explosive pitch more than any one else. For a multitude of reasons Lara simply cannot make a depot on schedule time. The lateness of his arrival usually varies from two to seven minutes after the hour on which the train is scheduled to depart. Furthermore, he always has an excuse. Not infrequently he has appeared on the platform with a pair of the presidential pants hanging over his arm, declaring that he could not get them pressed in time to make the train. On such occasions when he is abused like a horse thief for delaying the departure of the train, he usually mumbles to himself that "if the pants had not been so big, I might have gotten here on time."

His contrition always wins over the opposition, and the president usually sets the ball rolling by laughing at him.

Another faculty of Lara's is his faculty for getting lost. Whenever the president strikes a strange town, Lara is almost certain to be found missing when train-time comes around. Invariably, however, within the seven-minute limit, Lara shows up, declaring that the man who laid out the town did not know his business, because all the streets into do not lead direct to the platform of the presidential train.

In the execution of home duties, Lara is more prompt than in performing his services to the chief executive. After his arrival in the United States, he picked up English rapidly, formed the acquaintance of an Irish girl, and finally married her. It is said that several times President Taft has threatened to go home with Lara, in order to see him home on time form once.

The White House Housekeeper.

Included among the names of the men who are busy day in and day out trying to make life as easy as possible for the president, should be that of a woman, Mrs. James Jafrey, whose official title is that of White House housekeeper.

Not until the Taft administration came into being did congress grant an appropriation for a housekeeper at the executive mansion. Mrs. Taft is an exceptional housekeeper on her own account, and takes a great interest in the conduct of the executive mansion from the kitchen to the living rooms. She wanted a housekeeper, however, who could attend to the routine of household affairs, and chose for that position Mrs. James Jafrey, an elderly woman of broad experience, who came to her on the recommendation of New York friends. Under the Roosevelt administration the servants of the White House were under the control of a steward, who was required to give bond for the valuable articles of plate and other ware. Mrs. Jafrey has full charge of the White House under the Taft administration, the office of stefard having been abolished.

One Conducter Who Was Cured.

Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he writes about it.—"Some time ago I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect, and the third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Leington, Ky., Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do all you claim in cases of Rheumatism." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. For sale by all drugists.

RENEW WITH HEATH & MILLIGAN PAINTS

The Paints that save you more than they cost, because they protect and preserve the surface covered.

Heath & Milligan Paints cost you less by the job—they cover more surface with less labor—they look better and last longer. The grinding and mixing of Heath & Milligan Best Prepared Paint is done under a pressure process that is exclusive with the Heath & Milligan factory. This process absolutely assures the perfect grinding and mixing of pigments with the necessary thinners, so that the paint, when used, penetrates the surface, covers and dries perfectly, producing an unbroken film. This film permanently protects the surface under contraction and expansion produced by climatic changes. This perfect paint covering will not crack or scale.

The use of Heath & Milligan Best Prepared Paint means a lasting job and satisfaction to you.

Heath & Milligan Paints include Mixed Paints of all kinds, in a wide variety of colors; Enamels, Specialties and Sundries for special requirements. Also Sunshine Finishes.

Sunshine Finishes are made for all kinds of interior work and for old or marred surfaces that, with a slight expense and little work, can be made to look like new. Sunshine Finishes are made in 17 beautiful shades.

Quality Goes in Every Can of HEATH & MILLIGAN Paint Before the Name Goes On.

That tells why MARSHALL-WELLS HARDWARE COMPANY, as NORTHWESTERN DISTRIBUTORS for H. & M. Paints have built up the volume of business that necessitated the order for 40 carloads of Heath & Milligan Paints, which were shipped from Chicago on November 29th, to Marshall-Wells Hardware Company.

So you may know the superior quality of Heath & Milligan Paint and Sunshine Finishes, we will send a sample can of Sunshine Finishes, absolutely free, and will include with this sample can a booklet of suggestions illustrating in colors appropriate color combinations for house painting, both exterior and interior.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The cup which is to be offered by the Forum in the series of inter-class debates has been purchased and will be put on exhibition at the school Monday.

The boys of the classes who intend to enter the preliminary contest next Friday, when the teams will be chosen held a meeting yesterday and listened to a talk by Mr. Brackett, who urged them to continue their interest and to make an attempt to interest others.

The question for debate will be: "Resolved, That Duluth should adopt the commission form of government."

The Forum will hold its next meeting Monday and much important business will be discussed. Besides the business, the following program will be given:

Piano solo .....
Stance Neuman.

Talk on Halley's Comet.....
Norman Cook.

Talk on "Relation of Hypnotic Suggestion to Oratory".....
Prof. Brackett.

Oration .....

Violin solo .....
Otto Olson.

At the meeting held last Monday besides a good program being rendered, the following rules were adopted for the inter-class debates:

1. This cup is offered by the Forum Debating society of the Duluth Central high school for the purpose of creating interest in inter-class debates.

2. The class which wins in the final contest shall hold the cup for one year and the name of such class shall be inscribed thereon. Any class which wins the cup for three years shall retain permanent possession thereof.

3. Dates of contests: The final contest must be held at least three weeks before the close of the school year.

4. Judges: The judges of the final contest must be persons not interested in school activities either as pupils or teachers.

5. Any undergraduates of the Duluth Central high school in good standing may enter these contests, with the exception of those students who have represented this school in debate, oratory, or declamation in any contest with an outside school.

The class to which each contestant belongs shall be determined by his number of credits.

In any case not covered by this provision, the principal shall be the sole arbiter. The subject or subjects for these debates shall be decided upon by the coach.

6. The methods of competition shall be as follows: The juniors debate the seniors, the sophomores debate the freshmen;; the winners meet each other in the final.

The debates shall be governed by the rules of the Minnesota High School Debating league, with the exception that the rebuttal be limited to one for each side.

Under the directions of the University Extension society, a continuation of the series of lectures begun by Dr. Guthrie last fall, will be given at the high school beginning the first Saturday in May.

There will be six lectures on the general topic, "French Civilization Illustrated by Literature." Mr. Papot will be the speaker in this series.

There will also be a course for the six Saturday morning lecture studies on the general topic, "What one must know to master French."

The high school pupils and faculty will be admitted to the evening lectures for $1. If 150 pupils decide to take the Saturday morning course, a special price of $1 will be given.

The automobile accident of Thursday afternoon, in which Herbert Helmer, who was a freshman this year, figured, has aroused much sympathy for him among his schoolmates.

Helmer was on the football squad last fall and made a strong bid for an end position. He was the captain of the 1913 football team and the mainstay of the class basketball team, which reached the finals in the inter-class league. Helmer was also a star track man and very popular among the students. His schoolmates sincerely hope that he will be cleared from all blame.

Ernest Merritt of the senior class was absent from school this week on account of illness. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital early in the week, where he underwent an operation. He is rapidly recovering, however, and hopes to be able to leave the hospital Monday. A large number of pupils visited him yesterday.

The freshmen held a meeting on Wednesday and elected Walter Lawrence captain of the track team, and "Matt" Brown captain of the baseball team. They also received a report from the "hop" committee, which is making preparations for the freshman hop next Friday.

• • •

The senior English classes will "go some" the first three days of next week. Mr. Sprague announced written lessons for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Monday will cover the period of Pseudo classicism in the history of English literature; Tuesday the period of individualism, and Wednesday the age of Tennyson.

• • •

The contract for the Zenith has been let to the Christie Printing & Lithographing company. The book will be half again as large as last year's publication and the 1910 class confidently expects it to be "the best yet."

The Wallace cup, which has been on exhibition at school is a beauty and has done much to create spirit for the coming contest.

• • •

The defeat of the track team by the Y. M. C. A. team Thursday night was not so bad, when the absence of Capt. Merritt, who is ill, and Asher Taylor, perhaps the best track man in school, is taken into consideration.

NORMAL NOTES

Supt. H. E. Blair of Hibbing, a former member of the normal faculty, visited the school Friday and spoke to the students during the chapel exercises.

"When a physician begins his work he has spent four years in the high school, four years at college, four years in a medical school and then he must spend some time in hospital training," he said. "Likewise a lawyer spends a long time in preparation, also an engineer and even after spending so much time in study, they are fortunate if they can make their expenses the first year. However, their earnings increase during the second year. Contrast this situation with that of the average grade teacher who starts in with a salary, at Hibbing of $65, which increases only to $80 in about five years, showing that their experience is only worth about $15 a month, or $115 a year.

"The average grade teacher stops studying when she leaves normal school, and no doubt she would be a great deal more efficient if she kept on studying, but nine-tenths of them do not. There is positively no limit to the heights a teacher can climb if she only wants to. Good teachers are scarce, and therefore it should be your duty and desire to be the best. Teachers should keep on studying with an open attitude and mind for work."

The final luncheon in domestic science was given on Wednesday by Carolyn Detert, Alice Berger and Alice Cox. The guests present were: Mr. Frazee, Dr. Kline, Mr. Hubbard and Miss Pettingill. The cost of the luncheon was 60 cents, and the following menu was given:

Cream of tomato soup.
Stuffed potatoes.
Hot rolls; jelly.
Tea.

NEW APARTMENT HOUSE TO BE ERECTED IN EAST END

W. M. Hubbard to Provide Accommodations for Twelve Families.

Most of Season's Work Will Run to Residences and Flats.

The announcement that W. M. Hubbard will erect a twelve-family apartment building in the East end was the most important made in Duluth building circles this week.

The building will be of brick and stone, three stories in height and each floor will be divided into four apartments of six rooms each. The building will be beautifully finished and will be located on Fifteenth avenue east. Bray & Nystrom are preparing the plans.

P. M. Olsen is preparing plans for a two-story brick building to be erected on Superior street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east by Watterworth & Fee. It will be arranged for three families, each family to have the use of two floors. The building will be a modern structure of brick and stone, with hardwood finish, hot water heat and other conveniences.

There is very little new building work coming out and the week has been a quiet one in the building inspector's office. Although very few big buildings will be erected during the coming season, there is plenty of work in sight in the way of small jobs and workmen in the building trades are not worrying a great deal over the prospects.

Scores of residences are being planned by the different architects and they say that the work will be done during the coming year. Apartment house building is falling off some, but there have been so many buildings of that class erected in the city during the past year or two that the new development is no great surprise.

Work now in progress is going along well. The spring has been a beautiful one for the builders and they took advantage of it to get an early start on many buildings which had been planned during the winter months. The buildings under construction in the downtown district for completion May 1 are all in the finishing stages of construction. Some of the interior work may not be finished in all of them by May 1, the contract time, but they will be ready for occupancy at that time and the remaining work will be merely in the way of details that can be completed after the buildings have been occupied.

Firms building houses for people on the contract plan, payment to be made in monthly installments, "no more than rent," say that they will do a big business during the coming summer. Contracts have been signed for scores of moderate priced dwellings to be erected under that plan and more are being signed every day. The firms doing business under the plan have not been as active in Duluth as in other cities, but now that they have entered the field they are picking up business that has been accumulating for years and are preparing to catch up.

To the man on a small salary, with whom the monthly rent is one of the most important items in the cost of living—so important, in fact that he cannot see his way clear to save enough money to build a home of his own—the offer of the installment plan builders is very alluring. It opens for him opportunities of which he has dreamed with little hope of realization. Every man has an inherent desire to own his own home and when the opportunity comes, he will very likely lose no time about availing himself of it, if it looks like a good proposition from a business standpoint.

If one cannot pay out, nor raise, enough money to build his own home, pay for it and have it all over, building on the installment plan is a good business proposition. It is estimated that, given any kind of a house, a man will pay out enough money in rent in twelve years to have paid the original cost of the property. A man who has been paying rent for twelve years may well look back and observe that he has been deaf to opportunity's insistent knocks. If he had used the money that he has paid as rent, in paying for a home of his own, he would have had it all paid for and clear to hand down to his family when they carried him out of it feet first.

P. M. Olson is preparing plans for a two-story brick and stone residence and a two-story and basement brick garage and carriage house to be built for Joseph H. Hougson at Houghton, Mich. The house will be 40 by 54 and will be an entirely modern structure costing about $20,000. The garage and carriage house will be arranged with automobile and carriage rooms and stables on the first floor and in the basement and the second floor will be for chauffeur's and coachman's quarters. The building will cost about $5,000.

Mr. Olson is also preparing plans for a frame and stucco residence to be erected at Calumet, Mich. It will cost about $15,000.

The following permits were issued during the week:

MANY WILD CAT SCHEMES

"Look Before You Buy in Florida," Say Returning Duluthians.

Some Good Land But Many Propositions Are Not Meritorious.

Duluthians who have recently returned from Florida say that the land investment schemes that are being presented to the people of the Northwest are of such a nature that all prospective investors should make diligent inquiry into the particular propositions which they have under consideration.

While there are legitimate land investment enterprises in that state, concerns of this sort are said to be greatly outnumbered by those possessing much less intrinsic worth to commend them to the public. Wild-cat booms are flourishing in that region, largely as a result of the widespread advertising in magazines and newspapers that the "new industrial South" has been given.

Duluth people who are invited to buy tracts of Florida land are earnestly advised by those who have been in that state to see for themselves what they are buying before they put their money into the land. While it is not asserted by any of the travelers who have returned from the South that all of the companies and concerns engaged in the sale of these lands are unworthy of confidence, they do make the assertion that the land in Florida that really is worth while, cannot be bought. It is held by people who know what it is worth and who are getting big incomes from the land they hold. They do not want to sell, and there is every reason why they should not sell.

One resident of Duluth, who has just returned from Florida, says that when the Everglades of that state are drained, which he believes is a future certainty, it will be found necessary to resort to irrigation to make the land productive in the slightest degree.

"The land on Minnesota Point is of the same character as that one will find all over Florida, with certain tracts excepted," said a man who had been in Florida within the last month. He concluded with the remark that the land worth owning, so far as he had observed, was small in its aggregate area.

Some of the travelers say that while the foregoing statements are, in the main, accurate, there may be found comparatively small and isolated tracts upon which a settler may, if he is endowed with perseverance and ability, make a living.

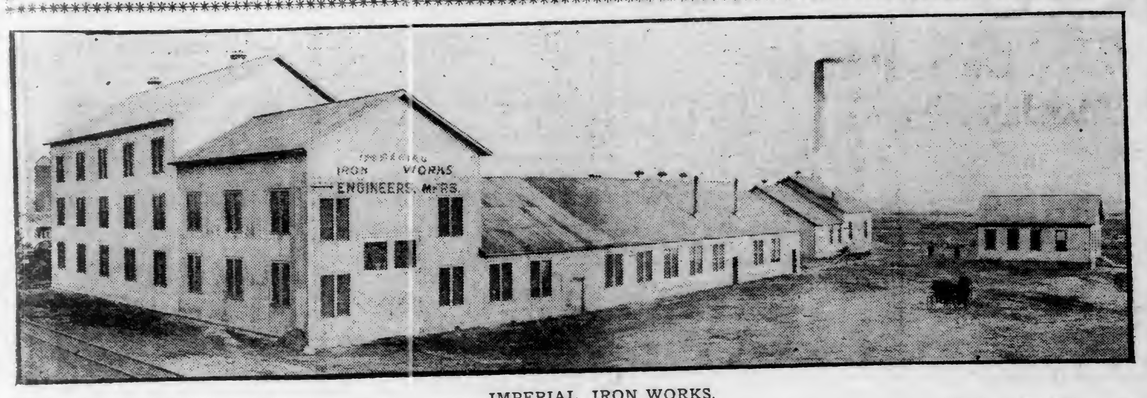
A HOUSE DESIGNED FOR SOUTH SIDE OF STREET TO COST $6,000 IN DULUTH

FIRST FLOOR PLAN SECOND FLOOR PLAN

Almost all the pleasure in producing a design for a house is the incentive for thoughtfulness caused by the exigencies of the site or the personality of the client. A house for any plot of land is a vaguely disconcerting problem as compared with one for a particular location. Above all, the individuality of the man for whom the house is to be built, is a factor the importance of which is not usually overestimated.

It ought to be able to make the house speak for the man who lives in it, quite as much as the man who designed it. It is after all, a thing belonging to the former, and came into being to meet his wants and proclivities, and it ought, hence, if these have fair play to bear outward evidence of them.

The above cut shows a house designed for the south side of the street and sloping towards the lake with a porch facing on a terrace in front of a lawn.



The entrance is from the street at the north side, by which you enter the hall with coat closet at the end. From the hall direct access is shown to the drawing-room, dining-room, and kitchen, all commodious and well-lighted rooms. A door from dining-room to sitting-room is an appreciable feature. A pantry disconnects the dining-room from the kitchen.

The second floor shows three large convenient bedrooms, all with large closets and a bathroom near the head of the stairs. The house will be built fireproof, with hollow terra cotta blocks rough casted on the exterior with tile or slate roof and concrete porch supports. The floors will be ample throughout and the hall and living rooms in oak of different finishes. The bedrooms and bathroom in white enamel and the kitchen and pantry in birch. The house as above described built in Duluth or vicinity, would cost, including heating and plumbing $6,000. If built with frame walls and shingle roof the cost would be $4,500.

IMPERIAL IRON WORKS.

The Imperial Iron Works, formerly known as The Wessinger company, has operated its plant in West Duluth for four years. The plant, consisting of machine shop, blacksmith shop and foundry, is located on six acres of land, there being ample room for extensions when the business of the plant warrants. There are about forty men employed all the year around and the monthly payroll is about $4,500. The Imperial Iron Works manufactures all kinds of power and mining machinery and its business has been growing until now it is regarded as one of the substantial manufacturing plants of West Duluth.

NO PYROTECHNICS IN REAL ESTATE MARKET

Many Small Deals in Low Priced Residence Property.

Fine East End Corner Property Is Sold for $12,500.

The real estate market is just loping along, not being checked, but not letting loose any large or brilliant displays of fireworks. The market has a healthy, firm tone, there is plenty of inquiry, new tracts put on the market are quickly taken up, but the general interest that goes with a brisk movement is lacking.

Few deals are being closed up, but all of the real estate men say they are working on propositions that will show, when they develop, that Duluth real estate is right up to the front and getting the attention it merits.

There are several factors working to hold up a general movement. Sellers of the more expensive classes of property are scarce, while many of those who are in the market are holding their property at too high prices. It is a common situation in growing cities, where there is a prospect of great activity in real estate. People having desirable pieces of property, which they know will appreciate in value in a comparatively short time, are not disposed to turn their holdings if they can anticipate profits for a year or two. Wise purchasers of real estate will not allow anticipation of profits unless they want the property for some special purpose.

In the outlying districts the heavy movement in low-priced residence lots continues. People are buying both for immediate and for ultimate improvement. Those having hopes of owning their own homes at some future date, realizing that property they can get now at low prices will go up greatly in the next year or two, are getting their lots and holding them for such time as they will be able to build their homes.

There is, of course, considerable buying. There is no better speculation to be found right now than a lot in a good section of Duluth. The demand for residence property is so insistent in the districts now open, that in a few years all of the lots will be taken up and then the holders will ascribe to demand prices in advance of what they pay now.

The visit of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges to Duluth in June will mean much to the city from the viewpoint of real estate activity and from the viewpoint of general prosperity, for real estate activity always brings general prosperity. The national real estate association includes all of the big real estate exchanges of the country. In the body of men to visit here in June, there will be many shrewd real estate men, activities are national in their scope. They are men, who act for clients without special authorization, men who make good investments where they see fit and are depended upon by capitalists to exercise good judgment and place their money where it will get the best returns on a safe investment.

To those men, Duluth must offer exceptional opportunities. Duluth is too centrally misunderstood in other parts of the country. The ironical exaggeration of Proctor Knott has been reduced to actual fact, but the country doesn't know it. The real estate men, who will come here, are men who are practiced in estimating local conditions and their effect on real estate values. They cannot but see that Duluth is destined to be a great city, that property that is now selling for a few bars of a popular air will be worth much real money in a few years. Some of the money that is in their hands for investment, money that is going into conservative investments in the old, settled communities, will come to Duluth and give a stimulus to the market that will be noticeable.

The visit of the real estate men to Duluth is one of the very best advertisements the city could have. The real estate men are men with money behind them, men who are buying and selling property every day, men who see everything at a practiced glance and realize where opportunities are going begging. They will not be slow to see the opportunities in Duluth, and Duluth will hear from them.

Money is plentiful enough here now for investment, but not for loans. The people with money behind them, who formerly loaned it out at prevailing rates of interest, are now making their own investments and getting all the profits that their money can make. The Duluth man who wants a big loan will have to go to the Eastern money centers.

The most important transfer recorded in the register of deeds' office this week was that of the property at the northwest corner of Twentieth avenue east and First street by Olivia W. Hammond to A. H. Comstock. The consideration was $12,500.

• • •

The Sherwood-Roe company reports the following transfers made through their office:

Clara E. Morrison to William N. Hart, west half of lots 12 and 13, block 14, Glen Avon Second division, $1,000.

TO THE SALARIED MAN AND THE INVESTOR:

The Past Been paying rent ten years. Been going to build a home. Been insuring your life and forgetting your latter years' comforts Been speculating in 100 to 1 shots on copper stocks. Been overlooking the FACT that IDEAL HOMES were being built on the easy rental payment plan.

LAKESIDE LAND COMPANY,

501-502-503-504 Sellwood. Both Phones 408

The Present Am still paying rent. Am still going to build. Am looking for an investment because Duluth is growing fast. Am still speculating in copper stocks. IDEAL homes are still being built for small cash payments—balance as rent.

Lakeside, in two years from this date will double in population. Put this away for reference. Invest NOW in an ideal home. You may have many GOOD opportunities, but ONLY one best.

The Future

Mr. Hindsight: I wish I had started at Lakeside as Mr. Foresight did a few years ago, I would have to pay rent anyway.

Mr. Foresight: Isn't it a blessing we took advantage of Lakeside Land Co.'s proposition? The balance on our home will be paid very soon. It was a good investment.

GOOD BUYS

NOW IS THE TIME

When that element of hope, the sustaining power of our whole existence is renewed within us. At this season when the birds are seeking a nesting place and nature smiles on us at every turn, let those who are beholden to a landlord firmly resolve that another spring shall find them established in a home of their own.

Price $1,600

makes it possible for any lot owner to do this at once with absolutely no advance payment. If you own a lot in Minneapolis, St. Paul or Duluth, you can take advantage of our liberal offer whereby we assume all the risk and furnish you with a beautiful well-built home at less than rental payments.

This house is built over a good cellar, has four rooms downstairs, is finished in oak or birch with polished hardwood floors. The second floor is large enough for two or three bed rooms, child's room or bath room.

Our portfolio, entitled "Homes in the Making," will explain how it is done. This portfolio also contains photos and floor plans of forty other types of houses, and one of which we are willing to build for you under this plan. You may like some of them better. Get a copy at once and pick out what you want. Also get our list of hundreds of happy home owners who have followed our plan. Look them up if you want to and ask them how they have fared. Anyway get busy. Don't pay taxes any longer on an unimproved lot, when it is so easy to get the money to improve it.

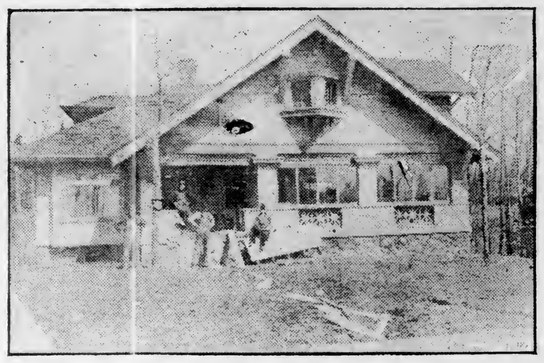
RENTAL RUSH SUBSIDES

Comparatively Little Moving to Be Done in Duluth This Year.

Agents Hold Desirable Tenants Even If Concessions Are Necessary.

The annual rental rush is about over and only a few people, who have been slow, to their own sorrow, are still without accommodations. There are a few unrented stores in the business section of the city, most of the offices have been taken despite the tenants drawn away from other buildings by the new Alworth building and searchers for living rooms still have a few choices left to them.



Detached houses are out of the question. Every detached house for rent in the city has been taken up long before this time. In this day of duplex houses, apartment houses and flats, detached houses are a luxury that not everybody can afford, but that almost everybody would like to have.

There has been something of a decrease in flat rentals according to some of the rental agents. So many flat buildings have been erected in the city during the past two years, that owners have been forced to reduce rents to meet competition. Rents are not low, by any means, but they are lower than they were two years ago and that is something for which to be thankful in contemplating the cost of living.

There will not be any great amount of moving around May 1, although there will certainly be some. In the business district, a number of the business houses will change their quarters. The climbic movers, those who are going to better quarters and those who are falling back from levels on which they were unable to maintain themselves, will give the van men an amount of work, that will keep them busy for several days, but the number of people moving this spring will be less, if anything, than a year ago.

Rental agents have shown a disposition to hold desirable tenants. Concessions have been made that were unknown heretofore. Agents have found that it is better to drop rent a little, give a few more liberties or improvements, and keep a desirable tenant, than it is to hold to hard and fast rules, let the tenant go and then have a hair-raising time with the next quantity, which remains unknown for but a short time.

SUNNYSIDE TRACTS SELL

Superior Firm Reports Good Demand for Land in New District.

Truck Farmers Expected to Prosper So Near the Market.

A large sale of tracts at Sunnyside near Bardon avenue, on the Wisconsin Central railway and about two and a half miles from the Minnesota Steel company's belt line road, is reported by Heimbaugh and Spring of Superior. This firm has control of a 600-acre tract comprising Sunnyside and has been selling it in ten-acre tracts for truck farming. Each of the ten-acre plots will face on a roadway and the roads will lead to the station at Sunnyside, where a townsite will be established. Purchasers of the tracts get a lot in the townsite free.

Speaking of the deal made by his firm Ernest Heimbaugh says: "The soil is just what is needed for truck farming, being a clay loam with enough sand to make it work easy, and free from rock. The land is just rolling enough to give perfect natural drainage. There are two schools a short distance away on Bardon avenue, and arrangements will be made to secure another at Sunnyside where we have reserved lots on which to build a schoolhouse. Besides this, there will be a daily mail service and every farmer can have a telephone in his house, if he so desires. Sunnyside Gardens are only four miles from the city limits, and Bardon avenue furnishes a fine driveway right into the city.

"The truck farmers at Sunnyside will have the finest of shipping facilities as there is a railway station right on our property.

"People today are land hungry; the high cost of living is forcing them back to the farm and the ideal farm is one of ten acres close to a good market. Statistics show that it is not at all difficult to make a net profit of $3,000 to $4,000 a year from a ten-acre truck farm properly managed, and a man must be a pretty poor specimen that cannot keep his family on ten acres and save at least $1,000 a year. How many men in Superior are doing this today? From the interest already shown we expect these farms will be taken up very quickly, and it is our desire to see them get into the hands of actual truck farmers rather than speculators. The fact of the land being in the Belt line district gives it a big speculative value."

Best Treatment For Colds.

Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderative laxatives, hot foot baths, a free prespiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? For sale by all druggists.

FORMER MAYOR FINCH OF TOLEDO IS MISSING.

Unwritten Law Plea Wins.

Rocky Mount, Va., April 23.—"Not guilty," was the verdict of the jury in the case of Dr. J. S. Cahill, the wealthy dentist, who was charged with the murder of Robert Smithers. The jury delliberated for ten minutes. Counsel for Cahill used the unwritten law as an argument for justification for the crime. Smithers was shot to death by Cahill in a pistol duel.

MARINE NEWS

NO MISHAPS ON SUPERIOR

Wind and Waves Threaten, But No Damage Is Reported.

The high wind of last night and this morning, general over all of the lakes, has lashed them into furious waves that threaten the boats that are out of port. No mishaps have been reported on Lake Superior up to late today, but from lower lake ports come stories of groundings and terrible battles with wind and wave during a blinding snow storm on Lake Michigan.

Lake Superior is evidently faring better than Lake Michigan, for the Duluth station of the United Wireless company was in communication with several boats out on the lake today, and they all reported high wind and waves, but satisfactory progress and no alarming indications. The H. F. Hope and the Thomas Barium communicated with Duluth from near Isle Royale, and the Heffelfinger and D. G. Kerr sent messages from near Keweenaw Point.

The North Star, a Mutual line package freighter, was the only boat to leave he local harbor today, going out early this morning. Though no other boats have gone, there is nothing to prevent them going should the masters desire to do so, the storm is not of sufficient intensity to seriously threaten, unless it should become much worse.

In the harbor the wind makes moving around rather difficult. The Union Towing & Wrecking company is doing no business, the wind making towing too difficult to warrant the company taking chances in moving the big carriers around.

At Sturgeon Bay, Wis., this morning, the steamer Fannie Hart struck the drawbridge, wrecking the bridge.

Mishaps on Lake Michigan.

Lake Michigan was lashed into a fury. The Goodrich line steamer Iowa was ashore between Kenosha and Racine, Wis., but was reported in no danger. Her passenger list was small.

Because of the blinding snow and the howling gale, the steamer City of Benton Harbor, bound from Benton Harbor, Mich., to Chicago, was unable to locate the harbor early this morning, her iceencrusted hulk showing inside the river several hours later.

The steamer Puritan, leaving Chicago at 11:30 last night, bound across the lake, was beaten back to her dock by the gale.

The small lumber schooner Cora was caught thirty miles out by the storm and experienced the greatest danger in making her way back to her wharf.

The official report of the weather bureau states that the weather in the Great Lake region will probably continue unsettled with snow squalls, as the storm will move away very slowly. The report adds:

"Fair weather, however, will prevail almost generally west of the Mississippi. A severe freeze will occur tonight over the eastern Upper Mississippi valley and western lake district, resulting in serious damage to vegetation."

WAGES OF DOCK WORKERS AT CLEVELAND RAISED.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 23.—At a meeting of local dock managers yesterday it was announced that 2,000 dock workers will be granted an increase of wages, the new rate to go into effect not later than May 1. Warren S. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has announced that 500 engineers employed by the Big Four railroad have been given a substantial increase in pay. He would not say what the higher rate is.

Arrivals—Walter Scranton, Sonora, W. F. Fitch, Alex Maitland, L. Robbins, Normannia, coal.

Departures—North Star, merchandise.

The Sault Passages.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up, Friday: Wilpen, Dalton, noon; Manitoba, Matthews, Nessen, 2:30 p. m.; Morgan, Jr., Portland, 5; Peter White, Egan, 7:30; Centurion, W. L. Brown, 10:30. Down: Delaware, John Mitchell, 11:30; Hayward, Linn, 2 p. m.; Baker, Rosedale, 4; Jones, 6:30; Noble, Midland Prince, 8:30. J. S. Dunham, Doric, midnight.

Up Saturday: Elwood, Glenellah, 2 a. m.; D. H. Whitney, George Stevenson, 3; Conesta, Malleton, 5; J. P. Morgan, 7; R. S. Berry, Kanstiquia, 9:30; Corey, 10:30. Down: Fulton, J. W. French, 3 a. m.; Midland Queen, Michigan, 5; Jesse Spaulding, 7; Athabasca, 11:30.

STEAMER IOWA IS AGROUND

Chicago, April 23.—The steamship Iowa of the Goodrich line is aground somewhere between Racine and Kenosha, according to messages received by a wireless telegraph company. The vessel is in no danger, and it is expected she will be floated in a short time. No injuries have been reported.

The tug T. T. Moorford, Capt. Anderson, has been sent to the relief of the Iowa.

It is not thought any serious damage has been done although the vessel has been aground since 4 a. m. The Iowa left Milwaukee at 11 o'clock last night and is supposed to have some passengers aboard, although how many is not known here.

The City of Benton Harbor of the Graham and Morton line arrived here several hours late today after an all night battle with the wind and waves on its way from St. Joe, Mich. It left St. Joe at 10:30 last night. At no time was the City of Benton Harbor in serious trouble, according to the officials of the company.

WHEAT HAS AN ADVANCE

Scores Fractional Gains During the Saturday Half Session.

Flax Options Also Higher in Spite of Listless Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 23.—Wheat advanced today, May gaining ¾c and July ½@⅝c. May wheat opened at $1.09¼ bid, sold at $1.09½, $1.09¼, $1.09⅜, $1.09⅛-⅜, $1.09¼, $1.09⅜, $1.09¾ and closed at $1.09¾ asked. The July option opened at $1.10¼ bid, sold at $1.10¼, $1.10, $1.10⅛-¼, $1.10⅛, $1.10¼, $1.10⅛, $1.09⅞, $1.10½ and closed at $1.10⅜-½. September opened at $1.01½, sold at ¼c higher and closed with bids at $1.01⅜.

Flax was moderately traded in. The undertone was strong. May opened $2.39 bid and sold at $2.40, $2.40½ and closed at $2.40½. July opened at $2.35 asked and sold at $2.34¾ and $2.35. September opened at $1.82 bid, sold at $1.82½, $1.83 and closed with bids at $1.83. October opened with bids at $1.72½, sold at $1.73 and closed at $1.73 bid.

Coarse grains were moderately traded in. Oats closed ⅜c up, rye and barley were unchanged. Durum was ¼c off. Cash wheat was on a parity with May.

Defenders of wheat prices were aided today by the unsettled weather and the willingness of bears to witness further advances in prices. News was favorable to the bulls. Reports from Kansas and Nebraska said that the plan is not improving and that continued freezing weather is doing further damage. These messages came from scattered sources, most of them being sent out, however, by houses that have espoused the bull side. High winds were reported in Central Kansas. In the southwestern portion of Missouri it was reported that wheat had reached the second joint and was being seriously damaged by freezing weather. Chinch bugs are the basis of reports from Kansas and weeds are being used as news factors for other messages. An Omaha elevator man sent out a telegram estimating the wheat crop for Nebraska at 25,000,000 bu. The official estimate last year was 19,650,000 bu.

Bearishly inclined traders conceded that prices might have a slightly further advance. They said that the situation is somewhat perilous on account of the many bad reports which are being sent out from the southwest, but they believe the weather will not affect the growing plant and that as soon as the weather becomes settled prices will sink to an export basis. They pointed out that when the crop situation was removed as a serious market factor two or three weeks ago and the cash position became the dominant element in the market that values promptly slid to the lowest levels in several months. They predict lower levels for wheat believing that conservative traders are prepared to espouse the selling side again. The bears think the market is becoming top heavy and unwieldy. Offerings are not as free as several days ago, however, and wheat is more difficult to buy.

Receipts from the interior are light, indicating the decreasing supplies in country elevators. The attitude of the farmers is again becoming a market factor of some moment. On the bulge he is refusing to sell, apparently believing that the market is on another upward swing that will carry values to former levels or higher. On the other hand the flour demand shows no indication of reviving and there appears to be plenty of wheat in sight for all needs.

Manitoba, Russia, India and Argentina are free sellers of wheat in foreign markets and it is impossible for the foreigner to buy in this country. The grade of Argentia wheat is low and that country will desire to get rid of its exportable surplus at prices considerably under ordinary levels. The chief question that concerns this country seems to be its ability to consume its own wheat at high prices or let the foreigner have some of it at low prices.

Henry L. Bolley of the North Dakota agricultural college has issued the following bulletin on the proper method of cropping new land to flax:

"I am receiving numerous letters requesting information as to how to handle the work of cropping new land to flax.

"If the seed is to be placed upon spring breaking, the point of importance is to break the sod as deeply as it can be conveniently done and yet have the furrow slices lie flat. The plowing should be followed immediately by a roller, and the corrugated roller does the best sort of work on new breaking, tending to loosen the dirt from the root masses. The roller should be followed by a peg-toothed harrow parallel with the furrow slices, the harrowing being done to loosen up enough dirt to fill the cracks between the furrow, and to furnish dirt to allow the drill to cover the seed. A thorough diagonal harrowing will pay for itself provided the harrow teeth strike the furrow slices in such manner as not to turn them over and loosen them up. The seeding should then be done immediately after harrowing (not earlier than May 15 nor later than June 15).

"Run the drill crossways of the furrows. An attempt should be made to have the drill place the seed down between one-half and one inch, not deeper than one inch nor less than one-half inch. Before sowing careful attention should be given to the selection of the seed. Poor scaley diseased seed is what is ruining the crop of flax in North Dakota and destroying the land for flax purposes. Scaley and shriveled seeds are mostly caused by the wilt and canker diseases, and are sure signs of the presence of the wilt spores. I have never examined any Northwestern grown flax seed that did not show wilt spores, no matter how plump and bright colored. This is due to the fact that the disease is very general, and only a few sick plants produce an enormous number of spores which rattle off the dead straws and stick to the seed.

"Clean all seed thoroughly so as to remove all sticks, dirt, chaff and scaley seed. Then treat the seed with formaldehyde as described in our press bulletins 3, 14 and 23. It is absolutely essential in raising flax to thus treat or disinfect the seed. It is not difficult to do if the man who does it is provided with a proper compressed air sprayer so that he can throw a fine misty spray upon the grain while it is being shoveled and raked over. Use one pound of formaldehyde to each forty gallons of water and approximately one-half gallon of the solution for each bushel of dry clean seed. If the grain is thoroughly shoveled and raked while the spraying is being done the grain will be found to be evenly damp all over. If left piled for from one to two hours, it will be thoroughly fit to pass through the drill without any difficulty.

"If the farmers of the Northwest wish to save the flax crop they must follow out these processes of seed treatment, or some process yet to be learned, and if it is not followed there will be no flax crop worthy of the name in the Northwest inside of the next ten years."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Shorts covered at the opening here, stimulated by the firmness in America yesterday and the bullish Modern Miller report, and values were ¼d to ⅜d higher. During the morning the market was dull, but the undertone remained firm and the advance was checked by the dullness and reports that cargoes were more freely offered, and parcels at a slight decline. Bradstreet's indications point to smaller shipments from America and lighter shipments to the United Kingdom than was earlier expected. At the close the market was steady and ¼d to ½d higher than yesterday. Corn market was neglected, with prices unchanged. Spot wheat quiet and unchanged; corn same."

A. J. Payne of London, Eng., a member of the firm of Payne & Routh, grain importers and commission men, was a visitor on the floor today, the guest of George E. Robson. Mr. Payne commented on the fact that Duluth inspection ranks high abroad and that grain from this market is never questioned. He discussed the foreign situation with several members and the tenor of his remarks was bearish. Mr. Payne will visit Winnipeg before returning home. He expects to sail May 11.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Bullishness Prevails in Early Trading and Wheat Prices Hold Up.

Chicago, April 23.—Bullishness prevailed in the early trading in the wheat pit today, and initial gains of from ⅛@⅝c were well maintained through the first hour. Crop damage reports were again numerous particularly from the Southwesterin fields where a reduced yield has been repeatedly predicted. Cold and storms in the Northwest are believed to have worked less havoc with the wheat crop there than in the Kansas and Nebraska fields. September was the favorite option and attracted much of the investment buying. The distant delivery sold between $1.01 and $1.01¼; July worked between $1.02½@1.02⅝ and $1.02¾@1.02⅞, while May traveled from $1.09@1.09½. Opening figures were: July, ⅛@¼c up at $1.02⅝@1.02¾; September, ⅛@⅜c up at $1.01¼@1.01, and May ⅛@¼c to ½@⅝c at $1.09@1.09¾.

Later in the session an improved demand gave the market a stronger tone all round. May advanced to $1.09⅞, July to $1.03⅜ and September to $1.01¾. Offerings were not large and the close was strong at nearly the top figures with May 1 to 1⅛c up at $1.09⅞; July ⅜c higher at $1.03¼, and September ¾c up at $1.01⅝.

Commission houses took the buying side in the corn pit and prices at the outset were from ⅛@⅜c lower. Delay in planting in the corn belt because of inclement weather was a factor which to a slight degree aided the bullish sentiment. May advanced from 58½c to 58⅜c and with other futures rested near the top. Opening figures for May were ⅛@⅜c up, at 58½@58⅝c.

The market held firm with fractional temporary relapses. May went up to 58⅜@58⅞c, the other futures advancing with it. The close was strong with May ¼@⅜c higher at 58⅝@58¾c.

Increased demand by shorts gave a strong tone to the oats pit and September advanced from ¼ to 1c at the start.

The nearby options gained less sharply, opening from ⅛@⅝c up. September dropped slightly from its high point in the first hour, but with the other futures showed a well defined gain. Opening figures for May were ¼@½c up at 42¼@42½c.

Provisions were firm and slightly higher, the advance in live hog prices being the controlling factor. Outside investment was a feature of the first hour, the products keeping their strength, pork opening unchanged to 17½c up; lard 2½@5c higher and ribs from a shade to 2½c up. Opening prices for the May products were: Pork, $22.12½; lard, $12.52½; ribs, $12.45.

REMARKS.

Rain or snow fell over Northeastern Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri; Milwaukee reported six inches snowfall. Freezing temperatures occurred in all districts except Ohio and Kentucky. Severe cold prevails in Minnesota and Dakotas, with lowest temperatures varying from 14 to 20 deg. as a rule.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T. indicates inappreciable rainfall. *For yesterday. †For 24 hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Strong on News of Weather in the Fields.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 23.—Low temperatures in the spring wheat states will probably necessitate the reseeding where wheat is in the germinating stage. This caused the market to be strong, and the upturn movement continued. Local elevator stocks decreased 50,000 bu for one day. Wheat and flour shipments for the week were 480,299 bu in excess of the wheat receipts. Sentiment favored a further advance. Minneapolis today received 97 cars of wheat against 145 cars a year ago; Duluth 19 cars, against 31, and Winnipeg 342, against 145. May opened $1.08⅝; high, $1.09¼; low, $1.08¼; closed, $1.08⅞. July opened $1.09⅛ to $1.09⅜; high, $1.09¾; low, $1.08¾; closed, $1.04⅜. September opened $1.01⅛; high, $1.01⅝; low, $1.00¾; closed, $1.01¼@1.01⅜.

Cash wheat was about steady; demand continued strong. No. 1 northern sold for 1½@3½c above the May option and No. 2 northern for ½c below to 1½c above. Mills are drawing wheat out of the terminals. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern, $1.10¼@1.11⅞; to arrive, $1.09⅞@1.11⅝; No. 2 northern, $1.08⅛@1.09⅞; to arrive, $1.07⅞@1.09⅝. No. 3 wheat, $1.04⅛@1.07⅛. No. 3 yellow corn, 53¾@56¼c; No. 3 white oats, 39⅞@40⅝c; No. 2 rye, 71¾@73¾c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 797 tons. There was no quotable change in the situation today. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $18.00@18.25.

Flour—Shipments continued light. Demand was slow and prices firm. Shipments, 31,998 bbls; first patents in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.20@5.40; second patents, $5.00@5.20; first clears, $4.05@4.15; second clears, $2.80@3.10.

Flax—Receipts, 8 cars; year ago, 4; shipments 5. Demand continued strong at even Duluth May prices, closing $2.40¼.

Barley—Receipts, 17 cars; year ago, 18; shipments, 35. The market was steady today. Demand continued fair. Offerings light, prices firm. Closing range, 51@61c.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, April 23.—Closing: Wheat—Spot, dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock; futures, steady; May 7s 7¼d; July, 7s 6⅞d; September, 7s 6¼d.

Corn—Spot, quiet; New American mixed 5s 2¼d; old American mixed 5s 8¼d; futures nominal.

Small Gains of First Hour Mostly Lost in the Second.

Speculation Is Restricted By Trade Uncertainty and Close Is Dull.

New York, April 23.—Opening changes in prices of stocks were limited mostly to eighths and quarters, and the transactions were very small. There was a rise of a point in Pittsburg Coal and a decline of ⅝ in Republic Steel.

There was no stock offered at ruling prices and brokers had to bid higher to fill orders, causing a rise of about ½ in Reading, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting and Pennsylvania. The higher prices brought out more stock and there was a slight recession. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg preferred gave way 8 points, Iowa Central preferred 1⅜ and Pacific Coast 1.

Speculation at the close was repressed by trade uncertainty, anxiety over the position in the cotton market and a desire to await next Tuesday's dividend action on United States Steel. Price movements in the most prominent stocks were barely perceptible. The small gains of the first hour were partly or wholly lost in the second. Delaware & Hudson rose 3 and American Locomotive and Virginia-Iron 1. Pittsburg Coal preferred and American Steel Foundries lost 1½ and Rock Island preferred and western Union 1.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

STATEMENT OF NEW YORK BANKS

New York, April 23.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks held $15,015,625 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is an increase of $4,035,625 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement follows:

Loans, $1,217,319,700, decrease $9,163,300; deposits, $1,204,660,300, decrease $7,802,500; circulation, $48,324,900, decrease $89,700; legal tenders, $67,181,900, increase $1,098,100; specie, $248,998,700, increase $986,900; reserve, $316,180,700, increase $2,085,000; reserve required, $301,165,075, decrease $1,950,625; surplus, $15,015,625, increase $4,035,625; ex-United States deposits, $15,406,500, increase $4,034,250.

The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing house banks today was 26.06.

The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York not reporting to the clearing house, shows: Loans, $1,180,045,000, increase $5,500,300; specie, $127,143,800, increase $88,000; legal tenders, $21,063,900, decrease $269,600. Total deposits, $1,248,670,700, increase $13,914,600.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., 23.—Cattle—Receipts, 200; market steady, quotations unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 1,100; market 5c higher; range, $9.00@9.20; bulk of sales, $9.05@9.10. Sheep—Receipts, 300; market steady, unchanged; lambs unchanged.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 23.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 8 points on June, but generally unchanged to 2 points lower, which was about in line with the cables. New Orleans bulls bid the new crop months up a point or two, probably on cold weather complaints, but there was no general business and the market later sagged off to a net loss of about 1@5 points under scattering liquidation. Reports that the Southern spot house failure announced earlier in the week had caused heavy losses in both local and foreign trade circles attracted a great deal of attention.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: April 14.81; May, 14.71; June, 14.56; July, 14.51; August, 13.74; September, 12.82; October, 12.37; November, 12.23; December, 12.22; January, 12.20. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 15.15; middling gulf, 15.40. Sales, 100 bales.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO OBSTRUCTING STREET.

The complaint against A. E. Skinner, arrested yesterday for constructing First street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, was dismissed in police court this morning upon the arrest of William F. St. Armour for the same offense.

It appears that St. Armour is the owner of the engine which has been standing in the highway and which was the cause of a valuable fire horse being killed in running to a fire over a week ago. It is claimed that he had been directed to move the obstruction but had failed to do so. He entered a plea of not guilty and will be tried April 26, at 10 o'clock.

Pat Crowe Held Up.

Mansfield, Ohio, April 23.—Pat Crowe, who was the kidnaper of Eddie Cudahy and was later an evangelist, was held up and robbed here last night. Crowe has filed complaint against John Burns, a paroled Ohio reformatory prisoner, who is held in $500 bonds.

SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1910.

The Butte issues are looking fine. Ballaklava is shipping steadily and earning money. Tuolumne sent $85,000 to St. Paul to be deposited to their credit and this was only the earnings for the month of March.

Butte-Alex Scott is now almost to the 1,500-foot level and developments on this level and on the 1,000-foot level will greatly add to the ore reserves and it is almost certain that this one will earn as much money for stockholders as the Tulumne. Full paid at these prices is certainly cheap enough, only 50,000 shares of this in company.

St. Mary's should do much better; it always advances on any strong general movement.

Calumet & Montana was the whole show today and sold up to $1.50.

STRICKEN ON WEDDING EVE

West Duluth Man Goes to Hospital Instead of Church.

Stricken down with a fatal illness on the eve of his wedding day, Knute Herman Swanson, 21 years old, died last night at St. Luke's hospital after a week's illness of pneumonia. He lived with his brother, Fred, at 3712 West Third street.

Swanson was to have been married to Miss Sophia Nelson of Forty-second avenue west and Sixth street, last Saturday evening, but the day before the wedding he was taken ill with pneumonia and was taken to the hospital.

The wedding day was postponed, but the young man failed to rally and last evening he passed away.

The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Olson & Crawford, 2010 West Superior street. The funeral will be held from the undertaking rooms Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment at Scandia cemetery.

Besides his brother, Fred, he is survived by another brother, Oscar, of Coleraine, and a sister who resides in Duluth. The brother in Coleraine fell from a roof two weeks ago sustaining painful, though not serious injuries. He arrived in the West end today to attend the funeral. He is in a crippled condition and has to be attended by a nurse.

CLUB DISCUSSES SHORT WEIGHTS

Grocers and dealers in foodstuffs, who make a practice of giving shortweights when selling at retail, came in for a bitter scoring at the hands of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening. A committee was appointed to see if there was a law whereby it was an offense to give short weight, and if so whether it could be enforced or not.

Most of the grocers buy their potatoes and other vegetables that sell by the bushel from the farmer or wholesaler by weight, counting a certain number of pounds to the bushel as the case may be. It is claimed that when many of the retailers sell the potatoes, they put them in baskets which will not hold a full bushel, thus giving their patrons short weight.

The Commercial club members, in a resolution, brought the council's attention to the matter now pending in regard to the inclosing of baker's bread in paper. The sense of the resolution was to make the proposed ordinance a broad one with provisions that all bread sold by local bakers should be encased in paper.

• • •

An earlier train will be placed on the Northern Pacific Fond du Lac line shortly after May 1, according to an announcement which was made at the club meeting last evening by J. J. Frey.

This train will be placed on the schedule for the benefit of the laboring men who want to make their homes in West Duluth and work in New Duluth.

The announcement that the new train service would be installed was made in The Herald this week.

• • •

It was announced last evening at the club meeting that the Northern Pacific Railroad company stood ready to build the necessary sidetracks to a market place, should it be built.

• • •

A committee comprising J. J. Frey, Andrew Miles and L. A. Sulcove was appointed to look for a favorable site for a new home for the West Duluth Commercial club. The organization has been growing consistently for a number of years and has several hundred dollars on the right side of the ledger. It is planned to purchase a lot now and build a clubhouse later.

• • •

Among other matters that were taken up were the passing of a resolution asking the state fish commission to restock the St. Louis river with pike spawn, and the appointment of an entertainment committee for the farmers' institute, April 30. On the committee were named W. F. Getchell, J. J. Frey and P. H. Martin.

ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING PAROLE.

Because he violated his parole from the state industrial school at Red Wing, Anthony Blotti, 16 years old, son of John Blotti of South Central avenue, was arrested this morning and taken back to the reform institution.

Young Blotti was released some time ago from the institution on the promise of good behavior. He had been sent there by the local authorities, because it was alleged that he took an active part in a series of petty thefts here a year or so ago.

When the police investigated the theft of $15 worth of candy, cigars, groceries, etc., from the small store of Peter Santeerre, 5111 Main street, last Sunday night, they found young Blotti to be one of the ringleaders of the affair.

A warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of petit arceny. He was taken to Red Wing by an officer today. The other boys, three in number, will have their cases disposed of in juvenile court today.

Opens New Cafe.

Emil L. Hollander has leased the dining rooms of the Phillips hotel at Central avenue and Ransey street and will take charge May 1. Mr. Hollander has been chef in some of the largest cafes in the downtown section of the city for many years, and is now going into business for himself. The dining room will be separate from the hotel, with an entrance on Ramsey street. The place has been thoroughly remodeled, an addition built to it and several private dining rooms provided.

AUTO MAKES A HARD JOURNEY

The oldest town in Lake county has been visited by a party which made the trip in a Ford automobile. The Ford was the first car that was ever seen on the streets of Beaver Bay.

Attorney David H. Lawrence and F. E. Evans, accompanied by J. W. Brownell and Frank Flak, all of Two Harbors, left that town on Monday last. They wanted the distinction of being the first party to make Beaver Bay in an automobile.

They claim that the roads were more like trails than roads and they tell of driving over logs and through thick underbrush in the most matter of fact way.

When the members of the party returned to Two Harbors, they did not look as though they had been out for pleasure, but they were glad to have made the trip.

"Murder" is Inquest Verdict.

Chicago, April 23.—Charging murder by arsenical poisoning and urging the police to discover those responsible, a coroner's jury has returned a verdict on the death of Alexander J. Moody pie manufacturer, who expired at his home, Feb. 20.

SUPERIOR

Baxter Gets Contract.

Fred A. Baxter, contractor, was yesterday awarded the $50,000 contract for the grading of the Soo line ore yards and tracks, which are to connect with the ore docks to be constructed by the Soo on the St. Louis bay front and the main line which is a short distance south of the city limits. A crew of men will be put on the job Monday.

Will Wed on Monday.

On Monday morning at 7 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Tessie Casey of Mohall, N. D., to Thomas B. Vaughn of Superior will be solemnized at the bride's home. Mr. Vaughn has left for the North Dakota town in company with several friends who will be present at the wedding. Mr. Vaughn is a traveling salesman for a wholesale liquor firm of St. Paul.

Four Get Appointments.

When the board of public works met yesterday, four appointments were made. Andrew Soleim was named sewer inspector; G. L. Brooks, general sidewalk inspector; W. H. Johnson and F. L. Clark, general street inspectors. The appointments of the various ward foremen were held up until such time as the council hands its recommendations to the board.

Erickson-Gustafson.

The marriage of Miss Emma Erickson, daughter of Charles Erickson of 824 North Eighth street, to Andrew Gustafson of Duluth will be solemnized this evening at the Odd Fellows temple, Twelfth street and Ogden avenue. Two hundred invitations have been sent out and it is expected that the gathering will be a large one

Board Opens Paving Bids.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon, the board of public works opened the bids for the paving of John avenue between North Third and Belknap streets. The prices offered in the bids were much below that which the board has been able to secure before, and two or three materials were figured lower than on the Hughitt avenue contract just let.

Tuesday night, the bids will go to the council. The lowest bidders were: Asphalt block, Diffor & Riches, $41,-196.47; brick, Diffor & Riches, $41,-822.47; creosoted block, E. W. Van Hatten, $43,052.21; bitulithic, Diffor & Riches, $46,972.47.

Two Houses Entered.

The residences of Congressman I. L. Lenroot, 703 West Third street and Attorney Louis Hanitch, 767 West Fourth, street, were burglarized Thursday evening. Nothing of consequence was taken from either place. Both families are out of the city.

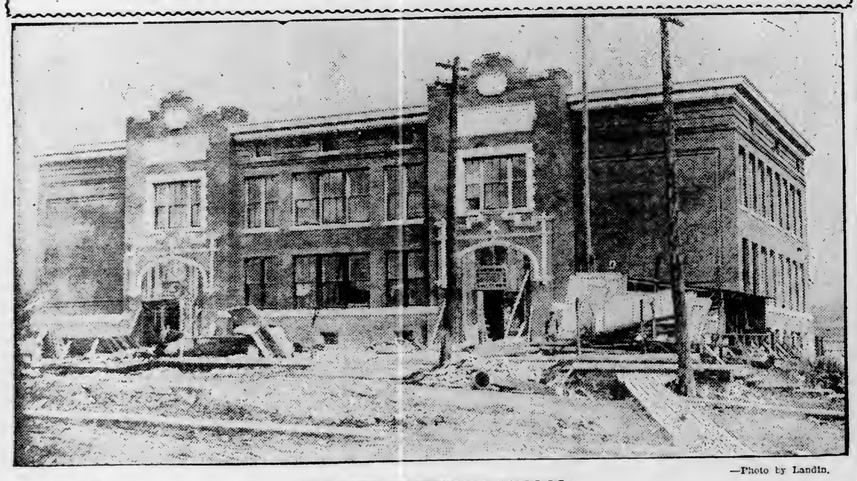
BIG FRAUDS IN COTTON FAILURE



Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—Southern representatives of New York and European cotton firms who rushed to Decatur, Ala., to investigate the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co., declare that transactions involving millions, which preceded and precipitated the crash, may end in prosecutions in the federal courts. It is alleged that irregular bills of lading attached to drafts for heavy amounts were sent to New York and big cotton houses in Europe. New York firms, it is believed, have lost about $1,000,000, while European houses may lose between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

It is predicted here that the failure will tend to revolutionize the cotton business in this country by destroying the confidence of buyers in bills of lading, which hitherto have been honored as if they were actual cotton.

MORE LIDS APPLIED.

Frazee, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last Tuesday William E. Johnson, the chief special officer of the Indian department, issued a second closing-up order. The towns in this vicinity affected are Vergas, Luce, Sebekah, Detroit and McHugh. Perham escaped by a close call, being but a mile out of the line.

NEW FAIRMONT SCHOOL BUILDING WILL BE READY FOR THE OPENING OF FALL TERM

THE NEW FAIRMONT SCHOOL.

Eighth grade scholars, who would have finished their course in the old Fairmont school, had it not burned down last year, will not have an opportunity to graduate into the high school from the new Fairmont structure, as was originally planned by the board of education, when the contract was first let last December.

Contractor Schleunes, who was awarded the contract for the work had considerable trouble getting his material at the time of the switchmen's strike. The result was that the job was tied up for some time. The school board extended the contract time from April 1 to May 15.

Although, it is expected that the building will be finished about a week before the close of the school year, it is probable that the graduation exercises will not be held in the building. A member of the board stated today that, in view of the fact that the structure was erected in the winter and had not yet had a chance to dry out it would be best not to occupy it until the fall term.

Work on the exterior has been completed, except for a few finishing touches. On the inside, the plastering is about done and the finishing work has been started. The contract price of the new school was $66,000, which includes the heating, plumbing and wiring.

The new school house is located at Sixtyy-seventh avenue west and Redruth street. It is a ten-story building, with an auditorium.

WORKING FOR ACCURACY

Census Enumerators Showing Good Spirit in Their Efforts.

The census enumerators are "Doing it for Duluth" now. They are getting down to the fag ends of their districts, are making long hikes for a few names, are working hard to get every person in their districts and for the scattered parts, their compensation is very little.

The enumerators are imbued with a patriotic spirit. While other people are co-operating with the census department in attempting to secure an accurate count of the city, the enumerators are doing the real work. They get 2½ cents a name and when one travels about a mile for about 12½ cents, he is doing real work for little compensation.

Supervisor Hollister and Assistant Supervisor Allen are well pleased with the work the enumerators are doing and the spirit they are showing. They are faithful and hardworking. Though a little extra work is necessiated to secure one or two names, they are not shirking the work to the damage of the results. They are just as anxious as anybody to secure an accurate count of the city and their efforts to secure it are much more productive of results than those of anybody not in the service.

Most of the thickly populated sections of the city have already been covered and next week will be given over largely to picking up the odds and ends. The people who live in houses that are closed during the day will have to be sought out at their business places, the enumerators will have to work hard to secure data on people who are temporarily out of the city and on people who have moved away since April 15.

Every person, who had his place of abode in this city April 15 is supposed to be counted. The census officials are anxious to get them all and any information as to people whom the enumerators may not find will be gratefully received.

The central office has been found a great convenience. The enumerators use the telephone to settle all vexatious questions, people who think they have been missed in the count call up to ask for individual blanks and all manner of complaints and suggestions are received.

On the whole the work is going along smoothly and is being thoroughly done. When it is all over next week, the government will have a count of the residents of Duluth that will be as nearly accurate as it is possible for human efforts to make it.

$50,000 WORTH OF CEMENT WALKS

It is estimated that about $50,000 worth of cement and wooden sidewalks will be constructed in different parts of the city this year. Each year more cement walks have been laid and the proportion of cement walks this year will probably be larger than ever before. The board opened bids and awarded contracts yesterday. The walks to be laid will be ordered by the city council. The board awarded contracts for two sprinkling carts to the Austin Manufacturing Company of Aurora, Ill, whose bid was $285 each. They also bought one sweeper from the same company for $185.

MEET AFTER TWENTY YEARS

A dispatch to The Herald from Roseburg, Or., says:

"After being separated twenty years and thinking each other dead, Richard G. Hall and Walter G. Hall of Duluth, Minn., met in the lobby of a hotel here yesterday.

"They recognized each other at first glance.

"The son recently arrived here from the East to look over the country, while the father, at present residing on a homestead on the Blue river, in Lane county, was in town looking after business before the United States land office."

It is generally believed here that Mr. Hall knew his father was on a homestead in Oregon when he left here for the Pacific coast and that he expected to meet his father there.

PAYS $10,000 TO HEIRS.

Fargo, N. D., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Pacific railroad representatives today settled with the heirs of Edward G. Boemmels of Lisbon, N. D., for $10,000. Boemmels was killed in an Ontario wreck in January. His wife and daughter get the money.

Senator McCumber Better.

Washington, April 23.—Senator McCumber's condition was reported this morning as having improved. His temperature has gone down to about 99, and nurses and physicians regarded his condition as favorable.

COTTON CROP IS HARD HIT BY THE COLD

Severe Damage Sends Prices Up $1.75 on New Orleans Exchange.

Storm and Freezing Weather Widespread---Ohio Crops Suffer Somewhat.

Hot Wave in Newfoundland Sends Mercury to 85 in the Shade.

New Orleans, April 25.—Freezing weather and snow in many parts of the South sent cotton up $1.75 on the opening in the local future market today. The new crop is reported killed in many places.

Reports received here today from many sections of Louisiana and Mississippi indicate that thousands of acres of cotton, severely damaged by the cold of last night and the night before, will have to be replanted.

One of the contentions of the long side was that planters were short of seed and that if the cotton was killed in many places by the cold weather, another short crop would be in order this season.

Texas is said to have suffered severely.

All of the cotton which was put up in many parts of the interior of the South is reported killed and the seed which had been put in the ground is said to be rotting.

Some Damage in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, April 25.—State Inspector of Nurseries Shaw said today that the report of the damage to fruit throughout Ohio are exaggerated. There has been some damage to cherries and other early fruit, he said, but

SWITCHMAN MAY BE MURDER VICTIM

St. Paul Police Put Detective to Investigating Cause of His Death.

St. Paul, Minn., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Coroner Edmund Stevens, after looking at the body of Thomas Burke, a Minneapolis switchman whose body was found in the river near the booms of the St. Paul Boom company yesterday afternoon, said this morning that the wound in the back of Burke's head had evidently been made with a club. He will hold a post-mortem.

While the police say they believe Burke was a victim of an accident, the fact that Detective James Murnane was assigned to the case and sent to Minneapolis this morning, seems to indicate a suspicion on the part of the authorities of foul play.

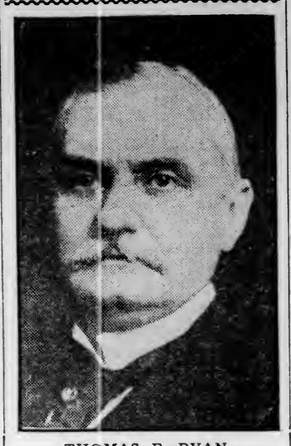
The police refused to allow a Minneapolis undertaker to have the body this morning, pending the result of their investigation.

WESTON MAY GET TO NEW YORK FRIDAY

Pedestrian Says Friends' Tobacco Smoke Was What Made Him Sick.

Utica, N. Y., April 25.—Edward Payson Weston left Vernon, eighteen miles west of this city, where he had remained over Sunday, at 2:15 this morning. He passed through this city at 7 o'clock facing a strong wind from the east and occasional showers. He said he expected to reach Little Falls today. Four miles east of the city he stopped at a farm house for breakfast and a rest till 9:30.

To the Associated Press reporter Mr. Weston said:



"I hope to get to New York Friday afternoon or evening, though I may not be able to reach there until Saturday. It all depends on the condition of the roads. I am practically recovered from my illness of Saturday, though I am still somewhat weak. I guess the cigars my friends smoke were too strong for me, for while I did not smoke, and detest smoke, I was in it for a couple of hours and it made me sick."

ZEPPELIN II IS SMASHED

Big German Airship Runs Away and Is Dashed to Pieces.

Limburg-an-der-Lahn, Prussia, April 25.—The Zeppelin II, one of the three dirigible balloons of the German government's aerial fleet, ran away today and was destroyed. The airship was forced to descend here last night owing to a storm encountered while attempting a return trip from Hamburg to Cologne. It broke its moorings today and without a crew drifted in a northeasterly direction. A half hour later the dirigible dropped at Wellburg and was smashed to pieces.

HOPES TO STEP INTO SENATOR DANIEL'S SHOES

THOMAS F. RYAN.

Richmond, Va., April 25.—The great ambition of the life of Thomas Fortune Ryan is to occupy a seat in the United States senate. In the event of the death of Senator Daniel, it is believed that Governor Mann will appoint Mr. Ryan for the unexpired term. Mr. Ryan was born in Nelson county, Virginia, in 1851. He began life in a Baltimore dry goods house, but in 1874 he went to New York and entered Wall street. Mr. Ryan is an ardent Virginian and owns a magnificent estate in that state comprising hundreds of acres. Mr. Ryan has been the power behind the throne in the Virginia state Democratic machine for years.

WIRE TELLS OF TRAGEDY

Operator Calls on Head Office for Help---Says He Is Dying.

Man He Accuses Also Sends Message Telling His Side of Affair.

Danville, Ky., April 25.—"I am bleeding to death. Hurry engine here and take me to doctor. I have been shot by operator A. F. Hudson."

This message came last night to R. C. Reed of the Queen & Crescent route from Cave Springs, Tenn., from C. H. Kennedy, an operator. Reed ordered a freight train to take a siding at Rathbun, Tenn., directed the engineer to abandon the freight cars, pick up a passenger coach and "go after Kennedy."

The wounded operator was lying unconscious on the floor. He is probably fatally hurt.

Tells the Other Side.

News that Kennedy had been rescued had hardly reached here when Hudson, whom Kennedy accused of the shooting, wired his account of the trouble. He claimed Kennedy and several companions had caused a disturbance near the Hudson home, and that when Hudson remonstrated, Kennedy attacked him.

The telegram also said that in the scuffle, in which other men joined, Kennedy's pistol was discharged and the latter was shot three times by his own weapon.

PACIFIC MERGER CASE TO BE SET

Announcement of Date Will Be Made at St. Paul in May.

Washington, April 25.—The hearing of the government case for the dissolution of the merger of the Southern and Union Pacific railroads will take place probably about Oct. 1. The selection of a definite date and place will be made by the judges of the Eighth circuit at St. Paul, Minn., in May.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY ANNOUNCES RAISE.

Princeton, Ind., April 25.—Official notice was given at the Southern railway shops here today of the general increase of 3½ cents an hour in all mechanical departments of the shops throughout the Southern railway system, with the exception of the machinists, who receive an increase of 4½ cents an hour. This advance becomes effective from April 1.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812 MEET IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 25.—More than 200 delegates to the national convention of the Daughters of 1812 were present when the session opened here today. The convention will continue three days. President Taft will receive the daughters Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. E. A. Horton to Retire.

Boston, Mass., April 25.—Rev. Edward A. Horton, for twenty-five years executive head of the Unitarian Sunday School society and one of the leading Unitarian preachers in the country, will relinquish his duties June 1 next. His successor will be chosen at the annual meeting of the society on May 27.

Killed by Wild Parsnips.

New York, April 25.—James Murhead, a 15-year-old Staten Island boy, ate "wild parsnips" yesterday on a woodland jaunt and died in agony early today.

AFTER JURY FIXERS NOW

Pittsburg Again the Scene of Quizzing By the Grand Jury.

District Attorney Keeps Immunity Bath Open for Councilmen.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25.—A new grand jury began service in Allegheny county today. Whether testimony will be presented to the inquisitorial body covering further alleged irregularities in the city council has not been made known by the district attorney. However, attention will be given to alleged jury tampering covering a recent trial of an indicted councilman in this city.

The district attorney, to keep the courthouse clear of possible jury fixers, today had a crops of special detectives on hand.

The doors to the "immunity bath" are still open. District Attorney Blakely says he will not insist upon the sentence of any one of the "small fry" in the aldermanic exposures who may go before a court and tell the truth." Several confessions are expected this week.

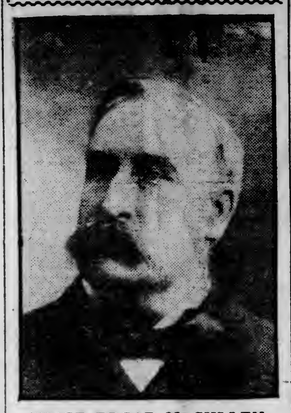
AERIAL DERBY FOR ENGLAND

Paulhan and White Are Entered for Flying Race of 186 Miles.

London, April 25.—An aerial derby from London to Manchester, 186 miles, is in prospect for Wednesday. Both Graham White, who failed in his attempt last week, and Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, who arrived here last night, are planning to start for the $50,000 prize.

M. Paulhan gave official notice to the Aero club today of his intention. White is confident the repairs to his machine will be completed in time to permit him to ascend simultaneously with the Frenchman.

Paulhan contemplates a continuous flight, though according to the rules of the contest two stops are allowed. Both men will use Farman bi-planes.



The British army airship which recently made successful trial flights was caught by a gust of wind at Farnborough when it was taken out of its shed this afternoon and quickly turned turtle.

The gas bags were torn to shreds and the frame work smashed to bits.

ACCUSED OF BREACH OF NEUTRALITY LAW.

New Orleans, La., April 25.—The sailing of the steamer Venus for the eastern coast of Nicaragua with arms and supplies said to be for the forces of the titular government depends on the outcome of the hearing before a United States commissioner today. Louis Kohlman, said to have leased the Venus and Capt. Hyland, in charge of the vessel, appeared for a hearing on charges of violating the neutrality laws.

IS SUGGESTED FOR THE FEDERAL SUPREME BENCH

JUDGE EDGAR M. CULLEN.

New York, April 25.—The name of Judge Edgar M. Cullen of Brooklyn has been mentioned s a possible successor to the late Justice Brewer on the supreme court bench. Judge Cullen was born in Brooklyn in 1843. He was admitted to the bar in 1867 and was appointed a supreme court justice of New York in 1880. He served during the Civil war as colonel of the Ninety-sixth New York volunteers.

THREE DIE IN FLAMES

Woman and Daughters Perish in Burning of Depot at Egeland, N. D.

G. A. Kruger Makes Futile Efforts to Save Wife and Children.

Egeland, N. D., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. G. A. Kruger and her daughters, Lucille, 7 years old, and Beatrice, aged 5 years, were victims of a Sunday morning fire in the Soo depot here.

Awakening at the smell of smoke and crackling of flames, Mr. Kruger aroused his wife and children, taking them into a room from which escape was to be made by a window. Leaving them for a moment to open the window, Kruger was suddenly cut off from them by flames which forced him to leap from the window.

Guided by the screams of his wife and children, imprisoned behind the wall of flames, Kruger made several attempts to gain entrance to the burning building, but each time was forced back by the flames.

The bodies, charred beyond any semblance of human beings, were found later. Kruger has lived here four years and intended removing to Montana this spring.

Funeral services for the victims were held this morning in the Presbyterian church. This afternoon the bodies were shipped to Cyrus, Minn., Mrs. Kruger's former home, where interment will take place.

GAY PAREE IS TEDDY'S HOST

Ex-President, as Guest of the City, Is Given Special Attentions.

His Lecture at the Sorbonne Calls Out Favorable Comment.

Paris, April 25.—Theodore Roosevelt was the guest of the city of Paris today in the magnificent Hotel De Ville, or town hall, which has played so conspicuous a part in French history. The present structure was erected in 1876, being modeled after the original building, which was burned by the communards in 1871. Throughout the revolutions the Hotel de Ville was the usual rallying place of the Democratic as opposed to the Court party. It was here the revelutionary tribunal sat in 1790-4. Here also, in August, 1830, Louis Phillippe appeared on the balcony and in full view of the populace, embraced La Fayette; and from the steps of the building on Feb. 24, 1848, Louis Blanc proclaimed the institution of the Republic.

As honorary president of the Academy of Sports, Mr. Roosevelt has accepted the invitation of President He-

MANY IGNORE STRIKE VOTE

Men Are Going Back to Work at Pressed Steel Car Plant.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25.—Despite the vote of members of the Industrial Workers of the World to continue on strike until their demands are met by the company, many members of the organization reported for work at the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company today. There was no disorder. About 1,000 of the company's employes are still on strike.

CHICAGO GRAND JURY AT WORK

Alleged Defrauding of City By Fictitious Coal Bills Is Looked Into.

Chicago, April 25.—A grand jury investigation of alleged frauds whereby the city is said to have lost in the neighborhood of $50,000 by paying fictitious bills for coal was begun here today. The first witnesses were representatives of the fire department, to which most of the coal was consigned.

FIGHTING FOR HUSBAND IN SWOPE MURDER TRIAL

MRS. B. CLARK HYDE.

HYDE'S WIFE LEADS FIGHT

Frames Questions Intended to Destroy Effect of Nurse's Testimony.

Prosecutor in Swope Murder Case Declares State's Notes Were Stolen.

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—When Attorney Frank Walsh reopened his cross-examination of Miss Anna Houlihan, a nurse, in the Swope murder trial today, he was aided by Mrs. B. C. Hyde, wife of the defendant.

All day yesterday, in her home out in exclusive Forest avenue, Mrs. Hyde worked on a plan to break down the story of the nurse who was so conspicuous during the tempestuous days in the Swope homestead. The defense sharply questioned Miss Houlihan Saturday.

Numerous charts were drawn and lists of suggestions were written by Mrs. Hyde yesterday to be used in the fight on the nurse's testimony today. There is not a circumstance connected with the illness in the Swope family that Mrs. Hyde is not conversant with. She has been conspicuous in planning her husband's battle for life. Mrs. Hyde says she does not intend to stop her work with drawing the charts or jotting down questions to ask the nurse. She is constantly at her hus-

MILWAUKEE MEN NOT TO BE TRIED

Land Fraud Cases Are Dismissed on Orders From Wickersham.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 25.—Suits for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government against J. M. Pereles, T. J. Pereles and H. M. Benjamin, prominent Milwaukee men, in connection with the incorporation of the Wisconsin Coal company to operate coal lands in Colorado, have been dismissed by order of Attorney General Wickersham, according to advices received today by United States District Attorney H. K. Butterfield.

Other cases connected with the Wisconsin Coal company were dismissed several months ago.

WANT TO KNOW OF THE THIRD DEGREE

Senate Committee Votes to Conduct Examination Into Police Methods.

Washington, April 25.—The senate committee on judiciary voted today to conduct a thorough examination into what is known as "third degree" methods of extorting confessions from persons charged with crime; also the practice of employing persons in the espionage of jurors.

BRITISH COLUMBIA STRIKE SPREADS

More Men Go Out in Sympathy With Miners at Greenwood.

Phoenix, B. C., April 25.—Following the strike that closed the ore mines at Greenwood, B. C., the miners' union here today declared a sympathetic strike. This strike puts 2,500 men out of work at the Granby smelter at Grand Forks, B. C. The total number of men idle at both places is 3,500.

MINE GUARD IS STABBED AT VIRGINIA

Set Upon By Seven Montenegrins Who Refused to Leave the Place.

Harry Wilcox Is in Critical Condition as Result of Attack.

Two Foreigners Are Arrested and Identified---Others Being Sought.

Virginia, Minn., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Wilcox, an Oliver Iron Mining company patrolman in the district around the Virginia mine, lies in a critical condition at the Malmgren hospital, as a result of an assault made upon him by seven Montenegrins, all miners employed by the company.

With his right arm nearly severed from his body, a long gash across the forehead and several cuts about the body, the chance for the recovery of Wilcox is doubtful.

The assault occured at about 7 o'clock last night, near the Iron Range depot. The Montenegrins, who had all been drinking quite heavily, undertook to go onto the property of the mining company, but were ordered off by Wilcox.

Refused to Leave Property.

They refused to go and when Wilcox tried to force them off three attacked

MIGHT BUILD IN THE LAKE YARDS

Merchant Marine Men Give Out Suggestion at Ship Subsidy Hearing.

Washington, April 25.—Possibilities of a boom of shipbuilding in the shipyards of the Great Lakes to turn out craft for the high seas, if the so-called restoration of the merchant marine were accomplished by subsidy legislation, were hinted at Saturday before the select house committee finished its investigation of charges which have been made in connection with ship-subsidy legislation.

When the hearing was resumed today, Secretary John A. Penton of the Merchant Marine League of the United States again took the stand to continue his testimony.

The questioning left off on Saturday when Secretary Penton was being questioned about what pecuniary interest members of the league might have in ship-subsidy legislation, and the examination was taken up from that point today.

FORMER REBELS MEET IN MOBILE

Confederate Veterans Gather for Reunion in the Alabama City.

Mobile, Ala., April 25.—The ancient city of Mobile was today en fete for the reception of the United Confederate Veterans. Her streets and public buildings were a mass of gaily colored bunting and glimmering lights. After delightful summer weather for a month or more, the weather wizard developed a grouch yesterday and delivered the first blizzard Mobile has had in years. The mercury dropped to 38 deg. above zero; but the sun is out today.

While the real opening of the reunion does not take place until tonight, when the Sons have their first session, impromptu reunions of old comrades are taking place every moment.

SILVERWARE IN THE COLLECTION

New York Church People Give Odd Bits to Help Pay Off Debt.

New York April 25.—With the help of an appraiser, Canon William Shefese today began the examination of a bushel of gold, gems and silverware, the proceeds of a unique collection taken yesterday at Christ Protestant Episcopal church in Brooklyn to secure a fund for paying off a debt on the rectory. Ushers carried big baskets down the aisles, and into these the congregation dropped bits of jewelry and coins, each article being securely wrapped and sealed. A sale will be held later at which those who gave up cherished pieces of jewelry will have opportunity to bid them back again.

The silverware and gold will be disposed of at the assay office and melted down. One of the smallest packages dropped into the baskets accidentally became unsealed and a $10 gold piece fell out.

MUCH ADO OVER TEDDY

French Officials Pay Glowing Tribute to Guest of Their Capital.

Ex-President Protests Against Being Idealized and Praises Paris.

Paris, April 25.—Mr. Roosevelt's reception at the Hotel de Ville today was most flattering. The vestibules and imposing grand staircase had been beautifully decorated with potted plants and flowers, and the guest was escorted to the council chamber through lines of brilliantly uniformed republican guards. As he entered the chamber he was given a great ovation both from the floor and from the galleries, which were crowded with ladies.

Among the prominent persons present were: Premier Briand and other members of the cabinet, a representative of President Fallieres and many members of parliament. The speeches of Mm. Caron, Deseelves, Lampute and Lepine were impressive tributes to the former president of the United States.

Pays Great Tribute.

In etending the formal welcome of the city, M. Caron said Mr. Roosevelt loomed up to Paris as "what we call a man because, being courageous, you have mastered yourself by reflection; because, though passionately loving a struggle, you love more passionately conciliation and peace; because you are a patriot to whom your country owes great achievements; and because you represent the conviction that the law of work is the fundamental law of being, a belief you have so brilliantly developed in asserting that the man wilfully idle and the woman wilfully sterile have no right place in a healthy, robust and vigorous community."

M. Lepine spoke with much feeling, declaring that the demonstrations made by the French people in honor of Mr. Roosevelt showed that he had touched their hearts.

Paris Respects Him.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to believe that Paris is skeptical and frivolous. Beneath the ashes the fire burns, and the soul of the people is as full of idealism as in the most glorious days of our history. Paris respects you and and of the Jewish schools which flourished in Babylonia after the dispersion. The Jews of Turkey, Northern Africa, the Southern European countries and most of those in Palestine follow this rite.

Originate in Germany.

The Ashkenazim are the German Jews, or original German, who take their religious rites and their language from the Jews of Galilee. A large colony of Jews was removed from Tiberias in Galilee to Germany by the Roman emperor, Hadrian. These Jews became the founders of the great Jewish race of the North, which spread over all of Germany, Poland, Hungary and Russia.

The Jews of Yemen are few in number, but they represent the purely Oriental division of Jews. The Jewish colonies in India and China are of the Yemen body. When the Jews were expelled from Spain in 1492, the Sefardim were the wealthiest and most influential people in the world, controlling as they did the larger part of the commerce of the Mediterranean, which meant practically the commerce of the world. For the last four centuries they have diminished steadily in numbers and in influence, while the Ashkenazim have increased until now they outnumber the other sect in the ratio of seven to one. The greater number of Jews in the United States follow the Ashkenazim rite. The divisions known popularly as orthodox and reformed are sub-divisions of these, and are unknown except in Germany and the United States.

NORTH DAKOTA FRUIT RUINED

Wheat in General Suffers But Little From Severe Weather.

Fargo, N. D., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Telephonic inquiries to several points in the state this morning indicate that no damage has been done to the wheat crop that was already up or had just been seeded, but fields in which seed was just at the germinating point, or where there were low spots, may have to be reseeded.

Outside of the crop in this stage, the only other damage was to fruit and shrubs. The entire fruit crop was destroyed. Ideal weather conditions prevail now.

CLOQUET BOY IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Falls Twenty-Five Feet, Striking on Head and Cannot Live.

Cloquet, Minn., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fosston Garanda, a 16-year-old boy, in the employ of the Northern Lumber company, at their upper mill, was so seriously injured by falling fom the top of the mill, Saturday afternoon, that he is not expected to live. Garanda was standing on a narrow plank at the top of the mill, helping the carpenter put in some new windows, when he lost his balance while holding one of the windows in place, and fell. He fell about twenty-five feet, striking on his head on a guard railing. His skull was fractured as well as being internally injured. He was rushed to the Cloquet hospital, where he is now in a dying conditon. He lives in Sturgeon Lake, where he supports his mother and a younger brother.

OBSERVE THE PASSOVER

Services Held in Synagogues of Duluth Saturday and Sunday.

Feast Commemorates Escape of Israelites From Bondage in Egypt.

At 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening formal observance of the feast of the Passover was begun by the Jews of Duluth. In the synagogue there were services at that hour to observe the beginning of the period, and yesterday the ceremonies incident to the celebration were continued. The feast of the Passover extends over a period of eight days.

The orthodox synagogues observe the first two and the last two days with services. The difference in the observances of the two bodies is largely one of ritual, the orthodox being more elaborate, and the music being made a greater feature of the reformed. In Duluth there are three synagogues, two orthodox and one reformed.

The fifteenth day of the month of Nisan in the year 5670, according to the Jewish calendar, began at Sunset Saturday evening, and that moment marks the beginning of the feast. It is the first and most important of the three festivals when the Jews were wont to present themselves before Jehovah in Jerusalem, the others being Pentecost and the Feast of Tabernacles. The Passover was the great spring feast of the Jews, and was celebrated to commemorate the escape from bondage in Egypt, when Jehovah smote all the male first-born in the land of Egypt, except those of the chosen people, who had sprinkled the blood of a lamb on the lintel and the side posts of their doors. Jehovah passed over the houses so designated, sparing the lives of the first-born, and the children of Israel departed from Egypt.

This feast has been observed religiously by the Jews ever since the time of Moses. Not even the dispersion and the consequent division of the Jewish people into sects has affected materially its ceremonies and ritual. The day also is of peculiar significance to Christians, for the institution of the Lord's Supper was on the occasion of the celebration of the Passover by Jesus and his disciples.

The seven days following the Passover proper are observed as the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and during these eight days the orthodox Jew will eat no leavened bread.

The Jews of the world are divided into three bodies, and these in turn are subdivided according to habitation and minor ritualistic differences. The two great bodies are the Sefardim and the Askenazim, while the third large subdivision is composed of the Jews of Yemen, or Southern Arabia. The Sefardim are those Jews who observe the Spanish and Portuguese rite. They are the inheritors of the language of Christ-

CONTRACTS FOR SIDEWALK LET

W. H. Kilton was the successful bidder on wooden walks to be built in the city this year, the board of public works awarding him the contract this morning. He was also the successful bidder for th cement work west of Twelfth avenue west.

D. H. Clough was the lowest bidder for cement walks east of Twelfth avenue west and Thomson & Stewert got the contract for cement walks on Park Point.

TAGGART'S PLAN FAILS TO TAKE

Indiana Democratic Leaders Want Convention to Pick Senatorial Nominee.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—The proposition of Thomas Taggart that if the Democrats of Indiana elect their legislative ticket this fall, a state-wide primary election be held to choose a candidate for United States senator, did not meet today with the approval of those who desire the state convention on Wednesday and Thursday of this week to indorse a candidate for the senate.

Governor Marshall, who first proposed the plan, said today:

"I shall expect the convention to settle that question as it should settle all other questions that come up, to suit itself and not to please me or any one else."

John E. Lamb of Terre Haute ridiculed the idea.

"No sir," said he. "We want the convention to indorse some one for United States senator."

SEVERAL HURT IN STRIKE FIGHT

Pennsylvania Troopers and Miners Clash at Bradenville Works.

Latrobe, Pa., April 25.—The state constabulary, troopers and striking coal miners at the Bradenville mines of the Latrobe & Connellsville Coal & Coke company clashed today, and in the conflict several miners and troopers are reported injured.

A number of miners decided to return to work, it is said, but the strikers interfered. Troopers attempted to disperse the strikers at the mine shaft and were met with resistance. Several arrests were made.

TAILOR TELLS OF BLOODY CRIME

Passengers on Car Horrified By Hallucinations of Insane Man.

Passengers on a canal-bound car on Minnesota Point were worked to a high pitch about 9 o'clock last evening by descriptions of a bloody murder which was supposed to have been committed in the city Sunday afternoon.

All the horrible details were recounted by Frank O. Anderson, a tailor, now under arrest at the police station charged with insanity. He recounted each step of the bloody affair, telling just where each of the dead people had been stabbed or shot. Before he finished he had raised visions of a scene of the tragedy looking like the field of Gettysberg after the first day's battle.

The conductor notified police headquarters as soon as the car reached the canal. Detective Schulte and Irvine boarded the next West Duluth car from the canal and took Anderson into custody.

In the jail he went through all the motions of fitting a man with a suit of clothes. He was taken to the county jail to await an examination as to his sanity.

FRENCH ELECTION RETURNS MADE

One Minister and Count Boni Are Among Those Who Are Not Elected.

Paris, April 25.—Returns known up to 3 o'clock this afternoon from the general elections to the new chamber of deputies held yesterday, with nine districts unreported, are as follows: Republicans, 57; Radical and Radical-Socialists, 154; Independent Socialists, 10; Unified Socialists, 28; Progressives, 43; Nationalists, 12; Conservatives, 53; no choice, 231.

All of the members of the cabinet were re-elected with the exception of M. Millerand, minister of public works, posts and telegraphs, who with Paul Doumer, Jean Jaures, the Socialist leader, Pierre Leroy-Beaulieu, Count Boni de Castellane and Henri Driscon, president of the last chamber, are mong those in whose constitutencies a second ballot will be required.

The Republicans gained two seats and lost two; the Radicals gained two and lost nineteen; Independent-Socialists gained one and lost one; Unified Socialists gained five and lost four; Progressives gained ten and lost nine; Nationalists gained one and lost two, and the Conservatives and Liberals gained five and lost seven.

SUPERIOR

J. J. HILL IN SUPERIOR

Chairman of Great Northern Board Visits Head of Lakes.

James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad, is in Superior today on an official visit with a number of other officers of the road.

He arrived in the city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The remainder of the day will be spent by Mr. Hill in inspecting the terminals of the Great Northern at Allouez.

The building of one of the company's ore docks is well under way, and many improvements are being made at the terminals. The yards are being extended and other equipment is being installed.

Mr. Hill and the other officials, one of whom is said to be a personal representative of J. Pierpont Morgan, are on their way to the iron ranges. They will make an inspection of the Great Northern property there. It is not believed that any stop will be made at Duluth.

From the range the party is due to go to Portland, where further inspection will be made of the Great Northern extensions.

WITH THE AMATEURS.

Binghams Defeat Columbias—Other Sunday Game on the Diamond.

The Binghams defeated the Columbias, 15 to 5, in a baseball game yesterday on the Billings Park grounds. The hardware boys featured the game with strong stick work, securing seventeen hits off Cole of the Duluth clothiers.

In a 12-inning game, the Red Cross, Jr. baseball aggregation defeated the Crescent Jrs. The score was 1 to 0. The game was played on the Billings Park grounds. The Red Cross team will mix with the Blaine grade team next Sunday at Hammond park.

The Rossiter Kids trimmed the Hugenots to the tune of 13 to 7. The Rossiter aggregation has played seven games this year and lost but one, this going to an aggregation called "The Creamery Kids," when the score stood 7 to 3.

By a 10 to 4 score, the Maroons won their first game of the season by defeating the Amundsen baseball team, in a game on the Oakes avenue grounds yesterday afternoon. Last year the Maroons carried off everything in the amateur line in Northern Wisconsin.

The Badgers won in a game with South Superior yesterday by a score of 8 to 2.

FUNERAL OF YOUNG MAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Thoren Carlson, who was killed Thursday at Grand Rapids, Minn., by a dynamite explosion. The services will be held from the Leraan undertaking parlors with burial at Graceland cemetery. He was struck and fatally injured by debris blown from a stump by a heavy charge of dynamite. He has a sister and a brother living in Superior. Carlson was 18 years old.

Allouez Boy Missing.

Arthur, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson of Allouez, has been missing from his home since Thursday last. The father of the boy gave him $2 Thursday afternoon and since that time none of the family or friends have heard from him. The police are looking for the boy. When last seen, he wore a black coat, black cap and grey striped trousers.

Bijou Changes Hands.

Gust Egdahl, saloon keeper on lower Tower avenue, has secured a controlling interest in the stock company which has taken over the lease of the Bijou theater, a vaudeville house. It is understood that R. L. Crandall will succeed L. O. Whittier as manager of the theater. Mr. Whittier, it is understood, will go on the vaudeville stage.

TO REPRODUCE OPERETTA.

"National Flower" Will Be Repeated at Cloquet Monday Evening.

Cloquet, Minn., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "National Flower," the operetta presented by the children of the public schools was so well liked, that another performance will be given tonight.

The children gave two performances Saturday, matinee and evening, but even then a large number of people were turned away, so great was the demand for seats. The play, which is under the direction of Miss Clara G. Draper, instructor of music in the public schools, was the greatest success of anything of that nature ever attempted by the children of this city.

Class honors were awarded to the following members of the senior class of the Cloquet high school: Valedictorian, Charles Sarchet; salutatorian, Clarence Patterson.

The date for commencement has not yet been decided, but these two young people, and the following will appear on the program: Class orator, John D. Rogentine; class poet, Ruth Swenson; historian, Alice Erwin; prophet, Rill Morgan.

GOVERNMENT WANTS HEARINGS IN OCTOBER.

Washington, April 25.—The government took time by the forelock today by asking the supreme court of the United States to set practically all the cases in which it is interested for hearing of the beginning of the next term, October next.

Among these cases was the appeal of the government from the dismissal of the indictments against Gustav E. Kissel and Thomas B. Harned of alleged conspiracy to pervent the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company from doing business.

GET UP EARLY TO SEE THE COMET.

Duluth people are arising at unearthly hours and straining their sleep-laden eyes at the eastern sky in the hope of seeing the comet. It can be seen with the naked eye just above where the sun comes up and a little to the east. Frank Wagner of Lakeside called up The Herald today to say that he had seen it, and other Duluthians have been out of bed just before 4 o'clock to view the celestial visitor, which is not yet very bright.

THE PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

John Lavague Appointed General Chairman of the Decoration Day Committee.

Memorial day will be celebrated in Duluth with appropriate ceremonies, Monday, May 30.

Plans are, as yet, far from being complete. In fact, the committees are still being appointed and the active work will not begin until after the meeting of the representatives of the various patriotic bodies to be held Tuesday evening at the Commercial club.

The program for this year will be given under the auspices of all the Grand Army men, but it is Culver post's year to have direct charge.

At a meeting held Saturday night in Memorial hall by this post, John Lavaque was appointed general chairman of the Decoration day committee.

There will be a mass meeting at either the Central high school assembly hall or the Armory and the usual parade and visit to the cemetery will be held. What addition there will be made to these general plans is not as yet known.

INSURGENTS CALL ON THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, April 25.—Three insurgent guardsmen — Representatives Hayes of California, Fish of New York, and Woods of Iowa—marched on the White House today. After being with the president for a quarter of an hour, they emerged arm in arm and moved on the capitol.

"We just wanted to tell the president," explained Mr. Hayes, "that we are still with him in his legislative program."

"Correct Dress for Women."

Tailored Suits $30 to $45

The Suit Groups arranged under these prices comprise the "Great Medium Priced" class and represent the main bulk of strictly smart and up-to-date models, in wide ranges of practical materials. These groups are notable not alone for variety in models and materials, but for quality and value.—For they represent extraordinary values gathered by our Mr. J. M. Gidding on his most recent trip east (only about two weeks ago) when manufacturers, made timid by the unusually warm weather, were anxious to be relieved of over-heavy stocks in suiting materials---our cooler climate reaps the benefit ---hence these unusual values. And added to this the broken sizes of our original stocks have been grouped at lesser prices, in order to effect a more rapid disposal of the Ones and Twos.

These suits show exceeding measure of cloth-value, and skill in construction—and are fully equal to "custom made" suits of much higher price—and are far superior to the ordinary ready-to-wear garment of equal price—Comparison is all we solicit for these suits, for values are self-evident.

Afternoon Dresses

IN CLOTH, SILK, LINEN AND LINGERIE — WIDE SELECTIONS AND SPLENDID VALUES AT MEDIUM PRICES.

The "Vogue of Foulard" is very marked this season. This "Foulard-Vogue" is strongly evidenced in our enlarged Dress Section, for many are the charming styles in Foulard Walking Dresses, Foulard Dresses over-draped with chiffon, and Plain Cloth Dresses with Foulard Trimmings.

Also many Styles in Smartly Tailored Walking Dresses of Panama, Serge, Venetian and Fine Worsteds, as well as Wool Challies, Shantung and Taffeta Dresses. Prices $21.50, $22.50, $25.00, $29.50 to $50.00.

Liberal Assortments of Tailored Black Dresses, in sizes 34 to 42—at $21.50 to $49.50.

Last Week's New Arrivals in American and European

Jeweled Novelties

Enthuse a new pride in our Novelty-Jeweled section. For it is a collection of one-of-o-kind Novelties, such as is seldom found west of New York. Unique designs in Egyptian and other quaint designs, in Pompeian, Green and Rose Gold, as well as the more common Bright and Roman finishes.—Guard Chains and Chatelaine Sets are highly favored by the "Smart Set" this season.—Also Gold and Silver Chain Bags, Vanity Cases, Coin Purses and Card Cases.—The showing also embraces odd and clever designs in La Vallieres, Brooches, Bracelets, Belt-Pins, etc., in the Novelty Gold Finishes and set with such fashionable Semi-Precious stones as Topaz, Amethyst, Tourmaline, Lapis, Jade, Coral and Jet.

La Vallieres at $1.25 to $10. Guard Chains, $2 and up. Brooches, 75c to $12.50, and other Novelties in proportionate Price Ranges.

GATHERING OF MASONIC BODIES

General Meeting Will Be Held at Temple Thursday Evening.

Thursday evening, April 28, a meeting of all the different Masonic bodies will be held in the auditorium of the Masonic temple, commencing promptly at 8 o'clock, on which occasion brethren representing the several subdivisions of the order will, in short fifteen-minute talks, explain the theory and principles of the bodies they stand for. There will be a musical program rendered by artists of the city and order. All master Masons are invited and the members of all Masonic bodies will be welcomed. The program is as follows:

Organ—Selections .....
......"Echoes From the Operas."
Arranged by Tobani.
"The Blue Lodge" .....
M. W. Brown, W. B. Patton, grand master of Masons of Minnesota.
Song—"When the Swallows Homeward Fly" .....Abt
Miss Alice Sjosellus.
"The Chapter" .....
M. E. Camp, J. E. Cooley, P. Grr, H. P.
Duet"Prithe Pretty Maiden," from "Patience" .....Sullivan
Miss Sjoselius and C. O. Appelhagen.
"The Commandery" .....
E. Sir and 4. E. Denfeld, P. C.

M. P. G. W. Buck; P. G. Sov.
Song .....
Charles O. Appelhagen.
"Scottish Rite" .....
T. W. Hugo, Y. M.
Organ—"International Fantasie."

From the standing of the speakers, the meeting promises to be both instructive and entertaining to all who attend and as the attendance includes all Masons, there should be a large gathering at what will be the last general meeting till fall. The musical selections are well within the musical capacity of the ordinary man, but of a high grade nevertheless.

SOME THINGS WISE TO AVOID

By MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Never exhibit anger, impatience, or excitement when an accident happens.

Never pass between two persons who are talking without an apology.

Never enter a room noisily; never fail to close the door after you, and never slam it.

Never forget that if you are faithful in a few things you may be ruler over many.

Never exhibit too great familiarity with the new acquaintance; you may give offense.

Never tell a gentleman allude to conquests which he may have made with ladies.

Never be guilty of the contemptible meanness of opening a private letter addressed to another.

Never fail to offer the easiest and best seat in the room to an invalid, an elderly person or a lady.

Never forget to perform the commission which the friend intrusted to you. You must not forget.

Never send your guest, who is accustomned to a warm room, off into a cold, damp, spare bed to sleep.

Never enter a room filled with people without a slight bow to the general company when first entering.

Never fail to answer an invitation, either personally or by letter, within a week after the invitation is received.

Never accept of favors and hospitalities without rendering an exchange of civilties when opportunity offers.

Never cross the leg and put out one foot in the street car or places where it will trouble others when passing by.

Never fail to tell the truth. Evasions and white lies are equally discreditable.

Never borrow money and neglect to pay. If you do you will soon be known as a person of no business integrity.

Never write to another asking for information, or a favor of any kind, without enclosing a postage stamp for the reply.

Never fail to say kind and encouraging words to those whom you meet in distress. Your kindness may lift them out of their despair.

Never refuse to receive an apology. You may not revive friendship, but courtesy will require, when an apology is offered, that you accept it.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

In an entertaining discussion of the Republican state ticket possibilities this year, the Minnesota Mascot (edited by a Scandinavian), deals at length with the nationality feature in Minnesota politics, saying:

"Eberhart and Lind are both Swedes and as that nationality has always cut quite a figure in Minnesota politics it will be Greek meeting Greek when these two men run against each other. The Swedes will in that case divide. Some will prefer the Lind policies, or the Lind branch of the Swedish family, while others will hold themselves to the house of Eberhart, or rather the antecedents of Adolph Olson. In other words, the Swedes will split should these two men run, and that, of course, will give the rest of the voters of the state some chance—something they do not have much of when the Swedes are united. So, after all, it may not be a bad idea to have Swede against Swede. For the last three elections the Republicans have been changing off. First they tried an Irishman and he went under. Then they picked up one who was an American and he too fell by the wayside. Last year the Republicans became desperate and decided to win in spite of all odds and difficulties and so they drafted a Norwegian, thinking that a son of the Vikings would certainly make them go some. And he did, but not enough. He too bit the dust. All this time the Democrats stuck to the Swedes—and the Swedes stuck to the Democrats—and the combination was a Gibraltar before which the Republicans stood no more show than a rabbit.

"The politicians, when they are on the stump, tell us that nationalities cut no figure, that we are all Americans and vote for the man we want regardless of nationality, but when they get to framing up the ticket we notice that somehow or other the Germans get their Schmahl, the Norwegians their "Jake," the Swedes their Eberhart and the Irish what is left. No, of course, there is no nationality in politics—not in Minnesota."

It looks as if J. F. Jacobson of Lac Qui Parle is preparing to pull off a stunt of insurging that will make the Republican machine men sit up and take a whole lot of notice. "Jake" believes in county option and he has made up his mind that he will force into the Republican platform this year a plank declaring for that policy, if he can do it. He is not now the party nominee for any office and he is freer to fight for his hobby than he ever was—freer, especially, than he was two years ago, when he was nominated for governor with the distinct understanding that he should remain painfully silent on that question. Jacobson is taking a lively interest in the efforts of the optionists to get delegates lined up for the convention and it begins to look as if Youngdahl Jacobson and Rache will prove a bothersome firm when the Republican state convention gets together.

* * *

There will be a meeting this evening of the Duluth Norwegian Republican club on the fourth floor of the Christie building, when permanent organization will be effected and plans for the club's work will be determined upon. Elias Engeseth is president and J. C. Wesenberg is secretary of the club.

* * *

Senator Works of Mankato is quoted as having said he is holding himself in readiness to run for congress in the Second district, and this is interpreted in some quarters as an indication that not John Lind, but W. S. Hammond will be the Democratic nominee for governor. Senator Works is one of the ablest men in the Minnesota legislature and if he is the Democratic candidate for congress, C. C. Dinehart will have just about as much trouble in the campaign as he would have were Hammond his opponent. Of course, his opponent in all probability will be Mr. Hammond. The talk of Works for congress is based on the assumption that Mr. Lind will not accept nomination. This assumption falls in with the hopes of the Republicans, but it is extremely unlikely that they will have their wish in this respect.

Judge Quinn of Fairmont, questioned about his proposed candidacy for the state supreme court, said in St. Paul the other day:

"The situation has been canvassed by myself and my friends more or less thoroughly, but we have been unable to arrive at any decision. It depends upon certain things which are quite outside of anything we can do or influence. I do not care to enter the contest unless I am reasonably sure of receiving the approval of the people. At present I am undecided."

WEST END

THREE WEDDINGS IN ONE WEEK

Cupid Has Been Active Among Members of West End Parish.

This is a week of weddings in the St. Clement's Catholic paish at the West end. Three weddings will be solemnized this week at the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, with Rev. Augustine Brockmeyer, pastor, officiating.

Tomorrow morning, at 8 o'clock, the wedding of Miss Mayme McDonald, daughter of Mrs. Katherine McDonald of 1828 West Second street, to George Hallada of Virginia, Minn., will take place. The bride has been an employe of the Zenith Telephone company for the past four years.

Mr. Hallada is manager of Swift & Co. at Virginia. After a short wedding trip the young people will make their home at Virginia. On Thursday evening of last week the bride-to-be was the guest of honor at a bundle shower given by a number of her friends. She was presented with many pretty gifts.

Miss Clotilde Le Beau will become the bride of William Krause Wednesday morning, the wedding to take place at the church. The bride is a West end girl, and Mr. Krause is a driver for the Govan-Peyton-Twohy company of this city. They will make their home in this city.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Rathe of Nineteenth avenue west and Charles Leonard of 1914 West Second street will be solemnized Thursday morning at the St. Clement's church. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will probably make their home on the range.

EXCAVATING FOR NEW CHURCH BUILDING.

Excavation work on the new $35,000 St. Clement's Catholic church, to replace the burned structure at Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, will probably be finished this week. As soon as it is completed the contract for the foundation will be let.

The plans for the church, which have been accepted, but not yet in the hands of the architects, who will make a few changes as recommended by the parish committee in charge of the affair. The new edifice will be the largest church in the West end.

Hanson Funeral Held.

The funeral of Mrs. Johanna Hanson, 66 years old, who died of cancer last week at a local hospital, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking parlors, 2010 West Superior street, with interment at Lutheran cemetery. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the Bethany Swedish Luthern church, officiated.

West End Shortrails.

Louis Stevens is seriously ill at his home, 2014 West Second street.

J. J. Moe, ex-alderman of the Seventh ward, and Mrs. Moe left Saturday for New York, en route to Europe, where they will spend the summer.

Beta council No. 2, Modern Samaritans, has arranged a program for this evening at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A program of musical selections, instrumental and vocal, will be followed by a dance.

"Felix Poutre," a French play was given yesterday afternoon and evening at the St. Jean Baptiste hall by a cast taken from the membership of the French Naturalization club. The attendance was large and the play was well presented. It was staged under the direction of Rev. Father Crozier.

The Swedish churches of the West end held a mass meeting last evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The meeting was a joint affair between the congregations of the First Swedish Baptist, Third Swedish Baptist, Swedish M. E. and Swedish Mission churches.

The Scandinavian social club will give a social tomorrow evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A program will be given which will be followed by a dance.

Dr. Adolph Olson, dentist at the Sloan block, left Saturday for a short visit at Minneapolis. He will return this week.

The Young People's society of the Swedish Mission church will meet tomorrow evening. Eight of the young women will serve refreshments. Thursday evening Rev. C. G. Ellstrom of Minneapolis will speak at a social gathering.

August Peterson has gone to Saskatchewan, Can., where he is interested in farming lands.

Miss Lillian Nelson, who has been visiting at Two Harbors, has returned to her home, 1882 West Second street.

Miss Gertrude Miller of Twenty-fourth avenue west is visiting relatives at Omaha, Neb.

Osborn Williams of Saginaw, Mich., is the guest of West end friends.

W. L. Anderson has returned from Sandstone, where he attended a Christian Endeavor convention.

Mrs. Ole Klun of Twenty-fourth avenue west and Eleventh street has been called to Austin, Minn., to attend the funeral of her sister, Miss Jennie Nelson, who died last week in the State of Washington.

Miss Minnie Allen of No. 1 Osborn Terrace will entertain the Ladies Aid society of the Grace M. E. church at her home Wednesday afternoon.

him from the rear and four from the front so suddenly that he could not defend himself.

It is thought that three of them at least used knives in the assault. The attack was seen from afar by several men who ran to the assistance of Wilcox, but before they got there the assailants had all made their escape.

Descriptions of the men were furnished the police by Wilcox, and later two were identified by Capt. Sincox at their boarding house. Chief D. F. Foley of the Oliver force kept up a search all night and, assisted by Chief Walsh of the local force, is still making a hunt for the remaining five assailants. The Montenegrins refuse to give their names.

Had Been Drinking.

The men had been drinking all day, getting the liquor from blind pigs at the mining locations and in the Second ward, and it is thought that they planned the attack upon Wilcox. A reward probably will be offered for at least one of the men, who it is claimed did most of the cutting.

Wilcox has a wife and child, residing at the Oliver location.

the lower portions of the trees were protected by the tops and considerable of the fruit escaped the blast. Potatoes were cut down and all tomato plants were killed. Grapes were damaged but not to the extent that has been reported.

Snow Storm Is Widespread.

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—A storm of snow prevailed this morning all over Missouri, Iowa, Northeastern Arkansas, Eastern Kansas, Tennessee and as far south as Montgomery, Ala. The snow melted almost as fast as it fell, but at times the fall was heavy.

In Oklahoma, Western and Southern Kansas and the greater part of Texas the weather was clear.

Temperatures ranging from 2 to 3 deg. below freezing were reported from all points in Kansas, Missouri and Northern Oklahoma. Frost has been reported from all points as far south as Northern Louisiana. A freezing temperature prevailed at Memphis and killing frosts were reported from Western Kansas points. At Enid, Okla., a temperature of 33 deg. was reported.

The general opinion among Kansas City fruit growers is that the fruit crop in Eastern Kansas and Western Missouri has not been seriously injured.

Snowstorm in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—For the first time in the history of Atlanta, April snow fell today for three hours. The fall was as heavy as any of the past winter.

Kentucky Fruit Suffers.

Lexington, Ky., April 25.—In Central and Eastern Kentucky much fruit and garden stuff was either killed or badly damaged by the frosts of last night and Saturday. The damage is estimated at $100,000. Growing tobacco plants suffered considerably.

Hot Wave in Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., April 25.—Record-breaking temperatures have accompanied a hot wave that has been experienced on the west coast of Newfoundland for the last few days. At points where the usual temperatures at this season of the year would be below freezing the thermometers have registered as high as 85 deg. in the shade.

bard to receive his colleagues tomorrow afternoon at Issy-Les-Moulineaux, where several French aviators will make flights in honor of the American.

American and French Flags.

Today, in honor of Mr. Roosevelt's visit the Hotel de Ville was decorated with American and French flags. The former president, accompanied by American Ambassador Bacon and M. Jusserand, French ambassador to Washington, was received at the entrance with great formality by M. Caron, president of the municipal council; M. Deselves, prefect of the Seine; M. Lampue, president of the general council of the Seine, and M. Lepine, prefect of police. He was conducted to the Salles des Deliberations where he attended a sitting of the city fathers, after which he signed his name in the "Livre d'Or," and made a tour of the building, which is elaborately furnished and contains some fine examples of modern French art.

Met Leading Men.

At the session of the council Mr. Roosevelt met personally many persons prominent in the official life of Paris. Several speeches complimentary to the guest of honor were made, and Mr. Roosevelt responded.

An immense crowd in the streets acclaimed the former president as he entered and left the building. From the Hotel de Ville, Col. Roosevelt went to the Carnavalet museum, which contains the most interesting documents of Paris, relative to the history of the city and the revolution, and which were shown by George S. Caen, the curator, who is the author of a series of works on "Old Paris."

Later Mr. Roosevelt took tea with Edith Wharton, the authoress. This evening he will be the dinner guest of Gen. Brugere, chief of the general staff of the French army, following which he will attend the opera.

He has received an invitation from Count Zeppelin to make a trip with him in his dirigible balloon, but will decline this because of lack of time.

Had Quiet Sunday.

Mr. Roosevelt passed a comparatively quiet Sunday in Paris. He attended morning service in the American church in the Rue de Perry and listened to the sermon of the Rev. Charles Chancey W. Goodrich, who preached from the gospel of St. John, chapter 17, verse XV.

Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Kermit and Miss Ethel, attended the American church in Avenue d'La Lama.

In the afternoon there was an automobile trip to St. Germain where Col. Roosevelt visited the chateau of Henry IV.

At the close of Mr. Roosevelt's lecture in the Sorbonne yesterday, some one in the gallery hissed, but this passed unnoticed in the applause. It has since been learned that it was an Egyptian, who later explained that he desired to protest by this means against the speech which the ex-president delivered at Cairo.

Lecture Made Impression.

This lecture has created a tremendous impression in France. The newspapers, in spite of the fact that the electoral campaign closed Saturday night, devoted an immense amount of space to it and Col. Roosevelt's doings. With the exception of some mocking criticisms by free lances, such as Henri Rochefort, editor of Lanterne, and Juliet of Eclair, the papers of all shades of opinion ring with approval of the doctrines of civic morality expounded by the ex-president.

Some of the ultra-Catholic organs are silent, but others dwell especially upon Mr. Roosevelt's definition of the rights of the minority.

The Temps declares the impression produced is all the greater because Mr. Roosevelt did not present theories that he conceived, but experiences that he lived. It finds many lessons therein for France and concludes with an appeal to France to take the "advice of an honest man whose deeds and life, during thirty years, qualify him to speak.

Comment on His Words.

The Journal des Debats says that Mr. Roosevelt's words are the echo of the old Puritan spirit which made a conquering England, and bear strange significance when he preaches a sane and vigorous life, of which he is the embodiment, to so many unbalanced people, probity to politicians and common sense to those who are seeking after Utopia.

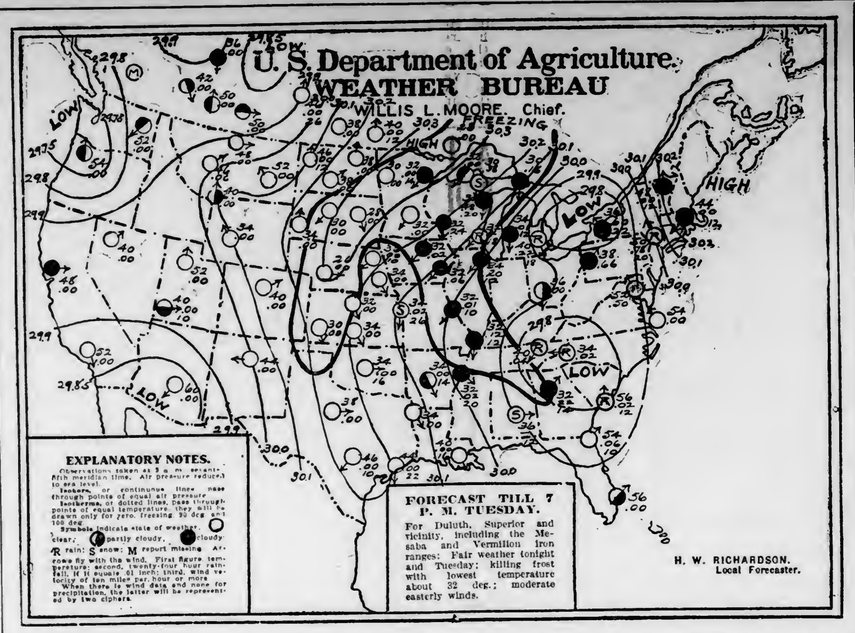
"Our great democracies," says the paper, "are experiments. From the beginning they leaned toward corruption. Roosevelt's simple and energetic language is that of Hercules, armed not with a club, but a broom, at the door of the Augeaen stable."

La Liberte, under the caption of "A Magnificient Leson," says:

"We have few men in France with energy equal to Mr. Roosevelt's, but thousands who think as he does."

The Paris Journal says: "No nobler lesson of civic duty ever fell from human lips."

Printed in London.



London, April 25.—Theodore Roosevelt's Sorbonne address is printed in extensive form in the British newspapers and is the subject of much editorial comment. All make reference to the triteness of the ex-president's themes, which the Standard considers better suited for a platform audience than for the flower of Parisian intellectuals. At the same time all conceded that the sound and healthy gospel is doubly welcome, as the Daily Graphic remarks, "because the world is waking to the consciousness of intellectual and moral hunger which only these truths can satisfy."

In the same strain the Chronicle discuses the source of Roosevelt's unquestioned power and influence. It says:

"He is not a subtle thinker, but knows that the majority of mankind like to hear the eternal varsities thrust at them through a megaphone. He knows also that his preachings, if universally practiced, would mean a regenerated world, and a large part of the effect they produce comes from the knowledge that Roosevelt does practice what he preaches and that the qualities he recommends, he has himself displayed before all men's eyes with astounding results."

U. S. Department of Agriculture. WEATHER BUREAU

WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

FAIR

The weather cleared off yesterday after Saturday's and Sunday was bright and clear, although rather chilly. The mercury hasn't succeeded in getting very high in the tube today and the weather man predicts freezing temperature for tonight again.

A light snow fall disappeared under a warm sun a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:02, and it will set at 7:10, giving fourteen hours and eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A trough of low pressure extends from Lake Erie to Tennessee. During the past twenty-four hours this disturbance caused rain or snow from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. An area of high barometer covers Minnesota, the Eastern Dakotas and Nebraska. Its influence has caused freezing weather in the Lake region and Central Valley states and heavy to killing frosts in the Southwest and Middle West. Slight barometric depressions central over Saskatchewan, Oregon and Western Mexico are causing milder temperatures throughout the Far West and Northwest.

"Freezing temperatures or frost may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 25.—Forecasts for twtney-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; slightly wormer tonight in west portion.

Wisconsin—Threatening and Tuesday, with rain or snow in east and south portions; continued cold with temperature near freezing tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; heavy frost tonight.

Iowa—Fair weather, except snow flurries in east portion tonight or Tuesday; continued cold with temperature near freezing tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; frost in east portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; moderate temperature.

S.S.S. PERMANENTLY HEALS SORES & ULCERS

Old sores remain open and chronic ulcers refuse to heal because they are kept constantly irritated and infected by impurities in the blood. This impurity of the circulation comes from various causes. A long spell of debilitating sickness, which breeds disease germs in the system, the retention of refuse matters of the body because of a sluggish condition of the eliminative members, a continued malarial state of health, inherited bad blood, etc., are usually responsible. But whatever the cause of the infected circulation, the sore or ulcer CANNOT heal until the blood is purified. S. S. S. heals sores and ulcers in the very simplest way. It just goes into the circulation and removes the impurities and polluted matter which are the means of keeping the sore open; then the sore is bound to heal. S. S. S. is the finest of all blood purifiers, and not only does it cleanse the circulation but it adds the necessary healing qualities to the blood, and in this way assists nature to quickly cure sores and ulcers. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., can do no permanent good toward healing an old sore because such treatment does not reach the blood. These external applications may be soothing and cleansing, but the healing must begin at the bottom, and this is just what S. S. S. does by first purifying the blood, and then furnishing nourishment and health to all the flesh tissues. Book on Sores and Ulcers free to all who write and request it.

Silberstein & Bondy Company.

A Suit Talk!

You never can tell about suits by reading about them. The way they fit, the quality of the cloth and the trimming touches are all important. Take custom-made suits—the kind we talkt about Sunday—they are builded by hand from collar to skirt hem. There is no suit as good. Yet they only cost $50 and up. To be found here alone for Duluth. Take the other suits under and over $35 and $45. The best garment people in and about New York have supplied us for nearly forty years. There is no such thing as giving others the preference over this store. Women, well informed about Duluth, invariably turn to Silberstein's. Follow their example if you want the best value for your suit money.

S. & B. Co. Coats

Always demand the "second look" on the street and elsewhere. We foresaw that this would be a phenomenal coat season, and we prepared for it—resulting in a second floor semi-full of exclusive individualized styles. For the auto semi-dress and for evening wear we have special coats for lake trips and all sorts of summer outings. Have you seen the new military capes at $18.50. They are charming—being of Paris inspiration. Other coats range in price from $15 to $75.

Typical Waists

Typical of the difference between the store and its contemporaries. Whether you wish a snappy tailored model or a dainty lingerie affair that is a work of art because of its exquisite hand touches, you will find them in the waist shop upstairs. New models in crepe, silk and tailored waists are here again—arrived late last week. The price ranges from $2.50 to $25.

CHIFFON VOLAGE—Something new in green, navy, wistaria or black to slip over your lingerie waist. The effect is really exquisite—$10.50.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Duluth women are much interested in the biennial meeting of the General Federation of the Women's Clubs, which will be held at Cincinnati, Ohio, May 11 to 18 of this year. Mrs. F. L. Barrows of this city will probably attend the meeting.

The press committee for the biennial has issued an interesting circular, telling of the personality of the officers of the organization, with pictures of the president, Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Lawrence Maxwell, chairman of the Cincinnati biennial board. Of Mrs. George O. Welch of Fergus Falls, well known to many Duluthians and treasurer of the general federation, the circular says:

"Mrs. George O. Welch of Fergus Falls, Minn., the treasurer of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, humorously claims three states as hers by right, being a Rhode Islander by birth, a Massachusettsian by marriage and a Minnesotan by adoption.

"Mrs. Welch comes of a long line of New England ancestry, and was educated in the private and public schools of her native city, Newport, R. I., afterward graduating from the Salem (Mass.) normal school, and taking a post graduate course in the Quincy (Mass.) Training School for Teachers, under Col. Francis Parker and his successor, Sylvester Brown.

"It was during her second year of teaching in the Quincy schools that she met Dr. George Oakes Welch of Boston, Mass., to whom she was married in 1882. They have one son, now an electrical engineer.

"Mrs. Welch has been an earnest club woman for a number of years, having served in various offices in her home town, and in her state federation. She was vice president for her district for five years and vice president at large for the state of Minnesota for four years, which offices she filled with great efficiency.

"She is now serving her tenth year as a member of the library board of Fergus Falls, an office which claims her great interest and attention.

"Of all the work which Mrs. Welch has undertaken that which is closest to her heart, and to which she has given her most earnest endeavor has been industrial training for insane women. It is through her efforts and untiring devotion that the very excellent system of industrial work has been established in the Fergus Falls hospital.

HONORABLE MENTION

Is Bestowed on Work of C. C. Rosenkranz.

C. C. Rosenkranz of this city exhibited three of his pictures this year at the annual exhibit of the Buffalo Society of Artists which is now being held at Buffalo and his largest canvass "Summer Clouds" won honorable mention. The picture would probably have received the Fellowship prize, but this prize is not given outside the city. Mr. Rosenkranz's other pictures exhibited were "Twilight" and another small canvass. His Duluth friends are much interested and pleased at the honor that has come to him.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

Will Be Observed in Duluth Schools.

Arbor and bird day will be observed in Minnesota this year, Friday April 29, and in Duluth the observance of the day will be of an informal nature. The principals of the various public schools in the city have been instructed to have some exercises to impress upon the children the object of the day and in every school Arbor day will be emphasized by a special program. At several of the schools trees will be planted on the school grounds.

Arbor day will be more generally observed about the city than ever because of the efforts of the Twentieth Century club in distributing trees and shrubs among the children. This year the school children of Duluth ordered more than 1,400 trees and shrubs and it is expected that these will be in the city and distributed in time for planting on the official tree day. Each tree or shrub has printed directions for its planting and care and as the specimens are from healthy stock, in a few years Duluth may expect to realize from these plantings.

The park board has made no plans for any civic observance of the day, but during the spring the board will be instrumental in distributing 1,000 trees, planting part on city property. Single trees are available to citizens of Duluth at $5 each which will include the planting, printing and insurance of the tree for two years. If it dies before that time the board will replace it. The trees are of varieties that will do well in this soil and climate. Many citizens are availing themselves of the opportunity of securing the trees under these conditions.

COMIC OPERA

To Be Given Under Auspices of Boat Club.

Real comic opera, once again, is what is promised Duluthians this week when "The Chimes of Normandy" will be presented at the Lyceum theater under the auspices and patronage of the Duluth Boat club with the artist pupils of George Tyler, appearing in the principal roles.

The opera is one that has given great delight to the older generation of opera lovers on two continents. "The Chimes" was first produced in Paris in 1877 and ran there for 400 nights. It has been sung in England and America in its English version.

The cast that will appear tomorrow evening has been practicing for weeks, and a thoroughly easy and pleasing performance is promised. The detail of the opera is as follows:

A large number of box parties will be entertained on both evenings as the opera will be given Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The proceeds will go toward furthering the sports and pleasures of the club during the season.

To Play Ranges.

"The Chimes of Normandy" company, which will appear at the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday evening, will play the range towns the latter part of the week. The company which is composed of the artist pupils and members of George L. Tyler's class will leave Duluth Thursday morning at 7:15 on a special train and will present the opera at Eveleth that evening under the auspices of one of the Eveleth churches. Friday evening "The Chimes" will be sung at Hibbing, the performance to be given under the auspices of the military company there. The entire company of seventy-five will go for the short range tour.

COMPLETE PLANS

For Tag Day for St. Mary's Hospital.

Plans for the tag day of St. Mary's hospital next Saturday are being rapidly completed with every prospect of great success.

This afternoon the women interested in the campaign to raise funds for the new addition are scheduled to meet at the hospital to be assigned districts. It is expected that the attendance will be large, as great interest has been evinced in the tag day which has been arranged for the benefit of the institution.

St. Mary's hospital was opened at Fifth avenue east and Third street in 1898 by the Sisters of St. Benedict. It was founded in 1888 at Twentieth avenue west on the site which is now occupied by the St. James orphanage. Since that time 3,000 patients have been given medical care and attention. Of this number 3,504 have been ministered to free of charge.

The patients come from all parts of Northern Minnesota, including the lumber camps, the railroads, the docks and the mines. None of them are turned away because of lack of funds. But the demands have become so heavy recently that it is imperative that more room be secured as soon as possible. The proposed addition will have a frontage of 72 feet and extend the full length of the present lot. It will contain seventy-five private rooms and several spacious wards for children.

Pretty Luncheon.

Mrs. G. W. Preston entertained the members of the bridge club of which she is a member at luncheon and cards today at her home in the Bostwick flats. The table was laid with a set of dishes of old Chelsea ware that was the wedding gift of Mrs. Preston's grandmother, just eighty years ago today. The blue in the pattern of the dishes was the theme followed out in the decorations and blue hyacintns were the flowers chosen. Besides the hostess covers were laid for:

Mesdames—
J. H. Free,
Walter Thompson,
George Young,
McGill,
John Linngbaugh,
Joan Dice,
James H. Sullivan,
G. W. Thompson,
Donahue,
Charles Wollner,
Alfred Mellin,
Murnian.

Miss Florence Beckwith is spending the spring vacation in New York. Last week she was the guest of her grandparents at Amenia.

TRY THIS DINNER

Quick Beef Soup.

Chop fine one pound of beef, one carrot, one turnip and one onion. Cover with one quart of cold water and let it stand an hour. Then ad a clove, salt and pepper and a few drops of kitchen bouquet. Simmer for an hour and a half and strain through a sieve.

Meat—Fried Chicken.

Clean and wash a chicken of the frying size, twice the age of a broiler; cut it up, dividing the breast into two pieces, and lay it in cold water for half an hour. Have on the stove a frying pan with lard an inch deep in it. Season the chicken well with salt and pepper, and dredge well with flour. Drop into the boiling lard and turn frequently till it is beautifully brown. It must not cook done on one side before turning on the other, as it will not be so evenly and nicely cooked. Maryland cooks often invert a pan over the frying chicken in order to cook it in the very best way.

Vegetables—Peas, Parisian Style.

Put a can of peas in a saucepan with a sprig of parsley, an onion sliced and a few leaves of lettuce. Toss them over occasionally and when cooked add a teaspoon of butter blended with a tablespoon of flour. If too thick add water and cook for fifteen minutes.

Dessert—Apricot Fluff.

Mix one and one-half level teaspoonfuls of corn starch with one-fourth cup of cold milk; stir into this one cup of scalded milk; continue stirring until thick, then add one-fourth cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Have prepared three-fourths of a cup of dried apricots, which have been cooked and strained through a fine sieve. Add to the mixture and cook fifteen minutes. Remove from fire and add gradually one well-beaten white of egg. Return to fire for a moment to set egg. Flavar with vanilla or sherry.

HINTS FOR THE BOUDOIR

By MILDRED WYCKOFF.

Substitute for Soap.

"The skin on my face is inclined to be hairy, and I would like to know of something to use instead of soap in washing." Millicent C. writes. You will find oatmeal and almond meal very cleansing and soothing. Mix equal quantities up in a little muslin bag and use it on the face, thoroughly rinsing afterwards in cold water. Only small quantities should be prepared at a time—enough to last for two days—so that the meal is quite fresh.

To Improve the Eyebrows.

"My eyebrows are very weak and I should be much obliged if you would tell me of something to make them grow," says Hattie P. Pure vaseline is one of the best things for strengthening the eyebrows and should be gently rubbed in every night. Cocoanut oil is also a good thing and will help to darken the brows, making them appear thicker. If used on the eyelashes be careful that none of it gets into the eyes themselves, as it will make them smart.

Remedy for Premature Grayness.

"Could you advise me to use anything for premature grayness?" Miss M. asks. You might try the following, as it is simple and perfectly harmless: Pour boiling water on a quantity of sage leaves (about two ounces to a pint of water) and let them remain for some time in the oven. Strain and apply to the roots of the hair every night before retiring.

A Good Dry Shampoo.

"My hair is very greasy and I cannot do anything with it. I have been told a dry shampoo occasionally will do it good. Will you tell me how to uso one?" asks M. G. A dry shampoo will cleanse the hair and make it dry and fluffy, so it should suit you. Buy a packet of orris powder from a chemist and, after parting the hair, shake the powder on to the hair through a sieve, so that it is distributed evenly. Take a clean brush and brush it all out again. The hair will be quite clean after this treatment.

Improvement of the Bust.

Linda W. inquires for advice how to improve the bust. The only thing that will improve the bust is to practice deep breathing exercise for ten minutes every morning. Put the hands at the back of the head, draw a deep breath and gradually exhale.

How to Sleep Properly.

In sleeping keep the head as low as possible, that the blood may circulate freely in the brain. The less pillows the better. Always stretch out your body fully. When the limbs are crossed or curled up in any way the rest is not so great. A glass of warm water before breakfast is a tonic for the whole system. If the complexion is in need of improvement, try squeezing half a lemon into the water.

SOLOMON JONES AND WILLIAM WISE

By DONALD CROSBY.

"I see," said Solomon Jones, "that the insurgents are whooping her up in Washington."

"Sure," said William Wise, "the insurgents are the life of this nation."

"Why, nobody knew anything about the United States until the insurgents rolled up their sleeves and waded into our national relative from Danville, Ill.

"This insurgent business is the best advertising the country ever had. A congressman gets up and says: 'Mr. Speaker, I have got a bill to introduce, appropriating $50,000,000 for the improvement of Pole creek.' Uncle Joe looks at him and then roars: 'Throw hom out, boys; he's delaying the game.' They no sooner throw this insurgent into the cloakroom and manacle him until another jumps up and asks that the postoffice at Coontown be investigated. Uncle Joe winks at the sergeant-at-arms and the fur flies for a few minutes; then they settle down to lawmaking again.

"Why, the newspaper correspondents ought to fork over half of their pay every year to Victor Murdock and his jolly rovers. They make the news and keep Uncle Sam from becoming a back number.

"Every time there is any excitement brewing you can look around for an insurgent in the woodpile. I could take a squad of insurgents and plant the American flag over every nation in the world in three months.

"A genuine insurgent seldom knows what he is fighting for. He just fights because he can't help it. If congress was ever controlled by a majority of insurgents, they would have to rebuild the national capitol with cast iron walls and steel billet ceilings. Then they would go out in statuary hall and throw marble busts at each other."

"You seem to know the game mighty well; were you ever in politics?" queried Solomon Jones.

"You bet I was," answered William Wise. "I ran for justice of the peace once and was only defeated by 700 votes."

THE SHOWING-OFF TRAIT

By POLLY PAGET.

The University girl was plainly in a philosophic mood.

"The showing-off trait is deeply ingrained in the whole human race," she observed sagely, "and there is no place that it displays itself so clearly as on the street cars."

"There is something on her little mind, is there? Tell us all about it," urged the Junior Man.

"I hate flippant men," she decided aloud, "although they illustrate my first remark."

The Junior man gave a long whistle. "Whe-ew, I'm sorry I flipped. Don't mind my feelings—go right on."

"I was going to say," she continued with dignity, "that the other morning when I was on the way over a very pretty girl got on at Washington avenue and stood for a moment sizing up the vacant seats on the car. There were plenty of them, yet each man looked as if he wanted to give her his place and each one tried to show off. They reminded me of the small boy when his mother is talking to visitors about him. The Cholly boy in the corner thrust out his new patent leathers, settled his tie and openly ogled her; the plumber next to him hid his grimy hands under the implements he was carrying and gazed ostentatiously out of the window opposite; the old man who was reading his morning paper sidled a glance at her over his glasses and straightened himself like a young man—

"Had the vision no effect upon the feminine occupants?" the junior man queried pleasantly.

"I was skipping that part," she confessed. "I suppose that she did, for as soon as they noticed her they either felt their back hair or poked a curious safety pin back under their belt. Two shop girls began to talk loudly about Tom and Jack and what a 'bird of a time' they had last night; some little factory girls looked their open admiration, and an insignificant-looking young woman opposite me nonchalantly pulled off her glove, thereby displaying a flashing solitaire. Just then a traveling man, with sample vase in hand, made a great show of stopping the car at the union station and accidentally dropped his paper in front of her."

"You have told about everybody except yourself," teased the other, "but I can guess. You sat with your hands folded, modestly on top of your books."

"I did," she exclaimed delightedly. "How did you know?"

"I saw you buy those $2 gloves the other day," he answered as he fled.

IN THE NURSERY

Treatment of Milk for Infants.

Some eminent physicians are questioning the wisdom of giving pasteurized milk to children. The bones of young infants fed on such milk may suffer, it is said, through the precipitation of the calcium phosphate and carbonate during the process of pasteurization. As a substitute for this process some physicians recommend sterilization in the cold by means of ultra-violet rays of light, a process which does not precipitate the phosphates of the milk.

Remedy for Whooping Cough.

A very simple remedy for whooping cough, and said to be very effective, is made by steeping chestnut leaves, which can be bought at any drug store, and making a tea which can be sweetened to taste. The child may drink the tea freely at any time, and while it is as harmless at water, it will very materially check the whooping cough.

Remedy for Insect Bites.

Children suffer severely during the summer from the bites of insects. A good remedy to apply to the bites at once consists of fifteen grains of bicarbonate of soda, twenty minims of solution of potash, half an ounce of solution of witch hazel and enough distilled water to bring the total amount of the mixture to one ounce.

Midday Rest for the Little Ones.

It always seems a pity, during the beautiful evenings of summer, to send the little children to bed early. It is a far better plan to let them lie down for an hour or two in the middle of the day, when the sun is at its hottest, and then allow them to sit up a little later than usual and enjoy the cool of the evening.

YOUNG MEN AND MAIDENS

By MISS EXPERIENCE.

Eleanor B. says she is heartbroken and explains it by writing: "I had a lover and he made me think I was all the world to him, and all the time he had another sweetheart with whom he was still going. I don't speak to him now, but somehow I can't get him out of my head, nor get over it. Every time I see him opens the wound afresh. Would you advise me to burn his photograph? Yes, burn it or put it where you can't see it again. Forget him. He isn't worth worrying about. But don't avoid him nor let him see that he has hurt you so deeply. There are others, probably, who will seek you if they see that you are fancy free, and these must be among them one who will make you forget that you were ever heartbroken.

• • •

"Because I am considered pretty and have a good education and am always happy in company, my friends tell me I ought to be ashamed to be an old maid," Bertha M. writes. "I am 24 years old and would not object to married life but have not yet seen the man for whom I would give up my freedom. Do you think it a disgrace to be an old maid?" There is a good deal of sympathy wasted by women, especially young brides, on that class known as spinsters. Indeed, it is firmly believed by the majority of them that spinsters never had a lover or a proposal, and their presnt condition is due to the fact that men have entirely overlooked them in their search for a wife. Of course, a good many old maids have missed their vocation. That is to say, they were originally meant to be wives, but by some mischance of fate they joined the ranks of spinsterhood. However, it never seems to occur to people that some spinsters are so from choice alone. That appears to be your case, Bertha, but as you are yet a young woman, the case does not look hopeless. At any rate it is not disgraceful.

THE EVENING STORY

IN THE "LOST AND FOUND" COLUMN

By Frederick W. Webber.

"Poor but happy, while I am rich but unhappy! What a misfit world this is!"

There was a sad smile on the face of Jack Phillips as he spoke, half to himself and half to Frank Morton, his long time friend and his partner in successful Australian wool growing enterprises. The two were in New York after an absence from America covering a number of years, and they were moving with the Saturday afternoon crowd toward the city hall subway station. A young woman had passed them in haste to reach the station, her face aglow with the light of some unusual happiness. She reached the ticket sellers booth slightly in advance of the two men, bought her ticket, replacing the little coin purse in the handbag she carried, and as she hastened towards the ticket chopper's box a small brown envelope dropped from her clothing to the floor. Phillips made a quick movement forward and picked it up.

"Stop, miss! You've dropped something," he exclaimed, but, unaware that she was the one addressed, the young woman entered the car just as the signal bell rang and the train started. Phillips turned to rejoin his friend who was close at his heels. It needed only cusory examination to reveal that the little envelope contained money, without doubt the compensation for a week of toil. Written upon it was the name "Miss Drummond" and on one corner was the figure $15.

"Well, here's a go!" Phillips half growled. "I am well enough provided with money and find more! That poor girl evidently needs all that belongs to her and loses it!"

"It simply is fate," was Morton's response. He prided himself upon his philosophical temperament.

"Fate be hanged!" was the impatient rejoinder. "If fate would help me to find a trace of somebody belonging to me instead of throwing a girl's hard earned wages at my feet there would be some sense in it!"

There you go, Jack! Railing at fate because you have to bear the consequences of defying it. You were lost to your family for years, and by your own choice, when you left your New England home so long ago. Now your family is lost to you. Hasn't fate merely evened up on you, Jack?"

"But," said Phillips, and there was a plea of self-defense in the very tone of his voice. "I left them in order to make of myself a man whom they would be proud to welcome back as one of their own."

"And yet you never let them know that you were alive! Don't you think, Jack, that you caused them anxiety for which your own present unhappiness is but partial atonement?"

"Ah, there's the rub, Frank," Phillips replied, and there was a tremor in his voice. "There's the rub! All dead but the little sister, and nobody in the old New England home knows where she is. She grew to be a bright scholar, they tell me; taught school after she was graduated and then came to New York. She did well and friends say, but for many weeks none of them have heard from her. God knows what has happened to her!"

During the progress of their conversation the two men had boarded an uptown train. Upon leaving it they stopped on the way to their hotel to order an advertisement inserted in the "Lost and Found" column of a Sunday morning newspaper.

Unconscious of her loss Miss Drummond left her train as soon as it stopped at one of the uptown stations and quickly made her way to a modest apartment on one of the pretty side streets in the Bronx. Watching for her at the front window was a young woman of her own age, seated in a roomy arm chair. She was frail and colorless, but her large eyes brightened as the door opened, her thin hands were extended in loving welcome, and her wan face was uplifted to receive the expected kiss.

"You look very happy, Clara," she said.

"Happy! Why shouldn't I be happy and look it? We're all right now, Emma," Miss Drummond replied. "My trial week is ended and has proved so satisfactory that I am to have $15 a week to begin with, instead of $12. So we can have a nice Sunday dinner and can pay the overdue rent; and get some extra dainties to help you along in your convalescence. Isn't it jolly? I thought the train never ran so slowly as today, I was so eager for you to know the good news. And here's—"

A look of blank dismay spread over the speaker's face as she searched within the little handbag.

"Emma!" she exclaimed, and her face grew white as that of the invalid, "I have lost my pay envelope! I must have pulled it out of the bag when buying my ticket at the subway station!"

• • • • • •

"By all their good, Frank,, it looks as if what you call fate is shuffling the cards strangely." Phillips remarked as the two sat reading the Sunday papers the next morning. He had the paper opened at the page where the "Lost and Found" notices appeared. Near the one which he had inserted was one which read:

> LOST—In or near the city hall subway station, a small envelope containing money. The finder will be suitably rewarded on returning it to No.——th St.

"Fate isn't always unkind," was Morton's comment as he read the advertisement. "She has at least offered you an opportunity to dispose of the superfluous wealth she thrust upon you last night."

"Oh, don't be a sardonic!" Phillips exclaimed almost petulantly. "It is a small superfluity to me, of course, but—"

"Pardon me, old boy," said Morton interrupting. My remark was not so flipant as it seemed. To tell you the truth, I am as glad as you are that it is possible so soon to relieve that young woman of her anxiety. Let's call a messenger and send it to her at once."

"Or better yet," Phillips suggested, "suppose we let 'fate' lead us on and take it to her ourselves. It may be a mission for which we have been chosen.

• • • • • •

Other eyes than those of Jack Phillips viewed with surprise the juxtaposition of those two "Lost and Found" notices in the Sunday morning paper. Clara Drummond had gone to bed with a heavy heart. "It is so terrible, Emma," she said, "that after being out of a position so long and earning just in the nick of time, the little needed to put us on our feet until you are yourself again, even that little should slip from our possession."

"But, Clara, dear, you have your position now; and it is only a little longer to wait. We can be thankful for that, you know, and in a few more days I shall be well enough to begin repaying you for your devotion and self-denial through all my long illness. I know you feel the loss more on my account than your own. It was for me that you gave up the position that you could not regain; and with me, while our little savings ebbed away, you have striven for the recovery of my lost health and strength that have been so much slower in coming back than we expected. Now that I am nearly well and you have got so nicely started again everything looks too bright, dear, to be wholly darkened by this bit of cloud."

Despite her friend's words of cheerful courage, Clara Drummond's smile, as she kissed the invalid "good night," was but a mask to a disconsolate feeling that provoked disturbing dreams throughout the night and almost betrayed the unreality of the cheerful air with which she served the simple breakfast in the morning. After breakfast came the reading of the morning papers, but even this did not dispel the dull aching of her heart. Suddenly, however, the color came to her cheeks as it had appeared the day before, her eyes lost the strained expression, and she almost upset the chair as she jumped from it, exclaiming:

"My money is found, Emma! My money is found!"

For explanation she pointed to the "Lost and Found" column, where, in close companionship with the advertisement she had taken to the newspaper office before retiring the night before, there was another, reading:

> FOUND—Miss D— can recover the envelope she dropped in the city hall subway station by notifying the finder where to send it. Address J. P., Hotel Astor, City.

"Isn't it splendid?" she continued, as her companion gazed at the lines with the expression of wondering inquiry. "Isn't it splendid?" she repeated.

"It is very singular," the other replied at last. "It almost makes me dream of happiness that is not within the realm of probability. Those initials are the same as my brother Jack's."

"Your brother who disappeared when you were a little child?" "I just remember him, a tall, handsome boy, who used to tell me he was going away some time to make a fortune and would come back to make us all happy. Poor Jack! I wonder if ever we shall meet again!"

It was an inspiration that led Jack Phillips to restore to Miss Drummond in person the envelope she had lost. The impulse to which he had confessed grew out of an impression that in some way it might be possible for him to add to the joy in which he desired to share by witnessing it. Farther than that he dreamed or imagined nothing, as he assured Morton a few weeks later when the two were engaged in arranging for their return to Australia.

"Well," said Morton, "you admitted that you were allowing fate to lead you, and now you must admit that fate has been marvelously kind. Repent of your former railing, old man!"

"I repent," Phillips replied, "and why should I not? Have I not received a double reward for my yielding—my sister found and a sweetheart won? Oh, yes; but there is no bitterness in my repentance."

"Unless you realize it in your prospective brother-in-law," was Morton's laughing rejoinder. "But you lugged me along with you, and fate's cup of kindness was so brimming full it dropped over on me. We call fate blind, but who would have thought that it could discern so many possibilities in the 'Lost and Found' column?"

MRS. A. J. DREXEL IN WEDDING GOWN, AND HER FLOWER GIRL

—Copyright by Marceau.

This is a photograph of Mrs. A. J. Drexel, Jr., in her wedding gown, and her sister, Edith, costumed as flower girl. The wedding of Miss Gould and Anthony J. Drexel Jr., occurred April 19, at St. Bartholomew's church.

will be emphasized by a special program. At several of the schools trees will be planted on the school grounds.

Arbor day will be more generally observed about the city than ever because of the efforts of the Twentieth Century club in distributing trees and shrubs among the children. This year the school children of Duluth ordered more than 1,100 trees and shrubs and it is expected that these will be in the city and distributed in time for planting on the official tree day. Each tree or shrub has printed directions for its planting and care and as the specimens are from healthy stock, in a few years Duluth may expect to realize from these plantings.

The park board has made no plans for any civic observance of the day, but during the spring the board will be instrumental in distributing 1,000 trees, planting part on city property. Single trees are available to citizens of Duluth at $5 each which will include the planting, printing and insurance of the tree for two years. If it dies before that time the board will replace it. The trees are of varieties that will do well in this soil and climate. Many citizens are availing themselves of the opportunity of securing the trees under these conditions.

COMIC OPERA

To Be Given Under Auspices of Boat Club.

Real comic opera, once again, is what is promised Duluthians this week when "The Chimes of Normandy" will be presented at the Lyceum theater under the auspices and patronage of the Duluth Boat club with the artist pupils of George Tyler, appearing in the principal roles.

The opera is one that has given great delight to the older generation of opera lovers on two continents. "The Chimes" was first produced in Paris in 1877 and ran there for 400 nights. It has been sung in England and America in its English version.

The cast that will appear tomorrow evening has been practicing for weeks, and a thoroughly easy and pleasing performance is promised. The detail of the opera is as follows:

ACT I.

Overture—
(a) A Chorus—"All Who for Servant" ....
(b) Air and chorus—"They Say" ....
(c) Recit and Coda—"Scandal Monger" ....
Rondo—"I May be Princess" ....
Barcorelle—"On Billow Rocking" ....
Duet—"Twas but an Impulse" ....
Solo and chorus—"Legend of the Bells" ....
Valse Rondo—"With Joy, My Heart" ....
Ensemble—"Such Conduct is Quite Sad" ....
Couplets—"Tho' They May Not Pursue Me" ....
(a) Chorus—"Come Farmer Small" ....
(b) Chorus of men servants—"Than Us You'll Not Find Better" ....
(c) Chorus of coachmen—"Who Are Drivers Lacking?" ....
(d) Chorus of maid servants—"Who Are Wanting Maidens Able" ....
Finale—"Tell Me, Girl" ....

ACT II.

Entr'acte—
Concerted number—"Let Our Torches" ....
Air—"By His Side" ....
Trio—"I'll Shut My Eyes" ....
Buffo song—"Oh Dear! Oh Dear" ....
Recit—Air and chorus — "Silent Heroes" ....
Ensemble and couplet—"What's She Saying" ....
Duet—"'Tis She! A Happy Fate" ....
Chorus and quintet—"As He's Looking Somewhat Pale" ....

Finale ....

A large number of box parties will be entertained on both evenings as the opera will be given Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The proceeds will go toward furthering the sports and pleasures of the club during the season.

To Play Ranges.

"The Chimes of Normandy" company, which will appear at the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday evening, will play the range towns the latter part of the week. The company which is composed of the artist pupils and members of George L. Tyler's class will leave Duluth Thursday morning at 7:15 on a special train and will present the opera at Eveleth that evening under the auspices of one of the Eveleth churches. Friday evening "The Chimes" will be sung at Hibbing, the performance to be given under the auspices of the military company there. The entire company of seventy-five will go for the short range tour.

COMPLETE PLANS

For Tag Day for St. Mary's Hospital.

Plans for the tag day of St. Mary's hospital next Saturday are being rapidly completed with every prospect of great success.

This afternoon the women interested in the campaign to raise funds for the new addition are scheduled to meet at the hospital to be assigned districts. It is expected that the attendance will be large, as great interest has been evinced in the tag day which has been arranged for the benefit of the institution.

St. Mary's hospital was opened at Fifth avenue east and Third street in 1898 by the Sisters of St. Benedict. It was founded in 1888 at Twentieth avenue west on the site which is now occupied by the St. James orphanage. Since that time 39,803 patients have been given medical care and attention. Of this number 3,501 have been ministered to free of charge.

The patients come from all parts of Northern Minnesota, including the lumber camps, the railroads, the docks and the mines. None of them are turned away because of lack of funds. But the demands have become so heavy recently that it is imperative that more room be secured as soon as possible. The proposed addition will have a frontage of 72 feet and extend the full length of the present lot. It will contain seventy-five private rooms and several spacious wards for children.

Pretty Luncheon.

Mrs. G. W. Preston entertained the members of the bridge club of which she is a member at luncheon and cards today at her home in the Eastwick flats. The table was laid with a set of dishes of old Chelsea ware that was the wedding gift of Mrs. Preston's grandmother, just eighty years ago today. The blue in the pattern of the dishes was the theme followed out in the decorations and blue hyacintas were the flowers chosen. Besides the hostess covers were laid for:

Mesdames—
J. H. Free, James H. Sullivan,
Walter Thompson, G. W. Thompson,
George Young, Donahue,
McGill, Charles Vollner,
John Linngbaugh, Alfred Mellin,
Joan Dice, Murnian.

Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Bennison were the guests of honor at a surprise party last evening at their home, 735 Garfield avenue. Games and music were the amusements of the evening and the guests were:

Misses—
Cora Cyrs, Theresa Anderson,
Ann Sealberg, Tena Anderson,
Hildegard Peterson, Elvera Larson,
Anna Laurien, Margaret Thut,

HINTS FOR THE BOUDOIR

By MILDRED WYCKOFF.

Substitute for Soap.

"The skin on my face is inclined to be hairy, and I would like to know of something to use instead of soap in washing." Miligent C. writes. You will find oatmeal and almond meal very cleansing and soothing. Mix equal quantities up in a litle muslin bag and use it on the face, thoroughly rinsing afterwards in cold water. Only small quantities should be prepared at a time—enough to last for two days—so that the meal is quite fresh.

To Improve the Eyebrows.

"My eyebrows are very weak and I should be much obliged if you would tell me of something to make them grow," says Hattie P. Pure vaseline is one of the best things for strengthening the eyebrows and should be gently rubbed in every night. Cocoanut oil is also a good thing and will help to darken the brows, making them appear thicker. If used on the eyelashes be careful that none of it gets into the eyes themselves, as it will make them smart.

Remedy for Premature Grayness.

"Could you advise me to use anything for premature grayness?" Miss M. asks. You might try the following, as it is simple and perfectly harmless: Pour boiling water on a quantity of sage leaves (about two ounces to a pint of water) and let them remain for some time in the oven. Strain and apply to the roots of the hair every night before retiring.

A Good Dry Shampoo.

"My hair is very greasy and I cannot do anything with it. I have been told a dry shampoo occasionally will do it good. Will you tell me how to use one?" asks M. G. A dry shampoo will cleanse the hair and make it dry and fluffy, so it should suit you. Buy a packet of orris powder from a chemist and, after parting the hair, shake the powder on to the hair through a sieve, so that it is distributed evenly. Take a clean brush and brush it all out again. The hair will be quite clean after this treatment.

Improvement of the Bust.

Linda W. inquires for advice how to improve the bust. The only thing that will improve the bust is to practice deep breathing exercise for ten minutes every morning. Put the hands at the back of the head, draw a deep breath and gradually exhale.

How to Sleep Properly.

In sleeping keep the head as low as possible, that the blood may circulate freely in the brain. The less pillows the better. Always stretch out your body fully. When the limbs are crossed or curled up in any way the rest is not so great. A glass of warm water before breakfast is a tonic for the whole system. If the complexion is in need of improvement, try squeezing half a lemon into the water.

SOLOMON JONES AND WILLIAM WISE

By DONALD CROSBY.

"I see," said Solomon Jones, "that the insurgents are whooping her up in Washington."

"Sure," said William Wise, "the insurgents are the life of this nation."

"Why, nobody knew anything about the United States until the insurgents rolled up their sleeves and waded into our national relative from Danville, Ill.

"This insurgent business is the best advertising the country ever had. A congressman gets up and says: 'Mr. Speaker, I have got a bill to introduce, appropriating $50,000,000 for the improvement of Pole creek.' Uncle Joe looks at him and then roars: 'Throw him out, boys; he's delaying the game.' They no sooner throw this insurgent into the cloakroom and manacle him until another jumps up and asks that the postoffice at Coontown be investigated. Uncle Joe winks at the sergeant-at-arms and the fur flies for a few minutes; then they settle down to lawmaking again.

"Why, the newspaper correspondents ought to fork over half of their pay every year to Victor Murdock and his jolly rovers. They make the news and keep Uncle Sam from becoming a back number.

"Every time there is any excitement brewing you can look around for an insurgent in the woodpile. I could take a squad of insurgents and plant the American flag over every nation in the world in three months.

"A genuine insurgent seldom knows what he is fighting for. He just fights because he can't keep it. If congress was ever controlled by a majority of insurgents, they would have to rebuild the national capitol with cast iron walls and steel billet ceilings. Then they would go out in statuary hall and throw marble busts at each other."

"You seem to know the game mighty well. Were you ever in politics?" queried Solomon Jones.

"You bet I was," answered William Wise. "I ran for justice of the peace once and was only defeated by 709 votes."

TRY THIS DINNER

Quick Beef Soup.

Chop fine one pound of beef, one carrot, one turnip and one onion. Cover with one quart of cold water and let it stand an hour. Then ad a clove, salt and pepper and a few drops of kitchen bouquet. Simmer for an hour and a half and strain through a sieve.

Meat—Fried Chicken.

Clean and wash a chicken of the frying size, twice the age of a broiler; cut it up, dividing the breast into two pieces, and lay it in cold water for half an hour. Have on the stove a frying pan with lard an inch deep in it. Season the chicken well with salt and pepper, and dredge well with flour. Drop into the boiling lard and turn frequently till it is beautifully brown. It must not cook done on one side before turning on the other, as it will not be so evenly and nicely cooked. Maryland cooks often invert a pan over the frying chicken in order to cook it in the very best way.

Vegetables—Peas, Parisian Style.

Put a can of peas in a saucepan with a sprig of parsley, an onion sliced and a few leaves of lettuce. Toss them over occasionally and when cooked add a teaspoon of butter blended with a tablespoon of flour. If too thick add water and cook for fifteen minutes.

Dessert—Apricot Fluff.

Mix one and one-half level teaspoonfuls of corn starch with one-fourth cup of cold milk; stir into this one cup of scalded milk; continue stirring until thick, then add one-fourth cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Have prepared three-fourths of a cup of dried apricots, which have been cooked and strained through a fine sieve. Add to the mixture and cook fifteen minutes. Remove from fire and add gradually one well-beaten white of egg. Return to fire for a moment to set egg. Flavor with vanilla or sherry.

THE EVENING STORY

IN THE "LOST AND FOUND" COLUMN

By Frederick W. Webber.

"Poor 'but happy,' while I am rich but unhappy! What a misfit world this is!"

There was a sad smile on the face of Jack Phillips as he spoke, half to himself and half to Frank Morton, his long time friend and his partner in successful Australian wool growing enterprises. The two were in New York after an absence from America covering a number of years, and they were moving with the Saturday afternoon crowd toward the city hall subway station. A young woman had passed them in haste to reach the station, her face aglow with the light of some unusual happiness. She reached the ticket sellers booth slightly in advance of the two men, bought her ticket, replacing the little coin purse in the handbag she carried, and as she hastened towards the ticket chopper's box a small brown envelope dropped from her clothing to the floor. Phillips made a quick movement forward and picked it up.

"Stop, miss! You've dropped something," he exclaimed, but, unaware that she was the one addressed, the young woman entered the car just as the signal bell rang and the train started. Phillips turned to rejoin his friend who was close at his heels. It needed only cursory examination to reveal that the little envelope contained money, without doubt the compensation for a week of toil. Written upon it was the name "Miss Drummond" and on one corner was the figure $15.

"Well, here's a go!" Phillips half growled. "I am well enough provided with money and find more! That poor girl evidently needs all that belongs to her and loses it!"

"It simply is fate," was Morton's response. He prided himself upon his philosophical temperament.

"Fate be hanged!" was the impatient rejoinder. "If fate would help me to find a trace of somebody belonging to me instead of throwing a girl's hard earned wages at my feet there would be some sense in it."

"There you go, Jack! Railing at fate because you have to bear the consequences of defying it. You were lost to your family for years, and by your own choice, when you left your New England home so long ago. Now your family is lost to you. Hasn't fate merely evened up on you, Jack?"

"But," said Phillips, and there was a plea of self-defense in the very tone of his voice. "I left them in order to make of myself a man whom they would be proud to welcome back as one of their own."

"And yet you never let them know that you were alive! Don't you think, Jack, that you caused them anxiety for which your own present unhappiness is but partial atonement?"

"Ah, there's the rub, Frank," Phillips replied, and there was a tremor in his voice. "There's the rub! All dead but the little sister, and nobody in the old New England home knows where she is. She grew to be a bright scholar, they tell me; taught school after she was graduated and then came to New York. She did well, her friends say, but for many weeks none of them have heard from her. God knows what has happened to her!"

During the progress of their conversation the two men had boarded an uptown train. Upon leaving it they stopped on the way to their hotel to order an advertisement inserted in the "Lost and Found" column of a Sunday morning newspaper.

Unconscious of her loss Miss Drummond left her train as soon as it stopped at one of the uptown stations and quickly made her way to a modest apartment on one of the pretty side streets in the Bronx. Watching for her at the front window was a young woman of her own age, seated in a roomy arm chair. She was frail and colorless, but her large eyes brightened as the door opened, her thin hands were extended in loving welcome, and her wan face was uplifted to receive the expected kiss.

"You look very happy, Clara," she said.

"Happy! Why shouldn't I be happy and look it? We're all right now, Emma," Miss Drummond replied. "My trial week is ended and has proved so satisfactory that I am to have $15 a week to begin with, instead of $12. So we can have a nice Sunday dinner; and can pay the overdue rent; and get some extra dainties to help you along in your convalescence. Isn't it jolly? I thought the train never ran so slowly as today. I was so eager for you to know the good news. And here's—"

A look of blank dismay spread over the speaker's face as she searched within the little handbag.

"Emma!" she exclaimed, and her face grew white as that of the invalid, "I have lost my pay envelope! I must have pulled it out of the bag when buying my ticket at the subway station!"

* * * * *

"By all their good, Frank, it looks as if what you call fate is shuffling the cards strangely," Phillips remarked as the two sat reading the Sunday papers the next morning. He had the paper opened at the page where the "Lost and Found" notices appeared. Near the one which he had inserted was one which read:

> LOST—In or near the city hall subway station, a small envelope containing money. The finder will be suitably rewarded on returning it to No. —— th St.

"Fate isn't always unkind," was Morton's comment as he read the advertisement. "She has at least offered you an opportunity to dispose of the superfluous wealth she thrust upon you last night."

"Oh, don't be a sardonic!" Phillips exclaimed almost petulantly. "It is a small superfluity to me, of course, but—"

"Pardon me, old boy," said Morton interrupting. "My remark was not so flippant as it seemed. To tell you the truth, I am as glad as you are that it is possible so soon to relieve that young woman of her anxiety. Let's call a messenger and send it to her at once."

"Or better yet," Phillips suggested, "suppose we let 'fate' lead us on and take it to her ourselves. It may be a mission for which we have been chosen."

* * * * *

Other eyes than those of Jack Phillips viewed with surprise the juxtaposition of those two "Lost and Found" notices in the Sunday morning paper. Clara Drummond had gone to bed with a heavy heart. "It is so terrible, Emma," she said, "that after being out of a position so long and earning, just in the nick of time, the little needed to put us on our feet until you are yourself again, even that little should slip from our possession."

"But, Clara, dear, you have your position now; and it is only a little longer to wait. We can be thankful for that, you know, and in a few more days I shall be well enough to begin repaying you for your devotion and self-denial through all my long illness. I know you feel the loss more on my account than your own. It was for me that you gave up the position that you could not regain; and with me, while our little savings ebbed away, you have striven for the recovery of my lost health and strength that have been so much slower in coming back than we expected. Now that I am nearly well and you have got so nicely started again everything looks too bright, dear, to be wholly darkened by this bit of cloud."

Despite her friend's words of cheerful courage, Clara Drummond's smile, as she kissed the invalid "good night," was but a mask to a disconsolate feeling that provoked disturbing dreams throughout the night and almost betrayed the unreality of the cheerful air with which she served the simple breakfast in the morning. After breakfast came the reading of the morning papers, but even this did not dispel the dull aching of her heart. Suddenly, however, the color came to her cheeks as it had appeared the day before, her eyes lost the strained expression, and she almost upset the chair as she jumped from it, exclaiming:

"My money is found, Emma! My money is found!"

For explanation she pointed to the "Lost and Found" column, where, in close companionship with the advertisement she had taken to the newspaper office before retiring the night before, there was another, reading:

> FOUND—Miss D— can recover the envelope she dropped in the city hall subway station by notifying the finder where to send it. Address J. P., Hotel Astor, City.

"Isn't it splendid?" she continued, as her companion gazed at the lines with the expression of wondering inquiry. "Isn't it splendid?" she repeated.

"It is very singular," the other replied at last. "It almost makes me dream of happiness that is not within the realm of probability. Those initials are the same as my brother Jack's."

"Your brother who disappeared when you were a little child?"

"Yes," Emma replied. "I just remember him, a tall, handsome boy, who used to tell me he was going away some time to make a fortune and would come back to make us all happy. Poor Jack! I wonder if ever we shall meet again!"

* * *

It was an inspiration that led Jack Phillips to restore to Miss Drummond in person the envelope she had lost. The impulse to which he had confessed grew out of an impression that in some way it might be possible for him to add to the joy in which he desired to share by witnessing it. Farther than that he dreamed or imagined nothing, as he assured Morton a few weeks later when the two were engaged in arranging for their return to Australia.

"Well," said Morton, "you admitted that you were allowing fate to lead you, and now you must admit that fate has been marvelously kind. Repent of your former railing, old man!"

"I repent," Phillips replied, "and why should I not? Have I not received a double reward for my yielding—my sister found and a sweetheart won? Oh, yes; but there is no bitterness in my repentance."

"Unless you realize it in your prospective brother-in-law," was Morton's laughing rejoinder. "But you lugged me along with you, and fate's cup of kindness was so brimming full it dropped over on me. We call fate blind, but who would have thought that it could discern so many possibilities in the 'Lost and Found' column?"

THE SHOWING-OFF TRAIT

By POLLY PAGET.

The University girl was plainly in a philosophic mood.

"The showing-off trait is deeply ingrained in the whole human race," she observed sagely, "and there is no place that it displays itself so clearly as on the street cars."

"There is something on her little mind, is there? Tell us all about it," urged the Junior Man.

"I hate flippant men," she decided aloud, "although they illustrate my first remark."

The Junior man gave a long whistle. "Whe-ew. I'm sorry I flipped. Don't mind my feelings—go right on."

"I was going to say," she continued with dignity, "that the other morning when I was on the way over a very pretty girl got on at Washington avenue and stood for a moment sizing up the vacant seats on the car. There were plenty of them, yet each man looked as if he wanted to give her his place and each one tried to saw off. They reminded me of the small boy when his mother is talking to visitors about him. The Cholly boy in the corner thrust out his new patent leathers, settled his tie and openly ogled her; the plumber next to him hid his grimy hands under the implements he was carrying and gazed ostentatiously out of the window opposite; the old man who was reading his morning paper slided a glance at her over his glasses and straightened himself like a young man—"

"Had the vision no effect upon the feminine occupants?" the junior man queried pleasantly.

"I was skipping that part," she confessed. "I suppose that she did, for as soon as they noticed her they either felt their back hair or poked a curious safety pin back under their belt. Two shop girls began to talk loudly about Tom and Jack and what a 'bird of a time' they had last night; some little factory girls looked their open admiration, and an insignificant-looking young woman opposite me nonchalantly pulled off her glove, thereby displaying a flashing solitaire. Just then a traveling man, with sample vase in hand, made a great show of stopping the car at the union station and accidentally dropped his paper in front of her."

"You have told about everybody except yourself," teased the other, "but I can guess. You sat with your hands folded modestly on top of your books."

"I did," she exclaimed delightedly. "How did you know?"

"I saw you buy those $2 gloves the other day," he answered as he fled.

IN THE NURSERY

Treatment of Milk for Infants.

Some eminent physicians are questioning the wisdom of giving pasteurized milk to children. The bones of young infants fed on such milk may suffer, it is said, through the precipitation of the calcium phosphate and carbonate during the process of pasteurization. As a substitute for this process some physicians recommend sterilization in the cold by means of ultra-violet rays of light, a process which does not precipitate the phosphates of the milk.

Remedy for Whooping Cough.

A very simple remedy for whooping cough, and said to be very effective, is made by steeping chestnut leaves, which can be bought at any drug store, and making a tea which can be sweetened to taste. The child may drink the tea freely at any time, and while it is as harmless at water, it will very materially check the whooping cough.

Remedy for Insect Bites.

Children suffer severely during the summer from the bites of insects. A good remedy to apply to the bites at once consists of fifteen grains of bicarbonate of soda, twenty minims of solution of potash, half an ounce of solution of witch hazel and enough distilled water to bring the total amount of the mixture to one ounce.

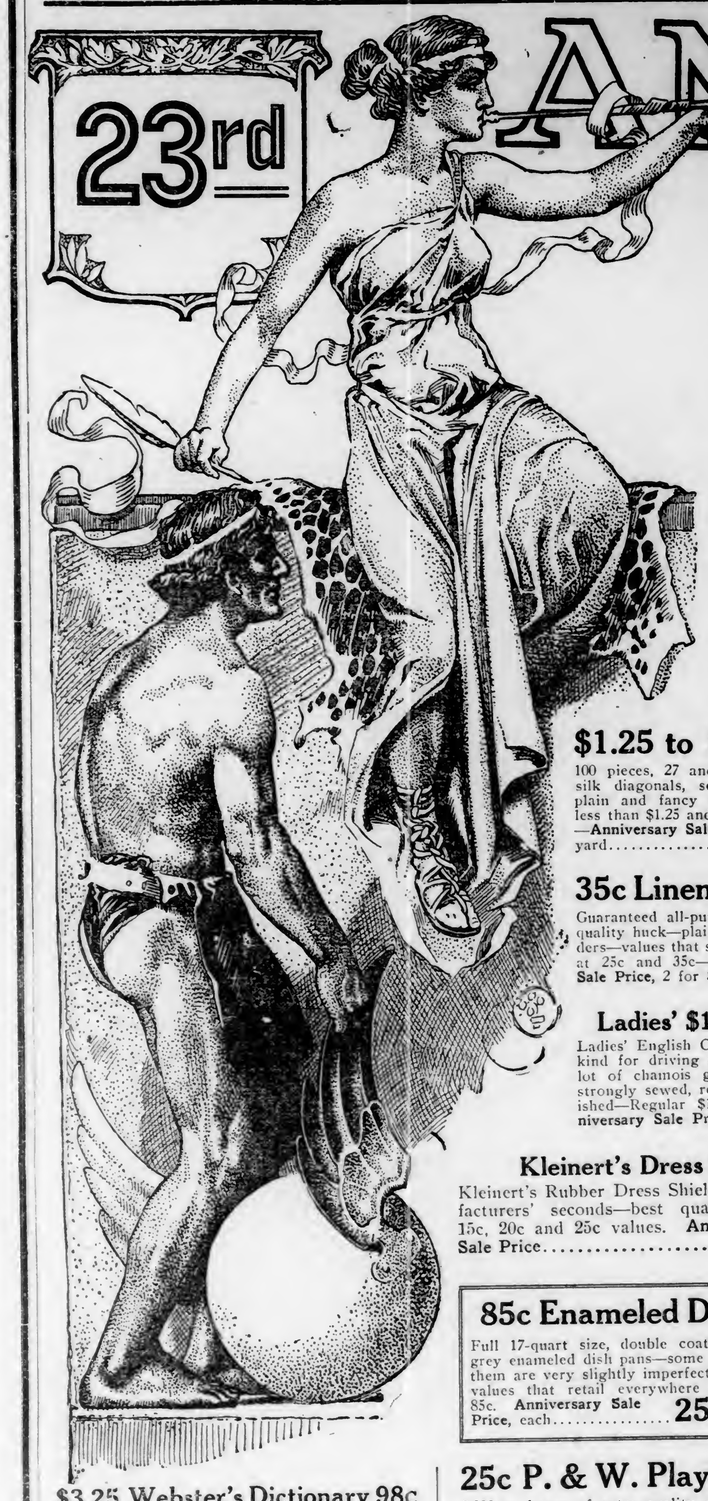
Midday Rest for the Little Ones.

It always seems a pity, during the beautiful evenings of summer, to send the little children to bed early. It is a far better plan to let them lie down for an hour or two in the middle of the day, when the sun is at its hottest, and then allow them to sit up a little later than usual and enjoy the cool of the evening.

YOUNG MEN AND MAIDENS

By MISS EXPERIENCE.

Eleanor B. says she is heartbroken and explains it by writing: "I had a lover and he made me think I was all the world to him, and all the time he had another sweetheart with whom he was still going. I don't speak to him now, but somehow I can't get him out of my head, nor get over it. Every time I see him opens the wound afresh. Would you advise me to burn his photograph? Yes, burn it or put it where you can't see it again. Forget him. He isn't worth worrying about. But don't avoid him nor let him see that he has hurt you so deeply. There are others, probably, who will seek you if they see that you are fancy free, and there must be among them one who will make you forget that you were ever heartbroken.



* * *

"Because I am considered pretty and have a good education and am always happy in company, my friends tell me I ought to be ashamed to be an old maid," Bertha M. writes. "I am 24 years old and would not object to married life but have not yet seen the man for whom I would give up my freedom. Do you think it a disgrace to be an old maid?" There is a good deal of sympathy wasted by women, especially young brides, on that class known as spinsters. Indeed, it is firmly believed by the majority of them that spinsters never had a lover or a proposal, and their present condition is due to the fact that men have entirely overlooked them in their search for a wife. Of course, a good many old maids have missed their vocation. That is to say, they were originally meant to be wives, but by some mischance of fate they joined the ranks of spinsterhood. However, it never seems to occur to people that some spinsters are so from choice alone. That appears to be your case, Bertha, but as you are yet a young woman, the case does not look hopeless. At any rate it is not disgraceful.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Today We Began A Series of Great Sales Commemorating Our

ANNIVERSARY

THE Glass Block Store 23 years old. Just two years less than a quarter century ago a very unpretentious little store, with one floor 25x65 ft. opened its doors to the public.

Founded on the adamantine basic principle of Shopping Satisfaction, this institution began its career aright in 1887. With a determination for achievement, honorable commerce and fair dealing, an internal pressure developed that only expansion could relieve. In a very short time the first location was outgrown, and soon also was the second and third. This expansion followed honest effort until today this imposing structure, with its 65 departments and over two acres of floor space, stands as a monument to conscientious effort and honest merchandising methods.

In the phenomenal upbuilding of this great institution the entire community had mutual hand. In deep appreciation of this hearty co-operation, and in celebration of this our Twenty-third anniversary of successful retailing, we began today a Birthday Bargain Jubilee in which your dollars will have greater buying power than ever before in the history of our career.

Every department has contributed liberally to this bargain feast—every man, woman and child should share these extraordinary values.

See The Big Corner Window Display! It is a "mixed" window and contains a representative assortment of the unparalleled bargains offered in our Twenty-third Anniversary Sale. The necessary displays of various lines of Spring Apparel and accessories preclude the use of further window space for anniversary specials, but in the store each department features it's birthday offerings prominently. Be sure to see them.

GREAT NORTHERN TO MAKE DIRT FLY

Record-Breaking Construction Expected on Line From Ayr to Surrey, N. D.

New Rockford, N. D., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Record breaking construction work is to be the rule on the new line of the Great Northern railroad from Ayr to Surrey, which has already been comenced at several points along the route. It is the intention of the company to have the grading work in progress from one end of the line to the other at the same time so that it can all be completed in time to lay steel this fall or early next year.

Within the past few days big crews of men and large grading equipments have been shipped by contractors to several points along the line. These are at Ayr, Hannaford, New Rockford, Surrey and Norwich. The crew unloaded here consisted of 100 men and they brought with them about 100 head of horses and mules, shipping from St. Cloud, Minn. Thomas Thompson being the sub-contractor in charge of the work in this section.

Trains on Stanley Line.

That trains will be operated on the Stanley-Powers Lake extension of the Great Northern before snow flies next fall is the belief of those watching operations at Stanley, Mountrail county. Morris & Sheppard have charge of this work and within the past few days they have been shipping in large crews of men and much equipment. Grading work is in progress and will soon be completed, and the laying of steel will immediately be taken up. The line runs from Stanley, Mountrail county, to Powers Lake, Williams county.

Injured Men Doing Well.

Marinette, Wis., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. E. Miles and Thomas McKillop, who were seriously injured at the Marinette & Menominee paper mill are resting easily and hopes are entertained for their recovery.

Damage Suit Removed.

Marinette, Wis., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through an order signed by Judge Samuel Hastings, the damage suit for $10,000 brought by Christopher W. Schuette against Frank E. Noyes, will be tried in the United States court of Wisconsin, instead of Marinette. Schuette is suing Noyes for damages in an automobile accident, which resulte in alleged injuries to the plaintiff and the loss of a horse.

AN UNWELCOME INNOVATION.

"So Lewis Waller is going to tour America! He'll make a hit here. He's so dashing."

The speaker, a New York manager, smiled and resumed:

"Waller will now be able to test the verisimilitude of his American stories. He has, you know, a host of them. One is about the mining town of Tin Can. According to Waller, a tenderfoot entered Tin Can on an August day in white duck trousers. The residents at once surrounded him, bound him hand and foot, and thrust him into the baggage car of a departing train.

"'Never,' said the mayor, as the train drew forth—'never you come back here, palefoce, under no consideration ag'in. We can stand biled shirts, but when it comes to biled drawers—wow!'"

DEMAND FOR SCHEDULES

Census Expected to Show Some Surprises in Agricultural Statistics.

Enumeration Has Been Completed in Six Districts in the City.

While the general public is most keenly interested in the population figures secured in the decennial government census now being taken, other data of vital importance will be secured.

Outside of population figures, the date in which the people of Northern Minnesota will be mostly interested is that in regard to agriculture. Northern Minnesota is dependent upon the settling up and cultivation of its wild lands for its development. Surface indications do not really show the extent to which that development is being carried on. The government will show in black and white the great advances Northern Minnesota has made agriculturally during the past ten years—advances that are greater than people think.

When the director of the census sent out to the different districts throughout the country the supplies to be used in the taking of the census, he sent to each just about the amount of supplies he estimated they would need. He based his estimates on statistics already obtained by the government and information given by those supposed to be conversant with local conditions.

A supply of agricultural schedules was sent to Byron L. Hollister, supervisor of the census for the Eighth congressional district, that was thought to be ample for the needs of the district, with a few extra schedules for emergencies. Since the taking of the census has begun, it has been found that all estimates were off. Two rush telegraph orders for more agricultural schedules have been sent to Washington and the demand for sheets on which to enter farm statistics is greater than anyone expected.

The demand for schedules is an indication of what the census will show in regard to the agricultural development of what the census will show in regard to the agricultural development and resources of Northern Minnesota. Northern Minnesota has been coming to the front as an agricultural district for years, but most people have not properly estimated the speed of the advance. Ten years ago, the Eighth congressional district was mostly wild timber land and cut-over land that was thought to be almost worthless. Today, it is rapidly being settled as a district of fine farms, large crops and thrifty, hardworkers and progressive farmers.

With the beginning of the final week of the census period in Duluth, there is rush to get all of the odds and ends of the districts so that everybody may be counted. The enumeration has been completed in six districts and where it is thought necessary, the enumerators who have finished their own districts have been sent into the other districts where there is a possibility that the work could not be completed by one enumerator before the end of the week.

On the whole, it has been found that the estimates made in dividing the city into districts have been accurate and that each enumerator has been given just about enough work to keep him going most of the time, but to be completed before the end of the given period.

Mr. Hollister says that reports from all over his district are encouraging. The enumerators are proving efficient, the people have shown a disposition to aid in the work and facilitate it as much as possible and an accurate and thorough count is being made.

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED.

1. Your name in full.....
2. Relationship to the head of the family with which you live .....
   (Write boarder, lodger, or servant, or wife, son, daughter, or whatever word describes the relationship.)
3. Sex .....
4. Color or race.....
   (Write white, or black (If you are a full-blooded negro) or mulatto (If you are not a full-blooded negro but have some proportion of negro blood), or Chinese, or Japanese, or Indian, as the case may be.)
5. Age at last birthday.....
   (For children not yet 2 years old, age should be given in completed months, expressed as twelfths of a year. Thus, if a child is three months and some days old, the age should be given as 3-12; if 1 year and 2 months old, as 1 2-12. If not yet one month old, give age as 0-12.)
6. State whether you are "single," or "married," or "widowed," or "divorced" at the present time .....
   If married—
7. Is this your first marriage?....
8. Number of years married to your present husband or wife .....
   (Give completed years; for example, if married 3 years and 10 months, write 3 years.)
   If a married, widowed, or divorced woman:
9. How many children have you had? .....
10. How many of these children were living April 15, 1910? .....
11. Where were you born?.....
11(a) If foreign born, what is your mother tongue or native language?.....
12. Where was your father born?
12(a) If father was foreign born, what was his mother tongue or native language?.....
13. Where was your mother born?
12(a) If mother was foreign born, what was her mother tongue or native language?.....
   (In answering the above questions as to birthplace, give country of birth if born abroad, and state or territory of birth if born in the United States)
   If of foreign birth:
14. In what year did you immigrate to the United States?
15. Have you been naturalized?...
   (If you have been naturalized, either by taking out second or final papers of naturalization or through the act of your father, write "Yes;" if you have only declared your intention to become an American citizen and have taken out first papers, write first paper; if you have done neither, write "No.")
16. Can you speak English?.....
17. If not able to speak English, what is your native language or mother tongue?.....
18. What is your trade, profession, or usual occupation?
   (Answer so as to indicate the kind of work you perform; say, for instance, spinner, salesman, laborer, clerk.)
19. In what industry or business are you engaged?.....
   (Answer so as to indicate the general character of the industry or business in which you are employed or with which you are connected; say, in cotton mill, dry goods store, on farm, insurance, in a bank, or whatever may be appropriate.)
20. State whether you are an employer, or a worker for wages, or a salary (employee), or are working on your own account without employing others?.....
   (Write employer if you employ any persons other than domestic servants in your own business; write worker if an employe working for wages or a salary; write own account if engaged in any business or occupation, without being either an employer or an employe.)
   If you are an employe (worker), answer the two following questions (If an employer or working on your own account, omit these questions):
21. Were you out of work April 15, 1910?.....
22. How many weeks were you out of work during the year 1909?.....
   (The expression "out of work" means not able to find work or employment. Persons who are on a strike, or are voluntarily idle, or on a vacation, or are inecapacitated for work because of sickness or physical disability are not to be considered "out of work" in the sense in which the words are here used.)
23. Are you able to read (either English or some other language)?.....
24. Are you able to write (either English or some other language)?.....
25. Have you attended school or any educational institution any time since Sept. 1, 1909?.....
   If you are the head of the family living in this home, state:
26. Whether the home is owned by you or rented.....
27. If owned by you, is it mortgaged?.....
28. Were you in either the Union or Confederate army or navy at the time of the Civil war?.....
   (If answer is "Yes," write "U. A." for Union army, "U. N." for Union navy, "C. A." for Confederate army, or "C. N." for Confederate navy.)
29. Are you blind (both eyes)?.....
   (Answer should be "Yes" if the person can not see to read with the aid of glasses; otherwise, answer "No.")
30. Are you deaf and dumb?.....

THE MAGIC RIVER.

WHERE THE OLD PILOT WILL ALWAYS HOLD SWAY.
—From the Chicago Daily News.

Tongue on Toast.

Take four slices of buttered toast, four tablespoonfuls of chopped tongue and the yolk of one egg, a little chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Make the mixture very hot. Spread it on the toast, put it on the baking tin, in the oven for a few minutes to insure them being hot through, then serve them at once.

To Cook an Old Fowl.

A fowl too old to be roasted or boiled may be made into an excellent supper dish. Cut the fowl into small joints, put the pieces into a saucepan with sufficient cold water to cover them, bring to a boil, and then simmer slowly until the meat will drop from the bones. Mince it finely, add any seasoning desired, and boil for fifteen minutes longer in a little of the broth. Turn into a wet mould and leave until set. If the bones are put back into the broth with any other bones you have together with a few vegetables, a good soup can be made.

Delicious Fruit Cream.

Take one pint of thick cream, half a teacupful of milk, half an ounce of isinglass, three ounces of castor sugar, two dessertspoonfuls of brandy—if liked—one ounce of glace apricots or glace green-gages, two ounces of glace cherries. Line a mould with some of the fruit, whisk the cream and mix in the sugar, fruit, brandy and isinglass—which has been soaked until dissolved in the milk—pour into the mould and let stand until the next day, when it will be ready for the table.

To Make Egg Rissoles.

Boil two eggs for ten minutes; then pound into a smooth paste. Mix with a tablespoonful of bread crumbs, one of stale grated cheese, a pinch of curry powder, some salt and pepper. Mix with the yolk of a raw egg and enclose a teaspoonful of the mixture in a strip of thin light pastry. Fry the rissoles in boiling lard to a nice color and garnish with parsley.

Preventing the Fat From Spattering.

The objectionable spattering of fat when eggs, tomatoes, apples and similar things are dropped into it to fry, may be prevented if a little flour is sifted into the fat just before they are added.

MONKEY'S POST SENTINEL.

London Times: Aesop's ape, it will be remembered, wept on passing through a human graveyard, overcome with sorrow for its dead ancestors, and that all monkeys are willing enough to be more like us than they are they show by their mimicry.

An old authority tells that the easiest way to capture apes is for the hunter to pretend to shave himself, then to wash his face, fill the basin with a sort of bird lime, and leave it for the apes to blind themselves. If the Chinese story is to be believed, the imitative craze is even more fatal in another way, for if you shoot one monkey of a band with a poisoned arrow, its neighbor, jealous of so unusual a decoration, will snatch the arrow from it and stab itself, only to have it torn away by a third, until in succession the whole troop have committed suicide.

In their wild life baboons, as well as the langurs and many other monkeys, undoubtedly submit to the authority of recognized leaders. There is co-operation between them to the extent that when fighting in company one will go to the help of another which is hard pressed.

In rocky ground they roll down stones upon their enemies, and when making a raid, as on an orchard which they believe to be guarded, the attack is conducted on an organized plan, sentries being posted and scouts thrown out, which gradually feel their way forward to make sure that the coast is clear, while the main body remains in concealment behind until told that the road is open.

From the fact that the sentries stay posted throughout the raid, getting for themselves no share of the plunder, it has been assumed that there must be some sort of division of the proceeds afterward. Man, again, has been differentiated from all other creatures as being a tool using animal, but more than one kind of monkey takes a stone in its hand and with it breaks the nuts which are too hard to be cracked with the teeth.

COLORADO LANDS

Under government irrigation project, $6 to $8 per acre. Will be worth $100 per acre when irrigated. Good water, flowing streams; $800 will handle a section. Easy terms. Best land bargain in the country today.

MORTON COUNTY LANDS FOR COLONIZING PURPOSES.

Dickinson, N. D., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four Dickinson men have purchased 10,240 acres in the Cannon Ball district in Southern Morton county for $40,500. These lands were purchased of the Northern Pacific Railroad company and are said to be of the very finest. The new owners propose to colonize it, as the new railroad line will run through them and place them close to market.

KITCHEN LORE

For a Savory Supper Dish.

Take three tablespoonfuls of stale bread crumbs, add to them half a pound of rich Cheshire cheese, grated, then salt and pepper; whisk two new-laid eggs with rather less than one pint of new milk; add this to the dry ingredients and stir in a little butter until the cheese and butter are dissolved. Pound into a well-buttered pie dish and bake half an hour in a moderate oven. Serve hot or cold. It should be nice and brown on the top.

QUICK ACTION PRESCRIPTION CURES COLDS IN A DAY

What is said to be the worst and quickest prescription known to medical science for colds and coughs is as follows. "Get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Take a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of this mixture after each meal and at bed time, shake the bottle well each time." This has cured hundreds here. Be sure to get only the genuine Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes put up in a tin screw-top case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Don't use the weaker pine preparations.

ONLY DAUGHTER OF THE PRINCE OF WALES

PRINCESS MARY OF WALES.

London, April 23.—Princess Mary of Wales, only daughter of the prince of wales, is very anxious to accompany her father and mother to South Africa when they go. Both the prince and the princess would like to take her with them, but they fear the interruption to her studies would be too serious to allow her to make the trip. The little princess has been growing very rapidly of late and her likeness to her mother at her age is said to be very striking. The princess was born April 25, 1897.

DOWN TO POSTAGE STAMPS.

The clerk at the stamp window of the branch postoffice pushed back a 5-cent stamp offered to him, says the New York Sun.

"Sorry," he said. "You can't buy a 2-cent stamp with that. It's against the rules."

The man who had tendered the stamp looked disappointed but went away without a word, and the clerk turned to a friend who had been lounging near the window.

"You'd be surprised to know," he said, "how many people try to cash in stamps here. Some want me to buy them back at their face value, others want stamps of a lower denomination, like that fellow; but I've never had a man ask me for two 5-cent stamps for a ten, or two twos and a one for a five. They all wants to realize a few cents in actual money."

"That's queer," said the friend. "Can you explain it?"

"They're broke," answered the clerk; "down and out, you understand. They dig up some old postage stamps they've been carrying in their pockets for weeks perhaps and try to raise enough on them to buy a frankfurter and roll or a loaf of bread. I know what I'm talking about, because I got actual proof on one occasion.

"A fellow came to the window on a cold night last winter. He wanted to buy a postal card and tried to pay me with a 2-cent stamp. I was going to turn him down, as the department instructs me to every time, but he seemed to be so anxious to get that single cent that I took it out of my own pocket and gave it to him.

"He hustled away in a great hurry, and I forgot all about him. The next morning I happened to see him on a bench in City Hall park and couldn't resist asking him if he'd used the postal card to write home to his girl. He gave me one look, and, say, I was sorry I had tried to crack such a bum joke.

"I did my best to make amends by buying a breakfast for him, and he told me the story of that postage stamp in the restaurant. It seems that he had been reduced to 4 cents and a 2-cent stamp. There's a place on the Bowery where you can get a big bowl of soup with coffee and bread for 5 cents, but they wouldn't accept the stamp there, and he'd been trying all the evening to raise at least 1-cent on it to make up the price of a meal."

"Was he the only one you ever accepted a stamp from?" asked the friend.

"Oh, no!" said the clerk. I cash quite a few, but it's a private transaction, and you can't expect me to do it unless I have some spare pennies in my pocket."

Enjoy Your Meals

By Simply Eating a Little Pleasant Tablet After Each of Them.

A Tablet Digests a Meal—Trial Package Free.

When digestion is perfect the fluids necessary to this process come naturally to the aid of the stomach. They are of right proportion and do their work speedily and well. When indigestion and dyspepsia are prevalent, these same juices come slowly if at all, are weak and insufficient or are filled with strong acids and alkalies.

When such a condition exists each meal is a hardship upon the digestive organs. The meal should strengthen the juices, but on the contrary it weakens them, so that man by the very act of eating causes conditions to arise which of themselves bring pain and loathing for the next meal.

By eating one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets you mix the tablet with your saliva and it goes into your stomach a strong, vigorous fluid, many times more powerful than the natural digestive juices. These tablets are made up from natural vegetable and fruit essences and are composed from Hydrastis, Golden Seal, Lactose, Nux, Aseptic Pepsin and Jamaica Ginger. There is the formula and one grain of it will digest 3,000 grains of food in any stomach. Beside digesting the food it will give the blood the power to enrich the digestive fluids so after a time nature will take care of itself. Though you have no stomach trouble one of these tablets after each meal is a powerful assistance to nature and is an excellent habit to make.

Go to any druggist and ask his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. We will abide his answer if he be an honest man. They sell for 50c per package. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS

Sunday Sessions Bring Laymen's Missionary Conference to Close.

More Than $16,000 Pledged Here for Foreign Mission Work.

The Duluth convention of the Laymen's Missionary movement has ended.

The mass meeting in the First Methodist church last evening was the concluding event of the gathering, which was successful in every way. About 5,000 people attended the meetings held at the Head of the Lakes yesterday, in the First Methodist and St. Paul's Episcopal churches, in Superior and in the West end.

More than $16,000 has been pledged by Duluth and Superior for foreign missions this year as a result of the convention.

The mass meeting last night was attended by a large number of men and women, and was a fitting conclusion to the two days of unprecedented religious enthusiasm that has made itself evident in Duluth. The different denominations, when the roll was called, reported on the policies they had determined upon at the rallies held earlier in the day, and each church pledged itself to double its contributions to missions this year.

Dr. J. B. Trimble, field secretary of the movement, in his prayer at the conclusion of last night's mass meeting in the First Methodist church, said: "Oh, God, put a positive into our Christian experience. Let us consecrate to Thee not so much what we say, but what we do. Help us to have more in our lives than negative righteousness."

Bishop W. S. Lewis of Foochow, China, in his address on "The Spiritual Awakening of China," told of a Chinese of caste and education who, after many tribulations of mind, became a Christian and is today a leader of evangelistic effort in Tien Tsin. Bishop Lewis' speech was one of the most interesting heard during the convention and it made a deep and lasting impression on his hearers.

Mr. Hotchkiss Speaks.

Willis R. Hotchkiss, whose closing address at the banquet Friday evening was a remarkably strong effort, made the closing speech last evening and the impression he made was as distinct as on the earlier occasion. He said in part:

"We have come to the closing hour of this convention. We have had our horizon broadened. It will be a curse if we do not link it up to something adequate. The root of our apathy is our appalling ignorance of the Bible. I know of nothing that will so change a man's life as consistent reading of the Bible.

"How much time do you spend every day in poring over the newspapers? Do you spend half as much in poring over the Bible or in earnest communion with God? I believe in the daily newspaper. I have it sent me in Central Africa all the time, but I do spend more time in the perusal of my Bible than in the current news topics of the day.

"Men, when your hearts are linked up with Jesus Christ, the things which He has indicated will claim a portion of your time.

"The reason that we lack power in our Christian life is because, knowing Him, we glorify Him not. You know it and I know it. We have millions of dollars for the things that we want; the spare change for the things that He wants.

"It was a great thing when Abraham Lincoln signed the emancipation proclamation, and 4,000,000 of slaves went free, but is was a greater thing when Jesus Christ signed the world wide proclamation with His own blood."

Quite a number of men from Duluth and vicinity will attend the national convention of the movement in Chicago. This will be the climax and the termination of the present laymen's campaign.

The distinguished men who have been leaders in the Duluth convention have departed and the interdenominational work for the missions is over for the time.

SHOULD STRIVE TO LIVE AS CHRIST

Rev. Bruce V. Black Declares Day of Miracles Has Not Passed.

"Can We Do the Things That Christ Did?" was the subject of the Sunday sermon by Rev. Bruce Black, pastor of the Union People's church, at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Mr. Black said in part:

"The Great Teacher came not to be worshipped by men but to be followed. His mission was not to establish a new religion—there were religions enough. He taught no new philosophy—philosophy had already reached its climax. He came to establish a life which is the fulfillment of the highest laws, the completion of His religion. His disciples were not those given to an unusual devotion to prayer books. They were not taught to subscribe to traditions concerning the doubtful questions of His origin. The call of discipleship meant to them to reproduce in detail the life of the Christ. As students of truth they would be brought face to face with the incarnation of truth which was the Christ. As followers of truth they were duty bound to live the highest lesson of truth in the Christ life. The desire to do homage to the Christ has led us into a danger of placing the Christ upon a pedestal at the foot of which we are to grovel in misery. To such as these the real Christ would say "Rise for I also am a man like thee." His insistence upon being recognied as the Son of Man gave him a common fellowship with all humanity. His test of discipleship was the Christ life. If men were not to be Christlike in their development all their religion would be in vain. The reproduction of the life of Christ is possible to every one who harmonizes himself with the infinite will.

"Perfection is the goal of all life. Christ said so. Obedience is the path to this goal. Paul declares 'I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me.' Later on this statement is explained. It is no longer I that doeth these things, but Christ that dwelleth within. As we become Christlike we can do all things.

"The day of miracles has not passed. The wonderful incidents recorded by our visiting missionaries verifies this claim. When the church sought an apology for its own spiritual apathy it declared that the apostolic age had ceased. So it had, but only that the spiritual corruption of the church made it so. Deep spiritual men, living Christs, are adding daily, chapters to the book of acts. Let us arise and be up in the midst of men as Christs! Our name Christian permits of nothing else."

WORLD OWES MUCH TO JEWISH RACE

Rabbi Lefkovits Predicts Great Future for People of Judea.

On the text, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake," Rabbi Lefkovitz spoke Sunday at Temple Emanuel.

Rabbi Lefkowitz said in part:

"The time will come when it will be considered as great an honor, as in the past it has been considered a disgrace to be a member of the Jewish race. What are the descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, or the Colonial dames, what even are the members of the noble houses of Europe compared to the children of the Jewish race who had for their ancestors, kings and warriors, judges and law givers and prophets and patriarchs.

"The world today is coming to realize the great debt it owes to our people, and I feel confident that the time is not far distant when they will take their place among the foremost in the world. I know that there are many who fear that Christians will always hold it against them that they crucified Christ, the Son of God. I do not think so. The Jews did not crucify Jesus. But what do these Christians say to the persecutions that were carried on in the name of Christianity when the noblest men of their age, men like Giordano Bruno, and Savonarola were tortured and burned for refusing to accept myths and dogmas that they could not believe.

Jews Are Progressing.

"The Christain church is rapidly approaching Judaism. Already modern science and criticism is sweeping away its very foundations. Since the time of Darwin and Spencer we hear from its priests less talk of salvation through the merits of the blood of Christ and find more emphasis put on the moral and ethical doctrines of Jesus which he imbibed from his Jewish teachers.

"To me this feast of the Passover brings every year new consolation. We are further advanced this year than we were last year, we will be better off next year, than we now are. At the feast of sedar, our people have for 3,000 years thrown open their doors to welcome the Messiah and though now in this twentieth century he still delays his coming we have not lost heart.

"It is with pleasure that I notice that it is a Jew who is guiding the helm of Italian politics, and that it is a Jew who is mayor of Rome, a city that was Judah's first and bitterest enemy. The Roman has long since decayed and so have other nations that have oppressed us, but the Jews, the oldest of peoples, are in action the youngest."

DAY WILL BE OBSERVED LATER

"Tuberculosis Sunday" Passes Without Customary Attention in Duluth.

Yesterday was "Tuberculosis Sunday." It was observed in Duluth although special services were not held, as most denominations entertained visiting clergymen and laymen who had attended the laymens' convention.

In the near future many Duluth clergymen will hold services at which the campaign against tuberculosis will be discussed.

C. L. Rakowsky, secretary of the Duluth anti-tuberculosis committee, discussing the movement, said:

"Some time ago I mailed requests to the clergy of the city asking them, if possible, to preach special sermons on the date set. In answer I received a communication stating that, as the day set aside was to be the banner day of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and as they had been asked to assist in that movement they would not be able at that time to comply with the request. I have decided to ask them at a futre date to observe some Sunday, locally, as tuberculosis Sunday.

"President Taft and the governors of fifteen states have publicly and warmly commended this plan to have preached in every church of the land, this new crusade against the enemy that lurks in the darkness, that thrives on poverty, counting his victims at no less than 150,000 every year.

"One great central health department to bring together the scattered present health agencies of the national government, to properly divide among them the $15,000,000 and more they are now spending under elgat different departments, would double the effectiveness of each dollar appropriated for this purpose and would give to state and municipal health officers just that advisory and co-operating body of experts they now so signally lack.

"It is not for ministers of religion to save people from the pestilence that lurks in sewerage-polluted water supplies, in bad milk, in ancient foods and poisonous medicines. They can but arouse the public from its lethargy——point out the enormous sacrifice of life—the needless sorrow and suffering, the money waste of $6,000,000,000 each year resulting from our present disregard of the teachings of science and common sense.

"But to apply the remedy, to prevent the preventable, to cure the curable in disease, men trained to medicine and experienced in public health and sanitation are needed. And these men must be kept abreast of the times; they must know each what the other is doing; they must be in a position where they may seek advice and have it for the asking and even without asking. The public health official of the smallest town and the commissioner of health of the largest states, alike, must have at their disposal the experiments of the most up-to-date of laboratories in Washington, and by bulletins such as the department or agriculture distributes, they must be kept in constant friendly touch with a central organization of which each shall feel that he is an integral part.

"Such a national department of health could influence these health authorities, state and municipal, to enact uniform legislation and would act as a clearing house of health regulations. Accurate data on all questions of sanitation throughout the country could be gathered by such a department, and conditions and causes of recurring diseases being carefully studied, the chief causes of preventable disease and unnecessary ill health then could be established.

"Promise that this soon will come to pass is contained in the movement now rapidly gaining adherents for the enactment of the bill introduced in the senate by the Hon. Robert L. Owens of Oklahoma, in which it is proposed to establish a national department of health, under a secretary who shall be a member of the president's cabinet."

GOD MUST BE HUMANIZED

Divinity Must Be Formed Out of Man's Heart, Says Rev. Gebauer.

Rev. George R. Gebauer preached on "Our God," at the First Unitarian church yesterday. He said in part:

"What do we mean by religion? It does not always mean exactly the same thing at all times to everybody, and I shall not define its meaning. But whatever it be, it deals with the deep things of life, which no science can fathom or philosophy can reach. Yes, may we not say, that it is simply the spiritual attitude of man toward life and the universe? If we accept religion in this sense we see at once that it is universal, that it includes even the materialist and him who denies all church faith. The simple fact is that man must look up to something, that he must worship in one way or another, because he is a man.

"What Feuerbach and others before him have said is true in a way, man forms god or gods in his own image, after his likeness. Out of his mind out of his heart is born the divinity he worships. And as man grows and changes, his divinity is born daily and daily it dies and on the morrow it arises in new glory. Please understand the symbol rightly. Man does not create God, he only gives form to God, he gives character to his being. That wondrous reality of the universe with its unexplainable forces, cannot be an object of religion, of love and of trust and worship.

Men have no God in the spiritual sense, as long as they merely speak about 'God;' they must be able to say, 'my God.' Religion is eminently subjective. There are good church people who have no God in this sense. They worship substitutes instead. The Italian peasant incessantly prays, but not to God; he has no divinity "closer to him than breathing and nearer than hands and feet." He will pray to Saint John, or Peter or Patrick or Anthony of Padua; he will ask the Virgin to intercede for him, he will pray to the Son of God, but after all he has no God to pray to. He knows nothing about him except that he is a rather wrathy personality and it is well not to come too close to him. He can not love and trust him, because he does not realize Him in his own soul, not born of His spirit. Herein in a tremendous hiatus between the spiritual conception of religion and the traditional conception. I am willing to admit that the substitutes are unpalatable to him, who has tasted reality. Only when we have formed God out of the deepest and best in our soul, is He truly "our God." Then we cease speaking about the infinite, the unknowable, the omnipotent, and we speak of "my Lord and my God, my Father, my helper, my friend." The far off God of the church, the transcendental delty of idealism must be humanized to become adorable.

PINE COUNTY CASES ARE ADJUDICATED

Several Old-Time Actions Are Disposed of at Pine City.

Sandstone, Minn., April 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court at Pine City last week disposed of a large calendar of civil and criminal cases before Judge P. H. Stolberg. Sandstone was well represented before the petit jury.

The noted "dog case" was again taken up. The plaintiff, Isaakson, found no favor with the jury, which awarded the dog and $10 damages to Carlson, the defendant. The dog is growing more valuable, as he has cost the plaintiff about $100 thus far.

The case of Holler brothers for having venison in their possession out of season in a camp in Northern Pine county was found "not guilty" by the jury.

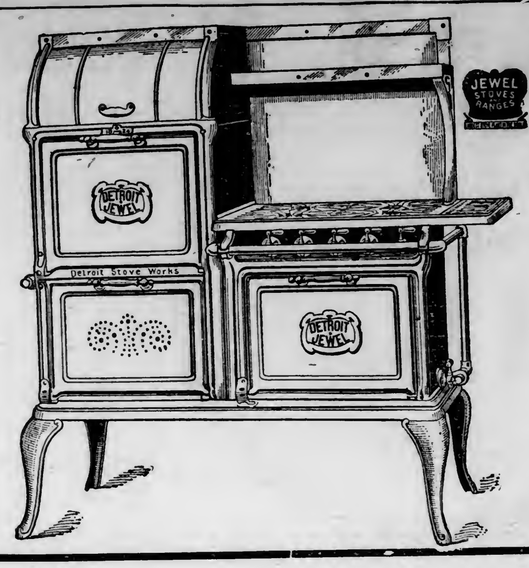
The Ingraham case against a dozen citizens for damage sustained by loss of liquor seized by the "drys" last year soon after village election, and for personal character loss, was postponed until the fall term, according to his attorney's wish.

The Dredge-McKenzie case was decided in favor of the former, and John Welch was awarded the decision in his inheritance case.

EARLY SEEDING IS NOW ASSURED

Red River Weather Moderating With Conditions Favorable for Farmers.

Crookston, Minn., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday was the warmest day in this section for two weeks. The fields are again in good condition for seeding and every day the weather remains favorable means thousands of acres seeded under most auspicious circumstances. While the protracted spell of weather which stopped seeding operations made some of the farmers and business men somewhat nervous, it is still plenty early, and with from 50 to 75 per cent of the wheat seeded, the horses given a good rest to do the balance of the work, and all conditions again most favorable to rush seeding, the crop, with a larger acreage than average will be all seeded earlier than usual and under the most favorable conditions of the seed bed that have obtained in many years.



The most notable increase in acreage of any grain will be in flax. Thousands of acres of land which has been sold this spring, a considerable portion of it virgin soil, which has never been cropped, will be broken up by steam and gasoline plows and seeded to flax. Twice the number of Universal Tractors that are available could be sold this spring for that purpose. Other increased acreages that will be most notable will be in corn, potatoes and wheat.

While the potato raisers who held their crop for late spring delivery are not getting very good prices, those who sold to the Southern market for seed did well. Potatoes are still being retailed in this city for 40 cents per bushel.

SANDSTONE ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.
